Adele Fuernkranz, Ian Selin and Clay Fuernkranz were honored at a combined dinner hosted by their parents, Rudy and Bonnie Fuernkranz, Carl and Christina Selin and Carl and Sharon Fuernkranz at the Carl Selin home. Approximately 80 guests were present. Coming from a distance was Ian's grandmother, Gulli Selin of Victoria, B.C. and Clay's uncle Rodney Johnson and family of Calgary.

A dinner for 100 guests was catered to at the Hay Lakes and District Recreation Center to honor Scott Berkholtz, Dean Klein and Barbara Metzker. Scott is the son of Lawrence and Irma Berkholtz, Dean is the son of Mervin and Gloria Klein and Barbara is the daughter of Alvin and Edie Metzker. Following a social afternoon the group also enjoyed a buffet supper at the Rec Center.

Reverend Raymond Schultz, chaplain at the University of British Columbia, gave a slide presentation on "Project Peru" at Our Savior Lutheran Church on Sunday evening. The slides showed the work of two Canadian missionaries, Troy and Anne Barrata in Peru. Rev. Schultz took part in a group study of living conditions in Peru and saw first hand the difficulties and problems facing the people there. Ray is the son of Mrs. Olga Schultz and was a guest at the home of his mother and brother, Donovan.

Four Lutheran churches of this area, St. Joseph, Scandia, Wilhelmina and Our Savior will hold combined Vacation Bible School this summer. The school will be held from July 16 through July 20, 9:30 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. each day. Children who have completed grade 6 down to the age of three years may attend. It is hoped that pre-registration can be completed by June 17. Phone Rev. Kapperud at 672-6112 or Rev. Roelichen-Pfohl at 678-3870 for further information.

Approximately 60 guests attended a bridal shower and stag held for Patricia Gocion and her fiance, Don Procter, at the Zenon Gocion home on June 3. Guests attending came from Red Deer, Calmar, Edmonton, Sherwood Park and locally. Patricia and Don will exchange marriage vows on June 23.

Bride-elect Trudy Blum was honored at two showers during the week. On Sunday afternoon her sister, Mrs. Shelley Jenkins of Millet, held a miscellaneous shower. Approximately 25 ladies attended a shower held at the home of Mrs. Marge Metzker on Thursday evening. Trudy and Brent Rost will be married in Camrose on June 16.

Art and Ida Grahn of Summerland, B.C. recently visited with friends and relatives in the Hay Lakes area. They had come to attend the graduation of their son, Brian, held in Edmonton. Brian received his Bachelor Degree in Psychology. He is a graduate of Hay Lakes School.

CARDS OF THANKS

WISH to express a special thank you to Dr. Freebury, the nurses and staff of the Tofield Hospital for the very good care received while a patient there, to Walter and Marie for the smooth ride to the University Hospital, and to my family, relatives, friends and neighbors for the flowers, fruits, cards, and get well messages. Thanks also to Rev. Dan and Gwen Newell and to those who were offering prayers on my behalf. God Bless [illegible] 41c 7210

WE WISH to thank family, friends and neighbors for attending our 50th anniversary. Special thanks to our children and grandchildren for all their work in making it such a wonderful day. Thanks for cards and gifts. Thanks to Mabel for being by my side as she was 50 years ago. Thanks to Darren, Marion and Glen for the music. Many thanks to the 4-H craft club for serving. Thanks for the family supper at Jean and Alans which brought a perfect ending to our day. Helen & Joe Murray 41p 7204

IN THE MATTER OF the "Public Utilities Board Act"; being Chapter P-37 of the Revised Statutes of Alberta, 1980, as amended;

AND IN THE MATTER OF the "Gas Utilities Act", being Chapter G-4 of the Revised Statutes of Alberta, 1980; as amended;

AND IN THE MATTER OF rates, tolls and charges for gas supplied and service rendered by Northwestern Utilities Limited to customers in Alberta.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING

WHEREAS Northwestern Utilities Limited (Northwestern) filed an application with the Public Utilities Board (the Board) for an order or orders of the Board:

(a) determining a rate base for the property of Northwestern that is used or required to be used to provide service to the public within Alberta and fixing a fair return thereon,

(b) fixing and approving just and reasonable rates, tolls, charges or schedules thereof for natural gas utility service to be supplied by Northwestern;

(c) giving effective to such part of any revenue deficiencies incurred by Northwestern as may be due to any undue delay in the hearing and determination of the application;

(d) fixing and approving on an interim basis the rates requested pending the fixing of final rates as the Board may determine;

NOW THEREFORE TAKE NOTICE that the Board will hear the application for interim rate relief at the Law Courts Building, 1A Sir Winston Churchill Square, Edmonton, Alberta, commencing at 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon on Friday the 22nd of June, 1984;

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that the Board will hold a Pre-Hearing Conference as soon thereafter as Northwestern, the Intervenors and Counsel therefore may be heard, to consider:

(a) the identification of the issues,

(b) the necessity or desirability of filing further material;

(c) the possibility of obtaining any agreement as to facts that will facilitate the hearing; and

(d) any other matters that may aid in the disposition of application;

AND FURTHER TAKE NOTICE that future dates will be set from time to time and no further publication of Notice will [illegible].

AND FURTHER, the Board advises that any interested person may obtain a copy of the material filed in support of the application by applying to Northwestern in care of its [illegible]

NOTICE OF SUBDIVISION APPROVAL
AS PER SECTION 93 AND 106 OF THE PLANNING ACT

File: 84 D 95/B
Municipality: County of Beaver
Legal Description: S.E. 21-50-19-W4
Proposal: 1 Farmstead Separation
Applicant: Eugene & Donald Carlisle
General Delivery
Tofield, Alberta

If you are an owner of land adjacent to the above, you may appeal the decision of approval or any condition of approval for this property. The appeal cannot deal with the proposed use of land as legally adopted by the municipality in its land use by-law

For this purpose, adjacent land means land which touches the parcel being subdivided, or which would be in contact with this parcel if it were not separated from it by a public road way, river or stream

A proper notice of appeal must be filed with both the Alberta Planning Board and the applicant within fourteen (14) days of the date of this publication. Such notice shall contain

1. the legal description and municipal location of lands being subdivided.
2. the name and address of the applicant.
3. the name and address of the appellant.
4. the reasons for appeal, and
5. the name and date of this publication.

Good time

These grade one children from C.W. Sears School in Tofield enjoyed a fun splash with their parents in the Ryley Swimming Pool on Monday afternoon. Their admission fees were paid for out of the monies left over from all the hot dog sales that were held in their school during the past year. —Photo by Joan Murray

Ryley seeks a grant

by Joan Murray

At a regular meeting of the Village of Ryley Council on June 11th, it was agreed to apply for a major recreational grant to be used to construct fencing around two ball diamonds; to finish the existing tennis courts; and to place a quonset building over the outdoor skating rink.

Council has decided to pursue the replacing of the black poplar trees which were removed last year from the 52nd Avenue Boulevard between 51st and 52nd Streets.

These trees were removed because their root system was interfering with the village sewer lines.

It is not yet known what type of tree will be used but, it is preferred that the root system be of a spreading nature rather than a deep growing one.

Terry Toma from Tritek Engineering in Edmonton presented council with costs of installing pavement, curbs and gutters on some of the streets in Ryley.

Cheryl Andrukow and David McKoen were hired under the STEP program to work for the village doing general park maintenance, minor painting and assisting at the Village Library Information for this article was obtained from the unapproved minutes of the Village of Ryley Council meeting on June 11th.

Rain hurts Powerline

The Powerline Baseball League is running at less than one-half speed.

Up until the end of last week, a total of twenty-seven games had been scheduled but, only thirteen had been played.

The regular schedule is supposed to be completed on July 3rd. However, unless there is a drastic improvement in the weather in the next few weeks, the schedule will have to be extended.

Games yesterday (Tuesday) were supposed to have been played in Tofield, Camrose and Viking but, at presstime, it was raining and it was not known if those contests were played

Tomorrow's (Thursday) contests have Bardo at home to Armena, Holden is hosting Ryley and Viking plays in Camrose

On Tuesday evening, Tofield will be hosting Camrose, Bardo is at home to Holden and Ryley will be going to Viking

Only two games were played last week when Camrose outslugged Bardo 10-7 and Holden doubled Armena 8-4.

There is a possibility that there may have been other games played last week with results not being forwarded to CFCW as the radio station was not notified of any cancellations.

The same situation may also apply to games slated for earlier in the schedule if CFCW was not always notified of results or cancellations and it is through the co-operation of the radio station that allows The Mercury to report up-to-date results and standings.

The standings which follow are based on the results of games reported to CFCW or, The Camrose Canadian.

Black powder shoot held

by Joan Murray

The 18th annual Black Powder Shoot held in the Tofield Gun Clubhouse recently, attracted 38 shooters from Tofield, Innisfail, Rocky Mountain House, Spruce Grove, Swan Hills, Edmonton, Trochu, Camrose, Fort Saskatchewan, Olds, [illegible] and Calgary.

The informal event was held on the first day.

Tom Bodnar of Tofield won the "gong ringing" with a muzzle loaded pistol. Del Durstling of Swan Hills was the winner of the "gopher [illegible]"

"Survival", an event in which contestants have to "draw blood" on a plastic partridge at 10 yards without the use of firearms, was won by "Trapper" Bob Greer of Rocky Mountain House, using [illegible].

Sylvia Penny of Tofield stopped the clock in the "swinging [illegible]" shoot

Don MacRae of Edmonton was the best quail shooter and Randy Burkett of Edmonton was "king of the firebuilders".

The second and final day of the shoot was plagued with strong winds, especially in the "paper-punching" competitions, although there were some good scores posted.

The Hugh Moore Memorial Trophy for 100 yard bench rest went to Warren Werner of Bluffton.

Tom Bodnar took first place in both the 100 yard off-hand and the muzzle loading pistol events.

John Hutchinson of Rocky Mountain House won the cartridge pistol event.

Mike Bott of Edmonton was the 50 yard muzzle loading winner.

Al Warner of Tofield was top winner of the 50 yard off-hand cartridge event, shooting at 100 yards, using cross sticks as an aiming rest.

Warren Werner won the cartridge rifle event and Floyd Schambler of Rocky Mountain House took first place in the muzzle loading rifle event.

Shotgun winners were Rod Bourgon of Spruce Grove and Tom Bodnar with a cartridge gun.

The team of [illegible]sen, Mike Bott, Gord English (Tofield) and Brian Johnstone (Innisfail) won the stake cutting race

Tom Bodnar was named aggregate winner with the most points on the final day of events

Since the black powder shoot took place, the Tofield Gun Club has added a new cinder block firing range to their clubhouse on the Tofield Fairgrounds.

Fair planned

Plans are underway for the Ryley Fair, sponsored by the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Socity, slated for August 9th.

The Fair is held every year in the Ryley Curling Rink and features displays in various categories.

Last year's Fair drew almost 1,000 entries from local participants.

The Fair booklets are printed and will be available in a number of ways.

Those families with school-age children in Ryley will receive a copy through the [illegible].

Copies will be available to others at the District Agriculturist's Office, Ryley Variety, G & M Foods and Ryley Foods. Those living in the Tofield area may pick a copy up at Especially For Me.

There is no charge for entering any item and a modified Danish system will be used for judging.

The fair includes special classes for children, youth and senior citizens so that all may participate.

Council meets

by Joan Murray

On Monday night at their regular meeting, the Village of Holden Council agreed to apply for reclamation of the existing garbage dump as soon as possible to insure that the approval will be received by the time work is finished on the sanitary landfill transfer station.

Mayor Kevin Stambaugh declared Monday, August 6th to be a civic holiday.

The Community Hall floor is in the process of being re-[illegible]

Now that the Village grader is nearly repaired, council is taking steps toward preparing to have the streets improved.

They are also making preparations to have the streets cleaned and the tall grasses mowed as soon as weather conditions permit.

The next council meeting will be held on Monday.

They're off

Tofield School grade 10 students ran for bonus points on their final phys ed marks, early Friday morning. It was cool and damp after a night of heavy rain but, nearly all the students completed the nine kilometre run, from the Tofield School to the cemetery, down Creamery Road, past the hospital and back to the school

New Grit at top

Canada has a new leader for the Liberal party, and doubtless will face an election in the next few weeks.

It's hard to guess how the nation's future may be affected, but broadly, it would seem Western Canada may have at least a slightly better chance under the leadership of Mr. Turner than it would have had under Mr. Chretien.

Chretien is known as a strong centralist . . . he is on record several times as having said something matching a statement last fall "The national interest has to prevail or we will not have a country." In other words, if the interests of the regions, western or eastern, do not match the interests of the central provinces, it may be tough but the regions have to be sacrificed. For the greater good of Ontario or Quebec.

Unfortunately for the West, it has become all too apparent since Brian Mulroney ousted Joe Clark that he feels exactly the same way . . . he must have Ontario and Quebec in order to govern.

So whatever hope the West has for a better deal seems very largely at the moment to hinge on any accommodation they can extract from Turner in order to present at least the semblance of a national party.

Examples of the discrimination are legion, the National Energy Policy, regardless of what it did to Alberta, the Crow's Nest Pass rates, favoring Central Canada and the railways, regardless of effect on the Western provinces, the so-called corn rates for feed grains, again regardless of the impact on western farmers, the quota on automobile imports, regardless of the wishes of car buyers, the quota on imported textiles, and so on ad infinitum.

Edmonton Mayor Lawrence Decore has tried to present the picture that he gained several important concessions for the West before he spectacularly deserted the McGuigan campaign, but we find it hard to believe he extracted anything but points for his own political campaign.

When will the election come? At this time probably even Turner doesn't really know, but we think his best plan would be to dive headlong into it while the party is still riding the euphoria of the leadership campaign, while it still has all its committees active and pawing the ground, and before the electorate sees how many shortcomings continue to be presented.

Least important in the considerations should be the effects it might have on visits of the Queen or the Pope. Or maybe Turner should try to plan in such a way that both would be affected. Doubtless he will face a great deal of criticism from the Roman Catholic community if the Pope's visit is aborted, but he will face just as strong opposition if the visit of the Monarch is cut back.

Yet in all prudence, he would seem well advised to issue the election call before the end of the latter of the two visits. Or would he? It still could come off before the onset of winter . . . It still could come off at the end of harvest. It might beat the worst of the higher interest rates expected. It might come before winter increased unemployment. It could come after he has had some chance, however slight, to show some of the masterstrokes promised during the campaign.

Good times

Times are good for most Canadians. And if they're not, the trouble must lie with the individual.

At least, that's the message we're getting out of Central Canada, essentially Ontario, these days.

For various reasons, we've had the opportunity recently of talking with several residents of that province, and almost without fail, they can't understand why Alberta is still wallowing in depression. Or for that matter, even that it is, indeed, not climbing out in the rather dramatic fashion that Ontario is experiencing.

The message seems almost to be "We're allright, Jack, what's wrong with you?" No thought is given to the impact of freight rates, of trade and tariff barriers, of fixed rates for agricultural products, such that farmers can't win, of feed grains policies militating against development of western feedlots, of the way the National Energy Policy cut the props out from under half of the western prosperity, even though it still hadn't come near the level of prosperity in Ontario, or for that matter, British Columbia.

Ontario's doing well. So Canada must be doing well. They're amazed when they're told that's not the way it is.

No wonder Riel had to have Thomas Scott shot to get the message back to Ontario. Even then, a hundred years ago, they didn't hear what was being said, any more than it's being heard today.

Bug Eyes

Don't tell anyone, but I suffer from Beetle Mania. That's right I'm scared of bugs. Flying bugs, crawling bugs, walking bugs, swimming bugs, hairy bugs, noisy bugs or quiet bugs Especially the quiet bugs, because they are there even before we see them.

Bugs are the real reason I don't get out much in the summer. The darned things are everywhere! Our front flower beds have enough earthworms to start a worm farm, were we so inclined Happily, we're not. Along with the worms (which I don't mind spading over as long as I don't actually have to touch their cold, wormy bodies), are centipede-like things that wiggle and squirm in an effort to return to the insect earth where all good bugs should be. (The only good bug is in a dead bug.) Out in the back yard are humungous striped jackets buzzing around the flowering bushes and hornets horning in where they aren't wanted. The dog amuses himself by chasing anything like flies. I don't know if he catches any but I do see him licking his lips occasionally after the frantic antics that tell me a flower is on, and I send up a little cheer. I won't even talk about earth bugs and spiders -- yech! -- but can't let the pest-to-beat-all-pests, the mosquito, go without a word. This bug deserves an anti-bug campaign all its own. Mosquitos love me. I do everything to repulse those little buzzers and still they return every year to introduce their offspring to a Real Meal.

Naturalists can talk all they want about insects being beneficial to the balance in nature of the natural order of things. What I want to know is, why is THEIR place MY place? I tell you, it's a jungle out there!

Every summer, on our camping vacation, we are met with new bug varieties, all bigger than last year. Just last July our arrival at the lake was announced by something out of Star Trek (it was big as a B-52 with a tailgunner aiming for pay load. It didn't help later to have a son on the beach with me, saying, "There's a sand crawler. They enter your body through your feet and travel to your brain. There he is, on your foot!"

Go ahead and laugh! Grown-ups aren't supposed to be frightened of little insects, not even those with stingers. Leave them alone and they'll leave you alone, I know that. But there are far more of them than there is of me and none of them play by the rules. Until they do, I will continue to call Raid my hero.

Report from Parliament Hill

by Hon. Ben Mazankowski
P.C., M.P.

M.P. Releases Survey Results

Don Mazankowski, M.P. for Vegreville, today released results of the Questionnaire contained in his April report from Parliament The Questionnaire attracted approximately one thousand responses from across the constituency

"The results of the survey are a valuable source of information to me as I endeavour to represent your views in the House of Commons My thanks to all for their time and effort in responding," said Mr Mazankowski.

1. Do you believe peace can best be achieved through a strong NATO alliance

Yes 75%, No 22%

2. Would you support an increased Canadian commitment to NATO?

Yes 73%, No 23%

3. Do you support the Cruise Missile testing in Canada?

Yes 56%, No 41%

4. Would you support unilateral nuclear disarmament by the West?

Yes 14%, No 84%

5. Do you believe the government should undertake spending to create jobs

Yes 61%, No 34%

6. Do you believe that the economy will improve in the next 6 months?

Yes 23%, No 73%

7. Do you support the concept of a National Voluntary Red Meat Stabilization program?

Yes 35%, No 43%, No response 22%

8. Do you support special [illegible]

Yes 80%, No 18%

9. Do you support the proposed changes to Canada's Divorce laws?

Yes 13%, No 31%, No response 18%

10. Do you support the proposal to stiffen drunk driving laws"

Yes 88%, No 11%

11 Do you believe that the federal government should provide more assistance in maintaining and expanding rail passenger service

Yes 64%, No 33%

12. Do you believe the Liberal government's support for the Crow's Nest Pass freight rate which provides payment of the [illegible] to the railways, rather than to the farmers, is [illegible] policies of the Conservative government

Don Mazankowski MP, Hon. Charles Mayer, Conservative government [illegible] the [illegible] government to take immediate action to fulfill its commitment to create new jobs in western Canada "Over 160,000 Albertans are unemployed and the province's unemployment rate is 12.9%. Both of these figures are at the highest levels since statistics were first compiled in 1966", said Mr Mazankowski

"Time and time again, the Liberal government has promised to create thousands of jobs in the West Instead, over the last four years, its policies have destroyed jobs."

"The Liberal's National Energy Program cost 50,000 direct and indirect jobs and their high interest rate policy has caused hundreds of farm bankruptcies, resulting in more lost jobs

Most recently, the government has failed to live up to its promise that the implementation of the Crow would create 135,000 new jobs, 137,500 in western Canada The reality is that the railways are continuing to lay-off workers and reducing their planned investment in rail expansion projects.

It is time that the federal government stopped squandering ample resources and took steps to prevent further increases in unemployment

"Our party is ready to deal promptly and constructively with any new initiative that will create jobs We need immediate action to restore the faith, hope and optimism that existed in Alberta prior to 1980," concluded Mr Mazankowski

Bursary criteria changes

Dick Johnson, Minister of Advanced Education has announced a change to the eligibility criteria for the grade 12 portion of the Alexander Rutherford Scholarships for high school achievement.

Commencing with the 1984/85 instructional year, students enrolled in mathematics 31 may include this subject for scholarship purposes

Eligibility for the grade 12 portion of the Rutherford Scholarships is based on marks obtained in five subjects

The required subjects are English 30 and four of the following. Social Studies 30 Mathematics 30, Mathematics 31, Biology 30, Chemistry 30, Physics 30, and a language other than English in the 30 series.

Students must achieve a grade average of 80 per cent or higher to qualify for the scholarships.

For those subjects where diploma examination marks are available, marks for scholarship purposes are calculated from an equal weighing of the school awarded and diploma examination marks

No changes have been made to the eligibility requirements for grades 10 and 11

Named in honor of Alberta's first Premier, the Alexander Rutherford Scholarships for High School Achievement are part of the Alberta Heritage Scholarship fund.

The objective of the Rutherford Program is to reward academic excellence and provide incentive for students to further their education beyond the high school level.

To date, more than 10,500 Alberta students have received awards under this program, with expenditures exceeding $13 million. Rutherford Scholarships are valued at up to $1500, and are based on academic achievement in grades 10, 11, and 12.

Students requiring further information on the scholarships should contact their high school counsellors or the office of the Alberta Heritage scholarship fund.

Bethany news

by Alice Swanson

During the past four months we have been on a tour of Norway homes, we have missed out on many of the activities at Bethany.

During the next few weeks we will try to bring you up to date on the various things that have been going on here.

The first thing we missed out on was the "Go Others Go" activities that were carried out. Special banners were put up and many of our folk were called to see the Stanley Cup come to Edmonton. There was also the "Goodbye winter, welcome spring" carnival. Ronald Horte won the door prize and Alice Sherrick won the prize in the contest of guessing the number of peanuts in the jar. The May Assembly prizes for the contests. The Sprout House donated two meal tickets for dinners and these were won by Ken Dietrich.

We also had visits from the grade 3 students from Ecole Secondaire Beaver High School who interviewed residents on pioneer days and provided entertainment. There was also a concert to come to Edmonton. There was also the "Goodbye winter, welcome spring" carnival. A group of mothers and pre-school children visit here once a week and share experiences with our residents.

For Father's Day we had a tea and program which featured Anton Maslonka singing and playing the guitar. The Rebekah Lodge donated a door prize which was won by Fred Edwall.

Report from Parliament Hill

ARNOLD MALONE

Crowfoot Member of Parliament, Arnold Malone, has been informed that the banishment order affecting C.N. Stettler Subdivision from Dinsmore to Forlow Junction has been extended from August, until December 31, 1984.

"This extension", Mr. Malone said, "is to give an appropriate time for the Western Arm of the CTC to consider the merits of retaining the line. The right for a reconsideration of the status of the line was attained on the basis of a petition to the Governors-in-Council by the committee to save the Stettler Subdivision."

Mr. Malone said, that while the extension itself is good news, the important fact is that the review will probably take place on the basis of merit, separate and apart from the influence of an election."

COUNTY OF BEAVER No. 9

PUBLIC NOTICE

(School Act, Sections 107 and 111)
By-Law No. 572 Dated June 7, 1984

Attention Electors of the County of Beaver No. 9

The Council of the County of Beaver No. 9 intends to construct the following at the Town of Tofield, the Village of Ryley, the Town of Viking and the Holden Colony site

1. The replacement of the boiler and roof at the Tofield School in the Town of Tofield.
2. The replacement of the roof at the Ryley School in the Village of Ryley.
3. The replacement of the roof at the Viking School in the Town of Viking.
4. The replacement of the roof on the County of Beaver No. 9 School located at the Holden Colony site within the County of Beaver boundaries.
5. Architect's fees estimated at two thousand ($2,000.00) dollars.

Total Estimated Cost of Project	$300,000.00
Less: General Revenue Funds	$ 59,000.00
NET AMOUNT OF BORROWING	$241,000.00

In order to carry out this project, the Council of the County of Beaver No. 9 intends to apply to the Local Authorities Board for authorization to borrow an estimated amount of two hundred forty one thousand ($241,000.00) dollars.

The Council of the County of Beaver No. 9 will have to repay the borrowed amount by debenture repayable in twenty five (25) consecutive annual instalments with interest at the rate as determined from time to time by the Alberta Municipal Financing Corporation (currently fourteen (14%) percent per annum)

The Council of the County of Beaver No. 9 anticipates that two hundred forty one thousand ($241,000.00) dollars of the estimated borrowed amount of two hundred forty one thousand ($241,000 00) dollars will be recoverable from the School Foundation Program Fund, leaving the Council of the County of Beaver No. 9 responsible for approximately zero ($0 00) dollars

Excluding Building Quality Restoration Program projects, the actual division of costs between the School Foundation Program Fund and the Council of the County of Beaver No. 9 will be determined within 3 years from the time the Minister approves the tender or other scheme of construction

If you do not agree that the Council of the County of Beaver No. 9 should borrow this amount, you may petition for a vote in accordance with the provisions of the School Act

The petition must be signed by at least

(a) 2% of the electors in a district or division having 10,000 electors or more, or
(b) 5% of the electors in a district or division having less than 10,000 but 5,000 electors or more, or
(c) 10% of the electors in a district or division having less than 5,000 electors but 500 electors or more, or
(d) 15% of the electors in a district or division having less than 500 electors and be received by the Council of the County of Beaver within 15 days of the last publication of this public notice of the proposed debenture borrowing. The last publication date will be June 27, 1984

Students earn bonus

by Jean Stoney

On Friday morning, 25 out of 45 grade 10 physical education students from Tofield School participated in a run for bonus points to be added to their final marks.

The students who finished before their teacher, Brian Aubrey, were awarded a 15% bonus; those who ran the entire route were eligible for 10%; and if they just participated, 5% was given.

This means that after their final marks are determined, an additional percentage of that total would be added to make up their official standing in that subject.

Five students, Preston Cunningham (1st), Donovan Aubrey (2nd), Armand Egloner (3rd), John Brace (4th) and Doug Brown (5th), all finished before their teacher.

Mile Stauffer, a local farmer, also ran the route for fun and came in first alongside Preston Cunningham. Their time for the run was 37 minutes.

The first female runner to finish the course was Jennifer Neville with a time of 50 minutes and 41 seconds.

The nine-kilometre course started at the bus parking lot of Tofield School, proceeded north past the cemetery, on to the Creamery Road, past the hospital and back to the school where Brian Aubrey was on the scene congratulating each student that completed the course.

Anyone who was unable to complete the course was picked up in a vehicle and transported to the school.

This event has been going on every year since Aubrey first began to teach this subject three years ago. He is also the vice-principal of Tofield School.

Crossfire

by Rev. John Lastiwka
Camrose Community Fellowship

The economy of Alberta is still somewhat depressed. When times are bad, there is a tendency to withdraw into ourselves and "circle the wagons". Our economic downturn will be disastrous to our souls if, as a result, we draw those wagons into such a tight circle around ourselves that we are blind to the desperate needs of others. Billions of people would consider our economic downturn to be great prosperity compared to what they have seen and experienced. Compared to them, the overwhelming majority of us in Camrose are, in fact, well off.

Yet there are the poor and hungry among us here too, and they can be easily overlooked by those of us who are more prosperous and secure. Jesus had something to say about those who make excuses and try to defend themselves for their inaction in regards to the need around them (Mat. 25: 31—46). Soon, this type of myopia leads to spiritual blindness, hard heartedness, and selfishness, and in the end, judgement. There are many ways each of us can help people in Camrose and around the world. Get involved through one of these local agencies or your church. Don't let the following be said of you.

I was hungry, and you blamed it on the communists. I was hungry, and you circled the moon. I was hungry, and you told me to wait. I was hungry, and you set up a commission. I was hungry, and you said, 'so were my ancestors'. I was hungry, and you said, 'we don't hire over 35'. I was hungry, and you said, 'God helps those who help themselves'. I was hungry, and you told me I shouldn't be. I was hungry, and you had missile bills to pay. I was hungry, and you told me machines do that work now. I was hungry, and you said, 'the poor are always with us'.

Lord, when did we see you hungry?

BETWEEN THE COVERS

On the new book table this week, look for the collection of westerns, entitled The Arbor House Treasury of Great Western Stories compiled by Bill Pronzini. The highly acclaimed novel of the French Resistance, Night Sky by Clare Francis is now available also.

Many people are concerned about dealing with stress; the library has several books on this topic, including a new one, How To Avoid Stress Before it Kills You by Matthew J. Culligan.

For those who enjoy browsing through "coffee-table" style books of photographs, Ranch should be a special treat. The land, the people and the history of the Canadian and American West are depicted in this comprehensive volume.

With school holidays fast approaching, the library is stocking up on new children's books for all ages. Wordless picture books include Sunshine by Jan Ormerod and Round & Round & Round by well-known photographer Tana Hoban.

For beginning readers, Uncle Elephant by Arnold Lobel and The Straw Maid by Anita Lobel both offer good stories within a manageable vocabulary.

Other folk tales added recently are Yeh-Shen, a Cinderella Story From China and Ming-Lo Moves The Mountain. A fourth biography in the series for young readers is an account of the music group Sharon, Lois and Bram. Look for these and other new books and paperbacks when you next visit the library.

The [illegible] to effect July 3, as follows: Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, 10-5 and Thursday, 3-9 p.m.

A brochure describing all the summer activities planned in the library this summer will be completed this week. Copies will be sent home from school, as well as available in the library and Town Office. Watch for it!

Round Hill district notes

by Evelyn Low

The regular meeting of St. Stanislaus C.W.L. was held on June 12 at the home of Mrs. Dennis Sherbaniuk with eight members present. Correspondence was a card of thanks from Mrs. Lloyd Wnuk. Directives from Diocesan Council were distributed to conveners.

It was decided to buy gifts for eight First Communicants, and also to buy a president's pin.

Education convener Linda Wnuk gave highlights from the First Discussion Paper on the revision of the School Act.

Cultural convener Mrs. Allen Tomaszewski read the History of the C.W.L. pin, and her assistant, Mrs. Dennis Sherbaniuk, reported on the program presented on June 3 by the Ukrainian Dance Club. It was very successful and lessons will resume in September. Communication convener Mrs. Lloyd Wnuk read answers received to letters written to Minister of Communications, Francis Fox and to the CRTC re pay television regulations and pornography on T.V. Parish Council Representative Mrs. Wm. Banack reported that Corpus Christi celebrations will be held on June 24 at St. Stanislaus beginning with Mass at 2 p.m., followed by the Procession and pot luck supper.

The next meeting will be July 10 at the home of Mrs. Allen Tomaszewski. The hostess gift was won by Linda Wnuk.

Spring Sing

A most entertaining program, "Spring Sing 1984" was presented by the Hay Lakes School on Thursday evening. Students from grades one to nine participated in the colorful program of singing, dancing, skipping routines and playing of musical instruments. A number of children were dressed in ethnic costumes for the occasion. At the conclusion of the program the Sweet Adelines from Camrose sang four songs of harmony which were well received by the audience. Emcees for the program were [illegible]

A house warming was held on June 8 to welcome Lester and Sharon Stevlyk and son to the community. Approximately 30 people attended. They are residing in the former Leslie Groeller residence. A plaque, welcoming them to Hay Lakes, was presented during the evening.

Exchange School Visit

The grade two and grade five students of Hay Lakes School, along with their teachers and a number of chaperones, paid a return visit to Tipaskan School in Edmonton. During the morning the grade five class were taken on a tour of the Edmonton Journal Plant. The grade two students spent time in class and participated in a pottery session and a session on the wall climber. They also spent time in the school library. Tipaskan is a very modern school having just opened in September 1983.

At noon time the Hay Lakes students went home with their Tipaskan buddies for lunch. During the afternoon an operetta and a parachute dance was performed by the Tipaskan students. An enjoyable time was also had at the wave pool which is located near the school. Due to the damp weather the afternoon concluded with an indoor picnic.

The second "Discover Battle River Country" tour is scheduled for June 27th.

The tour, sponsored by the Battle River Tourist Association and the Camrose Community Bus Service, will be wending its way into the southern section of Zone 5.

"All we are telling is that one stop will be for a picnic at Big Knife Provincial Park" says B.R.T.A. Manager Sylvia Clemens. "We have other unique and interesting stops arranged that I'm certain that most people have not visited."

The tour will leave Smitty's Restaurant at 9 a.m. and return about 5 p.m. The picnic is included in the nominal fee charged for the outing.

Tickets are available from the Battle River Tourist Association office 6107 - 48 Avenue, phone 672-8866

Anyone is welcome to join the tour.

Ryley-Holden school update

Now that some time has passed since the decision was made to restructure Holden School into K-9 and Ryley School into K-6 and 10, 11 and 12, I would like to report on progress to date.

In time-tabling the senior students, much of the cycling and double programming has been eliminated for the 1984-85 school year.

Since the first year is a transition period, Holden and Ryley both having been on different cycles in many subjects, I anticipate even greater time-tabling improvements in future years.

At the junior high, students will be taught English and Social Studies by one teacher and Math and Science by another. This not only provides a student increased time with the particular teacher but it also affords the student the opportunity to have a different teacher for these subjects from year to year. I feel that this will benefit the junior high students at Holden. Overall the principals have worked hard to accommodate all the students' requirements and have been successful in most instances.

Teachers have now been assigned to both schools. Since the educational backgrounds and experience of many staff members at both schools are very similar only two teachers have been transferred.

At the same time, secondary teachers' assignments are now limited to three grades with two groups of students at each grade level.

The Board has accepted a recommendation to increase instructional time at Ryley and Holden to 1500 minutes per week. This goal will be achieved over a number of years.

For 1984-85, instructional time for both Holden and Ryley students will increase from 1400 minutes to 1430 minutes per week and we will continue to work towards increasing this over the next few years.

After carefully studying the busing between Holden and Ryley, it appears that the best system will be express buses between the two villages. Rural pupils will transfer to an express bus.

This should add 10-15 minutes extra to a bus route but should not mean that students will be picked up earlier. They now arrive early enough at each school to accommodate this short trip.

I hope that these comments are helpful to parents.

If you have questions I invite you to call or to come and see me. For specific time-tabling questions, you may also wish to contact the Principals at Holden and Ryley.

Superintendent of Schools

Charity, by definition, has all good and benevolent attributes. It is good things done by one for another in need. In theory it sounds great but were you ever on the receiving end for a prolonged period of time? If you have been, you will be aware that charity takes with it a stigma. That stigma tells you that you are less than anyone else. Why should any segment of society that has not the ability to acquire goods and possessions be penalized for the handicap that is not of their making?

Surely a civilized society can budget the resources it has to ensure that the 'charity' of the nineteenth century is not revisited on the twentieth and twenty-first century. When governments laud and praise volunteerism in time of restraint we should pause and consider the need and the result. First consider if your volunteerism is preventing one of the many unemployed from getting a job and secondly be sure that what you are doing is with someone not for someone. There is a difference.

Charity of spirit, having a lenient judgement of others, is the kind of charity we could all wish to possess. It is the kind of charity that is not outdated.

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

How many people earn a living from other people's backs? The number is probably close to the number of people who lose wages because their sore back prevents them from working.

What is certain is the fact that low back pain is one of the commonest afflictions of mankind, a condition that most of us will experience occasionally.

Fortunately, most instances of lumbar pain are due to simple sprains, secondary to an awkward lift or a twist. While a severe strain may be incapacitating, it can be expected to get better within a week or two.

More worrisome is a protruded disk - a bulging, rupture, or fragmentation of the rubbery pad that lies between each vertebra in our spine. The nerve-filled spinal cord lies nearby and pressure on it or its branches by disk material can cause local pain as well as discomfort, numbness, and loss of function anywhere from the buttocks to the foot.

Most disk protrusions also get better, given enough time. If they don't or if foot weakness or other potentially irreversible symptoms occur, intervention may be necessary. This disk is removed surgically or dissolved by injecting a material akin to meat tenderizer.

Some people seem to have poor quality disks and a second one may break down a few years later. Treatment is more difficult if this occurs.

Disks may slowly degenerate as part of the aging process. This is the commonest chronic low back pain, the lumbago so often complained of by our older friends. Almost all cases are best treated medically. Spinal fusion, now infrequently performed, is reserved for carefully selected, unusual cases.

All manner of physicians, surgeons, chiropractors, reflexologists, physiotherapists, message specialists, acupuncturists, and even hypnotists and faith healers do very well treating backs, or claim to. Most get better, perhaps in spite of the treatment. The healers need not worry, however, there is a steady supply of new patients.

Medically Speaking is published in cooperation with this newspaper and the Alberta Medical Association.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. C.H. Taylor

June 11th was a beautiful day for the Holden Cemetery clean-up. There was a good turnout of interested residents of Holden and District with many former Holdenites from Edmonton and Camrose also attending. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gibson had been busy mowing all the grass around the cemetery. Hedges were trimmed and graves cleaned up. During the lunch hour, the annual meeting was held with president Lyle Grosland presiding.

It was decided to purchase two new mowers as the present ones are badly worn. Election of officers was also held with the same slate of officers, president Lyle Grosland; vice-pres. Kelly Story; secretary Mrs. Ethel Brekstad; treasurer Mrs. Kathleen Hurum.

Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple held their regular meeting on June 12th with HRL Mary Semotiuk in the chair. A report of the Brownie, Guide and Mothers' banquet held May 30th was given, also a report of Royal Purple Day on June 6th when the Lodge entertained senior citizens in the Drop-in Center for a social afternoon. The Lodge was advised that a hair-dressing chair for the senior citizens lodge had been obtained and would be delivered shortly.

Plans were discussed of what the Lodge would be looking after at the Homecoming celebration on August 4-6, in conjunction with the Elks Lodge.

As the 83/84 Elks Purple Cross special project is coming to a close, it was decided to send in the full amount raised during this year. HRL Semotiuk read her list of committees for 1984-85. Lodge closed and lunch was served, hostesses being Lady Anne Milimaka and Lady Anne Rurka. Holden Lodge will recess for the months of July and August.

Mrs. Orline Ronnie is a patient in Tofield Hospital recovering from surgery. Mrs. Ethel Brekstad was a Wednesday morning visitor with her last week.

Lyle and Vernice Grosland were Wednesday and Thursday visitors with family in Edmonton.

Holden Ladies Auxiliary Royal Canadian Legion held a regular meeting on Thursday evening with president Helen Stacyk in the chair. Donations were made to the Salvation Army Red Shield Appeal and a second donation to the Holden Homecoming Committee.

A report of the bake sale was given by the secretary. A 60th anniversary social evening was discussed to be held in the fall with other items of business discussed before the meeting closed. After the meeting, lunch was served with Irene Taylor being hostess.

Orville Daily, a former long-time farmer of the Holden District, of South Edmonton, is a patient in an Edmonton hospital.

Mrs. Sirgina Stser who has been residing at the Senior Citizens Lodge is a patient in St. Mary's Hospital in Camrose after breaking her other hip and having surgery. Her daughter, Lorraine Knudson of Camrose, came over to pick up her belongings as she will be entering the nursing home at Bethany, after coming out of hospital.

Mrs. George Mason has been a patient in Tofield Hospital for several days.

Conrad Melby, who has been patient in Tofield Hospital for some time, returned to the Senior Citizens Lodge last Saturday.

The Holden LCW held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday with Mrs. Ethel Brekstad leading in the Bible Study and then was in charge of the business meeting. Donations were made to the Salvation Army and to the Bethany Childrens Home. It was reported that several members had attended the U.C.W. picnic at Hastings Lake Camp. Mrs. Olga Hurum read the worship meditation and after the close of the meeting, lunch was served, hostess being Mrs. Olga Hurum. A card was signed by all to send to Mrs. Agnes Phillips who is a patient in hospital.

Mrs. Olga Shavchook of Chipman, mother of Dennis Shavchook, passed away on June 12th at the age of 72 years. She is survived by two sons, Dennis of Holden and Lawrence of Edmonton; one daughter, Mrs. Edward (Virginia) Piasta of Edmonton; seven gradnchildren, Darlene, Brian, Ronald and Corrine Shavchook; Maria, Tamara and John Piasta; one brother, Peter Safranovich of Chipman; six sisters, Mrs. Katherine Prusak, Mrs. Anne Ewasiuk, Susan Saffrin, Mrs. Helen Hrabec, Mrs. Tina Starko of Edmonton and Sister Aloysius SSMI of Windsor, Ont. She was predeceased by her husband, Harry on November 7, 1973; her parents; brothers, John, William and Steve; and sisters, Mary Widynowski and Martha Kresanoski. Prayer service was held on Thursday and Divine Liturgy was held on Friday in St. Nicholas Ukrainian Catholic Church with Rev. N. Diadio officiating and interment was in St. Michael's Cemetery.

Ministik and district news

by Catherine Reddick

A miscellaneous shower was held at the hall for bride-to-be Joyce Vandermeer.

Many ladies attended and Joyce received a variety of gifts.

Hostesses were Elaine Farmer, Shirley Herricks, Evelyn May and Laura Swann.

After the gifts were opened and wishes made, Joyce made a speech thanking all her friends. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Bob and Dorothy and Jimmie Dylke of Creston, B.C. were guests of Johnny and Pat Dylke and boys for five days last week, returning home on Wednesday.

A family celebration took place at the home of Ron and Clare MacLean on June 8th, the occasion being their 40th wedding anniversary. They were the recipients of a gas barbecue from their family.

Due to a small attendance, there was no Community League meeting on Monday evening. The League recesses now for the summer months, meeting again on the second Monday of August.

The Crafts Centre received all new eavestroughing on Monday with Gary Winter of Edmonton doing the installing.

The Ladies Club meeting for June was held at the home of Gladys Swabey.

Betty Williams treasurer, reported a good sum from the annual strawberry tea and as has been a tradition with the club for many years, most of the proceeds are to go to sending a handicapped child to Camp He-Ho-Ha. After the business session was completed the ladies made book marks from discarded birthday cards, for patients in the Tofield Hospital with Joyce Bowerman as instructor.

Lunch was served by hostesses Gladys and Laurie Swabey. The club recesses for the summer months but, will meet for a cup of tea at the home of Vi Reddick on July 11th.

Ministik can boast of five grade 12 grads, who attended exercises last week. They are Debbie Grummett, Kathy Perusini, Rodney Holmes, Darren Dekinder and Perry Paterson.

The Spilstead Community Hall was a very busy place this past weekend. On Saturday evening, the Spilstead Community League held its monthly dance. A good crowd attended.

On Sunday morning, a candlelight parade was attended, at Spilstead Hall by the Cubs, Scouts, Pathfinders and their respective leaders. An attendance of about 50 people enjoyed the service of singing and worship which was conducted by Rev. Dahlen of Rosebud. The service was followed by a pot-luck lunch.

Getting the Most From Spraying

Every year, it is common for us to get a number of questions on herbicides, nozzles and spraying equipment and this very complicated aspect of farming is always a source of confusion for many farmers. Here are some questions and answers that may be of help.

Question: Why are higher water volumes recommended, especially when lower rates have worked well before? Also, why are the 10 gal. flat fan nozzles recommended so highly?

Answer: Consider these statements.

1) Crop tolerance is improved by increasing water volumes
2) Crop tolerance is highest when growing conditions are favorable and lower when the crop is stressed, such as hot or dry conditions.
3) Crop tolerance is greater if a herbicide is sprayed in the evening, as opposed to the morning. Evening spraying produces less stress on the crop as it recovers through the night. Morning spraying stresses the crop twice — the herbicide itself and the warmer daytime temperatures.
4) The susceptibility of a weed to herbicide is greater under good growing conditions, as opposed to hot days or dry conditions
5) Weed control tends better when sprayed in the evening as the leaf pores are in an open position, allowing more absorption of herbicide. During the daytime, these pores tend to close so that the plants do not lose too much moisture.
6) Many herbicides have a range of application rates. Under good growing conditions, the lighter rate may be used and especially if the weeds are small. Small weeds are easier to kill. Under stressed conditions, or heavy weed populations, the heavier rates may be required. Lighter rates will generally give better control if 8-10 gallons of water is used instead of 4-5 gallons and there is less drift
7) It is possible to get 10 gals/acre from a 4 gallon nozzle if you increase pressure and decrease ground speed. However, increasing pressure, decreases droplet size, making each drop lighter and more susceptible to drift. Using larger nozzles and water volumes will reduce drift and still achieve very good weed control. The numbers of droplets may not change much but they are heavier and hit the leaf surface quicker.
8) Flat fan nozzles are usually recommended for two reasons; the spray coverage they produce when new and when old. There are many nozzles that have less drift potential when new. However, the coverage they produce can be very poor after they are worn. Worn nozzles put out more chemical, which not only [illegible] the pocketbook. In my opinion, [illegible] droplet numbers (coverage), droplet size (drift potential), durability and many other factors, the use of flat fan nozzles is very satisfactory and will give excellent weed control. This eventually affects the profit potential of your crop.
9) Many herbicides have a range of application rates. Under good growing conditions, the lighter rate may be used and especially if the weeds are small. Small [illegible] are [illegible] susceptible to herbicide. [illegible] tions, or heavy weed populations, the heavier rates may be used. Lighter rates will generally give better control if 8-10 gallons of water is [illegible] used as opposed to 4-5 [illegible]

Remember, the objective of spraying is to control a weed problem. Choosing the correct chemical is half the solution; applying that chemical uniformly at the desired rate is the other half.

Toy Advertising and Children

It has been said that the average youngster under 12 years of age watches about 20,000 commercials each year, which works out to about three hours of commercials per week. There is little wonder that Canadian parents complain bitterly of the effects of advertising on children's preferences and desires for toys.

Some provinces have limited the amount and style of advertising directed to children. There is no such legislation in Alberta, so it is up to parents or concerned adults to do their part in controlling the effects of undue advertising pressures.

Here are some ways to lessen the impact of advertising:

1. Limit the amount of time children spend in front of the television set. By allowing them a certain amount of time each day and letting them choose the program(s) they wish to watch during their time limit, you not only lessen their exposure to advertising, but teach them valuable lessons in decision-making and self-control.
2. Sit down with the children during periods of "child directed" programming and advertising and discuss the advertisements in an analytical manner. It's a time consuming process, but well worth the effort in the long run.
3. Take children to a toy department or store and have them critically analyze the toys they have seen advertised. Often the toys are not as enticing as they seemed in the advertisement. They are not as large, life-like nor as well constructed.

Remember that a child requires a parent's time and guidance to learn that [illegible] advertising can provide information, it more often only makes emotional appeals and uses special production techniques to make the product seem more appealing than it really is.

Broadcast Code For Advertising To Children

The Canadian Advertising Standards Council is a group set up by the advertising industry to regulate the quality of advertising and thereby, try to avoid undue government control through legislation.

The Code for Advertising to Children outlines the guidelines for advertisements directed at children during children's prime time television viewing hours. While the code restricts advertising on Canadian station, many children watch a large number of American stations on cable television and, therefore, are exposed to many advertisements which do not have to meet the Canadian standards.

You can get a copy of the Code by writing: Alberta Advertising Standards Council, P.O Box 9000, Edmonton, T5P 4K1.

If you would like to have more information on how you can work with your children to lessen the impact of advertising — call us at 343-6041 and ask us to send out "Mom Buy Me That" — a parents guide to advertising.

Horse club holds meeting

On June 13, Katchemut Creek Family Horse Club held its regular monthly meeting.

Due to some executive resignations, elections to fill the vacancies were held right after the secretary and treasurer's reports were read. A motion was made that Jr. vice president Dianne Harper assume the position of vice-president. Teresa Williams was elected club secretary and Ed Gustavson is the new Arena Director.

A motion was made and carried that timed events are timed from when the horse crosses the starting line, except in the case of the chariot races They start at the word "go".

Discussion was held about building an inside rail around the track. It was decided that the club would buy pressure treated posts but, would hold a couple of work-days to cut and peel rails. Renee King volunteered to organize this operation. It was decided that July 6, 7 and 8 would be the work times for this project. The rails will be cut in the evening of the 6th, during the day of July 7 and 8 there will be more rail cutting and peeling and, hopefully, getting them pounded in.

The next club Gymkhana is on July 2 at 1:30 p.m., so it was decided to finish off the day with a club barbecue

The club will be having pony rides at the July 1st celebrations in Tofield. Ted Shannon is in charge.

Discussion was held regarding a rule change. The rule now reads: Use of artificial aids is prohibited. (Bats, spurs, etc.) This rule will apply at all times, whether club members or guest riders

On Sunday, the club will hold a trail ride This ride will start from Beaverhill Family Centre at 1 p.m. sharp

The next meeting will be held in mid-July Members were remanded to contribute their favourite photos to Angie Wood for the club photo album.

TOPS presents awards

The Ryley TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) group held their first awards night since their inception in January of this year, with a calorie-wise supper served in the Ryley Senior Citizens Centre, last Tuesday evening.

There are 24 members in this chapter and so far they have lost a total of 274 pounds. Judy Lindstrand, Area Captain for the Camrose Chapter of TOPS, was on hand as the guest speaker.

The award of a bracelet and charm for achieving six consecutive weeks of weight loss went to Cindy Lehman, Debbie Olson, Greta Phillips, Brenda Stefura and Vivian Wilde.

The 10-pound loss charm went to Clara Herbert, Jan Munkedal, Elaine Hilsbech, Winnie Johnson, Cindy Lehman, Debbie Olson, Marilyn Pooke and Vivian Wilde.

Twenty-pound charms went to Pat Jeffrey, Helen Karenko, Debbie Olson and Brenda Stefura. Debbie Olson was the sole recipient of a 30-pound charm.

Half-way to goal charms were presented to Clara Herbert, Jan Munkedal, Jeannette Johnson, Winnie Johnson, Helen karenko, Inez Reil, Brenda Stefura, Vanda Stefura, Vivian Wilde and Pat Jeffrey.

All the above winners were judged for the time period between January and April. Those who joined the club later, were not eligible for consideration at this time but received miscellaneous charms. They are Marguerite Fish, Mary McKay, Colleen Stensrud, Elaine Wood, Eleanor Jacobson, Kathy Haugan, Sandy Lee, Janice Knudsden and Betty Thoen.

Within the TOPS organization is a group called KOPS (Keep Off Pounds Sensibly). There are a total of three in the Ryley Chapter and they have to achieve and maintain their goal weight for at least 13 consecutive weeks.

KIW's (Kops in Waiting) are members who have achieved their goal weight but are in the process of maintaining for the required time period. Ryley Chapter now has 11 in their midst.

The TOPS executive are leader Colleen Stensrud; co-leader Pat Jeffrey; secretary Inez Reil; treasurer Cindy Lehman; and weight recorders Brenda Stefura and Elaine Wood.

The club is still open for new members and meets every Tuesday evening in the Senior Citizens Club Hall.

Choosing Home Siding

Putting new siding on your house is a major expense. Before you choose a siding contractor or the best product for your needs, shop around.

Many siding products are offered for sale by door-to-door sellers. Always ask for some identification before dealing with any salesperson.

Many different siding materials are available. For some homeowners, hosting down metal and vinyl siding is more attractive than painting wood every few years. For the do-it-yourselfer, hardboard and wood sidings are easy to handle and require only basic carpentry skills.

New siding does very little to improve the insulation value of your home. It does, however, provide the opportunity to upgrade the insulation at the same time.

Before buying any siding material, check to see that it meets Canadian standards. A "CMHC number" on the material indicates the product conforms to existing standards, and the National Building Code of Canada. The testing includes thickness, impact resistance, shrinkage, warp and temperature flexibility.

Home siding manufacturers generally offer extended product warranties or guarantees. While most manufacturers guarantee the product against failure due to faulty manufacturing, the warranty may not cover problems caused by physical damage or mistakes in application. Vinyl siding in particular must be installed strictly as specified by the manufacturer.

District news from Ryley

by Lorna Hall

Wilfred and Carol Helgeland of Camrose and Stan and Ida Hunka were guests with relatives in Ryley on Sports Day.

On June 11, there was a fair turnout on Cemetery clean-up day with Beulah Ostlund taking lunch out for them.

Laura Podruzny and family of Camrose and Lorne Anderson's of Tofield visited with the folks, Elmer and Kathleen Anderson at the Lions Golden Manor on Sunday. Gladys Chambers also called.

Elmer Anderson enjoyed getting out to the Ryley Sports baseball games. Unable to see properly, his wife and others explained to him what was going on.

Alf Anderson's daughter Myrtle and husband of Camrose visited on Saturday.

Mattie Slater is a patient in the Camrose Hospital, with a broken leg.

Peter and Ruby Hunka of Tofield and Stan and Ida Hunka of Ryley motored to Wainwright a week ago Sunday to visit with their cousin, Raymond and Euphemie (McBratney) Hunka

Brenda Helgeland served lunch at the Senior Citizen's Centre last Wednesday, with Phyllis Nees and Margaret Fish helping.

Roxanne Knudsden has been a patient in the Tofield Hospital. Mike Pawelko is a patient in an Edmonton hospital.

Dorothea Kirkaland is home again after spending some time in the Tofield Hospital. Her brother, Gerald Owen and Lacy of Camrose threw out last week to visit with her.

The Ryley Sports Day parade was not so long this year, with different groups marching.

Bonjour! Bonjour!

In French, Ask Me No More!

From reports this past week have revealed that all 700 RCMP detachments across Canada must comply with federal 'bilingual' requirements and answer telephones in both 'official languages' — in spite of the fact that barely one-third of them have any bilingual staff.

"It's a headache," said one RCMP officer. "It's a very touchy situation," added another. "We don't speak any French here," added an officer at another locale. "We're just waiting for the day when someone up and starts talking French to us. We'll just keep saying 'Bonjour . . . Bonjour . . .'" (CP in Owen Sound Sun Times, May 3)

This 'bilingual' directive from Ottawa applies to the RCMP in all areas, whether there are any French-speaking people in the area or not. Grey County, with its city of Owen Sound, is an area in Ontario where French is seldom heard or spoken, or even understood. Yet, the Owen Sound Sun Times, May 3, published a report captioned "RCMP detachments to purrier on francais." Following, are excerpts:

The RCMP's Owen Sound detachment is ready and willing to parlier on francais, says the detachment commander Sgt. Mark Porter said it was "maybe just an overnight" that a phone call placed to the office Wednesday was not answered in both official languages.

Porter said he was not allowed to comment on RCMP policies, when asked about an RCMP directive . . . to answer telephones in English and French. He said calls to the local office are usually answered with "RCMP, bonjour."

Well, after reading this report last Thursday afternoon, we decided to test out the quality of 'bilingual' RCMP greeting. And our research director, Patrick Walsh, being bilingual, was the person to phone our Owen Sound detachment.

Sure enough, Bonjour!, came our friendly Mountie greeting. But, just as we suspected, the 'parlier chap' couldn't continue in French because that seemed about the extent of his skills in our other 'official language', and Constable Laramee — who just recently was sent to this detachment to handle French [illegible] 24-hour bilingual service seven days a week would mean 21 weekly 8-hour shifts, which, together with statutory and annual holidays, etc., would mean that this little detachment would require about five Constables. Laramee to provide this French-language service in Grey where hardly anyone could even understand it.

How many of our 700 RCMP detachments across Canada are experiencing this situation? Why, the largest personnel contingent in RCMP detachments of the future could be linguistic officers, available to communicate the language local people don't understand.

This policy should at least alleviate our unemployment problem, at least in French-speaking Canada which will have to supply most of these French-speaking officers across the country.

Expensive? Surely not; after all, both Turner and Mulroney are promising to actually cut back on waste and deficits! And they both support this nonsensical policy of compulsory bilingualism. As a matter of fact, how many politicians of any label have protested this misuse of public funds?

For over a century our Mounties have served Canada admirably, fighting crime and safeguarding our security with dedication and commitment. But now they are being used by the subservients who now control the levers of power in Ottawa, to spend their time, energies and funds imposing a two-language policy in areas where it's less than useless.

One other point: This whole exercise will inject French-speaking personnel from French-speaking areas of Canada into every RCMP detachment from coast to coast. And, of course, 'bilingual' qualifications will be necessary for promotion!

The whole concept of bilingualism when it was installed in the late 1960s, was that government services, federally at least, should be available in French and English where numbers warrant. There has been a subtle but tremendous change in this concept under the Trudeau regime. Until today, numbers and need are completely ignored, replaced by a heavy-handed compulsory imposition regardless of local needs and provincial jurisdiction.

Thus has the language policy become a prime instrument of divisive confrontation, bitter regional conflict, and alienation and fragmentation all across our country.

The question in our mind is: Was it planned that way?

Echoes from Em

Cowboys are careless sometimes when they get into town, mostly when they are trading with the dealers, like most car dealers and implement dealers. You know how it is, you get a pretty good price on the vehicle and then they start on you with extras, like spare tires, etc. which you need, So I got a kick out of the farmer who had just made a deal.

The very next day the salesman came out to buy a cow for his freezer. The farmer priced the cow like this:

Cow — $400.00.
Two-tone color — $50.00.
Extra stomach — $60.00.
Dual horns — $15.00.
Genuine cow hide upholstery — $125.00.
Dispenser — $50.00.
Total plus delivery — $710.00.

You see, there are two sides to every story!

Your Tax Dollars Overseas
by Rod Wells

One of the cities of spring for Canadians is completing the Federal Income Tax form and either kissing money goodbye or anxiously awaiting the refund cheque. Regardless of the category you are in, income tax touches all our lives.

We are told we ought to feel happy about this privilege at about the time we wish nobody knew we've made any money. Handing money away that 'money' to disappear isn't my idea of jubilation nor, I'm sure, is it yours. But there's hope! There is concrete evidence that all those hard earned dollars don't just disappear.

CIDA

One way Canada uses your tax dollars is in the Canadian International Development Agency. CIDA is the department under the Secretary of State of External Affairs responsible for the coordinated approach to assisting underdeveloped nations.

In this all done in the high tech, mega-bucks method that leaves tractors rusting, hydro dams useless and some other well-to-do nations have pulled out their share of foibles by that method in years gone by; increasing amounts of cash, goods and services are going to aid more appropriate forms of development.

The Right Fuel

The key difference between the past war models of development and the approaches now favoured in the 70's and 80's is in recognizing that the recipient countries must be directly involved in planning and implementation. Histories of colonialism and cultural differences mean programs must be developed cooperatively between donors and recipients to create relevant progress and appropriate results. New emphasis on agricultural research, less expensive technology, trades training and health and hygiene education are helping to pave the way for self-reliance and economic stability in the Third World.

NGOs?

To this new end CIDA has adopted many programs. Of major interest to you and I is CIDA's 'Non-Government Organizations' (NGO) Division. In this context a 'NGO' is an organization in Canada that is in any way involved in international development and aid projects in the Third World. Your church world relief division, humanitarian agencies, international service clubs and a host of other voluntary groups fall into this category.

These are the groups who have sent their people to the tiny villages. These are the groups who have experienced first-hand the needs of the underprivileged. These are the organizations who can best utilize our government's support — and that's just what's happening.

Matching Money

Instead of funnelling all your tax dollars into government to government programs or business and industry [illegible] CIDA is matching NGO Division dollars to [illegible] practical grassroots initiatives. Most often this is done by matching the dollars raised by the private organizations themselves as much as 10 to 1. Many of you may have become aware of this successful program in recent years. Quite often, for example, the $50 you gave in the special church offering for overseas work will become $5 with matching government grants before it leaves Canada. In part, it was your income tax dollar that multiplied your generosity.

Last year the NGO Division of CIDA helped these agencies to the tune of over $165 million. This represents some 10% of its total budget. Research, bilateral and multilateral aid programs of food aid, etc. [illegible] the balance of its budget.

Increasingly our governments are saying you have a direct role in international development.

TRACKING DOWN BLACK FLIES

Scientists at Agriculture Canada's Lethbridge, Research Station are out to get black flies.

Black flies in western Canada are a major livestock pest and cost farmers money.

The scientists now are testing the effectiveness of different traps for collecting adult flies.

The goal is to develop a model that predicts when insecticide applications designed to control black flies would be most effective.

We would like to express our

to our many friends and customers for the support you gave us at Pete's Royalite. It was a pleasure serving you over the past sixteen years, many friends were made and this we cherish dearly. Also a big "thank-you" to our family and friends who so willing helped us clear the office and then the shop in preparation for our sale.

Palmer—Earling district news items

Lyle and Dolorus Bratrud, Shelly and Mark were in Edmonton Sunday and attended confirmation services for their niece, Barbara Hanson. Lawrence and Connie Haviland were also there for the confirmation of their great nephew Dean Rose.

Buster and Irene Brace, Duncan, B.C. are visitors in Camrose and area with relatives and friends.

Lawrence Pearce has had hip surgery at the University Hospital.

The Zion LCW met June 13 with Connie Haviland when 11 were present. Bible lesson led by Lorraine Hellekson. Devotions by Diane Bratrud.

Letter read by secretary Mildred Tomlinson from Kai H.R. Jespersen of Bethany Homes, and a card of thanks and a donation from the Knisley family. Offering meditation by Bonnie Hellekson. Next meeting will be held June 27th at Selma Bratrud's.

Knisley and sister, Clara Knisley, moved to Earling District where he purchased land and resided until his passing.

Wedding Announced

Many relatives from this area were at the Bawlf Lutheran Church June 9 to attend the wedding of Shyla Bergquist and Kerry Piro.

Attending from a distance were former residents here, Henry and Ida Gunderson, Vailhalla Centre, Evelyn Mosby of Beaverlodge, Brian and Hazel McKay, Grande Prairie, Dale and Linda Lougheed and Michael and Sheldon of Fairview and Dr. Carol (Bergquist) Thomas of Dallas, Texas.

Vows Pledged

The wedding of Barbara Pilger of Ohaton and Darrell Peter, son of Joseph and Jean Peter, of this area, took place June 16 at St. Francis Xavier Church and relatives and friends from here were guests.

Ashbee Knisley, 83, Passes

It is with the sad news that June 7 claimed the life of Art Knisley, 83. He was born at Hayter on March 27, 1911 and farmed at Donalda and Battle River until 1964 when he, with his wife Rose, his mother, Mrs. Clara

Rain or Shine

A little plug for one of life's great values.

Electricity serves your family hand and foot, which makes it one of the great values you can get in this day and age. Electricity lights your house, cooks your meals, sweeps your rugs, freezes your food and shaves you. It wakes you up, tells you the time, powers your furnace, fan, brings you entertainment from the four corners of the Earth and keeps you cool on a hot day. It pumps your water, drives the humidifier, washes the dishes, does the laundry, runs the thermostat, opens your tins and helps start your car in the dead of winter. Electricity. One of life's great values.

Tofield plans 75th

by Joan Murray

This weekend will be a time when all community groups get together and put on a celebration [illegible] the Town of Tofield's 75th anniversary.

Everyone is welcome to participate in this three-day extravaganza beginning with a dance in the Tofield Arena on Saturday night.

Sunday starts the day off right with a pancake breakfast at 8 a.m. to noon in the Tofield Legion Hall. Ball tournaments will be going on throughout the day with ladies' fastball, men's fastball and baseball, all beginning at 11 a.m.

The Kids Karnival games start at 1 p.m. on the east side of the Curling Rink with races taking place at 2 p.m. at the same location.

The bingo and Farmers Flea Market will be in the Arena from 2 until 4 p.m. There will also be horseshoe pitching competitions taking place at the same time, adjacent to the Gun Club Building.

Concluding the day will be the Lions pit barbecue at the Arena, at 4:30 p.m.

On Monday, the day starts off again with a pancake breakfast at That Place from 7:30 to 10 a.m., followed by the parade starting at 11 a.m. The entrants will assemble on the north side of the Tofield School at 10 a.m. The procession then moves along the secondary road around past the Senior Citizen's Lodge, down Main Street, east past the Legion building, north past the RCMP Detachment Office and back to Tofield School

Ball tournaments, kids' carnival games and races will take place throughout the day. Tournaments begin at 10 a.m. and kids' events start at 1 p.m.

Additional attractions will be pony rides and the gymkhana on the Fairgrounds and a crown and anchor wheel on the east side of the Curling Rink. These events will take place in the afternoon, starting at 1 p.m.

There will also be bingo, Farmer's Flea Market and horseshoe pitching throughout the afternoon.

The Tofield Historical Society will be registering oldtimers at the Museum and a coffee house will be set up adjacent to the Museum on both Sunday and Monday.

There will be four concession locations available for refreshments throughout the day. One inside the curling rink and one outside as well as one inside the arena and one outside.

There will be two entrances to the Fairgrounds, one on the north side and one on the west.

There will also be two locations designated for overnight parking.

The July 1st celebrations are co-ordinated by a local committee of volunteers representing all participating clubs in the Town of Tofield.

Ryley Elementary School students took a break from their Mini Olympics on Wednesday to celebrate and enjoy an end of the year pot-luck lunch with their parents and teachers.

Playground opens

This year's Summer Playground in Tofield is set to get underway on July 3rd, Monday to Friday in the Lions Park.

Fun and Fantasy is the theme for this summer.

The program is divided into two sections. The preschoolers, 4 to 6 years of age, begin at 9:30 a.m. to 12 p.m. and children 7 to 12 years of age go from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

There are weekly themes such as a Spaceship Fantasy, Olympic Stars and Fantasyland. Also, there are games, crafts and field trips planned.

The library will also be reading stories to the boys and girls at the playground every Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday mornings at 10:30 a.m. and afternoon at 2:30 p.m. Movies will be shown at the library every Friday and Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p.m.

Playground activities are free and all children are encouraged to attend. Two weekly daycamps at Elk Island Park are scheduled. There is a minimum registration fee for daycamp.

The program leaders for this summer playground are Maureen Bouma and Debbie Neufeld.

Grand Forks reunion planned

by Joan Murray and Harry Stauffer

On July 13th to 15th, the community of Grand Forks, [illegible] of Highway 14 on Highway 834, will be holding a reunion of all the past students and teachers of both the original Grand Forks School built in 190[illegible] and the more modern version that was built in 1940.

Harry Stauffer, reunion committee chairman, said they have received a good response to invitations sent out and expect at least 200 of the 210 invited guests and their families to attend this event.

Registration will take place July 13th and will give everyone a chance to get reaquainted while enjoying a complimentary wiener roast. The next day will consist of a brunch and early supper. On Sunday, July 15th, activities will be open for public enjoyment.

Settlers started moving into the area in the late 1890's and early 1900, coming from Europe, Eastern Canada and the United States.

Many homesteaded, other bought up Canadian Pacific Railway land or Hudson Bay Co. land.

Records show there were 63 ratepayers between 1902 and 1904, most of them here before the school district was formed.

On September 8, 1902, Department of Education in Regina granted the formation of the Grand Forks School District No. 737 of the Northwest Territories.

The name had been selected by a committee before this, choosing Grand Forks because of a creek branch from the Round Hill District emptying into Amish Creek which flowed close to the school site coming from the west.

The school design was typical of its time built of lumber by George Stevenson for $100. Andrew Foss hauled the lumber from Wetaskiwin for $30 and Ludvig Johson bid $70 to paint and varnish the outside and inside of the school.

Grand Forks was unique in having a belfry with a large bell to ring from the opening of school in the summer of 1904, due to the efforts of the secretary Mrs. Tilly Qualley, who canvassed the area for donations. A rancher and merchant of Round Hill, Bill Ross, was a generous contributor.

The bell, having inscripted the name of the first school teacher, Rev M.R. Gordon, who taught the summer of 1904, closing school the end of August for the grand salary of $414.55 which had included the government grant.

The first pupils consisted of six to 18 year-olds taking the years 1904-1911 pupils we find about 16 still living. The number of pupils taught when Grand Forks closed in 1957-58 term was 18 pupils grades one to six, excluding grade four (no pupils that year) with Miss Deanna B. Thomas (Mrs. Norman Dahl) as teacher.

The old school building was bought and moved by the Greek Catholic Church from Tofield to the north end of Main Street in Tofield and remodeled. The building was demolished in 1975.

The new school building had all the modern facilities for its day. Tables and chairs instead of desks, kitchen and sleeping room for teacher, library, activity room plus a full basement, good heating system, a cistern for rain water plus modern wash rooms.

CB patrol planned

by Joan Murray

Rural Crime Watch held a meeting at the Shaw Hall on Thursday night to discuss a C.B. patrol system which could prove to be useful during the summer months and [illegible].

Two members of this organization, Len Kowalchuk and Sanford Boettger, will be setting up a system for participation in this type of rural patrolling.

John Bauman, assistant fire chief for the Tofield Fire Department, was a guest speaker this evening.

With the use of a video presentation, he described the effects of a car crash and how rescue equipment is used to free trapped victims in motor vehicle accidents. He also showed a video on heart attacks and the application of CPR (Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation).

Members agreed to make a donation of $200 to the TFD Special Equipment Fund.

A discussion was held on possible speakers for future meetings.

An agreement was reached to approach a farm safety expert, the SPCA and the Farmers Advocate to see if someone from these groups could attend the next meeting, which will be held on August 23rd in the Tofield Legion Hall.

Old hats

Fashion hats from the past will be the main attraction at the fashion show during Heritage Days in August. On Thursday, these ladies and other members of the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary gathered at the home of Dorothy Shewchuk to donate hats they had accumulated over the years as well as some which had been acquired from other sources.

Clear cut

We hope readers saw the report a few days ago of a poll conducted by Don Mazankowski on a dozen questions he felt were of interest in his constituency.

The Member of Parliament for Vegreville received answers to his poll from roughly a thousand members of his constituency . . . equalling the number Gallup seeks from all across the country. If Gallup can be considered representative of the entire nation, surely Mr. Mazankowski's thousand can be assumed to represent very accurately the views of his constituents.

We don't know whether Mr. Mazankowski's questions were better worded than many of those from the professional pollsters, or whether his constituency may be more homogeneous than the nation as a whole, but it is surprising how clear cut, in the main, are the answers to a dozen questions.

The greatest doubt seems to be felt over the role government should play in trying to create jobs, where those in opposition represented only five out of nine, four out of nine being in favor. That's a surprisingly even split.

On the other extreme, voters favored proposals to stiffen drunk driving laws by an overwhelming eight to one. 86 to 11 is a majority which any government should follow up. And we doubt if the percentage would change substantially anywhere across the country. Why is it so hard for "people" to be heard?

In between, three out of four believed that the economy will not improve within the next six months. Three out of nine favored a Voluntary Red Meat Stabilization program, four of the nine opposed it, and two out of nine had no opinion.

Five out of ten supported proposals to change divorce laws, three of ten opposed them, and two out of ten had no opinion.

Much stronger views attached to the railway question, as might be expected in a rural, agricultural region, where two out of three feel the government should give more help to maintaining and expanding rail passenger service, but only two out of ten felt subsidies of $650 million to the railways will help in expansion of western agriculture through more adequate rail service. Seven out of ten have no such confidence, and one in nine has no opinion.

When it comes to defence, opinions are still pretty clearcut. A remarkable three out of four believe peace can best be achieved through a strong NATO alliance, the same number would support increased Canadian commitment to NATO, but only two out of three support testing the Cruise. Going further, only one in three would endorse unilateral Western nuclear disarmament.

The answers might not be the same in urban centres, but it was only to be expected that four out of five would vote for reduced federal taxes on farm fuels.

Gallup, Starch, Goldfarb and others may want to argue with the "authenticity" of Mr. Mazankowski's sampling, his questions, his sources, but we'd wager his answers are just as representative, just as accurate, as any of theirs. And we hope he'll be able to get a little attention in areas where it counts . . . in the committees where legislation is framed, and the Commons where it is passed.

Rarely do we get such clear-cut expressions.

Quote of the week

From Monday Magazine of Victoria, John Duffie's comment should be preserved, at least past the wrapper for last week's fish and chips: "I don't know what you think of Eugene Whelan's disparaging remark about the intelligence of Africans, but if wearing a hat gives you an IQ like Eugene's, I'm joining the Bareheaded League of Canada tomorrow."

School's Out

"No more homework, no more books, no [illegible] teacher's dirty looks!"

Here it comes! The end of June, the end of another school year and with it, the beginning of mothers searching for something to keep her children busy for the next two months. Any mother will tell you that it's a fruitless [illegible] something that is dry, clean, quiet, lasts all day and is [illegible] else's yard. A mother's impossible dream, if I ever heard one.

[illegible] invented by or even with mothers in mind. (I think that it was invented with teachers in mind. Lord knows they've earned it. After being cooped up with our kids all those months, they need the time to reacquaint themselves with the [illegible] kids love it, of course, because they can sleep in. After needing a parental poke, prod or primal scream every morning to get to school in time, they can now 'sleep in' until 6 a.m. when they jump out of the sack to watch TV cartoons or beat yesterday's video game scores. Within a week they are bored and run the risk of not seeing the summer end. That's because of their mothers yelling, "You tell me one more time how bored you are and I'll wring your neck!"

That's just one of the things mothers can look forward to once the teachers have said "class dismissed". Unfortunately, summer is water, water everywhere, and piles. Summer is filled with piles — wet shoes, wet towels, wet jeans and wet children, all thanks to thunder storms, water fights, cooling off under the sprinkler, water fights, water balloons, steping in the dog's water dish, water fights, falling into mud puddles and more water fights. When there's no water, there's dirt. I especially like the little heaps that fall out of pant cuffs and pockets onto carpets, into beds and in front of the toilet. It is also permanent green stains on jeans (knees and rear ends), bare knees, elbows and eybrows, around holes in sweat pants (knees and rear ends) and on the new runners that weren't supposed to be worn until September.

Ahead of us are numerous requests for cold drinks, bicycle tire patches, pop, ice cream and popcicles, money, picnic lunches, dry towels, [illegible] something to do and someone to do it with. (Friends disappear during summer vacation.) With any luck and a little good management, [illegible] whiz by as quickly as the rest of the year and it will all be over before we have time to do anything that could be misconstrued as premeditated [illegible]

Not acceptable

June 22, 1984

Dear Sir:

New eligibility criteria for the Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped was recently introduced by the Department of Social Services and Community Health with the aim of eliminating those persons who are capable of full employment.

[illegible] but the manner in which directives are being given for the implementation is not.

A part of the new criteria would allow those who are in training or in less than fully competitive employment to keep their disability pension with the proviso that there would be a limited earned [illegible] pension is reduced.

Those persons who are being cut off should be aware of this part of the criteria and make their appeal based on [illegible]

The quality of life provided by Income Protection (Social Assistance) is not acceptable for disabled people who will have to spend the rest of their days in abject poverty.

Like father, [illegible]

During the holidays, most adults go to rounds of parties, drink more than they should, and often drive home intox[illegible]

Unfortunately, so do their kids. Drunk driving is the number one killer of teenagers in this country and, according to one local expert, it is a habit they often learn from their [illegible]

"Many of the adolescents we see openly demand to know why they shouldn't drive after drinking since Mom and Dad do," says Dr. Richard Nuttall, president of Comprehensive Care Corporation (Canada) Limited, the provider of the [illegible], a treatment program that treats chemically addicted teenagers.

"We are very concerned [illegible] and driving. Just like their adult counterparts, [illegible] to drink more during holidays when they have less adult supervision. Their drinking, combined with their novice driving [illegible] and youthful risk taking behavior, makes the roads dangerous for all of us."

Dr. Nuttall cites a recent study that says one teenager dies every day in drunk driving accidents and [illegible] are injured each [illegible] these statistics [illegible] should frighten parents and make them want to be more aware of what their kids are doing.

Although teenagers comprise only 8 percent of the driver population and account for only 6 percent of the vehicle miles traveled, they make up 15 percent of all drunk drivers involved in accidents.

How can a parent tell if his or her teenager is drinking or using drugs?

We get asked this question all the time," Dr. Nuttall says. "We tell parents to be aware of changes in their teenager's personality. Notice if he or she seems giddy, depressed, irritable or hostile. Slipping [illegible]ness to take responsibility for household chores are other indicators. A change of friends is often a result. A youngster having problems with alcohol or other drugs will abandon old friends and seek out those with similar attitudes and behavior.

"Missing items easily converted into cash are also a warning sign," Dr. Nuttall continued. "Does your child lie to you? For young abusers, lying becomes automatic."

What about teenage drinking and driving during the holidays? "We certainly don't want parents to encourage their kids to go out and drink," says Dr. Nuttall. "But many kids do. Parents should be open with their kids — tell Johnny, you don't want him to drink and drive, or to ride with other kids who have been [illegible]

"Most parents would prefer to go out and pick up their [illegible] her risk a serious accident or possible death. Tell them to call you if they run into problems. Their life is worth it."

"We also tell parents not to [illegible]. The best lesson is a positive example."

[illegible]:

Reading some media these days, one is left with the impression that the West would be better off with John Turner rather than with one of the other candidates. I hope everyone will now return to [illegible] none of them, and indeed the only chance the West has of receiving recognition or even having its voice heard, is with a Brian Mulroney government. [illegible] are aware of the following points.

Mulroney has already voiced major western needs, including a revised energy policy which unites the provinces, industry and consumer in common cause, "freedom of choice" for grain producers rather than the Liberals' compulsory and over-rich freight payments to the CPR and CNR, an emphasis on ways to open Canada for business again — particularly in increased exports to America and Pacific Rim nations, and retraining Canadians so wishing for an [illegible] competitive and technological world economy.

Under his leadership an outstanding group of men and women have already won fiercely contested P.C. nominations throughout the West and are already out talking to voters. For the 25 western seats won by the N.D.P. in 1980, moreover, our candidates came second in almost all; the indicated size of the N.D.P. fall in popular support indicates at least the possibility of a P.C. victory in every western constituency in the upcoming election.

— The P.C. caucus and overall party morale is now higher than at anytime since 1958 in the opinion of many longtime M.P.'s. Mr. Mulroney has demonstrated leadership and management skills second to no one in Canadian public life. Quite possibly, it is his background in labour relations, but he has a unique ability to bring diverse people together in common cause.

— In his own family he embodies the experience of many Canadians, including those who find it difficult to make their income cover their monthly expenses. His father held two jobs in order to support his family; he worked his own way through university as a labourer and truck driver; his wife, Mila, was born outside Canada. He also had seven years of direct business experience running a company successfully in difficult circumstances.

In short, Mulroney has to a greater degree than any other leader the competence, commitment to all Canadians, candidates and programs to get our economy moving again at high employment levels. The current flurry of pre-election activity by Liberals in the West and elsewhere can only remind people of the man who abused his wife for years until the day she won a lottery, and he then appeared with a box of [illegible]. The voice of the West will only be heard effectively when Brian Mulroney and the P.C. party form the [illegible].

David Kilgour, M.P.

AGT gets rate hike

Alberta Government Telephones received approval from the Public Utilities Board for an interim rate increase for regulated telephone services effective July 1st.

The amount of the increase will vary according to the equipment and services currently in use and will be subject to a further review by the Board later this summer.

The decision to grant the increase comes as a result of extended hearings based on AGT's revised application of June 27th, 1983. The application used the calendar year 1983 as a test period to determine the appropriateness of the rate increase.

AGT incurred heavy losses in the last two years, as there had been a dramatic drop in the growth of long distance calling which accounts for two-thirds of AGT revenues.

There are, however, several very large expenses that are of an ongoing nature, for a utility such as AGT, that cannot be curtailed immediately, in response to an economic slowdown and substantial reductions in revenues.

These include high debt service charges incurred at record interest rates during the previous period of rapid expansion, high depreciation expenses, construction projects already commenced but not completed, and union wage agreements that cannot be changed unilaterally.

Strong recessionary action was taken which included a hiring freeze, a staff reduction of over 1,[illegible] and drastically cut capital expenditures.

Kingman district notes

A bridal shower for Nola Flemming and Allan Sherbaniuk was held at the Kingman Hall June 21 with over 75 people attending. Mrs. Colleen Wenger was emcee for the short program and Mrs. Denise Otto organized a couple of games. Marline and Karen Pattison did a skit and Mrs. Elsie Boettger gave a brief talk on marriage. Seated at the head table with Allan and Nola were bridesmaid, Lori Patterson and Gerry Wenger, who stood in for Allan's bestman. Miss Valerie Flemming assisted with the opening of gifts. The gifts were then displayed and lunch was served.

June 10 visitors with Nellie and John Kosack were Larry Kosack of Daysland, Audrey and Rosalie Thomas of Edmonton, Dick, Sharon and Rick [illegible], Bob Kosack and Tony Wenger of Millet, Colleen, Gerry and Michael Wenger, Ted and Annie Kosack and Mary and Frank Trach and Mike Cusnick of Tofield. Mike was a visitor from Thursday to Tuesday.

Steve and Sharon Krusnoski and family went to Edmonton on June 10 where they visited with Bill Ingram and Jim Krusnoski who were both recovering from surgery in hospital. Bill Ingram has since returned home and is recovering nicely.

Stanley, Josephine and Michael Wenger and Gerry and Colleen Wenger and Graham Yourston went to Tony Wenger's in Millet on June 17 for a barbecue.

Nola Flemming had the misfortune of dislocating her shoulder in the evening of June 18 while playing ball in Kingman.

Kory Krusnoski competed in a swim meet that was held in Wetaskiwin over the weekend of June 16 and 17.

The Kingman School track meet was held on June 20. Lunch was sold by a few of the students' mothers and the grades 5 and 6 class held a bake sale to raise money to add to the school funds.

On Tuesday of last week Mr. A. Stang from Alberta Transportation was a guest speaker at the Kingman School. He showed a film and gave a talk on bicycle safety

VR VILLAGE OF RYLEY

PUBLIC NOTICE

Intention to Construct a Local Improvment

PURSUANT to the provisions of Section 157 of the Municipal Taxation Act, R.S.A., 1980, Public Notice is hereby given that the Council of the Village of Ryley intends to undertake the construction of road base construction, asphalt surfacing and curb and gutter as a local improvement. The cost of the aforementioned local improvement is $726,000 and after grants in the amount of $88,520, the net amount to be borrowed is $637,480, repayable over a period of 20 years at a rate of interest not exceeding eighteen per centum (18%), or the interest rate fixed from time to time by the Alberta Municipal Financing Corporation, per annum, and to charge the lands abutting that portion of the street or place wherein the local improvement is made at a uniform rate of $4.27 per front foot of frontage for road base construction and asphalt surfacing and $2.30 per front foot of frontage for curb and gutter, for each said year of the said 20 year period.

The aforementioned rate may be subject to amendment at the time of issuance or immediately following the first levy for this project.

In accordance with Section 151(2) of The Municipal Taxation Act, corner lots are assessed in the following manner: 30% of the corner lot flankage plus 100% of frontage is to be assessed as Assessible Frontage.

All costs in excess of the aforementioned special assessment will be borne by the Village of Ryley at large.

The location of the proposed local improvement is as follows:

Play is presented

by Joan Murray

The play "Poppy Seed Cakes" was performed on Monday afternoon at C.W. Sears School in Tofield by grade three students for their parents, teachers and fellow schoolmates.

Members of the cast were Ian Lange, Richard Armstrong, Marne Donovan, Pam Bartling, Jacob Wyman, Curtis Perrott, Carrie Jo Ruehn, Ross Suchy and Candace Duchacher.

The play was narrated by Christopher Wiens and Peter Plaizier.

Dancers were Bonnie Zintel, Shane Fendelet, Sharma Adair, Collin Scheck, Daledee Cunningham, Curtis Anderson, Sheri English and Trevor Sparreboom.

The play was directed by Allyson Embury, Diane Beckmann, and Jim McGaughey with piano music being played by Elaine Kauffman.

The Greedy Green Geese costume was made by Melanie Tremblay and Esther Cornelius. Poppy seed cakes were donated by Marilyn Strilchuk, Lorraine Wiens, Dorothy Suchy, Lucy Anderson and Irma Heidebrecht.

Kathi McMath, Elaine McDonald and Alice Sparreboom created the sets and the make-up was applied by Alice Sparreboom assisted by all the other parents.

Stage crew consisted of Jeremy Ovelson, Mike Freeland and Marc Wiens with sign carriers Kevin Krystal, Adam McMath, Curtis Ebeltoft, and Joshua [illegible]

The program was assembled by Lucy Anderson. The lunch committee consisted of Maureen Jeffrey and Mona Arceneaux with hosts Paula Fosbaug and Bradley Cooper.

After the play, the grade threes threw a cast party with Kool-aid and poppy seed cakes that were consumed in their rooms with their parents.

4-H wind-up is held

Recently, the Tofield 4-H Crafts Club held their Achievement Day. The girls put all of their work on display, making up their own individual displays on which they were judged.

The project work was judged by Mrs. Maureen Bauman and the record books were judged by Mrs. Hazel Patterson.

On June 13 the wind-up party was held at the home of Yvonne Brown.

The overall display award, a desk set was presented to Teresa Eleniak. Senior project work award went to Bernadette Zintel. Senior public speaking award was presented to Rami Hastings and senior record book award went to Teresa Eleniak.

In the Junior section, Deanna Brown and Brenda Eleniak tied for first place in the junior project work, so both were presented with their awards.

Deanna Brown also received awards for first place in junior public speaking and junior record book.

4-H pins were presented to the new members Cheryl Jeffrey, Rami Hastings and Sharon Wade.

Souvenir spoons were presented to Maureen Bauman for judging, Carol Rurka for helping the girls with origami and to Kathy Eleniak for her work as the project leader.

All of the members also received 4-H badges.

Bernadette Zintel then presented the club's gifts to the leaders, to Yvonne Brown, a houseplant and t-shirt for her work as club leader; and a houseplant was also presented to Kathy Eleniak.

The wind-up party was the end of this year's activities.

The Tofield 4-H Crafts and Laughs Club will again reorganize in the fall time. New members will be welcomed.

Whist played

The last whist of the season was played at the Drop-in Centre on Wednesday.

Ten tables were played.

Ladies first, Martha Tiedemann and Myrtle LaRoque, tied. Consolation went to [illegible].

Gents first, Emma Ferguson and [illegible], George Neimetz and Stanley Wanger, tied.

Town ups business licenses

by Joan Murray

At the regular meeting of Town of Tofield Council on Monday night, the business by-law was amended to increase the cost of business licenses.

This move was made in response to several community members approaching councillors at various times to discuss their opposition to temporary business operations.

It is hoped that this action will deter liquidation companies, marketers and street vendors from coming into the Town and offering for sale the goods that local merchants already supply to townspeople.

The licence presently cost $50 and council has not yet set the rate to which it will be increased This amendment was made to protect the interests of the local business establishments.

Municipal Planner, Mark Lawrence, was present this night to inform council of the proposed amendments to the County of Beaver's land use by-law.

The County proposes to reduce the area surrounding Tofield that is presently zoned urban development and rezone it to agricultural farmland. Most of the changed zone will occur south of Highway 14 South of Ryley and Holden are also slated for change.

On the north side of Tofield, the proposed area of change is sufficiently far away from the town limits to not interfere with future development in that direction.

Council's main concern was that the result of these changes directly south of Highway 14 could restrict growth in that direction. They asked Lawrence why it was being changed but he was unable to give a satisfactory answer at that time.

He recommended that if council did not approve of these changes that they write a letter stating their views to the County of Beaver. Councillors were in agreement that because there did not seem to be an obvious reason for these changes, there seemed to be no advantage to this move and felt that things should be left well enough alone.

It was agreed that Town Administrator, Lori Pilon, with the help of Municipal Planner Lawrence, should draft a letter to the County of Beaver, including the comments and views of council members and ask for further clarification as to what their motives are for making these amendments.

A letter has been received from Northwestern Utilities Limited notifying council that they have applied to the Alberta Public Utilities Board for a change in rates which will affect this municipality. The proposed change in rates would increase the 1984 charge for natural gas service to residential customers by 5.7%.

Although a public hearing with respect to this application for interim rates was already held on June 22nd, council members felt that they should send a letter of objection to this proposal, informing Northwestern Utilities and the Public Utilities Board that they oppose this action

A motion was passed to have a study made by the Department of Transport as to the feasibility of having an airstrip in the Tofield area. If such a project were to be undertaken, there is the possibility that the government would buy the land and install the airstrip with the understanding that the municipality, in conjunction with the County, would be responsible for maintenance of the facility.

Such a project would not be an immediate reality and could take considerable time to become so, but it was agreed that a town such as Tofield with a population of 1,000 should warrant an airstrip. The private strip now in existence is too short for twin engine planes or anything larger.

Crops are good

Crops are generally in good condition throughout the area, according to reports received from Alberta Wheat Pool.

In low lying areas where heavy rainfall had occurred, some crops had started to yellow because of excessive moisture. However, the hot weather of recent days has started those crops on the road to recovery.

Most areas are describing moisture conditions as very good and indications are that hot weather for a couple of weeks without any additional rainfall would be ideal.

Hay crops are said to be the best experienced in a number of years with a number of farmers already having cut their first crops.

Rye and canola in the Hay Lakes area has suffered to some extent because of excessive moisture.

Expected yields in all areas are anticipated to be much higher than was the case last year.

Auxiliary plans show

by Joan Murray

On Thursday morning, twelve members of the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary assembled at the home of Dorothy Shewchuk to deposit hats they had accumulated or acquired over the years to be used in the Fashion Show during Heritage Days on August 6th.

The fashion show will be mainly centred on hats of days gone by and the models will have accessories to compliment the styles.

Hats not being modelled will be on display in a special boutique and will be tagged with appropriate dates, donors' names and a short history of their origin and use.

Dorothy Shewchuk, a fashion committee chairman will be assisted by Opal Mcginitie at the boutique where they will be available to answer any questions observers might have.

The committee now has a myriad of fashionable millinery dating back as far as the 1890's, but most are from the 1920's to modern day. If anyone has a hat they would be willing to lend for this occasion, please call Dorothy Shewchuk at 662-4681.

This is the second year the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary has sponsored Heritage Days. They started this group about three years ago and have found that membership has been diminishing slowly. New members, male or female, are encouraged to join them when they meet every third Monday of the month. Activities include visiting patients and helping to reg ly lap blankets, slippers and , ,ttle items.

Funds are raised from a Pyrgy supper in the spring, bake sales and a bazaar in the fall.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

Most of the new books received recently are for young readers, but two new novels may be of interest to [illegible].

The Other Woman, by Joy Fielding needs no explanation as to subject'

The Name of the Rose, by Umberto Eco is an historical novel set in Italy in 1327. Essentially a mystery, this best-selling thriller also provides insight into the world of the fourteenth century.

On the lighter side, Gary Lauten's second book, No Sex Please We're Married, is a continuation of his humourous look at family life.

Variety is apparent in the selections for youth this week. The Kootenay Kidnapper, by Eric Wilson, for mystery readers, Karen Kepplewhite is the World's Best Kisser, a romance; Uncanny Tales of Unearthly and Unexpected Horrors, for those who enjoy a spooky read. A more traditional folktale, The Violin-Maker's Gift, is by Donn Kushner.

Stories to read about contemporary kids are, The Not Impossible Summer, by Sue Ann Alderson and The One Hundredth Thing About Caroline, by Lois Lowry.

On the picture book table, look for Chin Chiang and the Dragon's Dance, a beautifully-illustrated story about a young Chinese-Canadian [illegible] Miss Rumphius, by Barbara Cooney and Angelina Ballerina, by Helen Craig complete the new selections for this week.

Beginning Tuesday, July 3, the summer hours will be in effect Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday 10-5 and Thursday 3-8.

Summer programming will begin the same day, with this years reading club, Readers of the Lost Ark, as well as a craft corner, and Free children's films on Friday and Saturday afternoons at 2:30. The popular Story Programs will resume in the fall. They will be replaced for July and August with regular short sessions at the Lion's Playground as part of Parks and Recreation's schedule.

A brochure outlining all these activities may be picked up at the Town Office or the library.

Mini-Games are held

by Joan Murray

On Friday, the students of C.W. Sears School in Tofield participated in their annual mini-games with various teams competing in several different sporting events.

In team competition, the Garfeilds, consisting of Jeremy Ovelson, Bruce Winder, Ian Lang, Jody Saite, Travis Saumers, Proteng Savannarath, Heather McBain, Ian Lysons, Bonnie Allan, Rodney Cameron, Paul Robinson, Karen Schmidt, Crystal Busby, Michelle Dodds, Erin Lee, Colin Saunders and Dion Rupert, came out on top with a total of 258 points. They competed in the potato race, soccer kick, potato sack race and the obstacle course to achieve their victory.

The top overall individual female winner was [illegible] Bertling with 16 points and there was a tie for first place among the boys with Robert Berrocloth and Ryan Nolan who both had 18 points.

Individual athletes competed in events such as the long jump, 50 yard dash, distance throw, using softballs, high jump, accuracy throw, using bean bags, slalom run, soccer kick, potato relay race, potato sack race and the obstacle course.

The following students placed first on an individual basis of accumulated points; grade one boys — Travis Kauffman (13 points), girls — Michelle Dodds (14 points), grade two boys — Ryan Nolan (18 points), girls — a four-way tie with 13 points was Lyn Tiedemann, Kim Lauttitt, Janice Wiens and Tara Leske; grade three boys — Robert Berrocloth (18 points), girls — Pam Bertling (16 points).

It was a perfect summer day for such an outdoor event and seemed to greatly enhance their enthusiasm. These games are structured to permit each contestant with an opportunity to compete and tends to allow the children to be in competition more with themselves than each other.

Bert and Lillie Hoveland Celebrate Golden Wedding

On June 16, their close neighbor Mr Johnson brought Bert and Lillie Hoveland to the Messiah Lutheran Church in his model A Coupe, where the basement was filled with well wishers to help them celebrate their Golden wedding. The emcee was Rev. Carl Kopperud, a friend and former pastor of Messiah. Welcome remarks were by Les Olsen of the Gideons.

Ten men of the Gideons then sang two hymns. Speeches were given by Mayor R. Swanson, Rev. Ben Caltvet, Arnold Hoveland, Garfield Reum of B.C., the bride's brother. The Pastor who married them June 8 at New Norway, Rev [illegible] also [illegible] first couple he married (Our Pastor Rev. P Lerseth at the time was then on holidays). Greetings from her nieces, Mrs. Sheila McCready of [illegible]. Duet by Marilyn [illegible] and Bonnie Hellekson and another duet by Cleone Hoveland and Ida Gunderson of Valhalla Centre. Paul Hoveland of Valhalla Centre spoke on behalf of grandchildren. Their son Rev. Leverne Hoveland spoke and [illegible] certificates from Prime Minister Trudeau, Jeane Sauve, Governor General of Canada, Premiere Lougheed and Keri Lee Hohall. A handmade silk flower bouquet was received from her sister, Anna Kongsrud, Ryley. Rev Kopperud read a poem and closed with prayer.

The honored couple were seated at the table with two of their four attendants Ruth Bratrud and Arnold Hoveland and Rev S. Hilde. Their four children were present, Leverne, Dennis, Karen and Patricia. In place of gifts, donations were made to the Gideons. At the open house lunch was served by the Camrose L.C.W. group, and later supper was served to the immediate family. The cake was made and decorated by the bride's sister, Ruth Bratrud, and a bouquet of silk flowers was on either side.

BRTA growing

Memberships in the Battle River Tourist Association continues to grow, despite the poor economic situation that prevails throughout the region.

At a regular meeting in Consort on Thursday, representatives were told that memberships in 1984 (to date) had brought in revenues amounting to $40,000, an all-time high.

Members were delighted with the report which, it was suggested, illustrated the importance in which the different communities are regarding the tourist industry.

Although membership fees haven't increased since 1981, members agreed to hold the line in 1985 because of the poor economic situation.

Members were advised that STEP funding had been received and would be used for staffing of tourist information centers in Camrose, Wetaskiwin, Devon, Leduc, Sherwood Park and Viking.

Hospitality training seminars have been conducted in Bashaw, Camrose, Stettler, Castor, Consort and Sedgewick.

The next meeting of BRTA will be held in the Miller Cabin at Tillicum Beach, hosted by the Dried Meat Lake Community Association.

Kingman

Mr and Mrs. Allan Kienitz and family have moved from town to their house on an acreage north of Kingman. They have been living there since the middle of the month.

A group of parents from Kingman and Round Hill gathered in the Kingman School Library for a kindergarten meeting on Thursday morning. Kindergarten pupils, who will be starting in September, spent the morning with their teacher, Mrs. Doris Furpikyek.

Merriyn Ness of Houston, Texas, was on a business trip to Edmonton last week and visited with his mother, Mrs. Gladys Ness, on June 15 and 16. He returned home on June 17.

Joe Fleming 75 Passes

Former Earlingite Joseph Fleming, 75, (Joe Masse) of Tofield, passed away in Tofield hospital after being a patient there since February. Joe was born Sept. 16, 1908, at Legal, Alta. At the age of two years his mother passed away and he was adopted by Jim and Nell Fleming, Holden. After his marriage he farmed in the Earling district, before moving near Tofield to semi-retire.

He is survived by his daughters, Iris, Verdes, Eunice and Donna and their husbands, nine grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; numerous nieces, nephews, step-families and friends.

Funeral services were conducted at Zion Lutheran Church, June 18 with Rev. George Quiring, Tofield, officiating. The Eulogy was by Joe Fleming's nephew, Ken Masse. Mrs Bonnie Hellekson and Mrs Marilyn Bratrud sang three hymns.

Pallbearers were Ken Masse, Bob Masse, Debbie Eleniak, Joy Lyons, Donald Lien and Jay Rudniski.

Honorary Pallbears, Garry Stensrud, Clare Good, Vernie Valan, Walter Williams, Jim Charpentier and Carl Swanson. Interment in the family plot at Pioneer Earling Cemetery. The Zion L.C.W. served lunch following interment at the Church basement. Andrews-McLaughlin Ltd. Edmonton in charge of all arrangements.

by Mrs. G.R. Taylor

Mrs. Helen Zwierschke returned home last Tuesday after being a patient in Tofield Hospital, for a few days.

Norman and Helen Gerrie of Osoyoos, B.C. were visiting with his mother, Mrs. Kate Nichols for a few days last week. While here, they also visited with Norman's aunt, Mrs. Frances Hanson, and they, with Mrs. Nichols, spent a day in Edmonton. Wednesday evening they were guests with Norman's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gorrie at Vegreville and left on their trip home on Friday afternoon.

Bruce Appleby of Edmonton, eldest son of Mrs. Grace Appleby and the late Bert Appleby, passed away on Thursday at the age of 36 years. He is survived by his wife, Mary Anne; two sons, David and Dale, his mother, Mrs. Grace Appleby of Holden; two sisters, Mrs. Anne Taylor of Ryley and Mrs Colleen Buska of Sudbury, Ont., and one brother, Douglas Appleby of Viking. He was predeceased by one son, Benjamin; and his father, Bert.

Prayer service was held on Sunday at Park Memorial Chapel and Mass of Christian Burial was held Monday in St. Gregory Roman Catholic Church in Holden with Rev. J. Kuefler officiating and interment was in the Holden Cemetery.

Visitors with Bruce and Mae Budd are Mae's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Hardy of Vancouver, B.C.

Mrs. Marjorie Campbell of Leduc, her brother, Bill Campbell and wife Suzanne of Toronto, Ont. were visitors in Holden last Thursday morning, calling on Mr and Mrs. Bruce Budd and Mrs. Edith Carlson. Bill and wife were visiting his sister and husband, Ken and Marjorie Campbell in Leduc, also with his mother, Mrs. Beth Campbell, a resident in Leduc Extendicare Nursing Home.

Robert and Merle Taylor of Viking were Wednesday evening visitors with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor.

Mrs. Freda Scott and daughter Linda of Sherwood Park were visitors last Thursday evening with her sister and family, Edith and Melvin Carlson.

Mrs. Annie Laube was visiting on Thursday with Mrs. Emily Voigt, in Tofield.

Mrs. Jean Lemke had all her family home for the weekend.

Mrs. Frances Hanson was a patient for a few days this week in Viking Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kachman had all their family home for the weekend for a family gathering.

Mrs. Virgina Sizer is up and getting around with the aid of a walker, after having had surgery on her hip.

Anderson has 90th

by Joan Murray

Agnes Anderson, a resident of the Tofield Lodge, celebrated her 90th birthday in the Viking Legion recently.

About 100 guests were present from Tofield, Ryley, Bruce, Viking, Camrose, Edmonton, Valemount, B.C., Sussex, England, Vegreville, Westlock, Spruce Grove, Red Deer and Beaumont.

Guest speakers for this event were M.P. Don Mazankowski and Eastern Star Ladies Elsie Merta and Jean Place. The emcee was Frank Kenny.

Greetings were received from Madame Jean Sauve, Pierre Elliot Trudeau, Brian Mulroney, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and Don and Lorraine Mazankowski.

The highlights of the program for the day were the condensed version of Mrs. Anderson's 90 years and the piper, Gordon Kyle, who played the music of her homeland.

Her niece, Eileen, travelled from Sussex, England to attend the affair. Long distance wishes were sent from such locations as Wales, Yorkshire, England, Connecticut, USA and from Germany.

The Anderson family members and guests enjoyed a dance later on in the evening with music provided by Charlie Pobuda and May Sevik.

Legion presents awards

by Joan Murray

The Tofield Legion held a special night at their hall in Tofield on Friday, to present awards to winning students of the Remembrance Day contest.

Lorna Hill won an honourable mention at the District Level for her poetry entry. Prior to this she achieved a second prize at the Zone level in the intermediate category and at the provincial level she had won first prize, also in poetry. She was not present to receive her framed certificate and cheque because she and her family had moved away before this awards night took place.

Laura Curtis (also not present) received first prize at the Zone Intermediate level for her poster entry as well as a first in intermediate poetry at the Provincial level.

Gail Warden arranged and organized the entries for judging but was not on hand to receive the thanks and appreciation that president Dunham had hoped to bestow upon her this night.

Angela Zilkie received a jade pendant necklace from the Tofield Legion as a token of their gratitude for representing them in the Ice Carnival Queen Contest this year.

Every year the Legion shares one-half the proceeds from their annual car raffle with a local service club. This year, Bob Scott, president of the Tofield Golden Club, was presented with a cheque for $2,000 to be used for senior citizen activities.

Veterinarian facts

by Dr. B.V. Martin

Seizures

One of the most upsetting experiences for a pet owner is to find his pet (usually a dog), suddenly thrashing about wildly on the floor, after appearing completely normal only seconds before. What is being witnessed is most likely an epileptic episode or "seizure".

Epilepsy can be very mild (petit mal) which ranges from slight twitching of certain muscles to mild incoordination.

The more severe type (grand mal) may cause the animal to paddle with its feet, wildly, while on its side, howling and biting at nothing. In most cases, either types of epilepsy will last only a few seconds to a few minutes and are followed by a quiet phase (post ictal) of 20 to 30 minutes afterwhich the animal appears completely normal.

Although indeed an upsetting experience, the seizure rarely constitutes a medical emergency. By the time you get to a phone the whole thing is usually over. The one instance in which the animal must be examined occurs when the seizure does not subside after a few minutes (status epilepticus). In such cases, intravenous anticonvulsant drugs will probably need to be administered by your veterinarian or the animal may die.

There are over two dozen potential causes of epilepsy in dogs but very often the cause in your pet is not discovered. Sophisticated brain scanning devices such as CAT scans and EEG's available in human hospitals are not economically practical in veterinary hospitals. However, in many cases, routine blood tests by your veterinarian may uncover the source of the problem.

Treatment is largely determined by the particular severity of frequency of epileptic episodes in your pet. If mild or infrequent, treatment is usually not necessary. Severe seizures can be treated with oral anticonvulsants. If the cause can be determined (e.g. low blood sugar-levels) treatment may merely involve correction of the underlying problem.

If your pet ever experiences a convulsion, the best thing you can do is to ensure that he does not hurt himself (e.g. fall down a staircase), otherwise, leave him alone. Jot down notes as to what he does, how long the episode lasts and the time of day. Such information will be helpful to your veterinarian to determine whether or not treatment is necessary, now or in the future.

Most importantly, try not to get too upset. A convulsion may be painful to watch, but the animal itself feels nothing.

this has been brought to you by the Alberta Veterinary Medical Association.

Echoes from Em

Forgive Me When I Whine!

Today upon a bus I saw, a lovely maid with golden hair;
I envied her — she seem'd so gay
And oh, I wished I were so fair,
When suddenly she rose to leave,
I saw her hobble down the aisle;
She had one foot and wore a crutch,
But as she passed a smile.
Oh, God; forgive me when I whine;
I have two feet — the world is mine.

And when I stopped to buy some sweets,
The lad who served me had such charm.
He seemed to radiate good cheer,
His manner was so kind and warm.
I said "It's nice to deal with you,
Such courtesy you seldom find."
He turned and said "Oh, thank you Madam"
And then I saw that he was blind.
Oh, God; forgive me when I whine;
I have two eyes — the world is mine.

Then — when walking down the street
I saw a child with eyes of blue.
He stood and watched the others play,
It seemed he knew not what to do.
I stopped a moment, then I said:
"Why don't you join the others dear?"
He looked ahead without a word
And then I knew; he could not hear.
Oh, God; forgive me when I whine;
I have two ears — the world is mine.

With feet to take me where I go,
With eyes to see the sunset's glow,
With ears to hear what I would know;
I'm blessed indeed. The world is mine;
Oh, God forgive me when I whine!

"Light" Jam and Jelly

Come jam and jelly season, the most frequently asked question is, "Can I cut down on the amount of sugar without sacrificing a good set?" Up until now the answer was, no.

New products are now available to meet this demand for less sweet jams. One product that has been available for several years is, "Slim Set". This product is more like a gelatin and needs no sugar at all to set. The fruit flavor is excellent but jam made from "Slim Set" should be stored in the refrigerator.

Certo has now introduced a new pectin called "Certo Light". The recipes call for one-third less sugar than conventional type fruit pectins. This new product claims to maintain the quality and yeild consumers are accustomed to. At present the Certo Light insert contains recipes for five more popular cooked jams only — using the one-minute boil method.

Jam and Jelly Workshops

I am planning a workshop on jam and jelly making for each of Viking and Tofield. Dates are tentatively set for Thursday, July 26 in Viking and Friday, July 27 in Tofield, from 9:30 a.m. to noon. If you are interested in attending, please phone 663-3555 to register.

TGHA Flashes

June 18th was the regular monthly meeting date of the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary held in the lounge at the hospital. Among the issues discussed were tray favours, tuck cart needs and Heritage Days.

A sampling of past tray favours was displayed including the most recent Father's Day favours created by Mrs. Strong's kindergarten class.

As well, a gift of tray favours supplied by the Ministik Ladies was received to be used at a later date.

At this time the tuck cart is in need of small handmade articles valued at 25c and up for both children and adults as well as practical items such as crocheted sleepers and soft cosmetic bags. Leave your articles in the drop box at Owl Value Drugmart.

The tuck cart regularly travels the hospital hallways each Thursday afternoon. Melita Wall and Jeannie Sears are the contacts for THA visitation.

The Tofield Hospital Auxiliary is presently preparing for and anticipating August 6 — Heritage Days. Changes being made this year include ongoing entertainment coinciding with the opening of the ethnic food booths, rather than concluding the program.

Several new features will be Granny's kitchen, the Country Store and an old English Tea Shoppe.

To date, old table China pieces and old toys, all well labelled, are required for the displays. Contact Ruby Sears for further information.

The fashion show this year, headed by Dorothy Shewchuk, hopes to feature hats, the older the better!

Hay Lakes district news

Bride-elect Alyson Roper has been honored at several recent showers. Miscellaneous showers were held at the George Roper home and at the home of Evelyn and Jim Gallaher. Renee Frank Mead held a lingerie shower at her home in Edmonton. Alyson's marriage to Greg Ryan of Calgary will take place at Hay Lakes on July 7.

Several people from Hay Lakes attended the funeral services held for Mrs. Olga Tober in Edmonton on June 13. Mrs. Tober passed away on June 8 at the age of 77 years.

Olga and her late husband, Joe are well remembered at Hay Lakes as they operated the Hay Lakes Supply general store for many years.

Edward Lickloch of Edmonton passed away on June 17 at the age of 54 years. He is a son of Mike and Mary Lickoch of Hay Lakes. Besides his parents he leaves two sons, Dale and Derrick and their mother Sharon; a dear friend Phyllis Dellerose; one brother, Bernard, five sisters, Cecilia, Bertha, Greta, Vicki, Delores and Florence. He was predeceased by one brother, Steve.

Funeral services were held on June 22 at Burgar Funeral Home in Camrose.

JEROME MANCHUR

At a recent D.A. Update, Dr. Len Piening briefed us on what the Lacombe Research Station has been doing on cereal disease research in central Alberta. The following are some highlights:

Cereal Disease Research in Central Alberta

Spectacular plant diseases resulting in the almost total failure of cereal or canola crops in central and northern Alberta has not been seen during the past 30-40 years. Some spectacular losses due to disease, however, can be found in a few isolated fields each year. Some examples seen are 30% loose smut in barley, 80% take-all in wheat, 80% head melanosis in wheat and 10-15% ergot in wheat.

The more usual scenario shows levels of disease that reduce yields by 5-15% or less. Crop diseases are monitored annually and generally the disease picture is fairly consistent from year to year. Climate does influence the level of some diseases in some years, such as a greater amount of scald on barley in cool wet years and more net blotch in warmer and dryer years. Following is a list of diseases of the cereals in order of anticipated yield losses

Barley:

1) Common root rot. This is a non spectacular disease that causes superficial damage to the crown roots. Stress such as drought or a lack of fertilizer will aggravate yield losses. Yield losses calculated at 11-15%.

2) Leaf diseases (Scald, Net blotch and Septoria). Any one or all three may occur in most fields of barley and unless the upper two leaves are damaged, yield losses are low (under 5%).

3) Head diseases. Loose and covered smut and ergot generally found at under 1% in most fields.

4) Other diseases seen at irregular intervals. Barley yellow dwarf, take-all and browning root rot.

Wheat:

1) Common root rot. The same complex of fungi associated with barley will also damage wheat. Losses are 6-7% annually.

2) Leaf diseases. Septoria appears late in the season and yields are affected very little. Leaf rust found most years but is too late to damage.

3) Head diseases. Septoria appeared a few years ago in some fields. Based on studies in Europe, losses rarely over [illegible].

4) Other diseases. Take-all (or white heads — a root disease) has increased in severity over the past 5 years.

Oats:

This crop is generally free from disease in Alberta.

Winter Wheat:

Winter kill due to snow molds has been a major problem in central and northern Alberta.

Research at Lacombe

1. Common root rot of Barley.

Rotation, especially with grasses, has reduced root rot markedly in the following barley crop. Phosphate fertilizer where soils are short of this element also reduces root rot. Chemicals (as seed treatments) are currently being tested for root rot control. Phytotoxicity is a major problem.

2. Head Melanosis

The cause (bacterium) of melanosis of Park wheat was identified. Disease is enhanced by stress, possibly due to a lack of some nutrient in the soil.

3. Winter Wheat

Several low temperature fungi have been found to cause the majority of the winter kill in central and northern Alberta. Research is designed to study the effects of soil fertility, stubble height, weed management and soil temperature on winter survival.

Spilstead news

by M. Fisher

This past weekend saw Kathy Petersen and Morris Helmig married in a ceremony at their home with about 120 people in attendance.

The bridesmaids were Marion Geschke from Langley, B.C., the bride's sister, Susie of Edmonton and Pam Junck of Sherwood Park. The best men were Ed Fisher from Spilstead District, Neil McNeil of Edmonton and Terry Junck of Sherwood Park.

The visitors attending came from Vancouver to the west and Archibald, Saskatchewan to the east and many points in-between.

After the ceremony, the bride and groom, maid of honour, Marion Geschke and best man, Ed Fisher were driven from their home to Spilstead Hall in a horse drawn vieciwe driven by Eldon Beinert from Duverville Farms of Leduc.

On Saturday afternoon some slowpitch teams took to the field at Spilstead Hall. The Hastings Lake (Spilstead) team beat the Al Pollock team from Tofield by a score of 11 to 6.

On Saturday the Miquelon Lake Saddle Club will be holding its annual trophy day gymkhana. Anyone wishing information or directions, please call either 662-3651 or 662-2782.

Congratulations!

ALBERTA TRAINING PROGRAM

Helping Alberta business and farm employers provide training for Albertans.

The Alberta Training Program can help your present or new employees develop new skills which will help your business or farm operation be more productive.

To assist Albertans in upgrading and developing new job skills, the Alberta Training Program will provide financial support to your business.

You may be eligible to receive reimbursement for employee wages up to $7.50 per hour or $300 per week when you provide job training and skill development.

The training projects must provide your employees with the opportunity to develop new skills in medium and high skill occupations on a full time basis. The length of training can vary depending on the occupation and the training needs. Consultants at Alberta Manpower Employment Development offices will assist you in developing a training plan.

The Alberta Training Program is effective immediately and ends March 31, 1985.

MANPOWER

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

Screamer's Nodules is the descriptive term I like the best, although Teacher's Nodules and Singer's Nodules probably occur more frequently. All three terms refer to a condition in which the edges of the vocal cords have been damaged by excessive use of the voice.

Our vocal cords are part of the larynx, which corresponds roughly with the "Adam's apple", and lie between the throat and the windpipe. Doctors can see the cords by holding a small mirror at the back of the throat, or more thoroughly by using a laryngoscope. Diseases of the vocal cords and other parts of the larynx help keep ear, nose, and throat specialists busy.

The nodules mentioned above are collections of scar tissue that form when the voice is abused over a long period of time. They, like most cord problems, cause hoarseness and a "rushing air" voice quality.

Vocal cord polyps are similar, but softer bumps that also may be caused by harsh and prolonged use of the voice. They can also be the result of allergies or inhalation of irritating pollutants. Both nodules and polyps must be accurately diagnosed as they can resemble cancer.

It really does not pay to yell and shout a lot. Misuse of the voice can also cause ulcers on the vocal cords. The only good thing about them is that they get better without surgery that is needed to remove the polyps and nodules.

The familiar laryngitis is the most common affliction of the cords. It is usually caused by a throat infection "moving down" to the larynx and causing a temporary loss or change of the voice. Antibiotics and steam may shorten the course and increase comfort.

A form of laryngitis is known as croup in young children and can be complicated by blockage of the airway — an acute emergency. Voice change is occasionally due to paralysis of the vocal cords resulting from disease or injury of the nerve supply.

Cancer is, unfortunately, the big worry. Because of this, all hoarseness must be evaluated if it lasts more than a short period of time, say two weeks or so. Early treatment is usually curative and the voice is retained. Late treatment is less effective and requires radical surgery which destroys normal speech.

New signs okayed

A "Divided Highway Ahead" sign will indicate to motorists that they are approaching an intersection with a divided highway. An educational tab showing the meaning of the symbol may be included on the sign until it becomes well known. The diamond-shaped symbol will be black on a yellow background, reflectorized or illuminated to show the same colour and shape by night as by day.

A "Small Airport" guide sign also was approved, since it was felt the existing symbol of a large jet aircraft was not suitable for small airports. The new signs, white on a green background and also reflectorized or illuminated, will indicate the direction to smaller airports, defined as those having no regularly scheduled jet aircraft passenger flights. The name of the airport may be added on a tab along with an arrow sign.

The Model 488 Haybine® mower-conditioner gives you full-width conditioning in a 9' machine. This high-capacity mower-conditioner practically eliminates plugging while it conditions the crop to retain the highest feed value.

The "488" features a sicklebar that moves at 1,632 spm, equal angle PTO and an adjustable reel to pick up lodged crops.

If it isn't a Sperry New Holland, it isn't a Haybine mower-conditioner.

Tofield celebrates

by Joan Murray

About 2,500 persons passed through the gates of the Tofield Fairgrounds over the weekend to take part in the July 1st celebrations commemorating the 75th anniversary of the Town of Tofield.

The parade held on Monday morning was slightly delayed because of strong winds but, all entries put on a good show for the spectators.

Winning horse entries in section one of the parade were: single — Ruth Hardy; pairs — first — Lillian McLeod and Elsie Olson; second — Mary Ferguson and Wanda Wier, third — Don and Tracy Williams; group — firs. — Beaverhill Light Horse Association; second — Kaichemut Creek Light Horse Club.

Section two was made up of motor bikes and bicycles. Adult novelty winner was the Vocation Bible School and child novelty winners were: Kevin Knudslien (1st); Michelle Whillans and Donna Curtis (2nd) and Darren Serken (3rd). Winners in the child bike category were: Kristin Campbell (1st), Andre Therriault (2nd) and Lisa Campbell (3rd) Neil Brybiak was first in the child trike event and Trevor Shorek was second.

The extravaganza of floats were divided into two sections. Section three winners were: the Garden Club, Powder Puff Hockey Teens and Golden Club in that order, for the non-commercial category.

In commercial The Town of Tofield, Recreation and Library Board was first with the Hospital Board second and Tofield Transit third. Youth group winners were: Dance Club, Skating Club and Pioneer Girls.

Section four was comprised of motor vehicles. First prize in the commercial car category was won by Town and Country Drug Mart with Tomsberg placing second. Non-commercial car winners were: Ryley Pre-vocational with their monster truck in first place with Riesbordt's Model T also coming in second. The antique category was won by Joan Grinde in a 1940 Chev, followed by Jim Kaliel in a 1936 Chev and Don Flannery in a 1924 Chev.

The trophy for the Most Outstanding Float was presented to the Town of Tofield, Recreation and Library Board by MP, Dan Mazankowski. County Reeve John Warner presented a plaque to the Tofield Legion for the Most Outstanding Entry.

Parade Marshall, Margaret Adams said that anyone not on hand to receive their prize money that day could pick it up at the Town office anytime after Monday.

Winners of the 75th anniversary 1984 silver dollar raffle were: Kathy Bussey of Tofield for $225, Pete Bosgren of Tofield Lodge received $150, and Lori Lavus of Grande Prairie got $75. Prize money was presented in the form of a necklet of silver dollars, making it a true cash prize draw.

Although the weather was less than balmy, there seemed to be a fair turnout for each event, especially at the kids races and carnival games. Some of the smaller children were not impressed by the greased pigs running around themselves by playing in the mud pies around the grounds.

Ryley opens Centre addition

by Joan Murray

Last Wednesday afternoon, about fifty people attended the grand opening of the new addition to the Ryley Senior Citizens Centre.

The new games room will allow activities such as floor curling, dlacing, floor shuffleboard, table tennis, pool, shuffleboard, darts and golf putting. They have also acquired a large size table for ceramics and a new stereo with P A system.

This undertaking was completed at a cost of approximately $23,000.

Funding was received from the New Horizons ($13,262) and Alberta Culture Grant ($6,700) with the balance being made up by the club. This amount did not include the many hours of volunteer labour that was expended to achieve this goal.

Club president, Harriet Raddy, gave a brief history of the club and made special mention of Ole Haugen, the first Sunshine Club president who was instrumental in this club becoming a registered society in 1976.

The building originally housed the Freebury Clinic that was purchased by senior citizens at a cost of $9,000 in 1977.

After renovation, the building was used often, but space restricted the participants to table activities.

Cathy Sinclair from New Horizons presented Harriet Raddy with a framed Certificate of Merit from the Department of Health and Welfare, and it will be displayed on the wall of the new games room.

George Knudslien, as a county representative and the son of one of the original volunteer workers active in creating the first part of the centre, was on hand to cut the ceremonial ribbon. He extended congratulations on behalf of the County and himself to the senior citizens of Ryley and District for their efforts and their success in completing this project.

A congratulatory telegram was received from Monique Begin, Minister of Health and Welfare, and a representative from the Kinsella Senior Citizens Club extended congratulations and best wishes as well. Raddy then invited the Kinsella Club members to make use of the new addition any time they wished.

Because this day was the last Wednesday of every month and it is at this time that members' birthdays are celebrated, a decorated birthday cake was shared along with coffee and refreshments as everyone visited and toured the Centre.

4-H club has wind-up

by Teresa Elsniak

On Wednesday, the Tofield 4-H Beef Club held their wind-up party at the Hall.

The evening started off with a lively game of baseball with parents against the 4-H members.

We then had our wiener roast.

Mrs. Grace Shacker announced the top placings in the record book competition. In seniors, the winner was Daniel Brown and he received the Andy Heiburg Memorial Trophy. Second place record book was won by Teresa Elsniak.

In junior record book competition, the top place book went to Lori Brown, and this award was sponsored by the Treasury Branch Second place was won by Candyce Hay.

Don Wood received his fifteen-year pin from the North-East Regional Office. The pin was presented to him by Doug Brown Mrs Grace Schacker was presented with a gift from the club in appreciation for her work in marking the project books.

Larry Gill received a plaque from the Limousin Association for his grand champion steer. All the members than received their membership seals for the club year

The day ended with a wild waterfight.

Appreciation Night held

Holden and District Home and School Association recently held a "Holden School Staff Appreciation Night" in conjunction with their annual meeting.

During the brief business agenda, reports were given by the treasurer, communication co-ordinator, program co-ordinator and the school future chairman.

Election of a new executive for the '84-'85 term took place with these results: president — Ron Mulick; vice-president — Grace Sawers; treasurer — Linda Sen; communication co-ordinator — Caroline Klatt; and membership committee — Karen Peake, Donna Komarnisky and Gloria Stefaniym.

The positions of secretary and program co-ordinator have not yet been filled.

Following adjournment of the meeting, Ron Mulick expressed words of thanks, on behalf of the Home and School Association, to all the teaching, clerical and custodial staff for a job well done Each staff member was then presented with a small gift of appreciation.

Russel Glebelhaus and Dale Latta, local grade twelve students, were presented with trophies in recognition of their achievement in the science fair on a county, provincial and federal level.

Getting wet

Wally and David Huebert, two members of the Tofield Fire Department hose tayng team, had a tough time with the hoses during a practice held last Tuesday evening. The team will be practicing fairly steady for the next month to hone their skills for the provincial competitions that take place in Red Deer on August 18th. —Photo by Joan Murray

Canada marked its 117th birthday on Sunday, with more than average ceremony and fanfare right across the nation, a tradition which is beginning to take hold in more and more communities, all the way from Ottawa to Calgary to Camrose to Timmins.

But one of the most important birthday presents for Canada seems to have gained only scant publicity as most members of the news media concentrated on the new cabinet of Prime Minister John Turner, the angurings for an election, possible cancellation of the Queen's visit, and items along this line.

But over the years to come, we predict, historians should trumpet the victory of the National Citizens Coalition, who, just a week before Dominion Day, gained the judgment of Alberta Court of Queen's Bench Justice Medhurst that Ottawa's Bill C-169 contravenes freedom of speech during elections and therefore is unconstitutional.

This newspaper warmly supported the National Citizens Coalition in their continued objection to Bill C-169, whose object was to curtail the right of ordinary citizens or groups to express opinions during election, UNLESS they had the direct support and financing of some candidate or some party in the election.

We could hardly believe that all three parties in Ottawa last October, in a unanimous vote, passed the Bill after only forty minutes of debate.

That means all three parties were prepared to curtail the right of citizens, whether electors or not, to express their views on politics after an election had been called. Indeed, substantial penalties were provided. In an effort to get rid of a few annoying and persistent objectors, some with a good deal of clout, ALL Members of Parliament, from ALL three parties, were quite prepared to chop down the tradition of free speech Canadians have cherished for generations.

When the National Citizens Coalition urged reconsideration, all parties at first stood fast, but some weeks later Brian Mulroney, as head of the Conservatives, announced his party had had a change of heart, and would actually work against the Bill. After Mr. Justice Medhurst's ruling, they may not need to.

It's not uncommon to think of groups such as the N.C.C. as a group of "crackpots". From time to time we hear about the W.C.C., the F.C.C., the F.L.Q. (in Quebec, of course,) the Western Party, the Western Bloc party, and more and more. (It's not many years ago that the N.D.P. were considered radical), and before them, the C.C.F. was born barely fifty years ago in Calgary, again as a result of Depression and troubled times.

So maybe it should be noted that one of the founding members of the N.C.C., and one of its continuing directors is highly respected former Alberta Premier Ernest Manning. If Mr. Manning and his associates are "crackpots", let's hope Canada is blessed with many more. If it's only crackpots who can save our freedoms, if it's only crackpots who can protect us from the people who "gave" us our Charter of Rights but then tried to steal them from us, then let's look for more Canadians who share their way of thinking.

Bill C-169 should die unmourned. The NCC should be enshrined among the heroes who gained many other major landmarks for Canada. Or preserved them.

Are universities unfair to women?

Men continue to outnumber women by a large margin in the teaching faculties of Canada's universities, especially in science and professional faculties. In addition, women faculty members are on average paid less than their male colleagues, says a report by the Commission on Canadian [illegible].

The authors of the report argue that state of affairs shows there is still discrimination against women in higher education, despite years of reports and studies recommending equalization of men and women as academics.

The report, Some Questions of Balance, says that in the year 1970, the percentage of female faculty members in Canada's universities was 12.8. In 1980, the percentage was 15.5.

In the same time period, the number of women students in universities grew by about 50 per cent. In 1980, women comprised more than 45 percent of undergraduate enrolment and more than 35 per cent of graduate students.

"Despite these dramatic increases in the proportion of female university graduates, there has not been a corresponding increase in the proportion of women in academic employment," says the report.

It says the 15.5 per cent of women in university faculties represents an unacceptably low figure but does not specify what an acceptable figure would be.

The report says the differences between the number of men and women in Canada's science faculties are "enormous." In 1980, 4.7 per cent of professors in mathematics and the physical sciences were women. In engineering and applied sciences faculties, the figure was even lower 1.3 per cent.

The ratio of female to male students in those disciplines is also low, but still much higher than the ratio of female to male faculty members; 28.1 per cent of math and physical science students are women, and 10.6 per cent of engineering and applied science students.

Dr. Thomas Symons, one of the two authors of the report, acknowledges there may be many reasons for what he sees as today's low proportion of female academics. But he concludes that the major factor is "conscious and unconscious discrimination rising from habit and attitude."

"One must also conclude that, even though women have become a significant proportion of the university student population, a much lower proportion of women graduates is being encouraged to enter, or being allowed to participate in, university teaching and research".

Dr. Symons and his co-author Jamie Page did not conduct their own investigations of prejudicial attitudes in universities or look for evidence of unfair hiring and promotion and hiring practices, but based their interpretation of the statistics on the conclusions of 32 other studies written on the topic of women in universities in the 1970s and 80s.

Unfortunately, the authors say, the recommendations of the 32 reports appear "to have had such little effect on hiring, promotion, tenure and salary differentials".

The report also points out that, despite repeated calls for wage parity, on average women in universities are paid only 80 per cent of what males receive. According to the report, wage disparities are most pronounced for older women in university faculties. Salaries for women in the age group 50-54 are 80 per cent of salaries for men in the same group. Women professors aged 25-29 are paid 94 per cent of what men in the same age group are paid.

The median salary for a Canadian college professor is $35,258. In the 25-29 age bracket, women make $21,152 and men $22,498. In the 50-54 age bracket women make $34,932, and men $43,392.

The report also laments that "women academics are treated as members of an unacknowledged ghetto, open to exploitation through ad hoc and low paid arrangements." More female faculty are on part-time or sessional appointments, or on low-ranking instructor or lecturer jobs, rather than in full-time tenure-track positions. Besides, males continue to outnumber women in areas which are accorded "more money and/or prestige", such as dentistry, medicine, law, sciences, commerce and [illegible].

The report recommends that faculties and departments, such as the sciences and professions, where women are underrepresented do their best to encourage the enrolment of women students.

The authors argue particularly that the disparity between men and women in science and engineering must be corrected. "The absence of women from science education now is of central importance to the status and role of women in Canada in the future educators, researchers and policy-makers must ensure that there are no barriers to girls receiving a first-class education in the sciences, mathematics, and technology. Parents and teachers should ensure that girls with an inclination and the ability to study science are encouraged to do so."

The Tofield Mercury & Press

So how much do you know about your country? I mean, really know. I'm talking about those nitty-gritty details we were taught in school, those bits and pieces of Canadian lore stuck in between all that American history we were put to sleep with. I have a few recollections of hearing about the St. Lawrence seaway, Hudson's Bay trappers and the building of our railroads I can recall, vaguely, the maple leaf flag being designed to replace the old Union Jack and a few other tidbits, but boy! do I need a refresher [illegible].

Perhaps my pathetic lack of knowledge has something to do with the fact that, having lived here all my life, I take my country and the way of life it offers, for granted. I happen to think that it is still a great place to live, especially when compared to less desirable countries. I may not know (or remember) a lot of the history, the names of all the provincial flowers, the words to the new, improved version of O, Canada or how to say "Howdy" to the Queen, and I have only visited four of our provinces. But I do know that we are still able to call ourselves a free people, if not employed, rich or able to call a dollar a dollar. I am also heartened to learn that today students are taught more Canadian history in school so instead of pseudo-Americans, our children are growing up Canadians, eh?

I only bring this up because we have just celebrated another Canada Day . . . or was it Dominion Day? Maybe I would know more Canadiana if someone didn't keep changing it on me.

Canada has a lot of faults, naturally. If she didn't, she would be perfect. If she were perfect, we would have to call her Heaven a place where I, for one, am not sure I would be welcomed. The registered voters. So I think I'll continue to take Canada as she is — I suppose she needs a hair cut, [illegible].

Crop forecast good

The forecast is for an excellent crop year, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Crops are generally in very good condition throughout the region and where conditions hadn't been good a couple of weeks ago, considerable improvement has been shown.

Daysland, in the only area reporting where crop conditions range from five to ten percent below normal state for this time of year while the rest of the surround Hay Lakes still has to be released as it is only about sixty percent of a normal condition.

After a couple of years with severe crops, farmers in the Round Hill area appear to expect the best production in the current year.

Expected yields per acre in wheat, barley, canola and rye are shown as being the highest in the Round Hill area.

Barnwards, east for the Daysland region to produce the best yield in oats while farmers in New Norway should expect the best production.

In all instances, crops have reached full development in the emerging stage with New Norway, Bawlf, Daysland and Camrose farmers reporting that canola has moved in the blooming phase.

While conditions are much having fallen in the past month, all areas are reporting good soil moisture conditions.

July 1st — Canada's 117th Birthday

"Why do we have a flag?"
The greatest question box asks.
Although her years are scarcely five.
"Why do we have a flag?" and I
Had never thought to wonder why.
"At first," said I, "when life
Then nothing very good was
The greatest was the strongest You've seen dogs fighting for a bone,
Well, human beings just that Fought for their food from day to day.
"Then men began to think and
A way that led to better things,
And little groups began to be.
They formed in tribes and chose their kings,
And to distinguish clan from clan
The idea of a flag began.
"Then one flag meant we fight for land,
Another for this king we'll die,
And soldiers battled, hand to hand,
To keep their banner in the sky.
But in those ages long ago
There was so much they couldn't know.
"And now our flag is waving
To tell the world that you and I
And all our neighbours everywhere
Who fling Old Glory to the sky,
Are members of that mighty
"Now when you see it in the
The red, the white and starry blue,
Remember as it proudly flies
It's really representing you,
It's telling to the world afar
What kind of little girl you are."

STEP workers hired

by Joan Murray

The Town of Tofield has hired seven students under STEP (Summer Temporary Employment Program) this year, to work at various occupations throughout the area during the summer holidays.

Debbie Neufeld and Maureen Bouman started work on June 1st as summer activities leaders for the Recreation Department and will be actively involved in the playground program that started yesterday afternoon in Lions Park and will continue until the end of August.

Monica Tayler, Carol MacKay and Elizabeth Haugen were hired to work in the library as clerks and will be assisting with the childrens films and crafts program which has started this week.

Public Works STEP students, Glen Kugelstadt and Daniel Brown have been hired for general labour work and will begin cutting grass and maintaining things around Town this week as well.

Two additional workers have been hired through the STEP program by the Agricultural Society in Tofield and will be working closely with the recreation department. Jerry Weider and Wendy Miskew started their duties on June 1st preparing for Tofield's 75th anniversary celebrations which took place on the weekend.

The Agricultural Society was approved for four students in all but the remaining two persons have not yet been officially hired. These two plus the above mentioned students will be helping the parks foreman, Danny Plummer, to maintain parks and will be working on the fairgrounds during special events, cleaning out Belvedere Park, engaging in major jobs at the arena and clearing brush at the fairgrounds in preparation for fall seeding.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

This week, look for Volume Four in the Sackett series, containing Galloway, The Skyliners, The Man for the Broken Hills and Ride the Dark Trail. The library already has Volumes 1-3.

Another collection is Romance Stories, edited by Elizabeth Bland containing some of the all-time favourite love stories. A third fiction selection this week is Marco Polo If You Can, by William F. Buckley, Jr.

Looking to change your life, or just your figure? Try How to Hypnotize Yourself and Others, or perhaps The Weight Watchers Fast and Fabulous Cookbook.

The picture book table is again loaded with new arrivals including a number of folk tales. Brian Wildsmith has contributed beautiful illustrations to Maurice Maeterlinck's Blue Bird. The 1983 Caldecott medal winner Shadow, by Marcia Brown is an African-influenced edition translated from the French.

A new edition of an old favourite is illustrated by Michael Hague: The Velveteen Rabbit, or How Toys Become Real. And finally, a selection of fairy tales: The Devil With The Three Golden Hairs by the Brothers Grimm retold by Nonny Hogrogrian; Jack and The Beanstalk retold by Lorinda Cauley, and 10 Favorite Nursery Tales retold by Morrell Gipson.

The free children's films this Friday and Saturday at 2:30 are. The Cuckoo Clock That Wouldn't Cuckoo, The Mole And The Green Star and Goldilocks And The Three Bears. These films will appeal to children of about 3-10; no unaccompanied preschoolers please, and no food! The program lasts about half an hour.

For readers, come join our summer reading club. Readers of The Lost Art! You may play this game once a day, and perhaps try out our craft of the week at the same time. Come in and ask for Monica.

The summer hours begin this week. Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Thursday 3-9 p.m. These hours will be in effect until September 1

Holden Homecoming winners named

by Joan Murray

Gertrude Misera (nee Grinde) of Ryley was the winner of the Holden Homecoming song contest that was held in June.

She was very surprised to hear that her song "Salute to Holden" had been chosen for such an honour as to be sung at the Homecoming ceremonies in August. It also earned her a cash prize of thirty dollars.

She said she was hesitant at first, to enter the contest because she felt there was not much chance of her entry being singled out from all the others. But she did . . . and it did.

The song is sung to the tune of "Farewell Sweetheart Farewell" by Wilf Carter, and was chosen because she is such a big fan of his.

Gertie was raised in the Holden area and after finishing school was employed for a time at Alberta Poultry Producers in the village. She now lives on a farm east of Ryley.

She is looking forward to attending the Homecoming and to reading the Holden history book as she had also submitted a few articles to be included in this book.

There was also a poetry category to this contest and it was won by Lloyd R. Cannan of Edmonton. He once resided in Holden during the forties and had found out about the contest through registering for the Homecoming, which he will definitely be attending as his poem will also be read at the official ceremonies.

Salute To Holden

In the heart of Alberta, where the golden grains flow
Where there's ranching and dairying and the wild flowers grow
There's a village called Holden with memories so dear
It's the place of my childhood, most memorable years.
CHORUS:
We salute you Holden on your 75th year
We salute the brave pioneers and their memories held dear
We dedicate to you this History Book and to a bright future we hopefully look.
From the wood burning stove to the old coal-oil lamp
From the horse and buggy and the one cent stamp
We have made real progress and advanced in many ways
But we look back Holden on your pioneer days.
CHORUS
Our churches are symbols to the good Lord above
Our schools mold the futures of the children we love
Our service clubs labour to help one and all
Our veterans have answered their country's call.
CHORUS
(Tune: Farewell Sweetheart Farewell — A Wilf Carter Song)

Summer Fun

School's out and it's time to move playthings outdoors. Here are a few ideas for keeping your youngsters busy this summer:

— Set up an art table outside and let kids experiment with paints, paper mache, vegetable prints, etc. To make finger paint, mix 1 cup corn starch with 1 cup cold water. Add paint powder or food coloring to color;

— Place tubs of water outside for kids to play in. Supply paint brushes and they can "paint" the house or fences with water;

— Tape some favorite music and bring the recorder outside for kids to listen to while playing or working;

— Set up a list of jobs, with suitable payment outlined. Weeding the garden might be worth a trip to a rollerdrome. It's a good incentive for children to help with chores and earn some extra time alone with Mom or Dad; — Make a habit of going to the library.

Jam and Jelly Workshops

I am holding two workshops this summer on jam and jelly making. We'll discuss principles of making jams both with and without commercial pectin. We'll also experiment with some of the new low-sugar pectins.

Courses are scheduled for July 26 in Viking, in the Home Ec room at the school; and July 27 in Tofield (location to be announced). Workshops run from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Registration fee $3.00.

Please phone this office to pre-register.

Schedule is extended

Just over one-half of the regular schedule of the Powerline Baseball League has been completed, following last week's games.

The regular season was due to have been done yesterday (Tuesday), but up until this week, a total of eighteen games had been postponed and must be rescheduled.

Yesterday's games were slated for Tofield, Camrose and Viking.

Dates for the playing of postponed games were not known at presstime.

A majority of the postponed contests will have to be played because, to date, not one thing has been decided.

As it stands following last week's action, not only is every team still in contention for one of the four playoff berths, not one team has been eliminated from contending for first place.

Camrose holds down first place but, Ryley is only two points off the pace and is the only undefeated team.

Ryley blasted Camrose 9-1 last week while Armena edged the winless Tofield squad 6-4.

In the only other two games that were reported, Bardo whipped Holden 6-1 and Holden trounced Viking 16-3.

Powerline	W	L	Pts
Camrose	6	2	12
Armena	5	2	10
Ryley	4	0	8
Holden	3	4	6
Bardo	2	4	4
Viking	1	4	2
Tofield	0	5	0

Palmer-Earling news

After happily serving the Bawlf Parish plus Zion and Skudesness Country churches here for the past five and one-half years, Rev. Lee Woolery has accepted a call to serve a mission congregation in the Bonnyville area. On June 24, an open house was held at Bawlf Community Hall (that was filled) "an appreciation — send-off party" for Rev. Lee Woolery, wife Gretch and three girls, Heather, Shawna and Jodi. Program committee was Lois Hagen, Merle [illegible]

The hall was colorful with many bright banners made by Gretch Woolery. The emcee was Lil Bohmer, Bawlf. Program opened by Heather, Shawna and Jodi Woolery singing two songs. Two readings by Dianne Olson, one which was composed by Bernice Bolding.

Duet by Lorraine Hellekson, Bonnie Hellekson and Delores Bratrud.

Many Greetings

Gail Hamilton spoke on behalf of Bethany Home remarking that all would miss him. Mrs. beattie spoke on behalf of Bawlf United Church (re sharing their Sunday School).

Maureen Schrieber for Bawlf Sunday School, and presented the three Woolery girls with each a gift.

Eddie Knudson for Zion church presented a wall clock. Elmer Bruce for Skudesness Church presented a lamp. Rev. John Lenshyn spoke on behalf of the Ministerial Camrose and District Association.

Jerry Gogne spoke for the Bawlf Fire Department. Alma Gunderson gave greetings from Bawlf UCW. Greetings from Mayor of Bawlf, David Knipe, also from Auctioneer Norman Berg.

Janet McNickel spoke for Bawlf Playschool. Harvey Pederson, for Bawlf Parish and community and also presented a purse of money in a rose bowl. Larry Uglem spoke for the Bawlf Congregation and presented a gift. Tracy Donn spoke on behalf of the Bawlf Luther League. Janet Piro, on behalf of the community, presented a gift.

JEROME MANCHUR

The following article by Jill R. Williams from the Plant Science Department of the U of A provides an interesting look at sclerotinia.

Sclerotinia Stem Rot of Rapeseed

White Stem Rot of rapeseed is caused by the fungus Sclerotinia sclerotiorum, and in the past eight years the fungus has, on occasion, caused considerable disease in rapeseed fields in Alberta. The exact reduction in yield due to this disease is difficult to estimate. However, in a field with 46% of the plants severely infected in untreated areas, chemical control resulted in a 10.5 bu/acre yield increase.

Obviously high disease levels do cause reduction in yield, and they also reduce the value of the seed-lots that are contaminated with the over-wintering stage of the fungus (the sclerotia). Attention was drawn to the disease problem in 1976 when rapeseed-lots shipped to Vancovuer terminals from some areas of Alberta were downgraded because of heavy contamination with sclerotia. The level of contamination of seed-lots shipped to Vancouver has been monitored since 1976. The data indicate the general disease levels each year for the regions shipping rapeseed for export and it appears that in central and north central Alberta there is a higher incidence of heavy infection.

Sclerotia that contaminate seed-lots are formed in infected rapeseed stems by harvest time and they may either be combined with the seed or remain over winter in the field in a dormant state. Sclerotia are known to survive at least four years in the soil, and probably longer. They germinate in early summer to form a spore-producing stage called an apothecium. A single sclerotium can produce from 1 to more than 20 apothecia either at one time or over a period of weeks. The stalk (stipe) of the apothecium is usually not longer than 2-3 cm, thus deeply buried sclerotia will not produce apothecia; however, if they are brought to the surface by subsequent cultivation, they may still be capable of germination. Apothecia are formed when the soil is moist and a plant canopy is present. They are not normally found in summerfallow fields, but they are produced abundantly in rapeseed and cereal fields. The small, colourless spores are often released from the apothecia in visible "puffs" looking like small wisps of smoke) and they are readily transported in wind currents for at least 150 metres and probably considerably further. It is thus possible for spores to move from one field to another, so rotation alone will not always reduce disease levels as inoculum can be produced in neighbouring fields.

Infection of rapeseed plants occurs at flowering time when fallen petals and pollen, adhering to leaves and stems, provide the nutrient source necessary for spores to penetrate plant tissue. Moist conditions are also necessary; rainfall and/or heavy dew at flowering time are likely to increase the probability of disease developing. Heavy rapeseed stands seem more prone to infection as the dense plant canopy provides a suitable microclimate for the pathogen.

Also, heavier stands tend to lodge and Sclerotinia will then often grow extensively on underneath plants. This will occur in wet swaths too. Typical symptoms are seen in the standing crop about 2-3 weeks after infection occurs. Stems become white, hollow and "tattered" looking. In advanced infections, black sclerotia are found when stems are split open and many sclerotia may be formed in a single stem.

Two methods of disease control that are being studied in Alberta at present are chemical control and the use of disease resistant plants. Initial studies of control by fungicides have been carried out in Saskatchewan by Dr. John Dueck, and last summer an extensive trial was organized by Phil Thomas (Oilseed Crops Supervisor, Alberta Agriculture). The trial involved aerial application of Benlate on 5 acre strips in farmers' fields at fourteen locations in Alberta. The majority of trial sites were in areas of central Alberta where heavy infections of Sclerotinia have occured in previous years; for example Barrhead, Stony Plain and Westlock. The fungicide is a systemic type that moves upwards in the plant and has activity against the fungus for 2-3 weeks. It should be applied when the crop has started to flower, so plants are protected during the petal fall period. As crop stands would be damaged by ground applications at this stage, the spray is applied by aeroplane, at a cost of approximately $20 per acre. Thus, if an increase in yield of 10 bu/acre is gained (at $6 per bushel of rapeseed), it is well worth spraying. However, if disease inoculum is low, or if the crop does not have a high yield potential (in the absence of disease), then it would not be economical to spray. Dupont, manufacturers of the fungicide, are developing a list of criteria for the necessity of spraying. The criteria need to take into account such factors as:

1. Has Sclerotinia been a problem in the field, or a neighbouring one, during the previous two years?
2. Are apothecia present at flowering time?
3. Is the crop a dense stand, likely to be high yielding and providing a suitable microclimate for disease development?
4. Have weather conditions been suitable for apothecia production and disease development?

We have developed a package of information on Sclerotinia Stem Rot that is available by calling us at 663-3666. This package includes a checklist that may help producers make the decision whether or not to spray for this disease. Don't hesitate to ask for one!

Johnnie Kosack, Lawrence Pearce and Mike Pawelko are patients in the University Hospital in Edmonton and Loverna (Stenerude) Epp is a patient in the Tofield Hospital where she underwent surgery on Monday.

Supper from the Rebecca Lodge Ladies was delivered to Elmer and Kathleen Anderson by Mary Kenaway and Anna Kongarside.

An enjoyable afternoon was spent on Thursday with our first grocery clerk who worked for Mr. Brace in Tofield in February, 1934, Mrs. Hilda (Nenzaland) Simpson worked for the manager a number of years.

A nice crowd turned out for the grand opening at the Senior Citizens Centre. They have so much more space since they built on to the back of the building.

Harriet Ruddy opened the program by giving the history of the Centre. They received a telegram from Prime Minister Trudeau and Lieutenant Governor of the Province of Alberta.

Agnes Manderson and Tessie Kolodychuk held the ribbon when George Kondakor cut the ribbon. Mr. Chambers played the piano and Mrs. Chambers thanked Mrs. Ruddy for all she has done.

A number from other areas attended and a lunch with birthday cake was served.

Mrs. Harriet thanked all who had part in the work done on the building.

Dagny Jolnes has been staying with her son in Edmonton, since coming out of the hospital.

Around the town

Visitors from Nebraska, Alvin Manchester and Lillian Selik from Ord, Nebraska and Alice Hertinsky from Gering, Nebraska, arrived at Tofield on June 13. They parked their trailer at Agnes McGinitie's. Alice and Lillian are cousins of Agnes McGinitie, Frank Bruka and Florence Ferguson.

They set for home on June 20, going by Banff and Lake Louise.

Graduate

Gene Gaye Hoffin of Edmonton recently received her Master of Arts Degree in Education, with honours, from George Washington University, after earlier receiving her Bachelor of Education degree from the U of A. She is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Rod Hoffin of Edmonton and the granddaughter of Mrs. A. Hoffin and Mrs. R. Ferguson, both of Tofield.

In the June 27th issue of The Mercury, it was reported in the article entitled Legion Presents Awards that some of the students had won awards at the provincial level.

This should have read at the Branch level as none had reached the provincials with their poetry, posters or essay entries in the annual Legion Remembrance Day contest.

The Mercury is sorry for an inconvenience this error may have caused.

Helping Alberta business and farm employers provide training for Albertans.

The Alberta Training Program can help your present or new employees develop new skills which will help your business or farm operation be more productive.

To assist Albertans in upgrading and developing new job skills, the Alberta Training Program will provide financial support to your business.

You may be eligible to receive reimbursement for employee wages up to $7.50 per hour or $300 per week when you provide job training and skill development.

The training projects must provide your employees with the opportunity to develop new skills in medium and high skill occupations on a full time basis. The length of training can vary depending on the occupation and the training needs. Consultants at Alberta Manpower Employment Development offices will assist you in developing a training plan.

The Alberta Training Program is effective immediately and ends March 31, 1985.

VILLAGE OF RYLEY

PUBLIC NOTICE

Intention to Construct a Local Improvment

PURSUANT to the provisions of Section 157 of the Municipal Taxation Act, R.S.A., 1980, Public Notice is hereby given that the Council of the Village of Ryley intends to undertake the construction of road base construction, asphalt surfacing and curb and gutter as a local improvement. The cost of the aforementioned local improvement is $726,000 and after grants in the amount of $48,520, the net amount to be borrowed is $637,480. repayable over a period of 20 years at a rate of interest not exceeding eighteen per centum (18%), or the interest rate fixed from time to time by the Alberta Municipal Financing Corporation, per annum, and to charge the lands abutting that portion of the street or place wherein the local improvement is made at a uniform rate of $4.27 per front foot of frontage for road base construction and asphalt surfacing and $2.30 per front foot of frontage for curb and gutter, for each said year of the said 20 year period.

The aforementioned rate may be subject to amendment at the time of issuance or immediately following the first levy for this project.

In accordance with Section 151(2) of The Municipal Taxation Act, corner lots are assessed in the following manner: 30% of the corner lot flankage plus 100% of frontage is to be assessed as Assessable Frontage.

All costs in excess of the aforementioned special assessment will be borne by the Village of Ryley at large.

The location of the proposed local improvement is as follows.

Elementary pupils honoured

by Joan Murray

The Tofield Elementary Awards Day was opened last Wednesday with a speech from Superintendent of Schools, Bill Schoeman. He extended his congratulations to all award winners and encouraged those who had not achieved an award to work hard next year and hoped they would achieve such an honor at awards day then.

Awards were handed out to grades 4, 5 and 6 students in recognition of accomplishments made during the 83-84 term. Each recipient received a felt "T" and a small crest designating the area of their achievement. Those students who had received a "T" last year were presented with a crest only.

Citizen of the Year Awards went out to Holly Anderson, Shauna Wideman, Kris McBurney, Colin Saunders, [illegible], Mike Risdale and Randy [illegible].

Most improved students for the year were Anna Roberts, Jason Warner, Cindy Kraemer, Angela McNaughton, Lisa Grahn, Darren Duchscher, Chris Armstrong and Troy Cunningham.

Students receiving attendance awards were Pamela Lysons, Michael Hubbard, Kevin Young, Ken Clouston, Nolan Adamson, Lonnie Chin, Danny Ebeltoft, Shane Koop, Ken Proctor and Joseph Schaelling.

Mark Pelster received recognition for placing first in the Human Rights Day essay contest at the Provincial level.

Chess Club winners in the Elementary Internal tournament were Shane Weatherill, Graham Adamson and Sean Connelly. In the open tournament for grades 4 to 9, David McMath was the only elementary student to place in this competition. He received a trophy for third place.

The following students received recognition for their participation in the National Mathematics League contest: Patti McDonald, Michael Gillespie, Mike Risdale, Melanie Scoular and Randy Weisbeck.

Science Fair awards went to Sean Connelly and David McMath (also received honourable mention at the provincial level), Michel Blades and Nia Roberts, Boyd Perry and Crystal Cotton, Shane Weatherill, Kevin Livingstone and Larry Suchy.

In Physical Science, awards were won by Rochelle Risdale and Lang Baccam, Nolan Adamson, Michelle Steinhusen, Heather Thomson and Jocelyn Middleditch, [illegible].

Students having read the most books, on a specified list, throughout the year were Stacy Wall, Carrie Finn, Michel Blades, Lisa Kraemer, Kim Hardy, Cindy Schock, Kristin Blades and Herbie Trca. Each received the Alberta Childrens Book Award.

The winning intramural sports team were the "Expos" consisting of grade four's — Tamara Ross, Sherri McFadean, Cindy Kraemer, Keith Reichenbach, Ken Clouston, Ken Freeland, Jason Siverns, Lorne Nyholt, Lee Crawford; grade five's — April Kashani, Michel Blades, Heather Thomson, Lisa Grahn, April Maurer, Stacey Horricks, Lesli Anderson, Devon Lungal, Mark Stewart, Casey Norman, Larry Suchy, Nolan Adamson, Trevor Anderson, Aaron Murray, Chris McDaniel; grade sixes — Jody Krystal, Crystal Cotton, Melanie Scoular, Cheryl Nixon, Kristina Hansen, Todd Ratke, Kevin McBurney, Steven Gates, Sean Connelly, Jason Tremblay, Scott Cunningham, Michael Gillespie, Herbie Trca and Troy Cunningham.

Recognition was also given to volunteer workers, Norma Sears, Gail Jordon and Ann Connelly who helped out with the flouride program during the year.

Champs practice

by Joan Murray

Last week, Tofield Fire Department hose laying team of Duncan Fairbrother, Wally Huebert, David Huebert, David Oleksyn and coach, Ray Carlisle were busy practicing their hose coupling techniques in Belvedere Subdivision in preparation for the provincial competition that will be held in Red Deer on August 18th.

They qualified for the provincials when they placed third for overall performance in the Camrose Zone competition that took place on June [illegible].

Their best time ever of 19.21 seconds requires a team to connect three 50 foot length hoses, put a nozzle on, knock down the first target, then disconnect the coupling closest to the fire hydrant and connect it to a dry stand-pipe hydrant, meanwhile, replacing the nozzle with a new one and proceeding to knock down the second target.

This event and the "replacing a burst length" (which is self-explanatory) are the two areas they will be competing in at the Red Deer competition in August.

Ministik and district news

by Catherine Reddick

June 23rd was the wedding date chosen by Linda Paterson, youngest daughter of Pat and Margaret Paterson, and Gerry Theoret, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Theoret of Sarnia, Ont.

They were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony in the Sherwood Park United Church, by Rev. George Rodgers.

Their reception followed in the Sherwood park Legion Hall for the many guests, several from the Ministik District.

The newlywed couple left on Sunday morning for their honeymoon in Hawaii.

Tuesday was the last day of the season for the Seniors' bus until September 11th. All riders on the bus went to Sherwood Park Inn for lunch and presented their driver, Roberta Erickson, with a purse of money in appreciation for her many kindnesses shown.

On the last day of school (Wednesday), a picnic for pupils up to Grade six, complete with races, etc. was held at Ministik. This was followed by a pot luck dinner, supplied by mothers of children who attend school. School is over for all pupils, teachers and bus drivers in the County of Strathcona.

Many awards were presented and a farewell gift to Miss Mullet who is leaving. Michael Nasichuk, who buses many of the pupils to this school, also received a gift from pupils and teachers.

The community picnic was held on June 10th and a good time was had by all. Elaine Farmer and Shirley Horricks were in charge of the races and sports and Edna Ferguson manned the refreshment booth. A small dance followed in the evening to a small crowd, but all who did come enjoyed themselves.

Glen Lawrence was convener and his hostesses for supper were Chris Reamey, Debbie Johnston and Shirley Horricks.

Jean Ferguson's many friends and neighbours were happy to hear she is gradually gaining her strength back and was able to be out of hospital for a few hours on Sunday.

Marie Tanners name was missed from the list of hostesses at the shower of Joyce Vandermeer, held recently.

Laura and Myles Swann and family have moved from Gibbons to live on the farm with Jean and George Kleinschroth.

Winner

Gertrude Mazera of Ryley was the winner of the Holden Homecoming song contest. Her entry was entitled "Salute to Holden" and will be sung at the Homecoming ceremonies on August 6th.

Award Day at Ryley

Two awards were given to the grade six students at Ryley on Award Day. One was a Gladys Annebo Award won by Zeb Calon, the other award, a Dodds Round Hill for the most improved student was won by Randy Bratrud of Earling. The highest mark in language arts was won by Roger Bratrud. He also got a gift from the Catholic Women's League for Language Proficiency.

On June 27 and 28 Lawrence Hovland and Uddo Johanson, Bawlf, attended the union of REA convention at Red Deer Lodge.

On June 17, Brandon Dale, infant son of Terry and Karen Pederson, was baptized at Zion Lutheran Church by Rev. Lee Woolery. Sponsors were Karen Johnson and Greg Kostke. After the services, many relatives were guests at Terry Pederson's.

Clara Forre, Camrose, spent a few days in Calgary with her son, Ernest Forre and family.

Bridal Shower at Zion Church

On June 22 a bridal shower was held at Zion Church in the evening for July bride-elect Lori Pederson, only daughter of Harvey and Mildred Pederson and her fiance Mark Schneider of Rosalind.

Lori's corsage was a gift from her secret sister. Scripture reading by Jeanette Knudson, followed by a hymn and a hymn sing led by Jeanette Knudson. Suitable readings by Selma Bratrud, Karen Pederson and Lillian Reum. A contest was led by Marilyn Bratrud, duet by Bonnie Jane and her mother, Bonnie Hellekson, accompanied by Brian Hellekson on guitar. A special reading by the bride's mother was given. Words of advise were given by her father, Harvey Pederson. The many gifts were viewed and passed around in the basement. Above the bridal table, streamers and wedding bells were suspended where the honored couple, Lori and Mark were seated.

Also seated were their attendants, Tammy Wollman, Lori Lucas, Karen Pederson, Brian and Rick Pederson. Both Lori and Mark expressed their thanks. Many relatives of the couple were present from Rosalind, where their wedding will be held July 14.

Sunday visitors at the Kaisely home were Vern and Mary Charpentier, Gary and Star Vornbrock, Julie, Lisa and Ryan, all of Camrose, Cliff and Kate Baumle, Daysland and Jim and Marilyn Charpentier, Mona, Todd and Vincent and on Monday Les and Ethel Gendreau of Bawlf were visitors.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Mrs. Ida Mason of Edmonton, a former Holden resident for several years, was visiting the past week with her son and wife, George and Lori Mason.

Holden and District Historical Committee met for their regular meeting on Wednesday evening with a good attendance of members and interested residents of the area. They finalized plans for the launching of the first history book at the Homecoming celebration to be held Aug. 4-6th. Plans for setting up the stage were also discussed and they will be asking for assistance for the opening day. Anyone interested can phone Leona Koethe or Helen [redacted]

Melvin Fjellstrom and Mrs Ethel Brekstad were visiting at Lloydminster a week ago Sunday.

Mr and Mrs Ed Knudson of the South Ryley District were Tuesday afternoon visitors last week, calling on Mrs. Kate Nichols.

Colleen B-ka of Sudbury, Ont., is visiting with her mother, Mrs. Grace Appleby and attended the funeral of her brother, Bruce Appleby.

Mrs. Frances Hanson, who was a patient in Viking Hospital for a few days, returned home on Thursday afternoon.

Holden Friendship Group held their monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Kate Nichols. Mrs Edith Carlson was in charge of devotions. Regular business was attended to and the financial statement given. A get-well card had been sent to Mrs. Orline Ronnie, when a patient in Tofield Hospital. A thank-you card was received from Mrs. Mary Zwierschke.

The group will close for the months of July and August. Lunch and visiting was then enjoyed by all, Mrs. Edith Carlson assisting Mrs. Nichols with lunch.

A number of ladies of Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple were out to the Holden Cemetery on June 25th, observing their Decoration Day, placing bouquets of flowers on graves of departed members and on graves of Elks.

Mrs. George Giebelhaus, who was a resident in Viking Nursing Home for a few weeks, was transferred to Bethany Home in Camrose some weeks ago. She had the misfortune to fall and break her collarbone, then later, fell and hurt her hip and is getting around in a wheelchair. Mrs. Ethel Brekstad and Melvin Fjellstrom visited with her when they were at the nursing home visiting a relative of Melvin's.

County accepts road tenders

by Joan Murray

Tenders for construction on Secondary Road 870 north of Kinsella and south of Kinsella, crossing at Highway 14, were received by the County of Beaver and opened at a meeting of council on Monday morning.

A total of four bids were received and the contract was awarded to Russell Hansen Construction Ltd. of Viking.

Representatives from Torchinsky Consulting, the firm that drew up the contract, were on hand to deal with any questions regarding this document while tenders were being discussed.

Development Officer, Victor Istace, reported that gravelling is being carried out in Divisions Three and Five starting this week and the gravel scale will be moved sometime in the next two weeks so that gravelling can be carried out in the remaining divisions.

Nick Laskoski was present at this meeting to approach council about subdividing a 38.5 acre parcel off his quarter of land to be used as a farmstead. He feels he should be allowed to sever this size of parcel because when he bought, built and planted trees on this area he had planned for this to be his farmstead.

Because this amount of land does not comply with the county land use by-laws, the development officer recommended that he only be allowed to take 11.5 acres for this purpose.

Council discussed this situation carefully, but in view of the fact that Laskoski's proposal does not comply with this local land use by-law, council felt that they must uphold the by-law and reject his request for the 27.5 acres, but did agree to the development officer's recommendation of 11.5 acres.

This still has to be approved by Municipal Affairs and if they were to reject the Laskoski proposal he has the option to take his case to the Appeal Board for re-consideration.

On June 30th, a Weed Control By-law was signed by the Minister of Agriculture stating that landowners would be responsible for weed control in ditches and road allowances adjacent to their property.

There was some discussion about this by-law which resulted in the suggestion that it may be possible to give landowners a specified time limit to contact the county to come out and spray the property in question. Once the county has done areas about which they have been notified, then the by-law will be put into practice.

Because there is no July Board of Education meeting, School Superintendent Bill Schoeman approached council this day to discuss the bus drivers' salary negotiation meeting date and the hiring of a new bus supervisor.

The salary negotiation meeting will be held in the County Council Chambers on July 19th at 7 p.m.

Schoeman has received about 10 or 11 applications for bus supervisor, but had narrowed it down to five candidates. All applicants for this position were local.

The next County of Beaver Council meeting will be held on July 16th at 9 a.m.

Playground opens

by Joan Murray

Fun and Fantasy is the theme of this year's summer playground program in Tofield.

Activities began last Tuesday in Lions Park and will continue until August 29th.

The program is geared for little ones aged four to six years old and covers the time period between 9:30 a.m. and noon, Monday through Friday. The seven to twelve age group meets the same days from 1-4 p.m.

Each week has a different theme for activities and last week was "a day in the life of your favorite rock star". The pre-schoolers conjured up a parade on Thursday morning and marched down Main Street shaking their hand-made bottle cap tambourines to Michael Jackson's hit tune "Beat It".

Other activities for the summer will include crafts, games, music and drama for both groups.

Also, the Tofield Library has a program going on at the same time that will coincide with playground programs.

There is a story hour every Wednesday at 10:30 to 11:00 a.m. for pre-schoolers and again at 2:30 to 3:00 p.m. for the older children. In addition, a series of films will be shown every Friday and Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Two weekly day-camps are being offered. One in July from the 16th to the 20th and the other will run the week of August 20th to 24th.

Children taking part in day-camps will be transported by bus from the Tofield Arena, Monday through Thursday, with an overnight stay at Elk Island Park on Thursday evening. They will take part in camp fire and other amusing activities and will return to the Arena on Friday at noon where they will be picked up by their parents.

The Lions Park playground program is free of charge as well as the Library activities.

Any information regarding these programs can be obtained from the Tofield Recreation Department.

Every Thursday afternoon, there will be a special event in progress that will include such activities as penny carnivals, puppet shows and field trips.

Young adults will also have fun things to do over the summer months if they take part in rollerskating that is offered every Monday night in the Arena. They could also make use of the ban to swim program that is offered at the Ryley Pool throughout the summer months.

Information regarding these activities can also be gotten from the Tofield Recreation Department.

Good rocking

Futura rock stars maybe? These youngsters acted out their fantasy of "A day in the life of your favorite rock star" at the Lions Park playground in Tofield last Thursday. Each week will have a different theme as part of the activities of the Summer Playground Program put on by the Tofield Recreation Department.

Foreman gives report

by Joan Murray

At the Tofield Town Council meeting on Monday night, the Public Works Foreman gave his report on purchasing a high pressure washer, sidewalk repairs needed, and filling the Norsk Ditch.

After checking over several estimates, council decided to purchase a 1000 pound capacity high pressure washer at a cost of $1,400 to be used in the Town Shop for cleaning equipment, vehicles and engines.

A bid from Harvey Cornelius was accepted for him to form and place sidewalks in the following areas; 60 feet by the hospital, 12 feet in front of Norman's Automotive, 18 feet at Lions Park, 5 feet south of the hotel, 15 feet by Freebury Clinic and 18 feet south of Wallace Tofield.

The Town will be responsible for taking the old sidewalks out and supply materials as necessary while Cornelius will provide the labour.

It was agreed that more information was needed regarding the filling in of the Norsk Ditch located south of the elevators before any final plans could be made.

Council has made application for a street improvement grant for surface improvements on Logan and 49th Streets in the area of the Tofield Health Centre. They will be looking over cost estimates and negotiating engineering costs and will forward their findings to Alberta Transportation to consider when qualifying the town for the grant.

The idea of an Economic Development Committee for the Town of Tofield met with a positive response at this meeting. This committee would serve a similar purpose to that of a Chamber of Commerce but would not be as costly to the ratepayers which would be made up of councillors and community residents, both urban and rural.

A motion was passed to contact interested parties and Mel Warren of Rural Development to see what response could be gained from the public about this type of organization and possibly have it start in the fall.

Under the Public Transportation Operating Assistance Grant program, the Town has received $3,120 to assist with improvement of transportation services for Senior Citizens, the disabled and the handicapped. Council agreed to give $500 to the Senior Citizens and the balance would be used to maximize the recreation bus as well as in areas that would benefit the disabled and handicapped.

Two members of council will be attending a meeting in the County Office in Ryley on August 1st, to jointly discuss with county councillors, and other municipal representatives, the procedures and requirements of a County Fire Chief.

Mayor Charlie Sears declared August 6th a civic holiday and all concurred. Heritage Days will be celebrated in Tofield on this date.

The shoe drops

Prime Minister Turner dropped the other shoe yesterday when he ended speculation over when an election might be held, or whether he might instead call a fall session of Parliament.

The date is set: September 4, one day after Labor Day. In selecting such a date he gave election organizers almost the maximum possible time to get their poll clerks, polling stations, and all the rest organized. In addition, he gave the politicians almost the maximum time, and the general feeling is that it is the Liberals who most need the time to organize. They're shorter, at the moment, on candidates, than either of the other parties.

Right from the outset of his announcement, Mr. Turner indicated he wanted to dissociate himself, and his party, from the Trudeau record, the Trudeau heritage, the Trudeau policies. He apologized for the make-up of the Cabinet he had put together, indicating he could work only with what was left to him, and just as pointedly indicating he wanted and expected many new faces around the table if he names the next Cabinet.

It could be pure Turner . . . something he really means. Or it could be pure politics. The party may know only too well the public wants change, and if they don't hear it coming from him, they'll assuredly turn to the other parties. Indeed, they very well may do that anyway in the firm belief that it takes far more than just changing the leader to change the kind of philosophies which have permeated Ottawa thinking for so many years.

The next 55 days will surely be fascinating. Won't we have fun as two brand new leaders try to gain points, to persuade voters, to build platforms, to increase strength, to elect more members, to form a government?

One thing is sure . . . there will be many new faces contending for the Liberals. Many of the old guard won't be in the running . . . they'll be looking after their rich new appointments.

Pledge

And speaking of patronage, the entire country on Monday must have listened with fascination as Conservative leader Brian Mulroney pledged himself, if he is the next Prime Minister, to name a committee or a commission which would be charged with the responsibility of reducing pure political partisanship, pure political reward, in the naming of future government plum appointments. Instead of saving it all for [illegible].

In politics anything is possible, of course, and it may be that Mulroney could "forget" his promise as easily as Trudeau forgot his promise not to tax gasoline at 18 cents a gallon (in point of fact, he didn't . . . he taxed it many times higher) or his promise not to institute wage and price controls, even though they were needed. He'd be reminded of it many times, of course, though it might not cost him any more loss of sleep than it cost Trudeau.

But we think Mulroney knows he has a major point when he tells voters that pork barrelling has become a national scandal. It may not be a plank, but it could at least be a 2 x 4, a stud, in his platform. It's one the voters would readily understand because they've been sickened at the most recent, and most cynical warehouse sale of placements, of sinecures, of plum appointments, of soft jobs, of assignments labelled "reward", of outright bribery.

The Liberals didn't invent patronage, of course. The need always exists for capable people to fill some appointment or other, to establish new boards, new commissions, new agencies, new departments. Or to fill vacancies in existing units caused by retirements, by resignations, by illness, or whatever.

But it is not inconceivable that some sort of public competition might be held for them. It is not inconceivable that some of them might wind up being Tories, or Socialists, or even a-political.

Workers for the Liberal party, those who might be expected to benefit, may not be so eager to see change. But we know the mass of the people hope for it. They want to see less of the cynical attitude that tells them they're only pawns in a game. They want to believe in democracy again. They want their faith restored.

Mulroney might have one way

July 9, 1984.

Dear Sir,

As in past years, energy conservation was a high priority in County schools during 1983.

Based on a 12 month average from December, 1982 to December 1983, and taking into account weather conditions, significant improvements in energy conservation were noted.

In comparing the 12 months of 1982 with 12 months of 1983 fuel savings in all schools amounted to $1,931 while saving in electricity amounted to $9,983.

Recognizing that the daily weather differences over 24 months have been taken into consideration the total savings of $11,924 are indeed noteworthy.

It means that it cost the County 64 cents less per square metre in 1983 to provide heat and lights to its schools than it did during the corresponding 12 months of 1982.

The Board is very pleased with these results and will continue to encourage schools to closely monitor their energy consumption.

William Schoeman
Superintendent of Schools

Time to get out

R.R.5 Lacombe

Dear Sir:

The game's over, boys!

It's time to pack up your bags and get out of the Agricultural Development Corporation Building in [illegible].

You've made your point and I was with you temporarily, but now that extra security and inconvenience is costing the tax payers of Alberta $30,000 monthly, it's time to [illegible].

After all, the Alberta Government has made its position clear.

While you're out on the street with your placards take a look around you. Take a look at the bankrupt businesses and foreclosures on homes. That's what happens in a recession like ours. And the Alberta Government isn't likely to try to buy its way out of this recession especially when it isn't their fault.

To help you guys means to help everyone else. And from where do you think the money comes? It either further drains an already stressed Heritage Trust Fund or we face a sales tax or the province starts massive borrowing with the consequential debt. I haven't talked with anyone that will support a government moving in that direction. They have only to look at the mess the Federal Government is in or for that matter British Columbia!

My advice to my own government is to clear those offices. There's work to be done by all of us if this province is to get back on its feet.

Jack Cookson

"DOMINION" OR "FEDERAL"

Dear Sir:

Re: the lost use of "Dominion".

There was a time in Canada [illegible] tional government as the "Dominion" government, as in the phrase "Dominion-Provincial relations". The designation "Dominion" was quietly dropped from such use some years ago, and in the above example, made into "federal-provincial" relations. (I believe it was during Lester Pearson's term as Prime Minister that a reporter noticed that government offices were no longer under "Dominion" in the phone book, but moved to "Government of Canada".)

Our last use of "Dominion" has probably expired with the renaming of July 1 as "Canada Day".

The term "Canada Day" has its advantages, among them a more accurate expression of feelings for immigrants and their children, and a term more easily understood in the United States, where people used to consider "dominion" an indication of "a colony of England". In other ways the term is misleading, especially if spoken of as "Canada's birthday". July 1, 1867, was only one step in the development of Canada, a development which has gone on now for some 380 years. (In comparison, consider Switzerland. I believe its present constitutional arrangement dated from 1848, its origins as an identifiable state from the 1270's; it would be highly inaccurate to speak of 1848 as the "birthday-year of Switzerland".)

There is, moreover, to my mind a more serious deficiency that has arisen with the dropping of "Dominion" as a description of our nation and the structures of national government. That is, that we are left without the content that "Dominion" as a description of our nation and the structures of national government. That is, that we are left without the content that "Dominion" covered, especially as an adjective. We have thus slipped into the use of "federal", used near us beforehand by the United [illegible].

One of the disagreeable results of our adopting "federal" has been the increasingly common use (I [illegible] years,) of the expression "the Feds". This is a term popularized, I believe, in the [illegible] on, applied to federal revenue officers looking for illicit whiskey stills!

The steps taken beginning some twenty years ago to drop the use of the word "Dominion", both as a noun and as an adjective, was supposedly in the interest of expressing "the Feds" in contrast shows a greater absorption into the [illegible] of the social and political culture of [illegible].

—Yours very truly,
Vincent E. Eriksson

Echoes from Em

[illegible]

When we were living those
"good old days"
They didn't seem so good,
We read by the light of a kerosene lamp
And heated our home with wood
We carried water up the hill
To cook with, wash, and scrub,
And took our bath [illegible] stove
In a galvanized laundry tub.
I still can smell the old lye [illegible]
And feel the sting and hurt
When some of it got in my eyes,
But it really got the dirt
We slept on wheathusk mat-[illegible]
Sometimes in a bed.
If you were late you got the [illegible],
The early ones took the head.
We waded through snow and [illegible]
To get to the seat of learning,
With the pot-bellied stove that froze our backs, While our fronts were nearly burning.
We drank from a cup by a water pail,
On a bench where the teacher put it,
And whatever ailment any child had,
The rest were sure to get it.
In winter you milked in a drafty barn,
While the wind whistled through the cracks,
And the swirling snow, while you were inside,
Filled up your fresh made [illegible]
A little house at the end of a patch,
Half-hidden with brush and [illegible]
In summer heat and winter [illegible]
Served other family needs.
Now you look with envious [illegible]
To those times if you were twenty
But I've been through those
"good old days"
And once, my friends — is plenty!

How can a parent who doesn't swim rescue her drowning child? This is something I ask myself every summer. Happily, I have yet to discover the answer, thanks to two things. My children know enough about dog paddling and holding their noses under water to keep themselves safe and their embarassment when their frantic mother races along the shore, screaming because she thinks they are in too deep (over their [illegible]).

In case you haven't guessed, I don't swim. Although I have often regretted not earning my water wings, there is no hope for me now. Now I am afraid of the water. (Who says wisdom comes with age?)

I don't know why I fear water that is deeper than I am and has waves or ripples, or when it all began but I am sure that while others swim like fish, I will float like a rock. The thought of water closing over my head turns me into jellyfish. I won't even open my eyes under the shower. When the Flood comes, you'll find me up on the roof of the ark.

I was determined to take swimming lessons a few years ago. I even registered for the Adult Scaredy-cat Class especially formed for us chicken-of-the-sea. Luckily, a trip to B.C. interfered and the impulse never returned. I have remained a landlubber since, playing in the shallow areas with the other kids.

Because I don't swim I miss out on a lot of fun. Scuba diving, water skiing, water polo, diving for pearls, underwater welding. And because going on the water m[illegible] mean going in (as in "tipped over"), I [illegible] water rafting, jet boat racing, deep sea fishing, kayaking, windsurfing and houseboating off my list of things to do after retirement.

Looking on the bright side, I'll never have to worry about pruney fingers or sharks . . . except in the bathtub . . . and I can still enjoy other water-related sports like backyard pool parties. Now all I need is the backyard pool.

Add all this to the fact that I am married to a non-swimmer (a less cowardly variety) and I must ask another question. Why do we spend our summer vacations at a lake?

World Series is nearing

Planning for the World Series of Fastball was expected to be finalized by the [illegible].

Arrangements had been [illegible] been reached by the past weekend, if they were coming [illegible].

[illegible] teams have applied for admission to the five-day tournament but, Series officials didn't want to make any decisions in this regard until after they had heard from the [illegible].

At presstime, fifteen of the needed twenty teams required [illegible] accepted, including the two defending championship [illegible].

Idaho Falls (Idaho) was entered in the tournament for a total of three days last week [illegible] their ISC regional playoff tournament hadn't been [illegible].

Three more teams are required for the senior division and only two more will be accepted in the intermediate [illegible].

[illegible] won the championship of the intermediate division last [illegible] week to pass along the word that they were still in operation [illegible] defend their crown. (It had been thought that the team had folded because Dome was reported to have withdrawn all financial support for its sporting ventures).

[illegible] (California) will be returning to defend its championship in the senior competition.

Kelowna (B.C.) is sending two teams for the senior division whose other entries include Saskatoon (two teams), Regina, Winnipeg, Calgary and [illegible] chants.

The other five teams accepted in the intermediate category include Lougheed, Holden, Hay Lakes, Rolly View and the home Windsor Hotel squad.

The senior portion of the [illegible] to four divisions of three teams each who will meet in round-robin play with divisional winners advancing to semi-final action.

In the intermediate section, there will be two four-team divisions with the top two teams in each division going on to compete in semi-final action.

This year's edition of the [illegible] open on July 26th for a five-day stand.

Play will go on the evenings of July 26 and 27 with day-long [illegible] two days and the finals will go on the evening of July 30th.

A huge beer tent will be erected in the ball park and will operate throughout the tournament. In addition, a concession stand will be in [illegible].

[illegible] ment have been printed and are now available from a [illegible].

Tournament passes may be obtained at the Carpet Bin, Fuzzy Orange, Sid's Sport Shop, 3rd to 1st Sports, Camrose Golf Club, Camrose Packers, Ken Fox, Gump's Tire, Camrose Colour Centre [illegible].

Tour is a hit

A second highly successful [illegible] Area has been completed.

Conducted by the Battle [illegible], the tour drew such good review from passengers that a third [illegible].

The third tour of the area has been slated for July 31st [illegible].

[illegible] June 27th under the guidance of Sylvia Clemens, BRTA Manager.

Passengers met in Camrose and the first stop was a tour of the Alfalfa Sprout Factory in the city before the bus headed out for a visit to the Spinning Wheel in Meeting Creek.

Following a stop in Big Knife Provincial Park, there was a tour of Manalta Coal Mine and then a visit to Circle Square Ranch before making a stop at the Castor Museum and then, the tour bus returned to Camrose.

Dr. Beth Empey from Edmonton was a Sunday guest with Mrs. Mary Stinson.

Herb McAdoo has returned from a holiday in Manitoba. Herb and son, Pat, drove there to visit relatives.

Mrs. Eggen returned from a visit with her daughter, Phyllis, in Edmonton.

On Saturday, Maggie Peterson accompanied Mr. and Mrs. John Moore to Two Hills where they attended the wedding of Valerie Moore to Glenn Thompson. Valerie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Moore, former Tofield residents.

Disease Problems in the County of Beaver

After last year's poor crop this year's crop has emerged and looks fantastic by comparison. However, with the nice growing weather came other problems. One problem concerns the increasing amount of disease we are beginning to see.

This good growing weather plus moisture, is the perfect breeding ground for many kinds of fungal diseases. Warm moist weather promotes sclerotinia of canola, net blotch of barley and tanspot (a new disease to this area) of wheat. Incidentally, many of these fungal diseases are related and can be controlled using the following ways:

1. Watch your crop rotation. Never grow the same crop immediately on the same land as was grown on it the previous year. For example – don't grow canola on canola or wheat on wheat. Most of the diseases we see (with the possible exception of canola) result from growing the same crop as was grown the year previous. With our continuous cropping systems nowadays, this may be hard to avoid, but it must be avoided if disease is to be controlled. For example, the only fields of wheat affected with tanspot have been on land which had wheat grown on it the previous year.
2. Bury your stubble if possible. The better the fungi can be buried, the better the disease control you will experience in your crop.
3. Always use treated seed. Although the seed treatments on the market today do not control the fungal diseases I have mentioned, they do help to get the plant off to a healthy start. A healthy plant is always less susceptible to disease than a weak one.
4. Use adequate amounts of fertilizer. Soil test to be sure your crop will be getting what it needs to be healthy.

If these four steps are followed, your incidence of disease in your crops will be controlled much better. For more information on these diseases, contact us at 663-3566. Bye for now.

Freedom of speech restored in elections

In a landmark decision on June 25 Justice Medhurst of the Alberta Court of Queen's Bench declared that Bill C-169 limits freedom of speech during federal elections and is unconstitutional.

"We're just delighted!" said National Citizens' Coalition President Colin Brown of the decision. "This is the greatest of the many achievements of the Coalition over the years. This is history in the making."

"When else have the major political parties voted unanimously to restrict the freedom of Canadian citizens and then been beaten in the courts by the citizens themselves?"

"In overturning this anti-freedom law, Justice Medhurst has upheld our heritage of freedom of speech," Mr. Brown said. "Canadians can once again freely express their views on parties and candidates during federal elections — the most critical time of the political process."

Bill C-169 was passed unanimously by all three parties in 40 minutes last October 26th. The law, which went into effect May 17th, provides for prison terms of up to five years and fines of up to $5000 for Canadians who independently spend money to express their opposition to or support for parties or candidates during federal elections.

To overturn Bill C-169, the Coalition launched a national campaign last January 16th which included news conferences held simultaneously in Ottawa, Toronto and Vancouver, the constitutional court challenge in Calgary and seven full page newspaper advertisements across the country.

A major development during the campaign was the statement by Progressive Conservative leader Brian Mulroney that his party had reconsidered its support for Bill C-169 and would work for its repeal.

So far, both the Liberal and New Democratic Parties have continued to support the bill despite national opposition to it.

The National Citizens' Coalition position against the law has received support from: the Inter-American Press Association (which includes press association in Canada, the U.S., Central and South America); the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers' Association (which represents 80% of the daily circulation in Canada); the Canadian, Ontario and Atlantic Provinces Chambers of Commerce; the Civil Liberties Section of the Canadian Bar Association and scores of media editorials across the country, including several in this newspaper.

Additionally, there has been strong support from the 30,000 members of the National Citizens' Coalition and the public at large. Together, they have contributed more than $250,000 toward the campaign.

The federal government has 30 days to appeal the decision and if it does, says Mr. Brown, "we'll continue the fight as long as necessary".

The National Citizens' Coalition stands for more freedom through less government. It has 30,000 members nationally, offices in Toronto, Calgary and Vancouver and is independent of all political parties. The Coalition was founded in 1967 and incorporated as a national, non-profit corporation in 1975. Its vice-presidents are Barbara Draimin and David Somerville and the secretary-treasurer is Bill Magyar.

Our members feel that on many issues our MPs must be made more accountable to the citizens who put them into power — fully indexed pensions for MPs and civil servants, for example.

Many of the issues which the Coalition has been promoting for the past decade are now finding favour with leading politicans — including Liberals. The issues include: dismantling Petrocan and the National Energy Programme; selling off crown corporations; ending fully indexed pensions for MPs and civil servants; entrenching our right to private property; ensuring the freedom of every Canadian to earn a living wihtout having to join a union or pay union dues; requiring the federal government to balance its budget in each three year period or call an election on the issue; making welfare programmes responsive to the needy, not universal; encouraging foreign investment and providing for federal, citizen-initiated referendums.

Mason is elected

by Joan Murray

Last Tuesday, George Mason was elected by acclamation to the position of School Trustee and will represent the Village of Holden at future County of Beaver Board of Education meetings.

Mason is a 43 year-old self-employed renovator. He and his wife, Lonnie, have lived in Holden for the past two years. He himself has lived in the village about 25 years ago.

He said his aim as trustee is to be certain that Holden gets a fair share of the school dollars and that it is used wisely to the benefit of the students to enable them to become adequately competitive in the society in which they will find themselves after they have graduated.

He does not have a lot of spare time after working at his renovation business, but does enjoy doing a bit of reading when he can.

He said that he has found Holden to be friendly and easy to get along with and plans to do the best for education in their area.

You know the guy. Call him Fred. While the neighbourhood kids are raiding your cabbage patch for baseball practice, Fred's tending cabbages the size of basketballs. Your peas and cucumbers wither on the vine — Fred's are so plump and plentiful he's giving the stuff away. And his lawn! Fred's the one (you're sure of it!) who inspired the old "grass is always greener" cliche. What's his secret, you ask? [redacted]

A lawn or garden will not flourish without sufficient nutrients. There are thirteen nutrient elements, in addition to water, that plants must obtain from the soil. However, [redacted] these nutrients in a form that plants can take in through [redacted]

Fortunately, these nutrients are easily added to the soil. Farm manure, compost, processed sewage sludge and [redacted] "commercial" or "chemical") fertilizers can all [redacted].

There are a number of advantages in using commercial fertilizers. While most of the nutrients in "organic" [redacted] compost become available to plants only when soil organisms decompose the organic material, commercial fertilizers usually supply plant nutrients in water-soluble form ready for immediate use [redacted]

Canadian law requires all [redacted] guaranteed minimum percentages of total nitrogen, available phosphate and soluble potash. Always examine the guaranteed analysis before purchasing fertilizer. It will tell you what is in the bag and whether the nitrogen is [redacted]

Because farm manure and compost vary greatly in composition, specific instructions about their application are not practical. If applied too heavily, concentrated material such as poultry manure can damage plants. However, liberal amounts of ordinary manures can be applied [redacted] Because manure and compost are very low in phosphate content, the addition of a chemical fertilizer containing phosphorous is advisable.

Apply fertilizers to dry lawns at rates recommended on the package. Grass may suffer chemical burns if it is wet with dew or rain when the fertilizer is applied. A generous watering after application will ensure best results. To ensure uniform application, divide the fertilizer into two or three portions and cover the entire area with each portion.

Lawns should be fertilized early in the spring. Some soil experts recommend fertilizers such as 27-14-0, 23-23-0 or 16-20-0, which supply both nitrogen and phosphorous. Others believe that the phosphorous encourages [redacted] clover growth so they use nitrogen fertilizers such as urea (46-0-0), ammonium nitrate (33.5-0-0) or ammonium sulphate (21-0-0).

If your lawn pales in June or July, a nitrogen fertilizer (46-0-0, 33.5-0-0 or 21-0-0) may be applied. You could also use 27-14-0, 23-23-0 or 16-20-0.

During the first two weeks of August, application of a complete or a nitrogen and phosphorous fertilizer such as 11-48-0 or 16-20-0 will strengthen grass and help it to survive the winter.

In gardens, remember that root vegetables, peas, beans and flowers will likely respond to larger amounts of phosphorous. [redacted] as 11-48-0, 10-30-10 and super- [redacted] tests may assist you in making your selection.

Garden fertilizers may be broadcast or placed in rows. If broadcast, fertilizers should be applied a few days before planting and dug or rototilled into the soil.

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

We don't hear the vaguely derogatory phrase "the lame, the halt, and the blind" very often anymore. Most societies have become more accommodating toward and considerate of their handicapped, although there is still room for improvement.

Travel, which could be undertaken with only great difficulty by handicapped persons only a few decades ago, is today perhaps not exactly easy but it is practical, and the pleasures of the wider world are enjoyed by many disabled persons.

Extra spadework and preparation are required and, to ensure an uneventful trip, planning and arrangements should be made early. June is not too soon to make reservations for September or October trips, a good time to travel as the summer rush is over.

Airlines and other carriers can provide guidelines and restrictions that pertain to a particular handicap. The latter are not numerous and relate primarily to the safety and comfort of other passengers. Special boarding and deplaning arrangements generally go smoothly if notice has been provided.

Some disabilities cause the airlines to insist that the passenger provide a travelling companion. The cost of the ad- [redacted]

Facilities at airports or stations at each end of the trip must be researched: availability of motorized carts, Braille signs, or whatever special services will be required. The Society for the Advancement of Travel for the Handicapped (SATH), 26 Court Street, Brooklyn, NY, USA 11242, or telephone (212) [illegible], can help. It is a clearing house for information about suitable domestic and international transportation and lodging. Your travel agent may have other resources.

If your problem is a disease requiring medication or a condition needing disposable supplies, remember to take a sufficient supply. Carry at least some of this material in your carry-on bag. A summary of your problem can usually be provided by your physician, if needed.

There is much available if you know where to look. For example, Greyhound, Amtrak, and some airlines provide a TTY (toll-free teletypewriter service) number for the hearing impaired.

Do some research, plan carefully, and have a good trip!

Ladies take Alaskan tour

Recently returned from a 5,346 mile trip, are Mary Tiedemann, Bertha Sorull, Jennette Damberger and Roberta Bates.

The trip was the fall length of the Alaska Highway and one thousand miles of the return trip was on Alaska Blake Ferry, down the Inside Passage

Starting out by way of Grande Prairie and Fort Nelson, we stopped at Dawson Creek to take picture at Mile Zero of the Alaska Highway. Near Mile 101, near a town formerly called Blueberry, now renamed Wonowon, we encountered permafrost. Because of it and the high altitude, the trees were very slow to leaf. Some places the frost is deep and the trees are large. Where it is near the surface, they are small.

At Watson Lake a long, high fence has been erected and is completely covered with place signs from all over the world. (Many street signs which have obviously been "liberated"). Mary, who had had the foresight to take along a Tofield sign and some nails, added it, with our names to the collection.

We crossed the Laird River on a suspension bridge which was made from material salvaged from a bridge which was used at Tacoma, Wash., for many years.

A fire-scarred area extends for miles, covering 160,000 acres. It was the worst fire in B.C. history and burned the soil off to a depth of six inches, leaving little but rock.

Next was Contact Creek, the point at which the workmen on the highway from the south met those working from the north. From Contact Creek to Watson Lake the road crosses the border nine times. Near Teslin is the point at which the waters divide with some rivers flowing toward the Atlantic and others to the Arctic Ocean. Teslin Lake is 70 miles long and 70 feet deep.

Coming to Whitehorse we saw the historical "Poverty Flats" which was an area set aside by the police so that a destitute miner might mine enough gold to get a new grub-stake or, return home. It was not necessary to stake a claim here.

On the way to Dawson City we saw Lake Laberge, of Robert W. Service fame (where "Sam Magee" was cremated). We also stopped at the remains of a typical "stopping place", for people who travelled on the stage line from Whitehorse to Dawson City. Next was Five Fingers Rapids where many boats were sunk and many would be gold miners drowned. The steamwheelers had to be winched through with anchors on shore

Most of us thought Mm Hawson City was the high point of the tour. So many things of historical and literary interest are centred there. A tour with a local guide was very good. We saw the restored sod shacks of Jack London and Rober W Service and the bank in which Service worked as well as the home in which Pierre Burton grew up. We toured one of the few remaining wood-burning steamwheelers which were used until the 1950's, very large and high and yet with a draught of only three feet.

We drove along Bonanza Creek where the first gold strike was made, when a camper scouring his frying pan with sand, found gold adherring to the grease! Every inch of riverbed had been mined, but with the present high value of gold, it is all being gone over again, with the use of modern methods.

We did a little panning too, with such getting a little gold. One lady surprised everyone by getting a small nugget!

Leaving Dawson City we headed over the Top of the World". At some points the altitude at road level is 4,000 feet.

Coming down on the Alaska side we were on tundra which is "Next was Five Fingers" Rapids where many boats were sunk and many would be gold miners drowned. The steamwheelers had to be winched through with anchors on shore

Most of us thought H

BETWEEN THE COVERS

Over 40 Bold Adventurers have joined the Readers of the Last Ark Summer Reading Club already. If you have finished at least Grade one come in and ask Monica, to register in the game.

This week's children's films are Madeline, The Boy and The Box, and The Big Dipper. Movies are shown both Friday and Saturday at 2.30. Admission is free, but please do not leave preschool children unattended. The program lasts approximately 30 minutes.

On the new book shelf this week are a number of selections to help you start on new projects over the summer. The Workshop Knitting Book is just right for beginners, but includes projects for experienced knitters.

A Start At The Piano by Ernest Lubin is designed for adults whose skills have become rusty, or who have never learned. Three exercise books by the editors of Consumer Guide will help you get in shape. Seven-Day Flatten Your Stomach, Ten-Minute Total Shape-Up and Seven Minute Trim Your Hips and Thighs. How To Organize and Run a Club by Arnold Liebers may provide useful information in establishing a new group, or in streamlining procedures in an existing one.

Going on a trip with kids? Try Activities For Anyone, Anytime, Anywhere by Jeri Robinson. It has many good ideas for filling those exasperating moments spent waiting for airplanes, or in restaurants, or travelling with groups or families, as well as for long afternoons at home. Holiday Cooking For Kids provides lots of new tasty ideas too.

New picture books include The Guinea Pig ABC by Kate Duke; Little Red Riding Hood, retold by Trina Schart Hyman; and Return Of The Jedi adapted by Elizabeth Levy for younger readers. A fantasy for teens is Susan Cooper's Seaward, set in a whole new world full of perils.

Library Summer Hours are: Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday 10-6 and Thursday 3-8.

Heritage Day planned

by Jean Murray

The Ethnic Food Committee for Heritage Days met last week in Tofield to make plans about what they will offer to the public this year.

A new attraction, an old country store, will offer for sale to the fair-goers such treats as pure toffee, candy, licorice, pickles, cheese, crackers, home-made peanut brittle and broken-glass candy.

Grandma's Kitchen will be open again for those who wish to partake in home-made ice cream, pies, butter, buns and jam.

Ethnic food booths will be open and samples can be bought for a nominal fee.

There will be Welsh cakes from Wales, Lefsa from Scandanavia, as well as various dishes from Germany, China and Hungary. Anyone interested in setting up a food booth from an ethnic group not mentioned above could call the committee chairman, Pat Litwin, at 662-2246.

The Heritage Days program is being organized by the Hospital Auxiliary with assistance from other organizations within the community.

The traditional practice of no gate admission fee being charged will be carried on again this August 6th.

Proceeds from this event will be used to set up a "Tuck Shop" in the new Tofield Health Centre and will help towards getting a special room for the Hospital Auxiliary members to hold their meetings and participate in other organizational activities.

Sale is planned

by Jean Murray

At the Mennonite Central Committee (MCC) meeting held in Tofield last Tuesday evening, there was much discussion on the subject of the upcoming MCC Relief Sale to be held in the Arena on July 21st.

It was agreed that if the sale of quilts and special items was not completed by 2 p.m., the second ring would be started up for the sale of cattle.

The committee plans to have about 3,000 pounds of special Mennonite sausage made up for this sale. A total of 20 hogs will have to be donated to accomplish this goal.

Committee members will be provided with engraved name tags donated by the Trophy Hut. Souvenir crests will be available for sale to anyone who wishes to purchase such a memento.

There will be picnic tables set up outdoors, if the weather is nice.

All auction items should be brought to the Arena by 10 a.m. on July 20th.

Volunteers are needed to build steps for the cooler van, auction block and some for in the Arena.

Donations have been received from the Hutterite Colonies for eggs, Woodward Stores for pancake syrup and Smitty's Restaurant for a forming machine to help make the pancake breakfast a success.

They have received a donation of two sides of beef which will be sold cut, wrapped and frozen.

Summer Complaint Alert

As soon as the first breath of summer hits, Canadians flock like migratory birds to their favorite camping grounds. Nothing can be worse than getting sick when you're on vacation. Nausea, vomiting accompanied by cramps and diarrhea could be signs that you had food poisoning. Campsites, with little or no refrigeration for food and poor sanitation, are breeding grounds for food-poisoning bacteria.

Mishandling of food is the number one cause of food poisoning. Health authorities suspect that as many as 60,000 cases of food poisoning occur annually; the symptoms often go mis-diagnosed.

The poisoning culprits are usually bacteria which multiply rapidly in moist, warm, protein-rich foods such as meat, poultry, fish and shellfish, milk and eggs. These foods, considered potentially unsafe, must be either kept hot (over 60°C) or kept cold (below 4°C). Keeping these foods between these two temperatures, called the danger zone, for longer than 2 hours can be potentially dangerous.

Not all food is a bomb of bacteria ready to explode but special care must be taken when you are camping. Plan a shopping list which includes canned and dried foods; they are your safest choices.

Pack frozen meat and milk into insulated containers with ice and keep them in the shade. While thawing, the frozen food helps keep the other food cold. Remember to cook the food as soon as it has thawed.

Cheeses and dried sausages, such as salami and pepperoni are versatile additions. Make your own submarine sandwiches. Pile salami, cheese, sliced tomato and shredded lettuce into a roll. Add a dash of oil and vinegar-type dressing; wrap the submarine in foil and heat over the campfire.

Add canned beans to your camping list. Combine several kinds of beans such as baked beans, kidney and lima beans and serve with whole wheat bread. Or, make a spicy bean filling for taco shells.

Skim milk powder is a versatile alternative at the campsite. Make a cream sauce and add canned vegetables or meat to serve over toasted bread.

Canned, dried meats and other convenience foods are a real boon for campers. There is no worry about bacterial contamination until opened. Once opened, however, treat them like fresh food. You can add a personal touch to these foods, such as adding chopped green pepper and onion to canned spaghetti and meat sauce or adding canned tomatoes to macaroni and cheese dinner.

Ham Casserole

2 cans (184 g each) flakes of drained ham, crumbled OR 1 can (454 g) ham, cubed
1 can (300 mL) cream-style corn
1 can (398 mL) green beans, drained
15 mL butter
10 mL prepared mustard
1 mL pepper

Combine all ingredients. Heat through, stirring frequently. Makes 4 servings (300 mL each).

Superintendent reports

by William Schramm

At a special meeting of the Board of Education held on June 28, the Board members once again supported their previous position of making Ryley a kindergarten to Grade 6 plus Grades 10, 11 and 12 school and Holden a kindergarten to Grade 9 school.

In addition to all the Board members being present, 41 interested people attended the meeting. Janet Winsnes presented a brief on behalf of the Ryley School supporters. Dan Hultheim represented the Holden parents. A far ranging discussion followed on a number of concerns.

Some of the issues expressed were:

1. Losing their sense of community identity if they have to attend school in another community for three out of twelve years.
2. That this move will eventually lead to the closing of one or both schools.
3. The concern that complete answers were not available on such matters as busing, sports programs and Home and School memberships.
4. The discipline in one school differs from the discipline in another school.
5. The lack of benefits to the junior high school students if this reorganization takes place.

The meeting included a defence of the Board's decision not only by Members of the Board and the Superintendent but also by some who spoke in favour of the reorganization. If concerns continue to exist parents are urged to contact the Superintendent at any time.

Watching

"Hey, that looks like fun!" must have been the thought going through these two cyclists eyes on Thursday afternoon, because a few minutes later they dismounted and entered the Lions Park Playground to join in the fun that other children were having during the afternoon session of the summer playground program in Tofield photo by Joan Murray

Crops are good

Most crops are in very good condition, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Crops around New Norway, Camrose and Hay Lakes are all said to be in a "normal" condition for this time of year.

Improvement is being shown in the Bawlf area where crops were reported to be above five percent off the pace while in the Ryley region, crops are between five and fifteen percent from being up to a normal state for this time of year.

Heavy rainfall and some hail was reported in some regions last week although little damage came as a result of the hail.

Crops in the Camrose area are showing the most progress to date with ninety percent of wheat and three-quarters of barley in the heading stage and eighty-five percent of canola is now in bloom.

In the New Norway region, eighty-five percent of all canola crops are now in bloom while nearly one-half of wheat and about ten percent of barley has headed out.

Crops around Hay Lakes are just moving into the second stage of development, with the same situation applying in the Ryley and Bawlf areas.

Palmer—Earling district news items

The Canadian and Norwegian flag were flying in the breeze Saturday June 23 — Mid-summer's Day" in Norway at the Cecil Sneesrud residence — the day when their daughter, Laverna Shirley and Ronald Epp of Tofield pledged their vows at Bethel Ryley Church. Pastor Sid Haugen officiating. Soloist Peggy Bratrud — organist Cheryl Andruko — Bridesmaids Valerie Ladberg, Sheila Sneesrud, Brenda Stefura and Dianne Epp. Best men — Ted Reinhold, Vic [illegible] Mark Tiedemann and Dave Friesen. Ring bearer — Ryan Shirley, flower girl Dayna Williams. About 200 attended the reception at the Ryley Community Hall. The Groom's relatives entertained by singing three songs followed by a dance. A relative, Anita Johnsson of Oslo, Norway who is visiting the various Sneesrud families, was also present. On Sunday the gifts were opened at the brides' home. They will reside on a farm in the Tofield area.

Chester and Valerie Furrow and Velda Thorne were Tuesday visitors at Bruderheim to see Ernest Thorne who is ill.

Bruce and Liz Petersen weekended in Calgary to see her grandmother Henry who is ill in hospital there.

On Tuesday evening another bridal shower for Lori Pederson and Mark Schneider was held at Gladstone Curling Rink.

Wednesday visitors at Joe Knudson's — Towler Furrs, and Palma Paulson's were Carl and Ruby Sorensen and Mabel Maedahl, Camrose.

Omitted in Bert and Lillie Hoveland's Golden wedding — In charge of guest book — Kristie Hoveland and Kari Lee Hekall. Anna Kongsrud poured coffee and tea.

Herb Nicholls of McKay was a visitor at the Carl Staal home. He also called on his grandmother Emma Nordstrom at the Ryley Lodge.

Carl and Arlene Staal enjoyed the Flowing Match at Wainhem, where they saw the Herman Reum's, George and Dixie Gradeen, and Arlie Hillaby's. They motored on to visit friends at Dawson Creek, B.C.

Stan Chappell, Calgary, weekended with the Vern Reum's.

Mrs. Ruth Chappell spent the week at St. Vincent with her sister, the Walter Leiseman's.

Students graduate

Six area students were involved when Lakeland College held recent graduation ceremonies.

Ted Remmings of Camrose graduated, with distinction, with his business administration diploma.

Rhonda King of Ryley and Sandra Milne of Tofield graduated, with honours when each received her early childhood development certificate.

Darlene Cunningham of Kelsey received her secretarial arts certificate while Michael Warwa of Tofield got his business administration diploma and Edwin Kolodychuk of Camrose got a diploma for wildlife and fisheries technology.

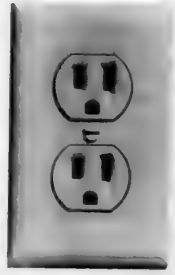
A little input on one of life's great values.



Everyone benefits from that reliable source, the electrical outlet.

It's there when you need it in so many helpful ways. And at surprisingly low cost when you consider all that electricity does for you.

But some people use electricity as if there were no tomorrow. And then they're surprised when the bill arrives.

You can avoid unnecessary costs on your electric bill through wise management of your electrical use.

It all starts with the little things. Like turning off the lights when you leave a room, or deciding what snack you want before you open the fridge door.

Like doing a few large loads of laundry rather than several small ones. Or using low-watt bulbs in hallways and stairwells.

A little common sense is all it takes to maintain a balance of power. And the balance of your bank account.

Electricity. One of life's great values.

AADAC developments

Drug use is a fact of life in Alberta today. By the time the children become 18, most of them will drink alcoholic beverages, and many will have tried marijuana or other illegal drugs. All of them will have had to make decisions about whether or not to use alcohol or other drugs. All of them will have had to decide how much is too much, or what responsibility in the use of alcohol or other drugs means. These decisions begin to be thrust upon them in their early teens, when alcohol and drug use becomes part of their social environment.

Parents often feel frightened by the choices confronting their children, but they have a tremendous influence on the development of their children's values, attitudes and behaviour. There are several things a parent can do to strengthen this influence in the prevention of drug abuse.

First, do what you say. Have a look at your own lifestyle. Are you a model of the responsible behaviour you would like your children to develop in the way you use alcohol or other drugs, in your use of medications, in your use of tobacco or caffeine? Do you take care of yourself as you want your children to take care of themselves? Your children learn more from what you do than from what you say.

Second, don't talk through your hat. Learn about drugs and alcohol. This will reduce your fear of these substances. It will also enable you to discuss them rationally and knowingly with your children. Your local AADAC office, listed in the telephone book, is a good source of information.

Lastly, let your children grow. Try to develop a relationship with your children which will help them develop a sense of responsible independence. Children need to experience success in facing adult problems. The experience of success in making adult decisions will develop the courage to try, and to try again. Trying will, of course, include making mistakes. Mistakes are scary, but they are a necessary part of the learning process. Mistakes enable us to make better decisions the next time. Remember that in order to learn from our mistakes, we must feel them. Children must experience the consequences of their mistakes to develop the confidence necessary to take on the risks involved in adult responsibility.

Parents have far more positive influence on their children than they often realize. AADAC would like to help parents strengthen this positive influence. Please feel free to contact your local AADAC office.

Still something new as Bruce marks 70th Stampede

by D. Frederick

On Sunday, July 29 Bruce will hold its 70th annual Stampede.

The Bruce Stampede Association, organized in 1915 and this year capably led by Paul Malowany, has continued to improve the event through the years.

The size of the grounds is now approximately 40 acres with good corrals and chutes, bleachers, improved concession stands, washrooms and race track, factors which contribute to the enjoyment of the guests.

The parade, which has earned the reputation of being one of the best in the area, was begun in 1980 while the queen contest and the beef barbecue were introduced in 1981. A horseshoe tournament has also proved extremely popular.

This year something new is happening!

On Saturday, July 28, there will be an amateur rodeo beginning at 2 p.m. A variety of events including kids' calf tying, a greased pig race and maiden bustin' will provide super afternoon entertainment and will be followed at 7 p.m. by pony chuckwagon and pony chariot races.

There will also be a display of fireworks while over at the Recreation Centre dancing will commence at 9:30 p.m. to the music of Steppin' Out.

At midnight, last year's queen, Leann Kraus, will crown the 1984 queen. Vying for this honor are three lovely ladies, Trudy Erickson, Linda Grinde and Sandi Krupelnicki.

A pancake breakfast will be available between 7 and 10 a.m. on Sunday morning, a nourishing start for a fun-filled day. The parade down Main Street will begin at 11 a.m. with professional rodeo events underway at 2 p.m. For those who enjoy hearty fare, the beef barbecue, which starts at 4 p.m. is certain to be a pleaser. You may also wish to cheer for your favorite horseless competitor during the afternoon. The midway and concession booths will be operating both Saturday and Sunday.

Stampede Days has become a local tradition, the one day of the year when former residents "come home" Other districts have their own gatherings but here it happens once every year — near the end of July!

Tofield Fair on August 11

by Joan Murray

This Tofield Annual Agricultural Fair is set to take place on August 11th, so start grooming those prize animals, babying those vegetables, practicing your favorite recipe, sewing fine seams, and working on your handwriting to get ready for the big day.

The closing date for entries in the horse class is August 8th with all other classes accepting entries up until one half hour before judging on Friday, August 10th. The livestock show will accept entries up until show day.

Except in livestock and pet sections, no entries can be removed until 6:30 p.m. on the 11th.

On Fair day, horse show judging commences at 9 a.m., livestock at 1 p.m. and the pet show at 12 noon. All others are judged beginning at 3 p.m. the previous day.

Forms and prize lists are available at Especially For You and The Hearthstone in Tofield and anyone wishing to have additional information is welcome to call Barbara Appleby at 662-2367.

There will be an auction sale of donated articles held following the fair at 7 p.m. in the Tofield Arena.

Concession booths will be open for refreshments during Fair day. Tickets are being sold on a handmade quilt which will be on display in the window of the Especially For You store.

Everyone is invited to enter exhibits in the Fair or to come and view the exhibits on display Saturday, August 11th from 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. at the Arena.

Heritage Day features past

by Joan Murray

There is a treat in store for all tea-totalers going to Heritage Days this year. On August 6th, there will be an Olde English Tea Shoppe where one can choose a favorite flavor of tea for a "cuppa" while examining the many different patterns of china that will be on display around the Shoppe. There will also be a collection of old and novelty tea pots on display.

Numerous other displays are planned for this event, including Japanese flower arrangements, Welsh articles native to Wales, harness making and leather craft, wood carving, and a Tofield Antiquary display.

The history of Tofield will be on display to commemorate the 75th anniversary. An historical photo collection will also be available to those wishing to look back in time on events that occured in Tofield and area.

The display committee is working on compiling a collection of old toys and would welcome any loans of old playthings that could be used in this display. If anyone has such an article please contact Lester Severson at 662-2384.

A travelling photo display of Canadian history sights will be on the fairgrounds for everyone to enjoy.

This event is sponsored by the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary and proceeds from this day will be used to equip the Tuck Shop and Auxiliary room in the new hospital, as well as to help with the purchase of some patio furniture.

30 Hereford breeders feature two-day tour

On July 26 and 27th, a Northern Alberta Hereford Club tour will be held in our area.

This year the tour is being held for two days, day one will be in the Viking-Vegreville area and day two will be in the Tofield area.

Day one will feature five stops and day two, four stops, these farms and ranches will not only display their own cattle but numerous breeders will be bringing cattle to their stops for display. It is expected that some thirty breeders will be displaying their cattle on this tour.

Day one will begin at Klein's JK Farm at Viking with breakfast from 8 to 10 a.m. The second stop will be Darrala Farm at Lavoy where coffee will be served. Stop number three is Higlandview Stock Farms, owned by the Kolaiko family of Vegreville for lunch. Then on to the Gordon Zeiglers, of Vegreville.

The final stop for day one will be at the Chateau Hall, Vegreville for dinner, with princess competition speeches and a guest speaker for the evening. Excellent camping facilities at the campground by the Easter Egg.

Day number two will begin with breakfast at TY Polled Herefords, Ralph Causey and Sons at Tofield from 8 to 10 a.m. Stop number two will be at the Kallai Hereford Ranch (Lawrence and Ken Kallai) for coffee. Then on to the third stop for the day at Paul Kallais at Tofield. The final stop for the day will be at HB Polled Herefords (Howard Browns) for dinner at approximately 1:30 to 2 p.m. This will conclude the two-day tour.

All meals are complimentary. Make plans now to take part. Everyone is welcome.

Farmers' sit-in

Despite agonizingly slow appearances, it seems the farmers' sit-in at the offices of the Agricultural Development Corporation should be having some effect. It may take ages before any reaction is really evident, but we believe some kind of message is slowly getting through to many in the seats of power.

It seems doubtful whether they will actually achieve the moratorium on farm debt they have set as their number one objective. Indeed, there are many people who disagree completely with the concept of moratorium, who feel it would seriously undermine the possibility of all farmers obtaining the credit they need at various times every year.

But there are other ways in which the effort is definitely drawing attention, attention which manifests itself in numbers of ways. Such as the auctioneer who declares in effect "... I do feel the farmer deserves the cost of production...", such as numbers of ordinary people, bankers, politicians, who are becoming more and more aware that something should be done about the impact of fuel taxes on the price of farm production, such as those who feel special funding should be available in larger and more lenient amoounts to persuade farmers to treat their soil as a public resource rather than as a private mine, something that's hard to do with farm gate prices of today.

We don't see Agriculture Minister LeRoy Fjordbotten racing out to write new legislation, but we're finding it harder and harder all the time to believe there won't be some ripples in the legislation proposed for this fall's sitting of the Legislature. Especially, of course, if the farmers are still sitting in.

Patronage

We're astonished.

For more than two weeks radio, newspaper, television and magazine writers have been harping on the utterly cynical list of appointments drawn up by Prime Minister Trudeau before he left office, and the fact that he extracted in writing a promise from John Turner to make these appointments as the price for Trudeau not taking so many out of the government benches as to leave Turner in a minority position.

There were an almost unbelievable 240 political plums passed out! 240!

Yet in all the words written, in all the papers we've checked, in all the reports broadcast, we haven't heard the names of more than a dozen.

The whole thing may come round to haunt Mr. Turner. Many people feel he should have rejected Trudeau, forced him to make the appointments himself, and declare to the country that he didn't give a fig for the Party's future. Many feel Turner made his first big mistake by not disavowing this form of blatant pork barrel politics.

Especially when Monique Begin, (however much we disagree with her Medicare program) took the entirely honorable and decent way out, resignation with not even a request for an appointment. In fact resignation so unexpected one could not be made. Plus vocal dismay at patronage grown to unrealistic levels.

But what happened to the list of 240 appointments? And how in the world could Trudeau have saved up so many for his day of leaving? If the offices or seats could be left vacant for long enough to accumulate 240, could some of them not have remained vacant forever?

Loose Ends

by Carol Livingstone

[illegible]

When it comes right down to it, you have to admire the dandelion. It has a very beautiful yellow flower (especially on someone else's lawn), and although somewhat promiscuous (they will pollinate anywhere!), a more tenacious, stubborn plant is hard to find. Once it has taken root it is able to survive where others shrivel and die. Have you ever known a dandelion to winter kill?

It's really too bad we can't find a good use for it because there will never be a shortage. However, man cannot live on dandelion salad — or dandelion wine — alone.

Someone, somewhere, told us that when it comes to lawns and other grassy areas, yellow is out and green is in. Thus Man is always at war with the lowly dandelion, who thinks we are on its turf. Man does his utmost to stunt the dandelion's growth. He sprays and curses and pulls bars over them, spends hours on his knees digging them up or yanking off their brilliant heads so the neighbours (the ones with the perfectly manicured, weedless lawn) won't know they are there — or he gets his wife and children to do it.

But dandelions can't take a hint, even when delivered with a spray gun. No matter how many ways or times Man tells them they are not wanted, they come back for more. The more expensive the cure, the less they shrivel. After awhile, Man begins to wonder if dandelions don't think of weed killers as exotic drinks — put it in a coconut with one of those little umbrellas and they'll invite all their friends to your lawn for a big bash. The friends will have so much fun, they'll never leave.

If the dandelion war ever gets to me I think I'll just surrender and let them take over the lawn. When I get a good crop I'll sell them to little kids at 10c a dozen. Children like dandelions. They use the hollow stems as straws, bubble-pipes or to make chains to hang around their necks. They check under one another's chins to see if they like butter. And everyone knows that the way to a Mother's heart is through a fistful of wilting dandelions.

County discusses kennels, land use, fire protection

by [illegible]

Municipal Planner Tis Zaghi was present at the County of Beaver council meeting on Monday to give further information to councillors about General Municipal Plan and Land Use by-laws which were given second and final readings this day.

The General Municipal Plan By-law 538 includes changes in the Controlled Urban Development districts surrounding towns and villages. They now contain rural, commercial and industrial districts. Rural commercial uses may be redesignated, therefore it was recommended that they be deleted as a discretionary use from the Controlled Urban Development District.

There was some concern from urban municipalities about allowing rural industrial, therefore it should be noted that large scale industrial projects, particularly resource extraction related industries, may be redesignated Rural Industrial but small scale industries do not require redesignation.

Land Use By-law 539 deals with two types of dog kennels; boarding and private. Boarding kennels are defined as accommodation for the purpose of breeding, showing, grooming or keeping of more than three dogs other than those animals owned by the occupant of the residence on the property.

Private kennels are defined as those being used for accommodation for the purpose of breeding, showing or keeping of more than three dogs for pleasure, where such dogs are owned by the occupants in residence on the property. Such a kennel is considered as an ancillary use of land and shall exclude the boarding or grooming of dogs belonging to someone other than the occupants.

Time restrictions for keeping dogs in open areas will be limited to a specified time, permits will expire after 12 months and kennel operations must not interfere with neighbours.

Boarding kennels create a greater nuisance potential because of the noise level involved, thereby require tighter controls. They will not be permitted in the Urban General (Hamlet), County Residential and Resort [illegible] Parcel [illegible] will re[illegible] and be determined by the development officers and municipal planning commission.

Private kennels will be permitted in a wider range of areas. Because there are no definite policies on acoustic buffers or their design, difficulties may arise in monitoring private kennels.

Other restrictions included in this by-law deal with offspring of dogs. One would not have to obtain a kennel permit for having more than three dogs if the excess number were puppies under the age of six months. It was also pointed out that a potential kennel owner could not subdivide a parcel from a quarter section or other piece of land strictly for use as a kennel.

Tom Makey, Deputy Fire Commissioner for the Province, came to this meeting to assist council with defining the duties of a County Fire Chief. It was agreed that the Fire Committee would work with Makey's department in setting out the duties of a Chief [illegible] up on August 1st for the purpose of getting together with all the fire departments in the county to get their input as to what they feel a County Fire Chief should be required to do in conjunction with the activities of the existing fire department structures.

Makey said that, in general, the fire picture in rural areas is not good and that his department could take a closer look into the county's fire statistics and identify whether there is need for a preventative type of service or not.

It was agreed that on August 8th, Makey would come to the regular council meeting and give a full presentation on the subject of having a preventative type of fire service in this county along with possible duties of a county chief. There are not a lot of other counties this size with fire service of this type.

He said the County of Beaver would be breaking new ground as far as Alberta was concerned if they decide to go for this type of service.

Tenders for construction of 5.8 km. on the western portion of Secondary road 615 were received and opened in the afternoon. Because there were [illegible] two lowest bids, it was decided that none be accepted at this time to allow for further research.

The meeting was adjourned to July 19th at 1 p.m. at which [illegible].

by [illegible]

Mrs. Elsie Boettger has been a patient in St. Mary's Hospital in Camrose after having a heart attack. She returned home on July 10.

Visitors at Kozacks on July 7 were Mary and Frank Trach, Annie Romanisson, and Mike Cussick, all of Tofield, Larry Kozack, Joe and Rosie Kozack and the Dick Soady family.

Gerry and Colleen Wenger and Graham Yourston were to Wabamun on the weekend of July 7 and 8 where they visited with friends. Graham remained in Wabamun to visit for several days.

Brenda Johnson's nieces, Richelle Guthrie of Cameron, Ont. and Angela Todd of Port Hope, Ont. have been staying with Brian and Brenda Johnson for the past 16 days. On the weekend of July 7 and 8 they all went on a camping trip which included Crimson Lake, Mosquito Creek, Banff and Calgary.

Joe Kozack is a patient in the Tofield Hospital after being injured when a tree he had sawed down fell upon him. Joe's accident occured on July 10.

The store in Kingman has re-opened after being closed for a year. The new proprietors are Charles and Louise Berube, who along with their two sons, Wayne and Calvin, moved from Fort McMurray. The Berube family previously lived in the Spilstead area, then lived in Fort McMurray for a few months. They will be living in the house attached to the store.

Palmer-Earling news

[illegible]

Laughter and happy chatter filled the air at the scene of the fifth Bruce family reunion on June 30 and July 1st at Round Hill. Registration began Saturday morning.

Festivities followed throughout the day with a pot luck supper in the early evening, which was followed by a [illegible]. The music was supplied by family members.

Sunday morning breakfast was served. Numerous pictures were taken of family members.

A Sunday service was held at Trondhjem Church at Round Hill with Rev. Karl Faltin, Edberg, as speaker.

Lunch was then served, which ended a most enjoyable weekend for all. About 120 people were in attendance. It was decided the next reunion would be held in 1987.

Relatives came from Duncan, White Rock, Brisco and Vancouver, B.C., Calgary, Edmonton, Fort Assinaboine, Leduc, Lethbridge, Ponoka, Red Deer, Bawlf, Camrose, Ryley, Holden and Round Hill.

[illegible]

Mrs. Malinda Roth, Camrose, former Palmerite, observed her 86th birthday July 6, when her daughter, Mrs. Bobbie Hare had a party at her house for about 20 ladies.

Malinda received telephone calls from her daughter, Mrs Clara Nelson at Tanzania, Africa, [illegible] and Bernice of California, Vernon Seaborg of Portland, Oregon, and her son [illegible] of Penticton, B.C.

On July 9 the Baptist Church Mission Circle assembled at her house for her birthday. On Tuesday afternoon her brother, Lawrence Hovland and wife, Connie and her sisters were visitors from this area.

Mrs. Sirgna Sizer is a patient at the Extendicare Nursing Home at Viking.

Alice and Edna Aker and Mrs. Amy McClure are on a motor trip, visiting relatives in [illegible].

Allan and Lorraine Hellekson spent a few days vacationing at Pigeon Lake.

Wheat Pool delegates elected

Only four elections are being held for Wheat Pool delegates all across the province, all other posts being filled by acclamation.

Within this region, Wilmer Oberg of Forestburg will represent Sub-district 405, John Pearson of Donalda will sit for 407, while Norman Jacobsen of New Norway will represent 408.

Fourteen elections were required last year, as compared to the four this year.

Elections are held for two year terms, odd-numbered districts electing delegates in even-numbered years, and vice versa.

Grand Forks re-union draws 11 pre-1911 pupils

by [illegible]

Over 150 guests were registered at the Grand Forks School three-day reunion of 1904-1957. The event was held at the Salem Mennonite Church southeast of Tofield just off Highway 834.

On Friday evening registration began and all those present were able to enjoy a wiener roast and sing-song to help old classmates along with their reminiscing.

On Saturday about 125 registered for the brunch held at the church. Afterwards, everyone mingled about looking over some of the articles from days gone by that were brought by various past school students and teachers.

There were old school texts, exercise books, report cards, Sears catalogue, school bags, pencil boxes and also a copy of the original bond that school trustees and treasurer had to sign as a guarantee for the loan taken out to build the original school house. It was interesting to note that in those days in addition to the person signing the bond, his heirs and executors were also held responsible for payment of the loan in case of default.

There were 83 students and 10 teachers present who had been part of the school curriculum from 1904 to 1957. The school was closed in the 1957-58 term. This was one of the last duties that Charlie Sears, as school trustee for the Holden School District (as it was then known) had to perform. Sears is now Mayor of Tofield and was on hand to extend congratulations on behalf of the Town of Tofield as well as saying a few words as a former trustee.

M.L.A. Gordon Stromberg brought greetings from the Alberta Government and the people of the Camrose constituency. He brought up the subject of applying for a grant to make the Grand Forks School an historic site.

Following the program on Saturday, class pictures were taken of all students attending this memorable event.

Former students of the years 1904-1911 were given special honors this day. Those in attendance were Grace Campbell, Emma Johnson, Emil Rude, Clarence Rude, Ida Stauffer, Alice Rude, Gudrun Ness, Hans Benson, Rita Hanson, Myrtle Rude and Inga Johnson.

Students who had attended the last term of 1957-58 were mentioned and acknowledged as well. Present for this occasion were Marian Hostetler, Carl Martin, Marlene Stauffer, Marvin weber, Evonne Boettger, Carol Hostetler, Helen Martin, Gerald Burkholder, Ronald Currie, [illegible] and Thelma [illegible].

These lists were made up by using the ladies' maiden names.

The following former teachers were also in attendance. Gudrun Ness, Betsy Ness, Verba Stutzman, Christine Berquist, Harold Simonson, Grace Bruce, Myrtle Bjornson, Ruth Voegtlin, Olive Stutzman and Anna [illegible].

Saturday evening after supper at the church, a program was held to allow everyone to reminisce and renew old acquaintances.

Sunday morning services were held in charge of former Grand Forks pupils. This three-day affair ended with a pot-luck dinner at noon.

Tofield Lodge news

by [illegible]

Mrs. Grace Lawson and Mrs. Nita Kindley attended the reunion celebration at Grand Forks School last weekend. They had been pupils at that school.

Visiting with Mrs. Vice were her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carlstrom from Calgary.

Residents of the lodge who are in the hospital are Mrs. Young, Mrs. Sirdar, Mrs Greger, Bob Stock and Jack [illegible].

Margaret McClymont accompanied Mrs. Jean Daynes to Pincher Creek, where they visited Mrs. Leona Webb. They also visited with Mrs Joan (Webb) Glen at Lundbreck.

Jim Anderson, a nephew of Mrs. Agnes Anderson, arrived from Hawick, Scotland and has been enjoying a visit with his cousins in Alberta and B.C.

Mrs. Agnes Anderson, accompanied by Mrs. Rusty McNutt, visited at the farm of Mac and Marg Anderson, near Ryley, on Sunday.

Reunion

The Grand Forks School reunion of 1904-1957 attracted a lot of former students, teachers and their guests over the weekend.

Many school articles from the past were on display for everyone to view. MLA Gordon Stromberg is seen here checking out a section of the Round Hill and District History book that deals with the Grand Forks School.

Spilstead

by B. Fisher

For the past week, the Spilstead Cubs and Scouts have been to Camp Woods at Sylvan Lake for their summer camp. Chuck McBurney and Dan Oanda were the Cub leaders and Ben Peister was the Scout leader. Denise McBurney went along with the groups as chief cook.

There were nine Cubs and five Scouts who attended this camp where they did canoeing, swimming, hiking, obstacle course, archery, [illegible]ting and campfires. The boys spent two nights in the cabins on their campsite and three [illegible] in tents. Very lucky for all, they only experienced one night of rain.

The Cubs achieved three badges while at camp. These being [illegible], athletes and physical fitness.

All of the boys and their leaders spent one day at the [illegible] on the beach of Sylvan Lake.

On the trip home, the group stopped at a restaurant in Wetaskiwin to finish off their camping trip.

The best all round Cub and Scout, which was decided on by the boys and the leaders with a vote, received humanitarian awards. These boys were Cub Sheldon Ladouceur and Scout Mark Peister.

The streets are for the people. Exercise your rights. Walk a block a day.

Court report

Dennis Jordon was given one year's probation and a one year licence suspension for driving with over .08 blood alcohol content.

Clayton Maurer was fined $150 for illegal consumption of alcohol in a vehicle.

Wesley Schwab was fined $35 for not wearing a safety helmet while driving a motorcycle.

Trudy Williams was fined $500 and given a six-month licence suspension for driving with over .08 blood alcohol content.

David McGovern pled guilty and was given a nine-month suspended sentence for breaking and entering with intent.

Waylon Keith pled guilty and was given a one-year probation for mischief to public property. He was also fined $100 for driving without due care and attention.

JEROME MANCHUR

Every year, one or two wells are contaminated by back siphoning of agricultural chemical solutions. The following is information provided to us by the Agricultural Engineering Technologist from Vermilion.

Water Well Contamination by Agricultural Chemicals

Every year there seems to be water wells contaminated by agricultural chemicals. There isn't much that we can do about preventing this from happening — or is there?

Generally speaking, the best method of removing chemical spillage from farm wells is to:

1) Begin pumping immediately and continue pumping until all evidence (taste, odor, color) of the chemical has disappeared. By pumping immediately the farmer reduces the amount of diffusion of the chemical out from the well into the aquifier. But remember to put the waste water where it doesn't matter if the vegetation will be killed.

If the well has insufficient yield to allow continuous pumping, the well should be pumped dry, allowed to recover and then pumped dry again. This should be followed until all evidence of the chemical disappears.

2) Contact the local Health Unit, as the Public Health Inspector has to submit a water sample to identify the chemical residue.

There is no need for a farmer to bring in a water sample himself as the container that has to be used for this testing is a specially treated one litre amber bottle. This bottle is only available through the Health Unit.

3) Once the well has been pumped, the remaining traces of chemical can possibly be removed either by hanging a cloth sac of activated carbon in the well for about a week, and/or installing an activated carbon filter in the basement of the house. This would have to be changed in about a week as well.

Alberta Environmental Centre Crops Field Day

On August 2, the Environment Centre in Vegreville will be holding their annual Crops Field Day. The tour starts at 1:30 p.m. at the Centre. Field plots have been established and will be viewed. These plots deal with:

- Control of weeds with newly registered and experimental herbicides;
- Crop tolerance to herbicide carryover;
- Varietal tolerance to herbicides;
- Competition and crop losses due to weeds;
- Seedling blight and sclerotinia in canola and lentils;
- Control of root rot and foliar diseases in cereals;
- Root maggot feeding in canola.

The people at the Centre have put together a very interesting afternoon and it would certainly be worthwhile to attend.

Ministik and district news

by Catherine Roddick

Many from the district attended the wedding on July 6 of Joyce Vandermeer, youngest daughter of John and Truus Vandermeer and Dale Aksenchuk, only son of Dorothy and Walter Aksenchuk of Edmonton in the Ottewell Christian Reformed Church.

Reception followed in H.G. Caterers, and a dance was enjoyed after 9 p.m. by all in attendance.

After opening their many gifts on Saturday, the young couple left for a three-week honeymoon to many parts of California.

Linda and Gerry Theoret returned on Sunday morning from their honeymoon to Hawaii and were Sunday guests of Linda's parents, Pat and Margaret Paterson.

Ann and Murray Miles, John and Jill, were also there to welcome them back.

Jean and George Kleinschroth attended the 25th wedding celebration of George's cousins, Betty and Walter Kozdrowski, in Ryley on Saturday at the home of Walter's parents, John and Jean Kozdrowski. Betty and Walter are relatives of LacLaBiche.

Members of the ladies club met at the home of Vi Roddick, for a cup of tea and a light snack. No meeting was held but the ladies did have a most enjoyable afternoon on Vi's deck out under the lovely shade trees, catching up on current events. Jean Ferguson a patient in Tofield Hospital, was able to be with the ladies, as was Sarah Kleinschroth, who is home for awhile, and Gladys Roddick, who is back from Calgary. There will be no gathering in August but the September meeting of the club will be at Laurie Swabey's home.

Joyce and Baden Bowerman were on vacation in the Brooks area for a week visiting relatives and friends, returning home at the weekend.

Johnny and Pat Dylke and boys spent six days at Creston, B.C. visiting Johnny's parents, Bob and Dorothy Dylke and his brother, Jimmie. They stopped at Sparwood, B.C. as well to visit Pat's brother, Perry and wife Glenis and brought young Nick home with them for a few days.

Jean and George Kleinschroth visited at the home of Ellen and John Dunn of Deville, on Saturday evening, also visiting cousins Peggy and Bob Cook of Toronto, who were guests at the Dunns.

Theresa Rogier joined other members of the Nugget Trailer Club at Duhamel last weekend.

Volunteers are needed to help at the annual Country Fair to be held at Fultonvale Complex. If you would like to help in any way, let Louise Hicks or Eileen Donaldson or Vi Haase of South Cooking Lake know.

by [illegible]

On Friday afternoon Elmer Andersen enjoyed having his sister Helen, her daughter and husband of Edmonton and brother Morley Anderson of Tofield drop in to visit at the Golden Manor.

My apology goes out to Ruby and Pete Hunka for the error made in the write-up of your golden wedding last week. I "did" not put in, that Ellen Lauber and Harold Parsons sang. Ellen Lauber had located the music and words to the song by contacting Harold Parsons, a song that Pete and Ruby liked and Ellen Lauber sang it.

Gary Vergette, Mary McKay and Clara Vergette returned home from a holiday up to Dawson City, Whitehorse, Etc. over the weekend and report they enjoyed the lovely scenery and holiday.

Ruby Hunka's only aunt, Julia Andersen and girls attended their golden wedding tea, also Mike Hunka from Edmonton.

Albert and Gladys Lysle returned back home to Kelowna, B.C. and are now preparing for a trip to Norway, along with their son Greg and wife.

Hazel Patterson, Margaret Helgeland and Mrs. Mary Pawelko are patients in the Tofield Hospital. Mike Pawelko was able to return home after undergoing surgery in an Edmonton Hospital and spent a little time in Tofield Hospital.

Recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Nielsen were friends of theirs from New Sarepta.

We enjoyed Sunday by going out to a birthday party for Stanley Hunka. Everyone enjoyed the barbecue which Ken Bruha and Marilyn Campbell were in charge of, and everyone brought salads, etc.

Bob and Debra Cross and children of St. Albert, Wilfred and Carol Helgeland, Sheila Stenerud and Curtis, Lorraine Helgeland of Camrose, Bud Johnson, Leonard and Violet Helgeland and children, Stanley, Charles and Darlene, Marilyn Campbell and daughters, Rhonda and [illegible] and Ruby and Pete Hunka attended. Before passing around the birthday cake, happy birthday was sung to Stanley.

Darcy, [illegible] left for home to Calgary on Sunday evening after visiting family and other relatives and friends.

Grand Forks held their school reunion last weekend with a nice turnout.

by Mrs. Ellen Eaton

Marg Eaton of Edmonton is spending a few days on the Eaton farm with her parents, Leroy and Shirley Eaton and Ron. Leroy went to Edmonton and brought her down on Sunday evening and Ron came in to Tofield and took his grandmother, Ellen Eaton out to the farm where all enjoyed a brithday supper in honor of Leroy's birthday. Ron and Marg brought Ellen back to Tofield later in the evening.

Nelson and Re-Nai Ferguson and three children of Sherwood Park spent the weekend on the farm with Nelson's mother, Mrs. Mae Ferguson of the Lakeshore District.

On July 5 Alison Gee, one of four young people from New Zealand who are on an agricultural exchange, working on farms in Saskatchewan arrived in Tofield to visit Ethel and Verlyn Moos for a few days. While here they took her to Vegreville to attend the Ukrainian Pysanka festival and other places of interest.

On July 8 her three friends from Saskatchewan arrived by car and she accompanied them on a motor sight-seeing trip to Alaska for a few days before returning to Saskatchewan, to continue their work on the farms before returning to New Zealand in [illegible]

Ethel and Verlyn Moos had spent a few days with Alison's aunt on their farm in New Zealand when they were on their trip to New Zealand. Ethel and Verlyn are former McKenzie-Lakeshore residents.

On July 10, Verlyn and Ethel Moos motored to Calgary to visit Verlyn's daughter, Marilyn Langille and family, also visiting there were cousins from Portland, Oregan and all went to the Calgary Stampede on Wednesday. The folks from Portland left early Thursday morning with Ethel and Verlyn returning home Thuraday evening

Tooth party

These four year olds had a fluoride treatment done on their teeth at a "tooth party" held at the United Church in Tofield last Wednesday afternoon. Vegreville Health Unit dental hygienists were on hand to instruct the parents on proper tooth care and prevention of tooth decay. photo by Joan Murray

Tooth party held for four year olds

by Joan Murray

Last week on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, the Vegreville Health Unit sponsored a tooth party for four-year-olds, in the basement of the Tofield United Church.

The program was carried out by dental hygienists Jane Farrow and Sandy Tillotson who were assisted by intra-oral dental assistant, [illegible] Cholak and Karen Zwarich, a STEP student from Vegreville.

The children's teeth were examined and given a fluoride treatment. The parents learned how to brush and floss and how to care for their children's teeth.

The hygienists also gave them information regarding tooth development and told of the benefits of using sealants on the teeth to prevent decay.

Between the Covers

Summer programs are in full swing at the library now. Have you checked out the fun lately?

There are free children's films every Friday and Saturday at 2:30 p.m., watch for posters advertising the titles each week, or pick up a brochure at the Library.

If you attend playground, you will hear stories several times a week. A new read-aloud program is beginning on Tuesday, July 24 for kids in Grade 1 or older. Come to the library every day at 4 p.m. for the Chapter-A-Day Club from July 24 through 27. There is no admission charge or library card necessary.

We are planning two puppetry workshops for kids age 7 or older; one on Tuesday, Aug. 7, and a second session on Wednesday, Aug. 8. There is limited space in this program, so come in soon to pick up your registration forms.

Each week a new paper craft is made available for you to experiment with, in the Library Craft Corner. Did you try Origami? Or Cartoons? This week, try your hand at making Paper Monsters.

And held over for yet another adventurous week, is the Summer Reading Club, Readers of the Lost Ark. Come in and ask Monica about any of the above programs, or call [illegible].

The summer hours will remain in effect until September 1: Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday 10-5 and Thursday 2-9.

Lend a hand to clean our land!

Hundreds flock to opening of Tofield Auto

by Joan Murray

The Grand Opening of Tofield Automotive on Saturday was very successful. The sixty hats that were given away had been distributed by mid-morning and customers came in fairly steadily all day long. The winner of the $75 worth of silver dollars was Conrad Patterson of Tofield.

Manager Brian Goertzen lives on an acreage a few miles east of Tofield with his wife Elaine and their three pre-school age daughters, Erin, Amy and Kerry.

Goertzen's qualifications include a complete air conditioning course taken in Edmonton which supplements his Provincial Inter-provincial [illegible]. He won an award in his fourth year of mechanic's training for having the highest marks in Alberta. For this achievement he received a plaque and cash prize of [illegible].

He worked at [illegible] in Tofield for five and one-half years before taking over the management of Tofield Automotive. Many improvements have been made on the building including painting and minor repairs as well as gravelling the area behind this establishment to make more room for customer parking.

He said that he and his assistant, Garrett Bron, are intent on giving high quality service work to their customers at all times.

Hot days and cool treats — what more would a youngster want out of summer!

Cool treats are easy to make with ingredients you already have — rather than buying the sweeter ready-made one. Try some of these this summer.

Raspberry Drink

Blend 1 cup of milk, ½ cup raspberry sherbert and one ripe banana. (I find frozen raspberries work just as well).

Frosty Apple

Blend equal amounts of milk, applesauce and vanilla ice cream; add a pinch of cinnamon.

Great Grape

Blend 1 cup milk, 1 cup ice cream and ½ cup grape concentrate.

Apricot Fizz

Blend equal parts of milk, apricot nectar and vanilla ice cream. Half fill the glass and top with gingerale.

Frozen goodies, especially on a stick, are always popular in hot weather. Kids can make many kinds themselves using all sorts of wholesome ingredients.

Banana Pops

Peel and cut fresh ripe bananas into halves or thirds. Insert wooden sticks, wrap in plastic and freeze. Eat plain or dip in honey or peanut butter, roll in chopped nuts, coconut, toasted wheat germ or crushed cereal.

Fruit Yogurt Pops

Mix one small container of yogurt with 1½ cups mashed fruit (bananas, strawberries, raspberries, blueberries, peaches) and two tablespoons of sugar or honey. Freeze in small paper cups with wooden sticks or plastic spoons stuck in the centre. To eat, peel the paper off.

"Readers of the Lost Ark" draws youths to library

by Joan Murray

Twenty-one-year-old Monica Taylor is the "keeper of the ark" for the "Readers of the Lost Ark" Club that is now going on at the Tofield Library. It will continue every day the Library is open until the end of August.

There are 44 adventurers in the club so far but the numbers are growing steadily. Taylor attributes this growth to members enjoying the game that is part of the [illegible] when they return to play again they often bring a friend.

The game is played any day the library is open and entails the rolling of a paper die to indicate where the player must move to next. Each square [illegible]ly and the player must then choose a slip of paper in the color group indicated. This paper directs them to which books must be chosen and read to acquire points to win the game.

This activity encourages children to read a wide variety of books, some of which they might not otherwise be introduced to. Taylor says this is especially good for those starting to read as it instills an early interest in a variety of subjects such as gardening, archeology, cooking and adventure.

Those wishing to be part of the club do not need a library card but having one allows them to take the books home to read at their leisure.

The plan is to have prizes for the winners but all members will be awarded with a wind-up party on August 29.

Registration for this free program can take place at anytime the Library is open and all interested children of school age are eligible to join. The interest level ranges from six to twelve years of age.

The Library staff will be co-operating with Parks and Recreation in their playground programs with story sessions for each age group at the Lions Park on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday mornings and Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons, if the weather is suitable.

No registration or fee is required for this program.

The summer Library hours, in effect until September 1st, are Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday 10-5 and Thursday 3-9.

New adventures

Last Wednesday, "Readers of the Lost Ark" club members took an avid interest in the game board that is part of their activities at the Tofield Library. Monica Taylor is in charge of the club and is seen here explaining the rules of the game to new adventurers.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. S.S. Taylor

Mae and Bruce Budd were recent visitors with Mrs. Beth Campbell resident at the Extendicare Nursing Home in Leduc and also called on Marjorie and Ken Campbell.

Mrs. Sirgina Stser who has been a patient in St. Mary's Hospital, Camrose, recovering from a broken hip for some weeks, has been transferred to the Extendicare Nursing Home in Viking and is a resident there.

Mrs. Frances Hanson, who has been a patient in Viking Hospital for over the past week, returned home Saturday afternoon.

A meeting of the Holden Homecoming Committee is to be held July 19 in the Holden Senior Citizens Drop-in Centre for discussing final plans and arrangements for the Homecoming, August 4-6. Anyone interested in attending the meeting is welcome to attend.

Mr. MacKenzie, who has been manager of Holden Royal Bank for the past four or five years, has been transferred to the Grande Prairie branch. He and Mrs. MacKenzie and children left for there last Friday afternoon.

Ken and Donna (nee Shoreyko) Zowtuk have been receiving congratulations on the birth of their daughter, Candice Lee, born July 2, 1984 and weighing seven pounds, six ounces, a sister for Nicole. Grandparents are Mr. Fred Shoreyko of Edmonton and Mr. Bill Zowtuk of Holden.

Mr. Sherman Forre of Camrose passed away on July 11 at the General Hospital in Edmonton, at the age of 71 years. He is survived by one brother, Towler of Holden; two sisters, Mrs. Joe (Emma) Knudson of Ryley; Mrs. Mabel Moedahl of Camrose; two sisters-in-law, Mrs. Clare Forre and Mrs. Anna Forre, both of Camrose, numerous nieces and nephews and friends.

The funeral service was held July 14 at 2 p.m. from the Burgar Memorial Chapel with Rev. Ingibergsson officiating and interment was in the Stoneman Lutheran Church Cemetery.

Mr. Sherman Forre was a resident in Holden for a number of years when he was the accountant at the Holden Royal Bank and was raised in the Earling District south of Holden.

The Holden LCW held their regular monthly meeting July 12 with president Mrs. Ethel Brekstad taking charge of the Bible study. A business meeting followed with regular business being attended to and correspondence read. A donation was made to the Sunday School Bible Camp at Hastings Lake, Mrs. Vernice Grosland reading the worship meditation. A card was signed by all to send to Mrs. Agnes Phillips, who is now a patient in Tofield Hospital. At the conclusion of the meeting, lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Vernice Grosland.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Grosland have returned home. Lyle was visiting with his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Emery Grosland in Ontario, who was recovering from a heart attack. Vernice was visiting with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Chetney in Edmonton.

[illegible] was in Edson on July 10 and 11 attending the B.C. and Alberta [illegible] convention, a delegate from the LCW [illegible] Lutheran Church at Bruce with 68 delegates attending and 127 guests taking in the convention.

On July 12 the Holden R.C. Legion and Ladies Auxiliary held a joint meeting to discuss and make plans for the part they will take during the Holden Homecoming August 4-6. It was decided to make an entry in the Homecoming Parade to be held on Heritage Day, August 6. Other plans were also discussed pertaining to the three-day affair.

Mr. Peter N. Puk of Vegreville, formerly of Holden, passed away on June 30 at the age of 72 years. He is survived by his wife, Annie of Vegreville; his mother, Mrs. Annie Puk of Holden; three sons, Erwy of Edmonton, Raymond and Gordon of Holden; one daughter, Mrs. David (Rosemarie) of St. Albert; eight grandchildren; four brothers, John, Harry and Metro all of Holden and Bill of Camrose; four sisters, Mrs. Nick (Clara) Bilyk, Mrs. James (Minnie) Tymchak of Holden and Mrs. Peter (Mary) Owchar of Camrose and Mrs. John (Olga) Osadchuk of Vegreville. He was predeceased by his father, Nick in 1967; two brothers, Alex in 1966 and Paul in 1967.

Prayer service was held on July 3 at the Holy Trinity Ukrainian Catholic Church in Vegreville and the funeral service was held on July 4 at St. John the Baptist Ukrainian Catholic Church in Borschiw with the Basilian Fathers officiating at the ceremony and interment was in the church cemetery.

Alan and his wife, Bobbi-Jo Tiedemann of Edmonton were visitors last week with their family, Helen and Jim Zwierschke, last week.

Mrs. Gara and Mrs. Allan Warwa drove to Viking one day during the past week with Mr. Clare Anderson visiting with Mrs. Hanson while in Viking Hospital and with Mrs. Warwa's mother, Mrs. Mary Chomic, who was also a patient in Viking Hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

FERGUSON— In memory of Howard who passed away July 31 1982

You memory is like the heart of a rose
The older it gets the sweeter it grows
Deep in our hearts is the love of the past
For there it was planted forever to last
Parting comes and hearts are broken
Loved ones go with words unspoken
Death leaves a heartache no one can [illegible]
Memories are treasures no one can steal
Life goes on we know that's true
But it's not the same since we lost you
You lived your life for those you loved
And those you love remember
Loving wife Mae and family 46p 7345

Market plans salute

by Michelle Spencer

The Farmers Market will be saluting the Tofield Agricultural Society on Aug 17 with a floral arranging competition in the Community Hall.

The competition is divided into four categories: the basket of flowers section, the flower arrangement of one color; tea cup; and kids 14-years-old and under can submit any design, which will be judged and awarded prizes.

Currently, 19 tables have been booked for this market, and anyone interested in reserving space for a display is encouraged to contact either Yvonne Brown at 662-3651, or Yhone Jones at 662-2192.

In addition, the Farmers Market is offering another browsing bonanza on Aug. 31, as the dates were rearranged due to the Tofield Fair.

July's market saluted the Hospital Auxiliary and Tofield Fire Department, as both organizations displayed tray favors, Heritage Days souvenir spoons and mugs and rescue equipment, respectively.

The firemen dropped two smoke detectors and a fire extinguisher as door prizes.

The 16 tables displayed a wide variety of baking, handicrafts, dried floral arrangements, garden produce, and more.

Grabbing a lot of attention was District Home Economist Maureen Baumen's jam and jelly making display, sort of a special glimpse before the seminar to be held in the Senior Citizens Drop-in Centre this coming Friday

MCC sale earns $85,000

by Michelle Spencer

An estimated $85,000 was raised at the Mennonite Central Committee Relief Sale on Saturday in the Tofield Arena, with approximately 3,000 people in attendance.

Over 900 early risers were greeted by Garnet Burnstad and a crew of 16 MCC members, who prepared the pancake and sausage breakfast.

The long line-up for hotcakes, and a 18-minute power failure delayed the fficial opening by about 30 minutes.

With the MCC motto "Service in the name of Christ", Rev. Carl Hansen of the Salem Mennonite Church gave the devotion.

Vice-chairman and master of ceremonies, Henry Nachtigal, then introduced the invited dignitaries.

With all the proceeds of the sale going towards relief and development overseas, Dave Hiebert thanked the committee members, and gave a brief overview of what MCC really stands for. "It gives me a great deal of pleasure to welcome you to the First Northern Alberta MCC sale," said Hiebert.

Mayor Charlie Sears conveyed greetings, as well as Walter Paszkowski, MLA who insisted to make his message brief. Buck said, "I'll be short because Gordon Stromberg and I don't have to be re-elected for two years"

Gordon Stromberg MLA for Camrose, spoke on behalf of Premier Lougheed who couldn't attend the opening, as Lougheed was in Calgary.

Vegreville MP Don Mazankowski praised this "wonderful and worth while cause", adding that he was honored to be serving the Town of Tofield.

Crowfoot MP Arnold Malone commended the MCC for their work for the poor, malnourished, and dying of the world, suffering as, "Last night, 40,000 children died of starvation."

Chairman Ed Regehr thanked the Salem, General and Gospel Mennonite churches of the community for all of their support.

At 9:30 a.m. auctioneer Dwayne Sitler of Camrose declared the sale officially open, with the highest selling item of the day a quilt, going for $775. Quite a few of the sale items were bought and donated back again to be auctioned.

Treasurer Dave Wilde said in a telephone interview Monday that "By all standards (the sale), was considered very successful."

Wilde said that the official results of the amount of money raised would be available in a couple of weeks as some of the arts and crafts were still being sold in homes, considering as well as some expenses.

In addition the committee will be making application to the provincial and federal governments to match the amount raised dollar for dollar.

The Open House held on Friday was well attended by the public.

"It's a marvelous thing," said Mary Stinson. Johanna Dick of Coaldale added that, "The sale is very well organized for your first one."

Over 100 Mennonite churches were represented at the sale, and it is possible that in four years that Tofield could host another relief sale, as locations alternate annually between northern and southern Alberta.

Previously for five years, Coaldale had hosted the MCC sale.

Roofing not included!

. . . on transfer stations

"As far as I'm concerned I've been led down the garden path," said an astounded Ed Regehr of Tofield, committee member at the Beaver Regional Waste Management Authority meeting last Tuesday in Ryley.

Committee members were under the "impression" that the six proposed transfer stations at Viking, Bruce, Kinsella, Lindbrook, Holden and Tofield would have roofing. All in part considering the aesthetic value of the site, and weather conditions of rain, snow and wind in relation to hauling the refuse.

A motion was made and carried requesting a review of the transfer sites with the idea of enclosed facilities. No decision will be made by the committee concerning roofing cost estimates until detailed drawings are submitted.

Development permits have been issued for Bruce and Holden, now awaiting a 14-day appeal process before any construction can begin.

The location of the Viking transfer station site in the northeast corner of 31-47-12 was approved, and application for a development permit, has been made. Tofield also has made application for a development permit.

The Department of Health hasn't formerly approved any of the transfer sites. The transfer site locations at Kinsella and Lindbrook are undecided upon at this time.

Since the last financial statement, the capital grant of $462,000 from the Alberta Government has been received, but no money has been allocated towards capital expenditures

The closing date for tenders for fencing, the crawler loader and scales will be August 8, with evaluation and awarding to contractors on August 14. Estimates of the size and capability of a Bobcat are to be ready for the next meeting to be held July 31.

Engineer Dave King has accepted another job offer and will be handing over the reins to associate Rick Prentice, possibly by August 15. "We feel confident that Mr. Prentice will do a suitable job," commented vice-chairman Vic Isaac.

Bruce Stampede set

Sunday will be a big day in Bruce.

The community will be holding its 70th annual Stampede and huge crowds are expected for the day-long event.

Actually this year's event has been expanded as an amateur rodeo has been scheduled for Saturday afternoon and will be followed in the evening by pony chuckwagon and chariot races.

A dance has been scheduled and after it gets dark, there will be a fireworks display.

At midnight in the Recreation Centre, the 1983 Stampede Queen, Leann Kraus will crown her successor.

There are three candidates seeking this year's crown and they include Trudy Erickson, Linda Grinde and Sandi Krupiennicki.

Sunday will commence with a pancake breakfast and a giant parade has been slated to start at 11 a.m.

The professional rodeo commences at one o'clock and later in the afternoon, a barbecue will be served.

Also during the afternoon will be a horseshoe competition along with a midway and concession booths will be operational.

The annual event is hosted by the Bruce Stampede Association which was organized in 1915 and is operating this year under the chairmanship of Paul Malowany.

Entertainment set

The world's cast that the best place to be on Aug. 4 is the Tofield Arena, for Heritage Days.

The lowdown is that you'll have just a great toe-tapping time, because of the irresistible lineup of performers that the entertainment committee of Bev Cargill and Evelyne Stauffer of the Hospital Auxiliary have arranged for the occasion.

Starting at 1 p.m. horse and buggy rides will be available for the sightseers by Homer Schmidt and Phillip Anderson.

The entertainment program gets underway at 3 p.m., with a hat show, followed by Gordon Kyle on his famed Scottish Bagpipes.

The Tofield Dancing School will be presenting two numbers for the crowd, an Irish Jig and a ballet selection

Next on the agenda will be the Old-Time Fiddle Music and Guitar Company

Spotlighted at 4:30 p.m. will be a 12-member Filipino dancing group from Red Deer.

For those who might miss the hat show at 3 p.m., it will be run again at 5 p.m.

At approximately 5:15 p.m. Tasha Sherbanuik and Lana Boychuk of Camrose will be performing a Ukrainian dance.

Finally, the Old Time Fiddle Music and Guitar Company will close the entertainment festivities at 6 p.m.

Council meets

Tofield Town Council passed a motion on Monday to outline a plan for development of parkland, from owner Schlender

Council is faced with alternatives as to location of the site, in adopting a major arterial plan

Decisions will have to be made in the near future to determine the exact location, general configuration of the conditures and where the major roadways are to be situated.

Ryley has applied for a development permit for a hazardous waste disposal plant, awaiting a reply from the Alberta Government.

Tabled for a month was discussion pertaining to the business licence bylaw

Much of the business passed at the meeting were reports that were received and filed.

Councillor Lampett moved to have the public meeting concerning economic development at Beaverhill Lake on July 25 and all members were in agreement.

Sense of humor

Are we trying to take ourselves too seriously?

Have we lost a major portion of our sense of humor?

Can't we laugh at ourselves anymore?

The affair a few days ago when Edmonton's Norm Kimball forced CTV to apologize for a "racist" slur introduced into one of their football promotion series is surely enough to make one wonder. One of the posters in the background offered a warm "Welcome to Edmonchuk". Kimball protested it as a racial slur, and after lengthy argument received from CTV, the sign painter involved and others, an apology.

What, in heaven's name, for?

Kimball would be dead without publicity, but forcing the media to apologize for something as innocent as this is zombieism, in the very most charitable sense. In a less charitable sense, it's arrant stupidity.

Who hasn't enjoyed the stories about Pat and Mike? There was an Irishman, an Englishman and a Scotsman? There was this priest and this rabbi? Or the Poles, the Newfies, the Ukrainians, the Russians, the Chinese, or what have you? Have you ever heard Norwegians tell jokes, replete with accent, about the Norwegians? Or the Jews tell stories about other Jews? Who among us felt racial slur, who among us felt discrimination, who among us experienced revulsion even as our own church, our own national background, our own political party, came under the spotlight of humor? And who among us felt moved to seek injunctions, to challenge traditions, to invoke Human Rights?

It's devoutly to be hoped we stand on guard, O Canada, for thee! It's equally to be hoped we stand on guard against taking ourselves too seriously, against taking offence where none was meant, against losing our sense of humor and our sense of proportion.

Edmonton is noted as being one of the major Ukrainian centres in the West, though it is Vegreville which features the pysanka, it is Dauphin which features the annual Ukrainian Days. Surely it's hardly a crime to focus, ever so briefly, attention on a community which has acknowledged Hawrelak, Decore Diachuk, Pidruchney, Yurko. Chichak, Yaremchuk, Sereda, Kinisky, Bracco, Moshansky, Koziak, to name just a few. Edmontonians proudly accept the contribution Ukrainians have made to their heritage. Why can't Kimball? Why can't the rest of us laugh at ourselves? Have we grown into stuffed shirts? Have we so little respect for ourselves and our traditions that we feel assailed any time anyone takes the slightest liberty in reference to us? If so, God help our future as a nation, our future as a people, our future as families and our future as individuals.

There can be few so poor as those of us unable to accept the jibes, the taunts, the sarcasm, the laughter of those who differ from us by nationality, by tongue, by religion, by custom, by color, by whatever. Could the truth be known, they're simply attempting to bolster their own (weak) position at our expense, because they, too, feel insecure.

It's tragic that Norm Kimball should demand . . . and should be able to achieve . . . an apology for such an innocuous matter.

We grew up with the philosophy of a Scot (than whom there surely can be no more ethnic jokes) asked if he did not object to all the suggestions of parsimony, of thrift, of tightness, or bluntly, of cheapness for his nation, who replied, "But mon, it's such gr-r-and FREE advertising."

We believe it's the same in Edmonchuk. Norm Kimball notwithstanding.

Have we so little fibre, so little pride in our roots that we must constantly keep one eye over our shoulder backwards lest we endure, even unwittingly, some fancied slight?

Kimball has done us all a double injury. First by visualizing some sort of fancied hurt. Second, by persisting with his protest to the point of gaining an apology.

Does anyone remember the "little Audrey" jokes? Does anyone think less of Audrey today? Does anyone hate, or repudiate, or disparage, or demean, or belittle, or scoff at Little Audrey? Even the toddlers know that "sticks and stones can break my bones, but names can never hurt me."

Beware of farmer's lung

Have you heard of farmer's lung?

Do you know what it is and how you can avoid it?

Farmer's lung is a respiratory disease that is caused by a person breathing millions of tiny mold spores or fine grain dust particles into his lungs. Anybody who has worked with moldy hay or grain dust for many years without having taken precautions could be well on his way to contracting farmer's lung. A person who has this condition will cough and bring up mucus every time he is exposed to moldy hay or grain dust for even a few hours. Fever, periodic chills and shortness of breath are other typical symptoms. In severe cases of farmer's lung, it is not unusual to have tightness and pain in the chest. There are medications that will help to ease chest pains, but they will not cure the condition.

Many people who have the above symptoms think they have chronic bronchitis, emphysema or even lung cancer, but in actual fact they have become allergic to mold spores and/or grain dust. They will always be prone to the condition, which often eventually prevents it victims from doing hard work and may even kill them.

However, it is important to remember that it is not the hay that causes the problem; it is the mold or fungus spores on the hay that causes it. And it is important to remember that the problem will be inten- [illegible] in a poorly ventilated area. A person who suffers from farmer's lung will notice that he is especially bad in the winter when feeding is usually [illegible] in an enclosed area, and [illegible] hay mold is particularly prevalent.

How can farmer's lung be avoided? According to Phil Dixon, district agriculturist at Rocky Mountain House, there are inexpensive masks on the market which will greatly reduce a farmer's chances of getting this condition. Mr. Dixon was told by a member of the Safety Supply Canada Company in Red Deer that Model 8500 and Model 8710 are highly recommended for preventing exposure to mold spores and fine grain dust particles. Model 8500 is called a "Non-Toxic Particle Mask" and comes in boxes of 50 which cost $23, while Model 8710 is called a "Toxic Particle Mask" and comes in boxes of 20 which cost $33. A good farm supply outlet should have, or be able to get, these masks.

Mr. Dixon points out that particle masks must not be confused with masks that protect people against poisonous gasses or masks that are designed to protect them against oxygen deficiency. He stresses that the different types are not interchangeable.

And remember that a person who comes into contact with moldy hay and/or fine grain dust on a regular basis must wear a particle mask if he wants to avoid eventually contracting farmer's lung.

Medically Speaking

by [illegible]

The temporal bone surrounds the ear. The mandible is the lower jaw, each half of which extends from the front of the ear to the chin. The spot where they meet is the temporomandibular joint, a jawbreaking term that, for simplicity, is usually shorted to TMJ.

The joint is a complex one. It is a sliding hinge which allows us to open and close our mouths like a door but also allows us to jut our chins forward. The TMJ contains a cartilage which has a function similar to the ones found in the knee joint.

The TMJ is a bit of a no-man's land. Its problems and diseases may be treated by physicians or dentists and sometimes there are differences in opinion regarding appropriate therapy.

Minor problems with the joint can be well managed by general physicians and general dentists. Both groups will have received the necessary training.

Oral surgeons, most of whom have been trained primarily in dentistry, share the treatment of the difficult problems with maxillo-facial surgeons whose training has been in the ear, nose and throat field. In addition, plastic or reconstructive surgeons are interested in the TMJ.

What can go wrong with this small joint that can keep so many doctors busy? The problems are usually due to disease, faulty development, [illegible]

Commonest, perhaps, is dislocation of the jaw. The hinge joint on one or both sides may get stuck in the open position as the result of a blow, an exuberant yawn, or a wide-mouthed bite of an apple. Some people can dislocate their jaws almost at will. Reduction of the dislocation is generally quite easy.

Disease in the TMJ is usually some form of arthritis. Nearby muscles often go into spasm as they try to splint the inflamed joint, and the condition can be disabling due to [illegible]

Developmental abnormalities in the anatomy of the region often cause problems. A poor "bite", or malocclusion of the teeth is felt to be a common cause of TMJ pain, and several dental procedures have been developed in an attempt to correct things.

The temporomandibular joints are small but they can cause significant problems. Your general practitioner or your dentist can help you, or can direct you to someone who can.

Crops are improving

A combination of warm weather and rainfall has resulted in improved crop conditions over the past few weeks, according to reports received from the Alberta [illegible]

Farmers in the Camrose, Holden and [illegible] are reporting that their crops are in a normal condition for this time of year.

Barley and canola in the New Norway area are slightly below normal, but all other crops are said to be in mint condition.

All crops around the Hay Lakes area are about five percent below a normal state with most other areas reporting crops to be between five and ten percent below normal and for some, that is a major improvement that has taken place.

All crops have completed the emerging stage and most are just about completed the heading out (blooming in canola) stage and in some regions, the ripening phase has gotten underway.

Moisture conditions in the soil in the Hay Lakes and Tofield areas are described as very good while the Holden region is said to be poor and all other areas are classified [illegible]

Farmers in the New Norway area indicate that they are the only ones whose crops suffered a bit of a setback in the past week due to poor [illegible].

The Big 4-0

I can hardly wait for tomorrow to arrive. That's when my life is going to begin. At least that is what I hear. Life Begins At 40. And I don't think they mean 40 pounds, 40 kmh or 40 dollars.

I know — it's hard to believe that I am that old, isn't it? But it's true. As much as I'd like to be 39 again, I can't — two of my sisters are holding there already.

This tale that says life begins at 40 was started, I believe, on the premise that by then a parent would have no children still at home and therefore she would be free to pursue whatever she desired, provided it was not illegal, impractical or grounds for [illegible]. If this is so then I have missed out. My children will be home for another four [illegible] at the least and at the most, another 23 years if the oldest one holds to his threat about not leaving home until he is thirty-seven. Even is he reneges, this nest will not be empty until 1991 so perhaps my life isn't going to begin until I'm 47. Oh well, I'm seldom on time anyway.

Regardless of this, my life will change tomorrow. I'm polishing my runners in anticipation. I may even buy some roller skates. Everyone tells me that once you hit the big 4-0, it's all downhill.

I do have a question though. If my life is just beginning in the morning, what the heck have I been doing for the past four decades [illegible] Practising? And what's [illegible] living anyhow [illegible] question [illegible] ble. If [illegible] money entails [illegible] ing or needs [illegible] then no I haven't [illegible] it. But I have [illegible] means having fun and enjoying being who and where I am, then yes I have done a bit. But I haven't done enough.

Like most people I have frittered away some of the time I've been granted on earth, in this life. There are things I wish I could have accomplished [illegible] and many [illegible] hope to do.

As far as that goes, what's [illegible] my mother [illegible] my age [illegible] know how to act [illegible] the time I feel [illegible] the rest of the time [illegible] Isn't [illegible] about be- [illegible] I should keep everyone guessing for awhile.

Mishap

This truck was involved in a minor mishap on Highway 14 about a mile east of Tofield last Wednesday. It had flipped on its side causing a large dint in the box, but no one was hurt. The tire seen heard in Tofield that day was a result of this incident. The pavement had to be washed down to remove a small amount of debris, as the tire truck was used photo by Joan Murray

Birds are plentiful

by Wanda Spencer

"Beaverhill Lake is the most popular bird watching area in the province," commented developer Bill Scott, as an application for a Federal Government grant was being drawn up last Thursday.

In a telephone interview, Scott said that the main goal of the development would be, "to attract tourism to a natural resource."

The idea is to sufficiently supply an observation, campground and picnic area, with washroom facilities, to accommodate the flock of tourists to Beaverhill Lake.

Scott pointed out that the economically feasible project would employ from between 10 to 15 Tofield area residents, who would serve as guides conducting tours and maintaining the grounds.

Working in conjunction with the John Janzen Nature Centre of Edmonton, Scott said to expect to have approval no later than the end of August."

The business community and residents of Tofield will have the opportunity on July 25 to voice their opinions and concerns at the town council meeting.

The proposed site for this campground and tourist facility will be between Tofield and [illegible]

Scott estimated that "there are between 180 to 200 different varieties of birds", and "in winter, it is great for snowy owls at Beaverhill Lake."

Ministik and district news

by Catherine Redden

Michelle Johnston of Airdrie is spending some of her summer holiday with her grandparents, Ron and Laurie Busbey

Darla Davenport returned home on Thursday evening after spending six days at camp at Cold Lake

Hail very rarely strikes in Ministik, but in a fresh storm last Thursday afternoon, several in the northwest cor- ner of the district got 100%, some 20% and others a small percentage.

Trevor Dyke, who spent a week in Creston, B.C. with his grandparents, Bob and Dorothy Dyke, returned home on Saturday by bus, his parents meeting him at the depot in Edmonton

Barbara Vandermeer is slowly recovering from a bout with pneumonia.

Many men from the area attended the auction sale in Fultonvale of the Donaldson brothers on Saturday.

Bonnie Barbara and Heather Ferguson returned home last week from a vacation partly in B.C. then the rest in the Lovran and Leotach areas of Saskatchewan.

Recent guests of John and Truus Vandermeer were John's mother, Johanna Vandermeer, sister Nellie and brother-in-law Pete Boersma of The Hague, Holland. They attended the wedding, while here, of Joyce Vandermeer and Dale Absenctuet on July 6.

Mary and Angela Taylor, who have resided in the same house on the Joe Davenport farm for the last seven years, are leaving to make their home in Edmonton.

Farmer fuel forms needn't be renewed

"Declaration of Alberta Farmer" forms, required under the Alberta Farm Fuel Distribution Allowance Program, need not be renewed this year, says provincial treasurer Lou Hyndman

Although the current form indicates an expiry date of December 31, 1984, Mr. Hyndman said the deadline has been extended to the end of 1985.

The purpose of the forms, which farmers must file with their bulk agents to qualify for reduced prices on marked farm fuel, is to ensure that qualified farmers benefit from the $75 million program which reduces the cost of fuel to Alberta Farmers by 7 cents on every litre

No other province has such a program.

"Other means can be used to check eligibility and information is reasonably current this year so we can avoid adding to the paperwork of farmers and bulk agents by asking them to renew their declarations," Mr. Hyndman [illegible].

Lucy Anderson and children are back from a holiday in Ontario.

Lorne Anderson's, Henry Podruzny's of Camrose and Signar Helgeland were recent visitors with the E. Anderson[illegible]

Mrs. Dorothy Katchur and son have moved to Edmonton

Ted Gjerde was born in Bardo, on Oct. 6, 1908 and passed away on July 18, at the age of 75 years. At six months of age Ted's mother passed away and he was taken in by the Nils Solberg family who raised him as one of their own. Ted worked on several farms and for Eli and Noah Solberg in the Ryley area.

In 1940, Ted married Edna Moen and they had two children. He leaves to mourn his wife, Edna; one son, Grand; one daughter, Ethel Orr; one sister, Marie Plumb of Bellingham, Washington; one step-sister, Inga Kubbernus of Wetaskiwin; one half-sister, Ragna Eikenes of Nordfjordiel, Norway; foster sisters, Ella Skiles and Elma Tomlinson of Irma; plus several nieces, nephews, cousins; one aunt Julia Anderson of Ryley; and one uncle, Albert Lytle of Kelowna, B.C.

He was predeceased by one brother, Robert in 1979

Officiating was Rev. Jim Roberts and interment was in Ryley Cemetery

Honorary pallbearers were Bob Nicholls, Harold Shults, Gene Swaren, Hugh Tomlinson, Clifford Holt and Donald Erickson. Active pallbearers were Ken Hillerud, Errol Moen, Jim Davick, Brian Moen, and Bill and Gordon Kirkeland.

Burgar Funeral Home Camrose Ltd. was in charge of arrangements.

Ella Skiles and Elma Tomlinson of Irma and Edith Solberg of Camrose attended the service in Ryley for Ted Solberg, on Saturday.

Cholesterol not all bad; your body must have it

The role of diet in heart disease has been so overplayed, other risk factors aren't receiving the attention they deserve, says nutrition research scientist Zak Sabry.

Dr. Sabry works with Agriculture Canada's Food Research Institute in Ottawa.

According to Dr. Sabry, lowering the amount of [illegible] consumes in their diet is not enough to lower the amount of [illegible].

"The liver produces most of the cholesterol which enters the blood stream," Dr. Sabry says. "Too much fat and saturated fat in one's diet, carrying too much body weight, high blood pressure, emotional stress and genetic makeup may force the liver to over-produce cholesterol."

"It must be remembered that cholesterol does play a vital role in many body functions," says Dr. Sabry. "Cholesterol regulates the flow of nutrients into body cells. The trouble begins when the liver is producing more cholesterol than the body can dispose of," he says.

Dr. Sabry says people should not think they can eliminate the risk of heart attacks just by avoiding those foods which contain [illegible].

"If people choose to eliminate dairy products, eggs and meat, they risk seriously unbalancing their diet," Dr. Sabry says.

Dr. Sabry points out that most people receive most of their calcium from dairy products. If they cut out those [illegible] problems caused by a lack of calcium. The Canada Food Guide has stood the test of time. It still offers the best and simplest advice on our eating [illegible].

It recommends minimum daily food quantities which [illegible] bodies need to stay healthy. That simple advice is all most [illegible] tially reduce the risk of heart disease, Dr. Sabry says. Cleaning out pesticide containers saves money

Alberta Agriculture is encouraging farmers to clean out their pesticide containers before they take them to a pesticide container disposal site.

According to Dr. Moe Hussain, pesticide issues coordinator with Alberta Agriculture, there are two main ways of cleaning out pesticide containers. One is to fill each container as soon as it has been emptied about a third full of water, swish the water around and then empty it into the spraying tank.

The other method entails puncturing a hole in the bottom of the container, while it is inserted into the spraying tank, with a device called a Jet Rinse that is attached to a water hose. The water which flows through the Jet Rinse into the container will wash any residual chemical out into the spraying tank.

Dr. Hussain points out that farmers who rinse out their pesticide containers before disposing of them can realize an extra $5 per container by recovering a substantial amount of chemical that would otherwise have been thrown away.

The Jet Rinse can be purchased from many farm supply and equipment dealers in Alberta.

Further information on the Jet Rinse and on pesticide container disposal sites in the province can be obtained from district agriculturists and agricultural fieldmen.

Tofield Lodge Notes

Last week, Lodge members welcomed three new residents, Mrs. Roddick from Minstik, and Mr. and Mrs. Kasprick from Holden.

Mr. and Mrs. Laderoute had special visitors last week. Their granddaughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Mead of Vancouver, who brought another granddaughter, Mrs. Lena Gordon to visit them. Mrs. Gordon is from Belize, Honduras, where currently she is the Canadian Consul. Prior to Lena's appointment as consul, she was teaching in Belize.

Four generations were united together on Sunday when Mrs. Edith Bailey's guest included her daughter Marjorie Foshaug, granddaughter Glenda Hagerman, and Glenda's children Robert, Heather and Scott.

Miss Maggie Peterson went on a four-day bus tour to Regina. While in Regina, tour members attended a Folk Festival at Craven, Sask., located just outside of Regina.

Sunday guests of Mary Stinson were her nephew Wesley Lmond, and his wife Rita, from Calgary.

Mr. Rasmussen drove to Stettler last week where he spent several days visiting [illegible].

Marketplace

Orange juice, pork bellies, precious metals, treasury bonds and stock industries are all commodity futures. These are fast paced, volatile instruments and speculators hope to profit and profit well!

There are opportunities to profit substantially over a relatively short period of time with little initial capital outlay. However, as in most areas of investment where higher than normal profits appear to be common, unscrupulous operators have been known to set up shop.

They have taken untold millions of dollars a year from commodity futures investors. Predictably, they prey on individuals who probably shouldn't be investing in this type of commodity futures – people who don't understand the nature of the transactions.

Alberta has no legislation governing commodity futures trading. Some commodity futures trading arrangements may legally be classed as securities by the Alberta Securities Commission. The commission will, on occasion, provide interpretive services to determine if its security laws apply to particular situations. The commission has also provided this information about commodity futures contracts.

Regardless of whether commodity futures legislation is in force, there are firms which are bona fide and which conduct their business in a correct fashion

On the other hand, there may be firms which employ high-pressure sales tactics, including misrepresentation of expected profits and risks in order to sell investments of a questionable nature. The following tactics have proven very successful:

– Unsolicited, high-pressure phone calls.
– Claims of inside information.
– "You must act at once!" [illegible]
– Claims of large and rapid profits.
– Contracts with names such as "deferred delivery".
– "Fixed maturity" or "leverage contracts" which are not contracts traded or regulated on commodity futures exchanges.

Con men tend to be strong-willed, smooth-talking, persuasive individuals who are able to overwhelm their targets. Talk is cheap, and hundreds of prospects a day are contacted "out of the blue" in search of a few who might be tempted. Then the real "professional" comes on the line and attempts to close the sale. Often they will send messengers to pick up the money immediately, before the victims have had a chance [illegible] transaction.

Fraudulent activity can be international in scope. In a current California case, a large foreign currency dealer has been unable to account for more than $180 million in investors' funds. In Arizona, a metals dealer was recently charged with using high pressure telephone tactics to defraud more than 800 investors out of millions of dollars.

Cleaning Out Your Sprayer

The following article by Arnold Sieverstsma, Senior Alberta agriculture has some useful tips for cleaning out your sprayer. The article concerns Filmset remainers but is useful to follow whenever you decide to spray a canola crop. The only change I would recommend differently from the article is on point number 5 – fill the sprayer completely full, not just three-quarters full.

1. Drain sprayer tank completely
2. Fill sprayer tank ¼ full of clean water
3 Use agitation system and spray out through nozzles.
4 When tank is empty, drain carefully
5 Refill tank to ¾ full mark – add 0.5% volume of chlorine solution (chloros, Javex or equivalent)
6 Using agitation system, spray full quantity out through the nozzles.
7 When tank is empty, add 100 L of clean water and spray out through nozzles.
8. Note: It is extremely important that all portions of the sprayer system be thoroughly rinsed with the chorine solution.

This is a slow tedious procedure but it is the only way to avoid Glean injury on susceptible crops, such as canola.

Palmer-Earling news

The Zion Lutheran Church was filled July 8 to help Eddie and Jeanette Knudson celebrate their silver wedding. The emcee for an interesting program was Harvey Pederson. As the bridal party entered, Bonnie Hellekson sang. Devotion was by Mildred Pederson. Two chorus sang by audience led by Bonnie Hellekson. Selection by Zion Sr. Band. Duet by Theel and Enid Watland. Readings by Emma Knudson, Selma Bratrud, Lorraine Knudson, Lawrence Hovland and Lillian Reum. A Hillbilly Toast to the couple by Dan Reum, Ladies Trio by Lorraine and Bonnee Hellekson and Delores Bratrud. A song by the Bergman family, music and words composed by the bride's brother, Melvin Bergman at B.C., who also rendered an organ musical selection.

The Bergman and Knudson families were introduced. Greetings were read from Martin and Connie Knudson who were unable to be present from Abbotsford, B.C. A delicious supper was served by the Zion L.C.W after which the bride modeled her white wedding gown of 25 years ago while passing the fruit cake. The three tarred bridal cake in white and red was made and decorated by Ruth Bratrud.

For the Knudson family, Alma Carlson presented a gift — for their family Tim Knudson made the presentation, for the Bergman family, Enid Watland presented a gift — plus many other gifts Their children were all present, Tim, Allan, Joanne, Lance and Larry

Firm has 77-year history

Connelly-McKinley Ltd. and Andrews-McLaughlin Ltd., operators of The Floral Chapels in Edmonton, like how St Albert Funeral Home and the Sherwood Park Funeral Home have a heritage of service to the people of Edmonton and northern Alberta.

Both firms were established 77 years ago. Founder of the Connelly-McKinley enterprise was J William Connelly who arrived in Edmonton from Hartland County, Nebraska in 1889.

In partnership with J.H. McKinley, alderman and proprietor of the Windsor Livery Stables, he established Connelly-McKinley in 1908 at 212 McDougall Avenue (100 Street). He and his wife became licensed embalmers, while McKinley supplied the horses for the hearses.

The business flourished, introducing the first automobile hearses and ambulances to western Canada, providing a motorized bus for the use of mourners and in the worldwide influenza epidemic of 1919, gaining the distinction of being the only funeral home and ambulance service that managed to keep working, although the necessitated borrowing cars to meet the demand for ambulances and funeral services.

In June 1930, Connelly-McKinley took over and remodelled a residence on 109 Street, just north of 100 Avenue Here the firm remained, rebuilding in 1941 and remodelling and enlarging in 1954, until its move in 1981 to The Floral Chapels on 114 Street and 100 Avenue

In the 1930s, Connelly's sons joined the firm as full partners, William J. in 1935 and Thomas A. in 1939 and the McKinley interests were bought out by the family.

Today, William J Connelly is president of Connelly-McKinley Ltd. and Thomas A. Connelly is secretary-treasurer. Bill Connelly's sons are third generation partners in the firm. Gerald, a graduate of the San Francisco College of Mortuary Science is a director of the firm. Bill, Jr., a funeral director, is the newly-appointed resident manager of the St. Albert Funeral Home, and Terry Connelly, a graduate in science from the University of Alberta is also a funeral director

Andrews-McLaughlin came into existence in 1906 in what is now the Dupre Block, which still stands at 10556-97 Street. The firm was founded by Alexander Andrews with his sons William and Robert, and was named Andrews and Sons, Undertakers and Embalmers. Subsequently, a third son, Hilliard, also joined the partnership.

The Andrews establishment became Andrews Brothers Funeral Home, operating from the 97 Street location until 1932, when the company built a brick-masonry funeral chapel on a site at Jasper Avenue and 112 Street. This was the first structure in Edmonton designed specifically as a mortuary

The first funeral services from the new premises were held on August, 1932.

When George McLaughlin, a funeral home director from Wetaskiwin and Tofield and his son, Don, assumed ownership in 1940, the firm name was changed to Andrews-McLaughlin.

Max Baron, who was born and raised in Sgruce Grove, joined the firm in 1946, left to join the RCAF in 1942 and returned to obtain his embalmer's and funeral director's licenses in 1946.

In the mid-1980s, Max Baron and another former Andrews-McLaughlin employee, Robert Long, purchased the business. Max Baron became president, Robert Long secretary and Mrs. Dorothy Thomson, A.T.C.M. was organist and director of music. Two years later, Baron bought Long's share

In his capacity as managing director of Andrews-McLaughlin, Max Baron has, over the years, become a familiar friend to such rural communities as Sgruce Grove, Bluny Plain, Tofield, Lamont, Fort Saskatchewan and Edmonton.

Cancer agents found in food

. . . no worry

Although more than 10 chemicals that occur naturally in human food are known to cause cancer, birth defects and mutations in laboratory animal tests, none of them poses a health hazard to people, according to Dr. Moe Hussain, pesticide issues coordinator with Alberta Agriculture.

He reports that a recent article in "Newsweek" magazine lists arsenic, hydrazine and solanine as potential cancer-causing agents and safrole, caffeine and chlorogenic acid as potential mutagens. Another chemical, canavanine, has been known to cause abnormalities in the immune systems of test animals, theobromine converts nonmutagens to carcinogens and carotene is changed in the body to vitamin A, which can cause birth defects and liver damage.

Dr. Hussain says the article indicates that the above chemicals are produced naturally in large amounts by such things as shrimps, mushrooms, potatoes, celery, carrots, black pepper, alfalfa sprouts, cocoa and coffee. It also indicates that the total dietary intake of these chemicals can be in excess of 1,000 milligrams per day, which is nearly 10,000 times higher than the dietary intake of man-made pesticides. In fact, Health and Welfare Canada results show that very few pesticides are ever found in human food and that the levels of those that are found are extremely low. According to Dr. Hussain, the total dietary intake of pesticides is about one-tenth of a milligram/per day.

Although the natural chemicals may cause cancer and other diseases in animal tests, Dr. Hussain says there is no evidence that they cause health problems in human beings. He points out that extremely high levels of these chemicals, and of pesticides, for that matter, are fed to animals in laboratory tests. In fact, the levels are usually from 1,000 to 100,000 times higher than the levels to which a person is exposed naturally.

Because human beings are exposed to such low levels, their body's defence system is able to neutralize the chemicals before they have a chance to do any harm.

Sport camps set by Alberta Sport

Young athletes no longer have to travel to the United States or other provinces to take part in sport training camps

The Alberta Sport Council offers provincial sport training camps with the best coaches in the province and in the best facilities. The cost is very reasonable and several scholarships are available

On August 13-17, Calgary will be hosting a major provincial sport camp including the sports canoeing, swimming, gymnastics, track and field, synchronized swimming, and speedskating

The five-day camp will allow athletes to upgrade and train in their sport. As well, recreational activities theatresports, fitness testing, sport psychology and special guest speakers will be a part of the schedule

Athletes will find this a most rewarding camp and they will have the opportunity to realize their potential

For a camp application, a scholarship form, or more information, call The Alberta Sport Council at 228-3280

Hastings Lake

by Lois Ponne

The annual picnic will be held on the afternoon of August 12th, at the Hall, with races and competitions for everybody, pony rides and ice creams, and a cold plate supper to follow

There will be a small charge for the supper, but all the rest of the fun is free and prizes will be there to be won

The Ladies Club will meet at the Hall on August 9th, at 1.00 p.m.

Keep your food safe

by Lawrence Roth
Food Laboratory,
Alberta Agriculture

How does food poisoning occur?

The term food poisoning generally refers to illness caused by food-borne viruses, bacteria or molds. These illnesses can be classified into two main categories: infection and toxemia. A food-borne infection results from eating food which contains living pathogenic microorganisms that may have grown in the food. Once the food is eaten, the organisms grow and multiply in the system and bring about illness. [redacted]losis is an example of a food-borne illness.

[redacted] by eating food that contains a toxin or poison that was produced by microorganisms growing in the food. These bacteria in themselves are usually not harmful if eaten in moderate amounts. Staphylococci is an example of a toxin producing [redacted].

What foods are potentially unsafe and what foods are usually safe?

Potentially unsafe foods are those in which food poisoning bacteria are able to grow unless the product is held at a high temperature or properly refrigerated. Examples are raw or cooked meat; poultry and fish; processed meats (bologna, weiners, ham, etc.); cooked vegetables; custards, puddings, whipped cream, milk and milk products; shellfish; dressings, gravies and sauces; meat sandwich spreads, and open canned [redacted].

Some foods may be safely stored at room temperature because their composition (e.g. low water content, high acid, high sugar) or packaging precludes the growth of or contamination by bacteria. Examples of such foods are nuts and peanut butter; bread crackers, cookies and cake; jam, honey, syrup and candy; butter, margarine and cooking oil; dry cereals and powdered milk; raw and dry fruit; raw vegetables; pickles, relishes, mustard and catsup; [redacted] before opened.

What are the signs of spoilage in canned products?

Bulging ends or sides of an unopened can are an indication of possible spoilage. [redacted] the can is great enough to cause a seam to burst and allow the product to leak out. Also, if there has been spoilage with a resulting pressure increase, the can's contents may spurt out when it is opened. The appearance and color of the product may also indicate spoilage. A bubbly, off-color or off-flavor product is indicative of spoilage.

Is it safe to refreeze thawed food?

It is safe to refreeze a thawed product, but only if you know the temperature of the product during and after its thawing period. If the temperature of any portion of it was elevated for a long enough period, microorganisms may have grown sufficiently in the product to create a hazardous situation, which is not eliminated by freezing. As a general guide, food should not be frozen if its temperature has risen above 4° C for more than two hours or if it has been held at a refrigerator temperature for more than two days. Food that shows any off-odor or off-flavor should not be refrozen.

Food contamination can be minimized during the preparation by using good personal hygiene and ensuring that all utensils are clean. Kitchen equipment should be well scrubbed to prevent cross-contamination between raw [redacted].

A practical way of preventing the growth of microorganisms is to control the temperature of food, paying particular attention to the danger zone of 4° C — 60° C. Food should not be held between 4° C and 60° C for more than four hours. The preparation period for working with food at room temperature should not exceed two hours at any one time. Hot food should be cooled rapidly before being refrigerated, and a large quantity of food should be spread out in shallow pans to aid the cooling process.

This year, over 500 athletes from across the province participated in the Alberta Special Olympics, held June 22-24 in Red Deer.

Seventeen students from Burgess School and 11 members of the B.O.M.B. (Adult Recreation) Club travelled to Red Deer to represent Camrose in events such as equestrian skills, swimming and diving, track and field and bowling. All athletes were housed at the Lindsay Thurber High School.

On Friday evening the equestrian and swimming events took place. Six students from Burgess School competed in swimming. The swimmers were grouped according to ability, and the Camrose representatives collected seven medals. While the swimming events were taking place at the Roland Michener pool, non-swimmers were treated to dancing, games and [redacted]

5 The track and field events began at the school track on Saturday morning, and weather conditions were in stark contrast to those experienced the previous year in St. Albert. It was very hot (too hot for some), compared to cool rainy weather last year. Again, athletes were grouped according to ability and competed in high jump, long jump, discus, shot put, and 50, 100, [redacted]. The Camrose representatives did very well in track and field, collecting a total of 33 medals!

While the track and field events were happening, other special events were occurring. These included a puppet show, bingo and a dunk tank (all athletes enjoyed dunking their coaches)

Following the track and field events, the athletes and [redacted] supper at a local park. After supper, there was a break-dance demonstration. The day concluded with a dance at which all the athletes, despite a busy day, had energy to [redacted]

The final day of competition was held at the Bowl-A-[redacted] Burgess School and all members of the B.O.M.B. Club competed in bowling, and a total of 16 medals were collected. Following lunch in the park on Sunday, we loaded the bus and prepared for the trip [redacted]

Over-all, it was a weekend of renewed friendships, friendly competition and pleasant experiences. Special thanks to volunteers, drivers and coaches, and to all who came and watched. Farms need good managers

by Andy Birch
District Agriculturist, Stettler, Alberta

It has been said that there is nothing like a good recession to separate the men from the boys when it comes to management. And an ancient Chinese proverb says "Adversity is a time of great opportunity!!!"

In times of market uncertainty, volatile and erratic price movements and increasing costs, there is a greater need than ever for basic, sound management decisions and practices. I once heard a university professor say that during the inflationary 1970's even a poor and incompetent manager could and did make "big bucks" by selling his appreciated land holdings. He may have been struggling to survive as a farmer, but he became an "instant" millionaire when he sold his land. Today it is a very different ball game. The challenges to farm managers are greater, the risks are higher and the opportunities to grow and develop as a farm manager have never been more exciting!

So what then are the qualities of a successful farm manager? Before answering that question, I should explain what is meant by management, what it entails and why it is so important. Stated simply, management is the organization and coordination of scarce resources (land, labor, capital) in a way that will achieve the greatest possible returns. A farm manager must make decisions about what to produce, how much to produce, when to produce it and the most effective method of production, etc. His area of activities can be described as technical (production technology), commercial (marketing), financial (capital), and accounting (record keeping).

Clearly farm management is an art! It includes planning, organizing, controlling, motivating, staffing, communicating and various other functions. And a successful farm manager sets specific goals and objectives, which give purpose and direction to his decision and actions. One goal might be to get a 60-bushel per acre crop of canola, while another might be to achieve a 90 per cent or better calf crop each year. Still another might be to farm an extra 800-1000 acres within three years. It is important that these goals be compatible with family goals.

A good farm manager is an opportunist. Being highly motivated, he is willing to take calculated risks and is quick to recognize opportunities and problems. He is also a decision-maker and is action-oriented. He has the ability to define a problem, gather objective facts, evaluate and analyze them, draw conclusions from the data and take the appropriate action. He also knows how to manage money wisely. He uses credit for productive input, but he is careful not to overcapitalize.

The management of scarce resources amidst complex problems, conflicting goals and incomplete information as well as constantly changing conditions is a major part of a farm manager's responsibilities, but there is another element which I think is very important. It is common to all successful managers and it is the human factor. A manager with this attribute has an intense love for the land. And farming to him is a life-long proposition. He has long range goals, takes his business very seriously and is proud of his occupation.

And besides his deep affection for the land, he has a keen desire for productive work, regarding working and managing as self-sustaining challenges. A high priority with such a manager is his determination to improve himself by attending relevant educational activities (meetings, courses, seminars, conferences), and by keeping up to date with local, national and international events.

In essence, there is no one quality or feature that adequately describes a top flight manager. He is a complex individual, composed of a number of traits that sustain and strengthen him. There are those people who have this ability naturally, there are those who seek and acquire it, and there are those who lack it. A top manager makes things happen, and his success is the consequence of his own resourcefulness and skill rather than luck and chance happenings. I suppose you could say he is a man in charge of his own destiny!

Ryley negotiates site for landfill

by Michelle Sparrow

Details of a purchasing price will be reached within the next two or three weeks concerning the Ryley Landfill Site, confirmed Village Council at their July 5 meeting.

Councillors Larry Andrukow and Cecil Stensrud will be representing the village as the County of Beaver council chambers on Aug. 1 for a special meeting.

Jointly discussed will be the procedures and requirements of a County Fire Chief.

A transportation grant has been awarded to the village and designated to the Ryley Sunshine Club. The money will be allocated to subsidize medical expenses of the elderly.

The next regular village council meeting has been changed from Aug. 13 and moved up to Aug. 7.

Also noted is that August 6 is a civic holiday.

Rally held

Vermilion hosted the St. Paul Presbyterial Spring Rally on June 19 at the Anglican Church, with 75 United Church Women in attendance.

The principle guest speakers were Peggy Summers and Rev. David, who gave an account of their extensive travels in Israel, narrating a slide presentation, and later answering questions.

Margaret Parken presented a gift to Summers and Rev. David.

Donna Jackson led the morning and afternoon sing-songs. The Islay and Clandonald U.C.W. gave the devotions.

Vermilion UCW President Dorothy Sheppard officially opened and closed the rally.

The tentative time and place chosen for the fall executive meeting is October 18 in Marwayne.

Farmers compensated when predators kill

More than 4,000 Alberta farmers have been compensated in the last 10 years under the province's Livestock Predator and Disaster Indemnity Program for livestock losses from predators and natural disasters.

Since natural disaster insurance is now available to most farmers, natural disaster losses are no longer covered under the program, but farmers will still receive compensation for livestock that are killed by a predator.

The rate of compensation is 80 per cent of the market value of the animal at the time that it was killed.

However, the kill must have been confirmed by an official of Alberta Agriculture, a predator specialist, a municipal fieldman, a fish and wildlife officer or a policeman for the owner to be eligible for compensation.

In the case of a probable loss, a 50 per cent level of compensation may be authorized. A probable loss would be a situation where an animal cannot, for one reason or another, be confirmed as a predator kill, but is associated with such a kill in both time and location.

In the case of a missing animal, up to a 30 per cent level of compensation may be authorized if the disappearance of the animal is associated with confirmed kills in both time and location. The compensation could go as high as 50 per cent on a grazing reserve or on a grazing lease if an official count of the animals is available.

Dr. G.W. Summers, chairman of the Livestock Predator and Disaster Indemnity Program, advises farmers whose animal or animals are killed by a predator to contact an investigator immediately and do everything they can to preserve the evidence of the kill so that the cause of death can be easily determined. He says that failure to report a kill promptly and to adequately preserve the evidence could result in the claim being rejected.

Over the past 10 years, about 80 per cent of the claims submitted under the Livestock Predator and Disaster Indemnity Program have been accepted.

Safety With Kerosene Heaters

Using an improper fuel in a kerosene heater is the most common error in accidents with these new heaters.

A kerosene heater is designed to burn only k1 quality kerosene. If gasoline, naptha or other fuel is used the heaters behavior can be completely unpredictable. It may burn fine at first, but a small change, such as a draught or even turning the heater off, could cause it to explode or flare up in a fire-ball.

Incidents reported to the Canadian Standards Association have resulted in both personal injury and property loss.

Improper refueling often occurs when the wrong fuel container – containing fuel other than kerosene – is accidentally used or if the kerosene container is mistakenly filled with the wrong fuel at the bulk station.

To avoid mistakes obtain a blue fuel container and use it for a kerosene container. Blue containers for kerosene fuel is going to become a standard.

Before filling the heater, check to see that the kerosene is still clear. Kerosene that is yellowish has deteriorated and should not be used.

Safety and caution are essential when operating any heating appliance. Read all manufacturers directions and follow them to the letter.

Firemen learn CPR

What would you do if the life of another person was in your [illegible]

The answer: Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR), a life saving technique devised for victims of heart attacks, drowning, electrocution, asphyxiation and basically used when a person's heart stops beating.

Currently volunteer fireman John Bauman of Tofield is instructing seven volunteers of the Ryley Fire Department in a 16 hour CPR course, which ends Tuesday, July 24.

"The key is to buy time", says Bauman. "It means that we have a time factor of four to six minutes," he added.

It is critical, victims get help during this period of time, because the chances of brain damage increases, and the chances of recovery lessens, Bauman pointed out.

The problem the rural community faces is the distance away from help or a phone. For example, misfortune could strike a farmer in the middle of a field, where it is of vital importance that aid be [illegible]

This "holding mechanism" CPR now is standard training [illegible] Bauman for emergency personnel, that is (i.e.) firemen and ambulance attendants, are required to renew their certification annually.

Originally CPR was started in Seattle, Wash., and "It is becoming more common," said Bauman, adding that, "The ultimate goal is to have one person in every family trained."

The Ryley Fire Department recently donated $200 to the Tofield Fire Department, as the money went towards the purchase of rescue equip-[illegible]

Integrated Resource Management.

What does it mean to Albertans like you?
Integrated Resource Management is the way cooperative decisions are made about the future of public lands and resources in our province. It's a way to ensure that development decisions are ones we can all benefit from and live with.

Who is involved?
Alberta Energy and Natural Resources [illegible]

Where are we working?
[illegible]

Why integrated management?
[illegible] public resources. Integrated management lets us see the big picture. Tourism. Recreation. Agriculture. Mineral exploration. Community development. These and many other interests are represented, with the result that we can safeguard our natural environment while providing options for the future.

How can you get involved?
As a program aimed at getting maximum input from as many possible sources, the Resource Planning Branch invites you to get involved. If there is a [illegible] If there is a proposed [illegible] that affects you, tell us. If you're concerned about the future of your public lands and resources, let us know.

Hay Lakes district news

by Mrs. A. Arnston

The Hay Lakes High School 15-year class reunion was held the weekend of July 14-15 with approximately 210 in attendance, including spouses and children. The students of grades nine to 12 in the school year of 1968-69 participated in the reunion. Registration of guests commenced on Saturday afternoon at the Hay Lakes Recreation Center where the interior was cheerfully decorated with streamers and balloons. This was followed by a tour of the school where former students voiced their amazement at the many improvements and new addition to the Hay Lakes School.

The group returned to the Recreation Center for a banquet and dance in the evening where speeches and presentatoins were given. Alex Alahub, vice-principal of th school, was presented with a large framed scroll which included all the names of students in grades 9 to 12, 15 years ago. Lois Cushing (Webster) of Inuvik, N.W.T. was awarded a prize for coming from the far-[illegible] received a prize for being the nearest. Prizes were also given out during the evening for novelty dances. The building resounded with laughter throughout the evening as former classmates renewed acquaintances and reminisced on past years.

On Sunday afternoon a barbecue and picnic, with fun and games for the children, was held at the school grounds. Appreciation was voiced to Dale Lanuk (Grams), who spear-headed the event, and her committee who searched for former students and arranged the activities.

Swedish Display at Wilhelmina Church

The "Vilhelmina to Wilhelmina" display of photographs and artifacts was on view at the Wilhelmina Lutheran Church on July 15. Also on display was a photo album with pictures taken in June, 1983 at the 75th anniversary celebrations of Wilhelmina Church. The album was donated by Ryan and Lillian Nordin. Coffee and lunch was served by ladies of the church throughout the afternoon. Patrick Sehlin of Vilhelmina, Sweden was a special guest. He is an exchange student and is presently working in forestry at Rocky Mountain House.

The "Vilhelmina to Wilhelmina" display was on view at the Provincial Archives and Museum in Edmonton from June 2 to July 11. It is now on display at Founders Hall in Camrose Lutheran College.

Antoniuk Family Reunion

Henk and Gayle Werkmen and their three daughters attended the Antoniuk Family reunion held at Chipman on July 14-15. It was the 100th anniversary of Fred and Marie Antoniuk's arrival in Canada from the Ukraine. Three hundred and forty-seven of their descendants were present for the reunion, all originating from Fred and Marie's eight children and their branches. They were great-grandparents to Gayle.

Saturday afternoon was spent visiting and picture taking, with a barbecue held in the evening. Following a church service on Sunday morning, socializing and sporting events took place.

Following a three week stay in Camrose Hospital, Reva Schaffrick spent 10 days recuperating at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, June and Terry Saitz of Leduc. Reva then accompanied her two brothers and sister-in-law on a trip to Minitonas, Man. where they visited their sister, Lucille, and her husband Bob Bailey.

Christine Jakob and Martin Stalder of Burgdorf, Switzerland have been visiting at the Alfred Arnston home and with Don and Viva Arnston at the Magnus Arnston home. During the past three months they have travelled by automobile in Canada from Vancouver to Niagara Falls and across the United States, including a short trip to Mexico. Prior to their departure for home on July 24 they spent a few days at Banff and Lake Louise with Don and Viva Arnston.

Mrs. Elna Kopperud of Estevan, Sask. spent a week visiting at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Rev. & Mrs Carl Kopperud of Armena.

Weekend guests at the Kopperud home were Carl's sister and brother-in-law, Carolie and Harvey Haug and their daughter Dorianne of Saskatoon, Sask.

Vacation Bible School Well Attended

Approximately 60 children attended Vacation Bible School held at Our Savior Lutheran Church each day July 16 through July 20. Children from the congregations of Scandia, St. Joseph, Wilhelmina and Our Savior attended the joint classes. Sixteen teachers and staff were in charge of the classes. Snacks for each day were provided by the Ladies Groups of the four churches for which the class Committee were most grateful. The closing program was held on Friday at 3:30 p.m. with parents and community residents invited to attend.

The L.C.W. and Sunday School class of St. Joseph Church visited Bethany Nursing Home in Camrose on the afternoon of July 12. The group held a program of hymns and readings for the residents of the Nursing [illegible] children sang a selection and a duet was sung by Marian Winder and daughter Jody. The Sunday School Class also sang and Helen Sware played a medley on the saxaphone. Following the program lunch was provided by the L.C.W. and was passed to the residents by the Sunday School children.

Ted and Betty Hansen and members of their family attended the Jones Family reunion held at Hastaine Community Hall on July 15. Over 60 family members attended the event which included a pot luck dinner, sport activities and socializing.

Ivar and Anna Lofgren of Edmonton and Patrick Sehlin of Vilhelmina, Sweden were coffee guests at the home of Wanda Grahn on Saturday afternoon.

Kingman district notes

Mrs. Sharon Seady

by Sharon Seady

Miss Jody Wood of Seattle, Wash., has been staying with her grandparents, Harley and Margaret Schmidt, for the past month. Jody, along with her family, Lynn and Barry Wood and Russell, drove out at the end of June.

Janette [illegible] and daughter Cari returned to Whyalla, in southwest Australia, after visiting with her family for two months. On July 1st, a get-together was held at the home of Gustav and Ellen Ekdahl where 60 people gathered to visit with Janette and Cari. They left for Australia on July 4.

The Kingman Silver Club held a pot luck supper at Miquelon Lake Provincial Park on July 11 with 30 people pre-[illegible].

Ted and Annie Kozak, Rosie and Willie Kozack, John and Nellie Kozack, and Josephine and Stanley Wenger attended funeral services for Mrs. Julia Kozak in Edmonton on July 17 at St. Basils Catholic Church. Interment was held at the Camrose Cemetery.

Julia was a former Kingman resident for many years. She first lived on the farm of Ted and Annie Kozak, then she and her husband and family lived on the farm now owned by John and Nellie Kozack. Julia was predeceased by her husband, Louie and is survived by one daughter, Delores Kozak, and one son Dennis and his wife Jean.

Kevin Ekdahl had the honor of being chosen to play on a Calgary football team which will be competing in the Canadian championship in Halifax, Nova Scotia. Kevin's all-expense paid trip starts on July 29 when he goes to Calgary to practise with the team. The team leaves Calgary on Aug. 5 for Halifax where they will stay and compete for 10 days.

Madelon Bronaum's nephew, James Lennox, of Philadelphia, Penn., arrived on July 5 and will be staying with Madelon until Aug. 14.

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Truong

Doctors are usually regarded as being their patient's advocates, doing their best to treat illness, find a hospital bed if one is needed, support insurance claims, complete work-loss and other forms, and be generally supportive.

Physicians still consider themselves to have been "hired" by the patients in spite of the fact that their bill usually will be pa. + by someone else, such as the Alberta Health Care Insurance Plan

Physicians receive a fee for the work they do. There are no fees for office visits, surgical procedures, and reading X-rays. In the course of investigating an illness a doctor may generate other costs, lab work, lung function tests and a host of other technological items that aid in reaching a diagnosis. Many of these are indispensable if state-of-the-art medicine is to be practiced.

Physicians do not pay for, or receive payment for, the tests they order, although a record is kept of the amount of money "spent" by a doctor in ordering tests and referring his patients to other doctors This allows the physician to compare his practice with others.

When the patient, Medicare, or other insurance pays for the tests the doctor can order those he or she thinks are mandatory, plus others that might help in patient care Better too many tests than to mass doing the essential one

Now some arguments, including Alberta and British Columbia, are exploring the concept of a global budget for medical care – a fixed fund which is not to be exceeded during the course of a year, i.e. capping the amount of money available for medical care When the money runs out physicians stop being paid and tests will not be paid for In practice a graded scale of priorities is imposed that is less payment as funds decrease

The concern is that doctors will soon realize that they can profit from incomes by cautioning the referrals they make and the number of tests they order The physician may hesitate to order an X-ray if he knows that part of the cost of the perform may be coming from his own pocket, and from the pockets of his colleagues

The patient, obviously will be the loser. It is likely that the quality of care that we have become used to will suffer. Diagnosis may be missed because a test or two was omitted

Doctors may find it difficult to remain exclusively the patient's advocate should global budgeting come to pass

A booklet, A Vital Issue – Capping the Answer" has been published by the Alberta Medical Association, 9901-108 Street, Edmonton T5K 1G8

Medically Speaking is published with the cooperation of this newspaper and the Alberta Medical Association

Lifesaver course offered farmers

Have you heard of the Lifesaver Course for Farmers?

This 3½-hour St. John Ambulance course is being offered to Alberta farmers under Alberta Agriculture's Farm Safety Program and is designed to ensure that those who participate learn the basic first aid skills and procedures that could save a life in a summer.

Prior to this course, there was nothing geared to a farmer's time frame that dealt with the knowledge that is required to meet emergency situations. Breathing, bleeding, poisoning and unconsciousness are the topics that will be covered in the 2½-hour period.

The manager of the Farm Safety Program, Solomon Kyeremanteng, says research shows that more than the number of accidents in the work place are considerably reduced when people are trained in first aid skills because they then know what injuries can result from particular situations and are more careful to avoid them

There is no charge for the Lifesaver Course and it will be offered anywhere in the province if it is requested by a group of 15 to 20 farmers

Further details on the course can be obtained from Solomon Kyeremanteng, Alberta Agriculture, J.G. O'Donoghue Building, 7000-113 Street, Edmonton, T6H 5T6 (Ph. 427-2386).

Funtime

It's kind of hard for these participants to wait their turn in the obstacle course at the Mini Olympic s last Thursday, but Debbie Dueck (left) and Debbie Neufeld (right), instructors of the Parks and Recreation Playground Dept. of Tofield have everything under control

Ryley Fair is planned

The Ryley Fair, sponsored by the Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society, is all set for August 9 in the Ryley Curling Rink and Community Hall.

The event, held each year in August, attracts close to 1,000 entries from local [illegible].

Participants can enter any of a number of categories ranging from handicrafts and gardening to crops and home-cooking. There are special categories for senior citizens and juniors under 12 and 18 years of age

One of the largest displays is the school penmanship and art work, with samples of work from each elementary student in Ryley School

There is no charge for entering the Fair and ribbon prizes are awarded. A modified Danish system of judging will be used and trophies awarded to the highest point scorer in junior, adult, senior and family categories. Entries may be brought to the Curling Rink anytime between 8 a.m. and noon on August 9.

Judging of the entries takes place during the early afternoon and the displays are open to the public from 4 to 7:00 p.m. the same day

Draws are made and trophies awarded, then articles can be picked up and taken home. Full details on entering the Fair are contained in the Fair booklets available at Ryley Foods, G & M Foods, Ryley Variety and the District Agriculturists' Office as well as Especially For [illegible]

The Fair also features a number of commercial displays in the Ryley Community Hall. Any business or organization is welcome to rent display or selling space

Other attractions at the Fair include the children's pet show at 4:30; various children's races at 5; a gymkhana at the gymkhana grounds [illegible] and the annual tug-of-war at 7:00 p.m. This event pits the strength of North Ryley against South Ryley with the prize being a locally made trophy

The food booth will be open until 7:30 p.m. and a cold plate supper will also be available.

There is no charge for admission to the Fair.

Holden Homecoming set

Holden Homecoming '84 will celebrate the 75th anniversary of the incorporation of the Village of Holden this weekend with a variety of activities planned

Registration will begin on Friday night and this will continue throughout the weekend.

Saturday at 2 p.m., in the Holden Complex, is the official [illegible]

Representatives from various levels of government, including Don Mazankowski, MP and John Batiuk, MLA will be in attendance.

A highlight of the opening ceremonies will be the launching and auctioning of a history book that has been prepared through a lot of hard work by the Holden Historical Society

Other Saturday activities include a horseshoe tournament, games and races for children, a barbecue supper and dances in the Community Hall and the Complex.

On Sunday morning, services will be held in all churches in Holden, followed by a pot-luck brunch in the hall.

Afternoon activities will see bus tours of the village, displays at Holden School, [illegible]

Sunday evening will see a variety program in the Beaver Regional Arts Centre and a wiener roast at the Sports Grounds.

Monday is Heritage Day and this day has been declared a civic holiday by Mayor Stan-[illegible]

Activities for this day begin with a pancake breakfast in the hall followed by a parade, square dancing, heritage auction and displays of antiques.

Souvenir items commemorating the 75th anniversary and the homecoming will be available throughout the weekend.

A large turnout of people is expected.

Blazers win provincials

The Ryley/Vermilion Blazers, a ladies' softball team, played in and won the provincial finals in Vermilion on July 14 and 15.

There were four teams in the competition including two from Calgary and one from Grande Prairie

The Blazers were the only undefeated team in the double knock-out tournament and as a result, emerged as the senior 'B' provincial champions.

As a result of winning the provincials, the 13-member team will fly to Yellowknife, N.W.T. to play in the Western Canadian Women's softball championships this coming weekend

The Blazers are a representative team from this zone (7) and have more players and sponsors from the Ryley and Vermilion areas than any other areas in the zone, thus, the Ryley/Vermilion name.

The Blazers are a group of some of the best ball players in the area that enjoy playing at a very competitive level.

The nucleus of the team has been playing together for four years and have won provincials, two out of those four years

Last year, they won the gold medals at the Alberta Summer Games in the Intermediate 'C' level

This is the first ladies' softball team in the area to have won a provincial title.

There will be seven teams competing at the Western Canadaian playoffs and they include Yellowknife (host team), N.W.T., B.C., Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and the Yukon

Members of the Blazers are Cheryl Banack, Mona Knudalten, Lynn Graftaas, Betty Boettger, Loretta Convey-Lyons, Maureen Convey-Solberg, Laura Convey-Kochan, Marg Convey-Thompson, Yvonne Emmott, Sarah van Tighem, Beth Lewis and Yvette Schneider

The coaches are Elston Solberg and Brian Lyons.

Blazers will play Ponoka in an exhibition double-header at the Ryley Sports Grounds this evening (Wednesday) at 7 [illegible].

County opens tenders

By [illegible]

The County of Beaver approved a motion to open bids for tenders on the last half mile on the east end of Secondary Road 615, last Thursday

"We've done the best we can in this circumstance," said Reeve Warner. Application for tenders will then proceed as voted for, by a four to three [illegible]

An approximate land location for the Lindbrook transfer station has been cited, and application for subdivision will begin. The Tofield site may be appealed by the regional landfill committee. The proposed land for the site is currently owned by the town, but it is within the County of Beaver Council accepted a delegation representing surface rights owners, who asked council's support pertaining to compensation from oil companies who have had drilling [illegible].

The delegation proposed that oil companies pay out an extra year on a lease after a job has been completed. The surface rights owners want an assurance from the oil companies, with reclamation of a site to be in better or as good of condition as the land was originally

Council agreed that in order for them to forward a letter of support that the delegation must present case documentation

A motion was passed that the County of Beaver erect boundary signs on all primary and secondary highways.

The Agricultural Service Board will be holding a tour on Thursday

Royal court

The girls still look pretty tense even after the crowning of the 1984 Bruce Stampede Queen Trudy Erickson (far right) at midnight on Saturday. On the left is the third runner up Sandi Kropelnicki and second runner up Linda Grinde. In the background is former Queen, Leann Kraus

Urban vote

Liberal strategists seem courting the urban vote in Alberta, even though they continue to discount the farm vote entirely. And with the swing in population, maybe they're smart.

Edmonton's election of a highly politically astute Liberal mayor, as well as some Liberal aldermen, seems to be focussing the interest of the Party on that city, in the possible resurrection of the VIA train service to Jasper, in the choice of Edmonton Telephones, rather than AGT, for a new and challenging telephone service, for the naming of an Edmonton aldermanic woman as chairman of the CNR and on and on and on.

But the farm community continues to get the back of their hand.

It seems to have taken weeks for the change in pricing to be communicated even to the Alberta government, much less the farmers involved, but Ottawa Liberals months ago introduced changes in the corn pricing formula on the prairies. Even though corn hardly figures out here, it still is the basis on which all other feeds are compared and priced.

Two Alberta cabinet ministers, Hugh Planche from Economic Affairs, and Leroy Fjordbotten, from Agriculture, are mightily distressed, and protesting as vehemently as government protocol allows over a change in the pricing formula on the basis of Alberta prices being calculated on Vancouver, rather than Thunder Bay.

"Every point east of Scott, Saskatchewan, is unaffected by the change," claim the two Alberta cabinet ministers. "Only Alberta's position relative to that of its competitors is affected."

Policy changes such as this one, which will cost Alberta producers anywhere from one to four dollars more per tonne of feed, made without any known consultation, either with eastern or western producers, cannot possibly be construed as anything but deliberate, calculated moves to bring Alberta to its knees economically. Nor, when there are so many of them, can it be logically considered such moves are sheer chance or unfortunate results of broadly based policy which just happens to adversely affect Alberta. It isn't reasonable to suggest that every chance of fortune just happens to go against Alberta's welfare.

So the Liberals can find individual plums to throw Edmonton's way. The party can nominate relatively undistinguished civic politicians for promotion to high places. It can continue in the same vein but still be seen by the mass of voters as continuing to be opposed to anything western, especially anything Albertan. And it will continue to wonder why it seems so difficult to elect any members from the West.

Western voters are not necessarily opposed to being Liberal . . . they're just opposed to any party which so completely and so blatantly and so consistently promotes the Center against the wellbeing of the more distant regions.

World price

Prime Minister Turner's suggestion that Canadian oil prices should rise to world levels is "a deeply mistaken policy" declared NDP leader Ed Broadbent recently.

It will cost more to consumers, he pointed out, cost more to farmers, cost more to business. But he didn't point out that it might be more fair to producing provinces, who pay world prices for everything they have to purchase. That it might help rebuild the economy in an Alberta still staggering on its knees from the National Energy Policy designed to benefit Central Canada while Ontario workers are so far out of the recession they're discussing "luxury strikes".

We'd be happy if Mr. Broadbent would suggest a trade-off. 80% of world price for Alberta-produced oil, 80% of world price for cars made in Ontario. 80% of world price for Ontario-made steel. Right now he knows Alberta farmers are only getting 80% for their wheat because of the corn law prices that protect the buying interests of feeders in Quebec and Ontario, but he isn't saying anything about that. Broadbent, like the other politicians, knows where his votes are likely to be.

Principle? Good of the country? Getting re-elected is what it's all about.

Medically Speaking

by Dr Bob Young

Medical specialists lecturing at postgraduate courses tend to overstate the importance of their own field. The dermatologist will tell the audience of family practitioners that 20 percent of their patients will have skin disease. The heart specialist says that cardiac problems will account for 30 percent of visits, the rheumatologist claims 10 percent, and so on. After a few lectures it is very apparent that the total vastly exceeds 100 percent.

One disease that does prompt visits to the doctor by a large number of patients is cystitis, or infection of the bladder. If the males among my readers wonder what I am talking about, they may be excused because nearly all cases of cystitis occur in women. The female anatomy is such that infecting germs can reach the urinary bladder with relative ease. In men and boys, the urethra, which connects the bladder to the outside, is much longer and is infrequently traversed by [illegible].

In most cases the infecting organism originates in the bowel, often enough that this occurrence can be assumed and appropriate treatment instituted without further tests. A more scientific and accurate approach requires the collection of a urine specimen and identification of the organism. This has some advantages, especially when treatment fails or infection keeps recurring.

Each doctor has his own opinion about the number of bouts of cystitis (and their frequency) that is normal. When this is exceeded, less common causes must be sought. Bladder or kidney stones, urinary obstruction (a common cause in older men), kidney or vaginal infection, and pelvic disease are among the causes.

Treatment is the common straightforward case is simple. Often a single, larger-than-usual dose of an antibiotic is all that is required. Relapses and recurrent infections (with the same or different germ) require more extensive treatment. If a more serious underlying problem is encountered, it usually must be corrected before the cystitis can be cured.

Medically Speaking is published with the cooperation of this newspaper and the Alberta Medical Association.

Dear Editor and Parents of public school students:

Does anybody really care???

Parents, when was the last time you looked through your child's books in this case, library books, to see what your child is reading or being taught in our public school system?

Please do not be like one poor naive young person who said "Well, if the school is teaching it or allows it, it must be okay."

I am most concerned about the quality of education my children are receiving and my concerns were more than well founded as I examined a library book my junior high school student brought home from the school library.

I have enclosed quotes from one book in question and I challenge this paper to print them. I dare say I'm sure they will not take up the challenge as I have never read anything like it in our newspapers, but this gutter talk is there for the reading in our public school libraries to be read by our children, 12 to 14 years of age, in junior high school. Even worse, it is there for them to take example from for their daily lives.

Oh, yes, some of you may say "This is real life and they have to know about it to deal with it." Well my dear parents, let's give them some good examples to emulate and lets get off our duffs and clean up this garbage that's creating a stench in our school system. I'm sure there are some fine educators who would be willing to co-operate with us in this regard.

Yes, mothers you may have to give up your Tuesday afternoon [illegible], your Thursday night bowling or whatever, to spend the time to see what your child is reading or being taught, but do I really have to ask you if it would be worth it.

Remember what the rotten apple did to the whole barrel.

If you are a concerned parent, I'd like to hear from you.

Sincerely,
Nellie Harley

Editor's note: Mrs. Harley is right, we wouldn't accept her challenge as the enclosed material was not fit for publication in a family newspaper.

Thanks, Bill

Dear Editor:

Having travelled Highway 834 many times in the past 12 years, I would like to comment on the outstanding work Bill Kennedy is doing looking after our local cemetery.

Many times he is there working in the early hours of the morning. The grounds always look well cared for.

We all want you to know, Bill, we appreciate your good work, the greatest satisfaction for any man is a "job well done."

Thank you, Bill.

Say "No" to heroin

111 Whitecap Cres.
[illegible]
June 7, 1984

Dear Sir:

There is a campaign mounted in Canada by a syndicated medical [illegible], to have heroin legalized for use as a pain killer for terminally ill cancer patients. He claims [illegible] times stronger than morphine. He argues that "37 other nations use heroin for medical purposes.

"England has used heroin for over 80 years to treat severely burned children, heart attack victims and [illegible]. Can the doctors in all these countries be wrong?" Europe also gave the world thalidomide; can other nations and doctors be wrong in their judgement? Politicians have shown that they seldom tell the complete truth about an issue; are doctors any less [illegible]?

Granted, to ease the suffering of these people is very humane. However, the question arises as to how carefully this dangerous and addictive narcotic can be controlled in this use? One only has to read the newspapers to see how carefully the drug digoxin was Eventually, the patient will succumb to Nature and the doctors can now bury one more of their failures. No other profession in our society is granted this privilege. Should a policeman make an error in judgement and kill, or let be killed, a criminal, then society rants and raves. Not so with the medical profession. We accept their mistakes by saying that they did the best they could, or that the cancer was incurable. All the while we continue to give millions upon millions of dollars to research in the hope that the elusive 'cure' will be found.

Pain is Nature's way of telling an individual that something is wrong with his body. It has been said that "Sickness is ignorance - your own." Ignorance of the basic natural laws governing all things. The use of heroin will certainly ease the consequences of one's ignorance, but it definitely will not cure it.

An alternative to having to resort to the use of heroin would be to educate people of these basic laws so that they will not get sick in the first placed.

Of course, the one disadvantage of this is that healthy people do not require doctors. We couldn't have that, now could we?

Marketplace

There's a revolution going on! People everywhere are discovering the Joys of "pre-owned", and the boom is in full swing.

Actually, there's been quite a psychological breakthrough. Where once there was a limited field of "acceptable" pre-owned merchandise (homes, cars, antique furniture), more consumers are discovering the obvious financial advantages and surprising payoffs to seeking out the previously purchased, loved and sacrificed ... with no loss of pride, whatsoever!

The big payoff, of course, is the saving. Most secondhand items, many in practically perfect condition, cost about half the original price ... in some cases, considerably less than that. So if your family spent say $10,000 last year on "things" ... well, you figure it out.

The little payoffs make the effort all the more worthwhile. Car buyers have long known that a three-year-old vehicle has had most of its bad surprises discovered and rectified. The same goes for many appliances, shop and hobby machinery, typewriters ... and a multitude of other commodities.

What pleases many "used" devotees is the high quality they are suddenly able to afford. If their budget for the new sofa suite is $1,000, they're looking at quite a different piece of furniture from the want ads than what that money would buy new.

Almost any non-edible commodity you can cart home in a pick up you can probably pick up secondhand ... if you know where to look!

A glance at the want-ads gives a mere idea of what's available. From flatware to fur coats, piccolos to pool tables — the list is endless! In a single recent issue, we discovered some quite uncommon buys — including 7,000 old bricks, a pinball machine, an electric stone wheat grinder, a down-filled sofa suite ... and three magnums of 35-year-old champagne!

The list doesn't stop at mere things. You can pick up bargains in tickets to theatre and sporting events ... even vacations. Someone else's hasty airline booking may be JUST what you're looking for!

Being a pre-owned buyer means establishing a new habit. Glance at the want-ads every evening ... you can bet that the really good buys get snapped up fast. Some bi-weekly [illegible] advertise secondhand [illegible].

Find the [illegible] stores for teens, children wear [illegible] and visit them every few weeks. Charity thrift shops, pawn shops, garage sales and flea markets all can turn up the [illegible] the unusual and the downright serendipitous.

Check the grocery store [illegible] and if there's something you particularly want, advertise your need!

The Interdependent Crisis

In the last twenty years, we have seen the emergence of a number of major problems unto the international stage Much of the earth's population remains in abysmal poverty while the gap between the rich and the poor widens. Arable land, clean water and pure air diminish as they are polluted by chemicals and waste Political upheaval and the competition for dwindling resources have brought both small and large countries alike to confrontation, and have resulted in regional wards on almost every continent At the same time, worldwide economic recession and unmanageable national debts threaten to cripple the international economy

Overshadowing all these factors, however, is the growing possibility of nuclear war The rising numbers and destructive power of nuclear weapons have, for the first time in history, made possible global suicide, that is the extinction of all life on this planet.

The Eternal Wish

No political hopeful would consider answering the question "Do you want peace?" with a blunt "No" Everyone wants peace On equal footing with our inner desire for peace is our desire for security National security is a term that has taken on new meaning in an age of international economics and complex connections between resources, markets and materials

Canada has had the good fortune in past war years of developing its position as a 'North' country in the global picture of "North-South" We are allied with our superpower neighbor across the border and have strong interests in protecting not only our freedoms but also the influence we exert on less fortunate countries with which we trade

Wealthy countries have become accustomed to having the upper hand when big decisions involving raw materials, manufacturing and cheap labour are concerned. We have benefitted from more than our fair share of them all

But our world is constantly changing and recent global events call us to step and take stock of a new emerging distribution of power

We all know OPEC, this group of 'insignificant' countries that immediately became significant. The recent call for a New International Economic Order has been the response of a much more organized and politically independent Third World.

What will Canada's response be to a world crying out for equitable distribution of resources, fair trade practices and a turn to military might as the new decision-maker?

Honey Not to Feed

The days of using honey or corn syrup to sweeten infant's milk or to help decrease their constipation, are long over

Clostridium Botulinum spores have been found in honey that has been fed to infants who subsequently developed infant botulism. Corn syrup has also been found occasionally to contain the spore. Consequently, the FDA have recommended that because the susceptibility of individual infants to the development of infant botulism remains unknown, it is reasonable to avoid use of nutritionally non-essential foods such as honey or corn syrup in infant feedings". By 'infant', it is suggested that children under one year of age should not be fed corn syrup or honey. It is perfectly safe for older children and adults to ingest such foods

Infant botulism is a condition characterized by "weak feedings, constipation, hypotonia, depressed gag reflexes, cranial nerve defects and muscle weakness." The treatment is basically supportive

It is important for families to be aware of infant botulism and its potential of causing detrimental effects

Freezing, In The Heat

Freezing vegetables in the heat of summer is what us gardeners are all about.

To ensure your vegetables taste fresh in January, a few precautions must be taken.

First, pick produce at its peak. Use only the freshest and most perfect vegetables for freezing. Vegetables that are a bit past their prime are best eaten right away.

The second step that ensures success is blanching produce before freezing. Blanching kills the enzymes in food and thus prevents it from continuing to ripen. The only vegetables that can be frozen without blanching are beets, mushrooms, onions, peppers, pumpkin, squash and tomatoes.

Start timing vegetables immediately after they are lowered into vigorously boiling water. Keep the heat on high so that water quickly returns to the boil. Chill vegetables immediately after blanching by placing in cold, running water.

Those of you who own [illegible] vegetables without standing over a pot of hot water. Work with smaller batches of vegetables in a covered casserole dish. Blanching times for the microwave are not that different from conventional blanching, but the process is quicker because the water boils much faster.

After chilling and draining, the vegetables can either be packed in portion bags or frozen on trays and packed [illegible].

To ensure good quality frozen vegetables, work with fresh produce, follow directions for blanching, and freeze quickly.

For more information on blanching times — on the stove and in the microwave, contact this office at 663-3555.

District news from Ryley

by Lone Bell

A large family gathering was held at the Robert Cross home in Ryley on July 15 where they enjoyed the party outdoors with 64 attending.

Guests were from St. Albert, Lethbridge, Oyen, Red Deer, Veteran, Calgary, Dapt, Edmonton, Sherwood Park, and Mrs. Cross' sister was there from Vancouver.

Elmer Anderson's daughter, Helen and her daughter and husband of Edmonton and Morley Anderson of Tofield visited with Elmer Andersons recently.

On Sunday, Mike Hunka of Edmonton, Evelyn and Bernard Williams of Camrose and Mavis Porter of Toronto were guests at the Stan and Ida Hunka home.

Mr and Mrs. Chambers have been enjoying a holiday.

Gary Vergette, Clara Vergette and Mary McKay enjoyed their holiday in Dawson City and Whitehorse.

Buster Burns of Unity, Sask., passed away recently.

We enjoyed visiting with the Gerald Owen family in Camrose on Thursday. Other guests were Don and Gwen Campbell and Mrs. Mary Hodge of Nakomis, Sask.

I must correct the last part of Ted Gjerde's funeral write-up in last week's paper. Ella Skiles and Elma Tomlinson of Irma and Edith Solberg of Camrose attended the service in Ryley for Ted Gjerde. When younger, he was called Ted Solberg by many, as Nils Solberg's were his foster parents.

Carl Hjelter is on a trip with a friend to the Yukon.

Jody and Sharon Feuerstein are home after a holiday to Manitoba to visit Jody's relatives and now, they have friends visiting them for a few days.

Gerald and Lucy Owen of Camrose and Mary Hodge of Nakomis were visitors with Stan and Ida Hunka and Mildred Stenerud.

On Saturday, Shaun Sinclair formerly of Ryley, married Bonnie Brunet of Ardrossan. The couple went to Mexico for their honeymoon and will be living in Edmonton. Many friends of Calgary, Ryley and area [illegible] the wedding.

Herman and Hilda Jensen, Neil and Bernadette Jensen enjoyed a three-week holiday in Denmark visiting with their families, returning home on July 25th.

Everyone around seems to have visitors from the USA and parts of Canada. Freda Stautter of Toronto is visiting with her brothers and sisters and attended the parade in Camrose on July 26 with Elsie Boettger.

Hereford tour is held

by Doris Brown

On Thursday and Friday, a successful Northern Alberta [illegible]

The two-day tour began in the Viking-Vegreville area and the second day was in the Tofield District.

Close to 300 people from all across Alberta and several breeders from Saskatchewan took advantage of the excellent weather for touring [illegible].

The tour began at Klein's JK Farm at Viking with breakfast being served, then to Duralta Farms at Lavoy and from [illegible] Farms at Vegreville for lunch.

The afternoon was spent at Gordon Zeiglers in Vegreville and the final event for the day was the crowning of the Northern club princess, Debbie Mididal, and guest speaker for the evening was Chuck Davis of Westerose.

Day two began at TY Polled Herefords, Ralph Casey and Sons of Tofield, for breakfast. Then, to the Kallal Hereford Ranch (Lawrence and Ken Kallal) for coffee. Then, to the Paul Kallal farm and the final stop was at HB Polled [illegible] for a barbecue dinner. The beef was barbecued by Peter [illegible].

At each of the tour stops, cattle from several breeders were displayed and more than 30 breeders displayed cattle on this tour.

1983-84 Wool Stabilization Program

Wool producers in the County of Beaver should take note of the announcement of a Federal stabilization program for wool for the 1983-84 production year.

The Agricultural Stabilization Board in Ottawa has authorized a deficiency payment of $0.24 per kilogram of wool to all wool producers across Canada.

Producers who claimed the 1982 deficiency payment should have already received their application forms for this years payment in the mail. New producers or those who have not claimed in 1982 can pick up application forms at our office.

1984 Agricultural Service Board Tour

On August 3, the County of Beaver Agricultural Service Board will be holding a tour of the western portion of the County. The tour starts at 9:30 a.m. at the Bardo Community Centre which is located 5½ miles south of Highway 14 on Secondary No. 834 (south and slightly east of Tofield). Sites to be looked at will include:

1. "Feast" Liquid Fertilizer Plots — Jim and Sanford Boettger.
2. Barley Variety Plots — Arnold and Marvin Weber.
3. Lontrel — Canada Thistle Control in Canola — Paterson Farm.
4. Blackfoot Grazing Pasture.
5. Beaver Dam Blasting and Pocket Gopher Trapping Demonstrations.
6. Beaverhill Lake Bird Observation Point.

The tour will finish with a barbecue at the Bardo Centre at approximately 5 p.m. The cost of the tour and barbecue is $5 per person. Pre-registration is preferred by phoning the County Office (663-3730) or our office (663-3555).

Holden Keggers compete

Holden Keggers came up with a [illegible] the World Series of Fastball, held in Camrose on the past weekend.

Entered in the eight-team intermediate category, Holden got all the way to the finals before losing out.

It marked a considerable improvement for the Keggers who entered the tournament last year and couldn't win a game.

Things didn't start out too good for Holden when they were blasted 10-2 by Camrose's Windsor Hotel, in their first outing.

Holden rebounded to defeat Hay Lakes 3-2 on Friday evening and on Saturday, they blasted Lougheed by a 13-1 score to earn second place in their division, and a berth in the playoffs.

Holden went against the defending tournament champions, Calgary Dome Petroleum, in the semi-finals early Sunday afternoon and erupted for four runs in the fifth inning to record a come from behind 5-4 triumph to advance to the finals.

In the championship game, Holden couldn't do much against the Camrose pitching and ended up on the wrong side of a 9-0 score.

Ten teams competed in the senior competition which included entries from Alberta, Saskatchewan and California.

In the best of three championship finals, The Camrose Merchants beat Bakersfield (defending champions from California) by scores of 3-0 and 6-2 to win top honours with 3,300 fans in attendance on Monday night.

Untapped market is here

by Michelle Bjornson

What Canadian industry rakes in 4.2 billion dollars annually?

The answer: Wildlife, influxing one million dollars more into the Canadian economy than the cattle industry.

Hard to believe? Not so, at least for the Tourism of Tofield Foundation members who firmly believe that they can help make the Beaverhill Lake project Tofield's "claim to fame", or how about the tourist capital of Alberta.

The potential of this untapped market is here, and as world renown bird-watcher Cam Finaly suggested, "It's not small peanuts."

It may be a dream or some may say a fantasy, but basically all that has been confirmed is the public's initiative and support of the community.

"No one knows the impact of Beaverhill Lake," said developer Bill Scott, as he pointed out that "It won't cost the Tofield taxpayer a nickel," while employing from between 10 to 15 residents. The money guaranteed will stay in Tofield, and the businesses will prosper because of the resultant economic growth, commented Scott.

A gold mine in Tofield's backyard so to speak, or as town councillor Ed Regehr suggested, "I think this is a golden egg in Tofield's development basket."

"We're beating our heads against a rock," said Diane Scott as every angle must be analyzed in this carefully modelled plan.

Utilizing actions not words the group is trying to establish a program that would reap more than economic benefits to the community.

There are many problems that will have to be ironed out in the near future keeping in mind that, "Once it's there, you can promote it," as suggested by Wojtek.

"I believe in people working together," said founder of the John Janzen Nature Centre in Edmonton, Cam "Birdie" Finaly.

Bird-watching has become one of the fastest growing activities in the last ten years, and the opportunity has come of age, a challenge of once an [illegible].

Mazankowski attends forum

By [illegible]

"We deserve a first class government," insisted Vegreville MP Don [illegible] about 30 constituents at a political forum at the Senior Citizens Drop-In Centre in Tofield on Friday.

"There was nowhere to go [illegible] Western Canada," said Mazankowski. "I'm sure we can truly achieve the potential of this great country," he added.

PC loyalty to the blue ran true as Mazankowski's re-election campaign went into full swing. Visiting about five towns a day, he will be in the constituency until Aug 10 then he will be touring the western provinces, and if time allows, Nova Scotia and New [illegible].

Mazankowski pointed out that there are four basic election issues to be dealt with, as the PC's have a solidified plan to turn things around.

On top of the list was to erase the Liberal legacy which has "crippled interest rates" with "business and investment confidence totally eroded."

[illegible] question of trust. "The integrity of political parties to fulfil election promises. The promises and committments before the Canadian people will be carried out," he assured the audience, factually reciting the blunders of the Liberal government.

Mazankowski condemned the Liberal "hidden agenda", which was the Constitution, National Energy Program and the Crowsnest Freight Rate.

"He plotted the dismantlement of the CPR and didn't come to the defence of Western Canada," said Mazankowski refering to Prime Minister John Turner's record when he was finance minister in the Trudeau cabinet from 1972 to 1975.

The PC party platform is to renew the economic and political spirit of Canada with leadership, and revitalization of the economy, producing job opportunities for the 1.5 million unemployed.

The PC economic strategy is such that the party if federally elected vows to lower interest rates, increase world trade by welcoming investment, employing the use of Canadian technology, and training young people as money will be [illegible] to fit the realities of the 1980's.

[illegible] register officially this Thursday. The advanced poll will be on Aug. 25, 27, and 28.

Astronomers to visit

[illegible] from San Francisco will be visiting Miquelon Lake Provincial Park next month (August).

The visitors will be spending the entire month touring different parks in Alberta and will spend two days in the park at Miquelon Lake on Aug. 28 [illegible].

The month-long tour is a mobile astronomy project of the Provincial Museum of [illegible].

The Sidewlk Astronomers have travelled extensively throughout Canada and the United States and have just returned home from a three-month visit to India.

The public is invited to take part in the tour, view the universes through telescopes, see slide shows and listen to talk on astronomy.

People looking through the giant telescopes can expect to see the red spot on Jupiter, the rings around Saturn, the pinwheel arms of distant spiral galaxies along with huge [illegible].

During their tour, the San Francisco astronomers will visit a total of nine parks in [illegible].

[illegible] visit to Miquelon Lake will be announced at a later date.

Mercury climbs

Temperatures have been soaring in the past few weeks.

The mercury climbed to a record level on Thursday when it got to thirty-four degrees. (That's ninety-four above, the old way.)

That tied a record for that [illegible].

The hot spell was expected [illegible] according to forecasts, it could approach record levels in this [illegible].

August starts tomorrow (Wednesday) and the warmest day of that month took place on Aug. 18, 1934 and on Aug. 15, 1958 when it climbed to thirty-four above.

1,000 attend annual Bruce Stampede

by Michele Bateman

The Bruce Stampede rounded up about 1,000 avid rodeo fans who weren't disappointed as the amateur competitors broke out of the chutes kicking like

It was the first time amateurs saddled up in the history of the Bruce Stampede which began in 1914

All competitors gave the nod of approval to the scheduled events.

Cow riding was divided in two categories, with Bruce Taylor coming out on top scoring a 37, and Eugene Jackson taking the second division with a 68 score

Bobbie-Jo Wemp won the Junior Barrel Racing, and Bessie Bablitz topped the Ladies Barrel Racing

It only took Belinda Jones 3.3 seconds to capture the flag in the Ladies Undecorating

Divided into teams of three people Bobbie-Jo Wemp's contingent won hands down the calf tying event, with not too much of a problem

Paul Alderdice scored a 73 to win the Bench, and Derrick Shuler scrambled the fastest to catch and tie a calf Displaying impressive form Doug Taylor scored an 88, to walk away with the Junior Steer Riding trophy.

The team of Dean Makeaway decided that they could milk a wild cow and proved to be number one

The biggest challenge of the day was for the youngsters to catch a greased pig. The winner in the eight and under category was Blair McIsak, and Shane Payne who caught the greased pig in the 13 and under category. The novelty of winning, was the pig that came as part of the package

The Mutton Busting capped off the amateur rodeo, and was probably the most fulfilled event. A few of the kids were a little intimidated and took an early fall, but Dallas Thrush held on to win

Possibly the climax of the day was the crowning of the Stampede Queen at midnight Heightened emotions were in evidence as Trudy Erickson was crowned The second runner-up was Linda Grinde and Sandi Krupelnicki placed third The contest was based upon the amount of ticket sales produced by the girls

Shortly after 11 a.m. the parade got underway, with a total of 31 entries. Goode Transport of Holden won with the best commercial float. The Viking General Hospital won the best non-commercial float Chris Chomick won the boy's bike category, and Tera Laing winaning the girl's bike category.

Roy Teake of Sherwood Park won the antique auto's section with his Model T Wayne Lusk won with the best buggy Novelty as the best dressed man and woman were Annette and Paul Hammercuster Ervin Currie of Viking won with his heavy horse team

Ken Zemanuk also of Viking won for the best horse team, and Ben Jacobsen won the working horse class category. Best motorbike won by Vance Dorask from Hilliard The Chamber of Commerce entry was won by Camrose The best dressed cowboy, and cowgirl under 13 were Sengie and Wanda Jacobsen from Viking Jack Laing and Genal Wallas were winners in the Saddled Horse category for 14-year-olds and over

The stage was set for the professional cowboys at the largest one day rodeo in Canada Approximately $8,500 total prize money was up for grabs with the cowboys getting at least two chances in each event.

Steve Dunham of Turner Valley won the Bareback Bronc Riding with a score of 74. Art Boyd a native of Winfield captured the Saddle Bronc Riding title The king of Bull Riding for 1984 is Jim Finkbeiner of Duchess, with the top score of 79 Rich Kohorst from Calgary took the Steer Wrestling with a time of 4.7 seconds Hailing from Lethbridge, Guy Perusak won the Calf Roping in 9.2 seconds.

With only two teams managing to catch, saddle and ride a wild bronc, the best proved to be Duane Ashbacher of Hoosier, Sask.

Another milestone of the Stampede was that it's the first time Pony Chariot Races have bee incorporated into the rodeo

Over the two-day event the winner with the best combined times was Ben Rookes from Liveleng, Sask., with a time of 203.12. Rookes is sponsored by Sky Farm Aviation Placing second was Dennis Sinnard of Chauvin with a time of 205.29 Sinnard is sponsored by X Anchor Bar Ranch.

The Best Dressed Chariot winner was Wendy Sannachan of Metiskow sponsored by Melin's Trucking Char. Sannachan placed third in this event with a time of 205.52

Butch Sannachan of Char had a minor mishap as one of his lead horses lost it's footing in the chuckwagon race, but fortunately the horse and driver escaped injury

Pulling off the win in the chuckwagon event was Harold Hegg from Sedgewick with a time of 207.52 Al Matier of Fort Saskatchewan placed second in a time of 209.82

The chuckwagon race brought the 1984 Bruce Stampede to a close with almost 8,000 in attendance on Sunday.

The crowd was warmed by the antics of clown Ricky Tley Wanchak of Vegreville, and kept in suspense by the thrilling rodeo action

Ryley Blue J's win

After an undefeated season, the Ryley Blue J's finished first in the western division and started the semi-finals on June 30th against the Tofield Triumphs

The series went the full three games with Ryley winning the first game 8-1 and Tofield coming back in the second game to score a close 10-9 victory

Ryley, not to be denied, won the third and deciding game 16-1

This brought the final series against the Viking Cometa, who finished first in the eastern division. This series also went the full three games

Ryley had a very strong showing, winning decisively 23-4. The second game, played in Viking, saw a 7th inning rally by the Viking Cometa lifting them to a 18-15 victory.

The final game saw the teams back in Ryley, with the Blue J's holding the lead throughout the game, 14-8, and the championship series two games to one

Bethany news

by Allen Swanson

Meet the Residents

A Bethany Nursing Home resident who was born and raised in Nebraska is Hassel Bronson. She came to Alberta in 1927 and lived several years on a farm northeast of Hardisty After the passing of her husband she lived in Hughenden then moved to the Town of Hardisty. From here she moved to the Flagstaff Lodge at Sedgewick where she lived for five years She has been a resident of Bethany since May 1980. Mrs. Bronson enjoys doing fancy work and knitting She does quite a bit reading and is appreciative of the services of the Camrose Public Library and the IODE for making books available

The July birthday party for the Auxiliary Hospital folks was held last Wednesday Music was provided by Rose Lofgren and Fred Weiler. Last week we mentioned those who lead in sing songs. Another one who serves in this way is Wendy Johnson.

The Camrose Gideons had the Sunday service in the chapel Arnold Haveland led the service, Ed Lilke read the lessons and Arthur Foss brought the message. The pianist for the service was Ruby Nordstrom.

The Camrose Fair is an important event around here Quite a few of our folks have entries in the fair Residents staff and volunteers have been also devoting time in getting the float ready for the parade

Quite a few organizations contribute to our work here. The Camrose Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion recently gave a generous donation to our work We also acknowledge a generous gift from the estate of the late Nellie Marquchak who had been in our auxiliary hospital.

Students from the Musicamrose that is in session at Camrose Lutheran College have been sharing their talents at Bethany

We are people first

by Sandy Whitehouse

This week the R.I.P. (Recreation Integration Program) people would like to let you know what we've been up to and what some of the upcoming activities will be. First of all, I would like to welcome Susan Urlowe to our team. Esther Lange left last week for Europe, and Susan is now working with Esther's group. Welcome aboard Susan!

With the assistance and cooperation of the staff at the residences, we have been able to enjoy the following trips and activities: water slides at Sylvan Lake, 10 days camping at Miquelon Lake, one week camping at Kananaskis, the Stampede and Calaway Park. Activities closer to home and not so expensive have so far included tennis, racquetball, swimming, golfing, biking, movies, barbecues, days at the lake, fairs, senior games, the wave pool in Edmonton, rodeos, horseback riding, arts and crafts, play ball and frisbee in the parks, K-days, Bruce Stampede, the swans and on a more social note, coffee with friends and family, and social gatherings.

At this point I would like to express our thanks to Doris Hirsch and her family and friends for helping us initiate a horsemanship program. Doris and her team will teach riding skills, how to cool down a horse after riding, and how to care for the tack. We greatly appreciate this generous offer of horses, time and knowledge.

On Saturday, July 21st, we held a car wash at Johnsons Gulf Self Serve Station. Everyone worked very hard, and the proceeds will be going towards our wind-up barbecue, on the 15th of August. Here, I would like to sincerely thank Larry Johnson and his family for the use of his service station, and the help and encouragement they gave. Also, we would like to thank Camrose Recreation for the use of their sign and letters in the Co-op parking lot.

Feedback at this point remains positive and encouraging, and has aided us in the selection of activities. We feel our program has been received with open minds, and warmth of heart, and has really made our job worthwhile.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Joe Kudrowich celebrated his 75th birthday on July 22nd with most of his children and grandchildren attending the celebration. Also among his guests were his sister, Mrs. Pauline Hrabec from Holden and his sister Annie Kudrowich and Caroline Fillinger of Ponoka, his nephew Charlie Fillinger and his wife, [illegible]

Mrs. Frances Hanson who has not been too well the past several days, is a patient in Viking Hospital.

[illegible] took in the Vegreville Fair one day last week.

The Holden Homecoming committee and volunteers held a meeting on July 19th and made their final arrangements for the celebration to be held August 4-5-6. If anyone has school artifacts, it would be appreciated if they would kindly loan them for display in Holden School and bring them in to the school gym to set up on Friday.

Mrs. Helen Bilyk has had her grandson, Jason Zane, son of her daughter and husband, Diane and Jerry Stubinsky, staying with her for the past week.

Alan Tiedemann, his wife Bobbi-Jo and children, Sherry and Shane of Edmonton, were Friday visitors with his family, Helen and Jim Zwierschke and brother, Robert.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Taylor and daughter Cathryne and her friend Tina of St. Albert were Saturday visitors with Brian's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor.

A number of residents of Holden and District took in the Bruce Stampede.

Shoot is planned

The annual Alberta Black Powder Association provincial championships will be held in Camrose this holiday weekend.

The three-day event will be held at the Skunk Hollow Muzzle Loaders' range, three miles south of 30 Street and 46 Avenue.

The range will open for practise each morning and events will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday and at 9 a.m. on Sunday and Monday. The range will close each day at 5 p.m. and all events will be finished by 4 p.m. on Monday.

Competitors must be members of the Alberta Black Powder Association.

Shotgun events will begin at 1 p.m each day and will run as long as there are enough entrants to warrant a relay and will conclude at 5 p.m. Cartridge shotgunners should bring their own shells.

Many colorful costumes will be worn for Saturday's primitive muzzleloading events which will include the quail walk, pistol duel, grouse picking, bullet splitting and knife and tomahawk throw contest.

A pot luck supper will be held at 6 p.m. on Saturday in the club house and a bonfire will be lit at 8 p.m. and a sing-along will follow at 9:30 p.m.

Sundays events will include childrens races at 3 and 5 p.m. as well as a supervised air rifle event for children 12 and under and a supervised .22 rifle event for 13 to 15 year olds. A pancake breakfast will be held Sunday from 7:30 to 9 a.m. for competitors and their families.

Prizes and awards will be presented on Monday afternoon at 4:30 p.m.

The Skunk Hollow Muzzle Loaders will be cooking hamburgers and will have a concession open each day. The kitchen will be open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily.

Camping space and water are also available at the site.

A nominal registration fee will be charged to the competitors as well as a fee of $1 per event.

Champions

Recognizing Alcoholism and Assisting The Alcoholic

Alcoholism doesn't happen overnight. It develops gradually and, as it does, it begins to bring difficulties into the person's family, job and social life. When alcohol causes problems in any of these areas and when these problems get worse and worse, then we can say that alcoholism exists.

Most alcoholics manage to keep their secret pretty well concealed. How then can they be distinguished from the social drinkers around us? There are some signs.

Social drinkers use alcohol to provide relaxation and add a sense of good times to social gatherings. With the onset of alcoholism, however, some experience a gradual loss of control over their intake: when they start drinking, they can't stop until they are intoxicated. They saying, "one is too many and a thousand are not enough," applies to them. For still others, loss of control means having to keep a certain concentration of alcohol in their blood at all times. They may never become overly intoxicated, but if this level is not maintained they experience discomfort.

The alcoholic will justify his or her drinking with all kinds of excuses, blaming spouse, boss or job. An alcoholic will deny his or her condition. He says and believes that he doesn't drink any more or any differently than anyone else and that he could stop anytime he wanted to. Alcoholics even deceive themselves into believing that no problem exists. In fact, they are usually the last to know.

Most people would agree that the alcoholic is ultimately responsible for his or her drinking. But it is important to realize that the way alcoholism develops depends to some extent on the people close to the alcoholic and their responses.

Medical problems, financial difficulties, accidents, involvement with the police, the loss of status, losing a job, (or the threat of losing a job), are some of the difficulties often encountered by alcoholics. When these problems occur, the drinker usually received assistance and support from people who are significant in his or her life. Clearly, not only alcoholics receive assistance when things get rough. But with them we know that these problems will eventually come and that they will get worse over time.

The assistance given by friends, employers, family, relatives, etc., often takes the form of covering up for the alcoholic and helping him or her from having to face the consequences of drinking. The "let's give him one more chance" attitude becomes common. But this response only tends to cushion the alcoholic. By sincerely trying to help we are unwittingly supporting alcoholism.

There usually comes a point when family, friends, employers, etc., get tired of giving support and second chances to the alcoholic. By constantly shouting the goodwill of others, he or she eventually loses everything. This is called "hitting bottom".

Fortunately, more and more alcoholics are receiving assistance before this terminal stage. Recovery often begins when these closely associated with problem drinkers become concerned, aware, and involved. We never know if the alcoholic will take responsibility for his drinking, but we can sometimes nudge him in that direction.

If you are closely involved with a problem drinker, or know someone who is, and would like some assistance, please call our AADAC offices.

Monday is holiday

Monday is a civic holiday in most communities throughout Alberta.

The Town of Tofield, along with the Villages of Holden and Ryley, have declared Monday to be a civic holiday in their respective communities.

Civic offices will be closed and it is likely that only service stations and restaurants will be open.

Because of the holiday, the deadlines for The Mercury will have to be changed.

The Mercury's advertising representative, Leah Caracca, will make her rounds on Friday, instead of Monday.

Advertisers and news correspondents are asked to note this change. Their cooperation would be appreciated.

BRTA is concerned

. . . about budworms

The spruce budworm problems in East Central Alberta are a major concern of the Battle River Tourist Association.

At a recent BRTA meeting, members voiced considerable [illegible] with government assistance that has been forthcoming.

It was noted that the Provincial Government had offered help in the identification and treatment for spruce budworm infestations, but that no financial aid was available to carry out the treatments that private entrepreneurs are faced with.

BRTA Manager Sylvia Clemens told members that one tourist type facility in the Battle River Valley could be wiped out by the infestation if they are is not sprayed within the next year.

Members were in total agreement that provincial ministers of tourism, agriculture and forestry must be contacted immediately, expressing the BRTA's alarm and concern over the problem.

Planning for the 1985 tourist season was furthered during the July 19th session when members accepted a bid for the printing of 35,000 visitors' guides and made plans for reserving space as various sportsmen's shows. Members were advised that a Travel Alberta zone assistance program grant amounting to $65,700 had been approved and will be used for promotional projects.

Members were told to alert their respective communities to be fully prepared for Pope John Paul II's visit to Edmonton in September as it is expected that many people will have to travel through the zone on their way to and from Edmonton.

Forty members were in attendance at the session which was held at Tillmen Beach on Dried Meat Lake.

The next BRTA meeting will take place in Coronation on August 16th.

Announcing the Small Business Equity Corporation Program

A NEW WAY TO INVEST IN ALBERTA'S SMALL BUSINESSES

To stimulate new pools of equity capital for investment in Alberta small businesses, a new act is now in place to provide for the formation of Small Business Equity Corporations (SBECs). Investments in small business from these corporations will stimulate new business growth, as well as offer existing businesses opportunities to improve their present financial position.

SBECs will be privately owned, privately capitalized and privately managed. The Government of Alberta will provide to qualifying individual or corporate investors a tax-free incentive equal to 30% of their investment.

If you are a potential investor, or a small business owner looking for investment capital, contact your MLA or any of the following offices of Alberta Tourism and Small Business.

The Church That "Can Do"

There is a story from the ministry of Jesus that is both potent and challenging in its message. It is found in Matthew [illegible]

Jesus had taken Peter, James, and John up to the mountain to pray and they experienced the "transfiguration" of Jesus. Jesus had left "The Church", consisting of the other nine Disciples and whatever other followers there may have been, behind to carry on the ministry to which he had called them.

A man brought his son to the Disciples for healing and they were powerless to help. When Jesus came down from the mountain, the man went running to him and said, "I brought my son to your Disciples that they might heal him, and they could not" (17:16)

Every pastor, elder and caring Christian should be challenged by this incident. As one concerned with the life and vitality of the Church, I ask myself, how many people come into our church for worship and go away saying, "I came for help, and you could not?" Is our love broad enough to encompass everyone? Is our attitude Christian enough to accept people as Jesus accepted them? Does the redeeming spirit of God's love characterize the church's ministry?

God's love to people is not filtered through any barrier at all. It does not depend on creed nor denominational dogma, not on narrowly interpreted points of doctrine nor legalistic code. The Christian fellowship that "can do" is one that is open, receptive, and affirms the faith of every person who acknowledges faith in the redeeming power of God.

Re: 1984 Annual Inspection

The Department of Municipal Affairs Act requires that an inspection of each municipality be conducted annually and that a Report be made to the Chief Executive Officer on the results of the inspection.

As has been the case for several years, the administration and legislative practices of the municipality are being maintained at a high standard. Council and the administration are commended on the high degree of fiscal responsibility which is evident. Systems and procedures were current and the requirements of the Provincial Statutes are being observed.

This Report must be presented at the annual meeting of the Village if one is held in 1985, or if no annual meeting is held before April 30, this Report shall be published by that date in an issue of a newspaper circulated within the municipality.

Also, your written acknowledgement of this Report is requested.

Beaverhill plan promoted

by [illegible]

Like this . . .

District Home Economist Maureen Bauman illustrates the importance of metric measurement at a jam and jelly making seminar last Friday.

"We want the Town of Tofield put on the map," said developer Bill Scott to approximately 40 people last Wednesday, at the Beaverhill Lake Development Project public meeting.

Presented before the public was a proposal to construct campground, washroom, picnic, and restaurant facilities, with a designated bird-watching area for tourists.

"The whole bottom line is to inject business into Tofield," said Scott who believes just as the group, (The Tourism of Tofield Foundation) that this five-year project would not only attract tourism to Tofield, but inject "new money and pride" into the town.

What the panel members wanted was feedback and input from the community at the meeting. The foundation members felt it necessary to get response from the public before the actual planning of the project started, "So it's not a waste of time and energy," said Diane Scott.

Marketing and Advertising Consultant John Wojtek indicated that, "What we intend to do is help the community out, and establish a good handle on what we're going to put up."

It should be confirmed at the end of August if the foundation's proposal has been accepted by the Federal Government.

With a six-month deadline, implementation of broad-based research will begin involving consultants, firms, surveys, and much more to almost make this project fail safe.

Project Officer at Employment and Immigration, Maryanne Kunio represented the Federal Government. The grant has been made feasible through the Local Employment Assistance and Development Program (LEAD) as "the intent of the program is to listen to communities," said Kunio.

The LEAD program is designed to increase the number of permanent jobs in the communities with a population of less than 50,000 and having an employment problem, but having the potential to increase employment.

The maximum amount of funding available per year is $300,000 as the program goes through planning and operational stages.

"We want to make it a 365 day project," said Wojtek. The key for a successful project is management and restricting access to the bird-watching area.

The ideal location for the site would be just off Highway 14, with first class facilities, but not too close to the migrating and shore birds, so not to disrupt their environment.

What the group has proposed is to reconstruct a grain elevator for a restaurant, and access to the birds by covered wagons for tourists. Cam Finaly wants "people involved in our environment" and what better way?

Wojtek assured the audience that every type of conceivable research would be investigated thoroughly.

Public Forums On Industrial & Science Strategy For Albertans 1985 to 1990

What the Forums Are All About

The Alberta Government has produced a White Paper entitled "An Industrial & Science Strategy for Albertans 1985 to 1990", and now invites provincial groups, local organizations and individuals to join in the dialogue and present their ideas and views about the white paper.

Larry Shaben, Hugh Planche, Dick Johnston and Keith Alexander, M.L.A.'s, will conduct public forums for this purpose and will schedule presentation times for submissions. Priority will be given to province-wide organizations and time may not permit all submissions to be heard by the committee, but all written briefs will receive careful consideration.

Where and When

The public forums will commence on Monday, September 10, 1984 and end on Friday, September 28, 1984 at the following locations, dates and times.

Contact Your M.L.A.

Individuals wishing to make their views known are encouraged to do so through their M.L.A. who will make arrangements to meet with them. Government M.L.A.'s will be advertising locally when they will be available to meet with individuals.

Your written ideas are especially welcome.

For information or copies of the White Paper, please call 427-2251 in Edmonton 8:00 a.m. - 10:00 p.m. OR 297-8464 in Calgary, 8:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., Monday - Friday. If you are dialing long distance — Please access these numbers through the R.I.T.E. operator.

IN MEMORIAM

HOUBLE [illegible] In loving memory of my dear wife [illegible] my mother and grand mother who passed away Aug 3 1978

A happy home was here enjoyed
How sweet the memory still
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill
We miss you more than anyone knows
As each day passes the emptiness grows
The tears we shed we can wipe away
But the ache in our hearts
Will always stay

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by husband John children and grandchildren 48c 9004

CHRISTIAN Harry who passed away August 3rd 1982
As time unfolds another year
Our memories keep you ever near Silent thoughts of times together
Hold memories that will last forever
– Sadly missed by Anne, Ionne and Pamela 48c 9003

CHRISTIAN In loving memory of Harry Christian who passed away August 3 1982
He left us quietly
His thoughts unknown
But left us a memory
We are proud to own
So treasure him Lord
In your garden of rest
For when on earth
He was one of the best
Ever remembered and sadly missed by Metro and family

Crops need rain

Rain is rapidly becoming a serious need for farmers as the heat and wind of the past week is causing serious dry conditions.

Temperatures have approached near record levels and accompanied by steady winds, caused considerable drying, leaving little or no moisture in the ground for the crops.

According to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool, growing conditions range from good, down to poor

Farmers in the Holden area desperately need rain as conditions there are described as being poor while most other regions are still suggesting that their conditions are good, but are on the borderline of turning to poor

All indicate that a lack of rain would hamper the filling out process of crops and that, in some areas, growth has been somewhat stunted which would hurt at harvest time in picking crops up.

Most farmers agree that rain has to come right away as swathing is expected to begin about the middle of next month (August) which is only two weeks away

Open house set

An annual open house and field tour has been planned for the Dodds-Round Hill area by TransAlta Utilities and Fording Coal Limited

This year's event has been scheduled for Aug 7th in the Shaw Community Hall and will get underway at seven o'clock in the evening

Walter McNary has been named as chairman for the evening's program

The two companies are heavily involved in a program to demonstrate that land disturbed by surface mining can be reclaimed for agricultural purposes, to the same (or higher) level than had been the case prior to mining being carried out

A report will be submitted by McAllister Environmental Services of Calgary with complete information on the 1983 reclamation and revegetation program that had been carried out on the area proposed for a coal strip mine in the Dodds-Round Hill region

Holden celebrates its 75th

Nice hat

Roberta Bates of the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary models this early 1900's bonnet at the hat show on holiday Monday.

by Michelle Bjornson

Over 2,000 people returned to pay tribute to the golden heritage of Holden at the Homecoming, commemorating 75 years of incorporation as a village, this past weekend.

A gift from generation to generation, the heritage lived on, as people from all across Canada and the United States journeyed back to touch the Green Green Grass of Home.

Well over 1,200 people attended the official opening ceremony Saturday, as masters of ceremonies Ben and Walter Lutz introduced the dignitaries.

After the singing of O Canada, Emmanuel Evangelical Church Rev. Lawson Brown gave the invocation.

Welcomed by warm handshakes and hospitality of the people of Holden, Vegreville MP Don Mazankowski presented a certificate to Mayor Kevin Stambaugh.

"It is very encouraging to see the great numbers here today," said Clever Bar MLA John Batiuk, as "truly it is a real time to pay tribute to the pioneers." Batiuk then presented the mayor with a commemorative plaque on behalf of the Provincial Government.

On behalf of the County of Beaver, Reeve John Warner extended greetings to all who contributed to the development of the community, the men and women who laid the ground work.

A "Salute to Holden" celebrating 75 memorable years, Ben and Walter Lutz sang the anniversary song by composer Gertrude Misners of Ryley. Co-chairmen of the homecoming committee Ken Sharpe made the presentation to Misners, the song contest winner.

Poem contest winner Lloyd Cannon of Edmonton recited his poem entitled "Holden Reunion" as it is true "How time moved on, and it's a fact of life. For many, dreams come true, while for others there was strife. Now today, as we joyfully meet old friends face to face We'll reminisce fond memories at a marathon pace," read Cannon. Mayor Kevin Stambaugh then presented a cheque to Cannon.

The Celebration Band of the Emmanuel Evangelical Church of Holden, with six members present, performed a musical selection.

"Two years of planning went into this event," said Mayor Stambaugh of a "most memorable and joyous occasion."

Spokesman of the historical book committee Earl Hardy recited a poem of his own, "Homestead Home" as pioneers "Set up a place to call home."

Former MLA and school teacher Hardy said "I've never worked with such a dedicated group." In 1981, the idea for the historical book was conceived, with research actually beginning in April of 1982.

Entitled "Hemstitches and Heckenroos" a history of Holden and District, over 15,000 man hours were sacrificed by the dedication of 14 volunteers who typed, edited and audited reports, drew maps, and researched mounds of information.

Response for pictures and research material came from people located in the United States, and all across Canada to compose the 700 page book of memorabilia.

Mayor Stambaugh asked for all the people who worked on the historical book to stand up and be recognized for their efforts and contributions.

Stambaugh unveiled the first edition of the historical book, and these 15 deserters will get their names engraved on the book which will be displayed in a public place to remain in the Village of Holden.

The second and third editions of the historical book were auctioned off by Michael Zewtuik, with the proceeds going to cover publishing costs.

County seeks chief

by Michelle Bjornson

"It's a co-operative arrangement," said County of Beaver Reeve John Warner, referring to the volunteer firemen's program, as discussed on Wednesday was a proposal to incorporate a county fire chief.

Present at the meeting were 12 representatives from the County of Beaver, Tofield, Ryley, Holden and Viking.

The representatives discussed the proposal as the county fire chief's duties have to be defined, but primarily the fire chief will take on a co-ordinating and administrative role.

The working hours, areas of responsibility and funding will have to be decided upon.

Currently the County of Beaver has no fire chief, and a replacement is needed.

Former fire chief, the County of Beaver Agricultural Fieldman, Laurie Weatherill, was doing two jobs with the time allowance of one and the work overload proved to be detrimental. As the meeting, chairman County of Beaver councillor Don Rosaghan pointed out that "It is almost impossible for one man to do both."

The fire chief will be a part-time county employee working approximately 16 hours per week making recommendations and prescribing regulations.

The tentative plan is subject to changes as Garth Bancroft suggested that the representatives take all of the presented information back and talk to their fire chiefs, and get input from their respective councils.

Reply by the representatives will be submitted in writing to the County of Beaver at the earliest by Aug. 24, and in any event "The county will be taking steps one way or another," said Rosaghan.

Ag. tour is held

by Michelle Bjornson

Approximately 20 people took advantage of the personally guided agricultural tour conducted by the County of Beaver which departed from the Bardo Community Centre at 10 a.m. Friday.

Stanford and Jim Boettger insisted that eyes "Feast" on the results of this liquid fertilizer in its first year of registered production on the market.

As site co-ordinators of the Conklin product Boettger's demonstrated many plots tested with variable dosages of dry, liquid, and combined fertilizers. Comparatively, the combined product proved the most successful at this stage, judging by the size of the barley kernals being one-half inch longer.

Feast uses three gallons per acre as opposed to dry fertilizer which uses 60 to 70 lbs. per acre for application. After harvest yields will be counted, i.e. weight and bushels harvested.

Arnold Weber demonstrated barley variety plots. Arnold and his brother Marvin, who farm together have been growing Ladac barley for three years. Ladac barley heads out much earlier than other varieties, spending a longer amount of time developing the seed, but it doesn't seem to be a drawback, as last year an average of 70 bushels per acre were reaped.

Ron Van Raalten representative for Dow Chemical, spoke on the company's most recently developed herbicide, Lontrel. It is the only effective herbicide on the market which can totally control Canadian Thistle.

Maximum results are noticed from 16 to 21 days after spraying. The only drawback of the herbicide is the cost to the farmer from between $21 to $31 per acre, depending on the amount of desired control over a designated period of time.

The last item on the agenda before lunch was a talk by the County of Beaver secretary-treasurer, Garth Bancroft on the development at Black Nugget Lake.

Under the county's supervision is an "environmentally sensitive" restoration program, so that vegetation can be renewed in the area. Over 2,000 trees were planted last year in the 20 foot park area, as eventually campers will be using the land.

Covering over 34,000 acres the Blackfoot Grazing Pasture is being overhauled. The 5.4 million dollar government project is undergoing land divisions for grazing areas for cattle and wildlife, three recreational skating areas,

Western choice

With possibly two exceptions, it's hard to imagine two men whose backgrounds are more dissimilar then Elmer Knudtson, leader of the former Western Canada Concept, and Hu Harries, former Liberal Member of Parliament, both of whom saw the need for a distinctively Western Party. The former headed a party which espoused Separation from Canada, (although it has now renounced that concept) while the latter retains deep and close ties to Canada. Indeed, we even go back to his parents (and there must be few today who can make that claim) who may not have been, but who typify the United Empire Loyalist, the western immigrant from Grey County or Bruce County in Ontario, for whom nothing would be more important or more natural than the continuation and the preservation of our country.

The similarities lie in the fact that both have been very successful in the business world, and both see the futility of the West trying to gain any kind of voice, any kind of recognition, through the established political parties.

For years we have been naive enough to think the West might gain recognition if only a Tory government could be elected.

For years we have felt most of the injustices faced by the West revolved around the continuing facts of existence of a Liberal government in Ottawa, one made up very largely of members from Quebec, with a great deal of support from Ontario, and sometimes from the Atlantic provinces.

In other words, the classic concept that the election was decided before the votes from Thunder Bay west were ever counted.

It may be that way again. It may be that way forever.

But we have finally come to recognize that whether we in the West elect a Conservative in this region, or a Liberal, or a New Democrat, we are still sending to Ottawa just one more soldier in the ranks of some leader of a party dominated by Central Canada.

We have the highest respect for men like Stan Schellenberger, or Arnold Malone, or Don Mazankowski, all M.P.s from this region. We had felt westerners were electing WESTERN representatives to the House of Commons, members who might voice WESTERN opinions, not just soldiers in the troops of a Central Canada leader. Yet we have watched in dismay as too often these voices were muted by party interests, by party solidarity, by party politics.

Party meaning a party dominated in Central Canada. Commanded from Central Canada. Answering to the needs or desires or aspirations of Central Canada. Dominated by leaders all demanding the same unswerving obedience enunciated by Brian Mulroney, "My way or the doorway."

We can think of few local groups, City Council, County Council, School Boards, library board, recreation board, and so on, who boast as many as a dozen members on their executive. Yet we think these groups will admit it is a rare occasion when they face unanimity in decisions.

How, then, can we possibly expect unanimity in groups numbering a hundred or more? How can we possibly expect unanimous votes from all three parties in the Commons, if our Members have not been reduced to the level of knee-jerk respondents to the demands of the leaders, or the party whips?

We can have no knowledge of what goes on in caucus, of the arguments generated within, but we do see the results when it comes to the House.

We can't even imagine, for instance, if there were any arguments over Bill C-169, a Bill to restrict the level of free speech in elections. We can't know if Mr. Malone, or Mr. Mazankowski, or Mr. Schellenberger, objected to the concept, or the principle, of curtailing the rights of every individual to voice his opinion during election time.

All we can know is that there was no objection, from any party, from any member, when this Bill came to the floor of the House. Objectors, if there were any, stayed away.

How can this possibly be? We can't get unanimity from less than a dozen on City Council. On County Council. On School Boards, or any local group ... where we're all friends.

How can there possibly be unanimity in a House of more than [illegible] members!

We all know it isn't possible. We also know that Bill C169 was only one of many examples.

We all want to continue working with the established parties, the Grits, the Tories, the N.D.P.

Many of us will probably give them one more try.

A few of us, probably, will switch our vote to the Confederation of Regions West party, in the belief that only by registering a general protest, only by trying to elect a balance-of-power bloc, can the West be seen and heard and felt.

But of one thing we are quite certain.

If the established parties don't bring the West far more into the circle of Confederation after this election, if affairs continue to be dominated by Central Canada, if Western members continue to be simply components in the arsenal of Ontario-Quebec leaders ("I've got 'X' number of votes ... how many do you have?") the switch to CORW or its successor will be as massive as the switch to Social Credit under Solon Low in the mid-Thirties.

And carry incredibly more weight and far-reaching implications for the future of Canada.

Loose Ends

by Carol Livingstone

[illegible]

I learned something last summer: If you have a dog with you on the beach, there will always be sand on your blanket.

At the beach, Sam drew a bigger crowd than honey does flies, quickly befriending half the beach population. Unfortunately, he also drew the flies and the new friends all possessed a vocabulary that consisted of "Doggie!", accompanied by a pointed finger, or "Does that dog bite?" Not one of them was over three feet tall.

Ours is a strange dog. Poised and quivering, he was ready to join our children — anyone's children — in their play, as long as it didn't include getting wet. His fear of water was equalled only by his eagerness to disrupt my husband and I as we tried to read on our blanket. A dog on a blanket is worth about two buckets of sand.

I also learned that it is difficult to play a game of Cribbage with a grown Collie-cum-mutt insinuating himself first under the small table attached to the side of the trailer and then under my lawn chair. Of course, once under the chair, he tried to stand up. Finding himself trapped, he panicked. Moments later we were playing 52-pick-up.

People say that with a dog in camp you don't have to worry about bears. Well, there's an exception to every rule, and we knew that Sam would be it. We figured that any dog who found meeting a little grey poodle a hair-raising experience would be the first to evacuate camp, should a bear lumber by. In fact, we were sure, if the keys were in the truck, he'd be gone before the rest of us could throw ourselves into the box. (Our vet says Sam has a "timid nature". We just call him "chicken dog.")

When we did have a visit from a bear — three, in fact — Sam fooled us. He didn't run. He didn't bark an alarm, either. He sat there, wagging his tail, probably hoping that the "big doggies" would come in and play. When scolded for being a lousy watchdog, Sam hung out his tongue and panted contentedly.

Sam really enjoyed his first camping vacation with his humans, right up until he had a run-in with a skunk ... but that's another story.

Report from AADAC

Alcohol: Anxiety Reducer, Anxiety Creator

This is the first of two articles dealing with anxiety and alcohol.

The Scene

Suppose you see five people sitting in the local pub, drinking and laughing it up, having a good time. But if you could really see inside them you might learn that each is there for a different reason.

One is feeling good, perhaps because of a job promotion. Another is there because he is always there; he is a steady drinker. Another is having family problems and doesn't want to talk about it. The fourth has nothing else to do, while the fifth is the most interesting of them all.

The fifth may be at the bar because he (or she) is nervous or uptight and is drinking to calm down. A few drinks and the butterflies disappear. He settles down, relaxes and begins to feel better. This fifth drinker drinks to overcome ANXIETY. He is medicating himself with booze just as he would if he took aspirin for a headache.

Drinking and Anxiety

The person we are talking about is jumpy a good deal of the time and he does not know why. He is different from the individual who has just been through a rough experience or a frightening situation and while still feeling shaken, takes a drink. Our fifth drinker doesn't know what he is afraid of, and that's the problem. That is what anxiety is — a mixture of fear and uncertainty. Our fifth drinker is experiencing a nameless panic, a panic not connected with a specific event. It is, in fact, a condition looking for events to which it will connect itself. Our drinker is not aware that he is drinking to treat his anxiety. He is here to make himself "feel" better. Booze does this for him — sometimes. Sometimes he feels that he is self-medicating. Have you ever heard someone say, "Just what the doctor ordered," after the first sip?

Not a Cure but a Crutch

Treating anxiety with booze might be all right IF IT WORKED. But it DOESN'T. Alcohol is probably the worst attempted cure for any chronic illness. Alcohol may relieve the symptoms, butterflies, shakes, worry, paranoia, and feelings of inferiority but only at first and then only temporarily. Because alcohol is a depressant drug it dulls these feelings and the physical tension associated with them.

Unfortunately, our fifth drinker, drinking to relieve tension, is learning that when he feels anxious a drink helps. He probably learns this lesson too well and from then on when anxiety hits he knows where to turn.

He doesn't realize it but he is becoming conditioned. Several things begin to happen now. Booze dissolves inhibitions so that after the first comforting drink a dulling of the sense of anxiety occurs but fear and other painful feelings which he is not dealing with, are let loose. On they come, like a tidal wave. These are the feelings which were the source of his initial anxiety. Now they surface even in the drinking situation!

What began as self-treatment has become self-destruction. He is now more anxious after a drinking spree than he was before it started.

If he continues drinking, our fifth drinker will develop an additional worry. He worries about drinking too much, about drinking alone, about morning drinking, and about declining work performance. These fears about his drinking pattern are REAL and he carries them along with the initial anxiety. In addition to his "free-floating" anxiety, he may now have a second, more real problem: ALCOHOLISM.

The second article in this two-part series will talk about effective ways of coping with anxiety.

Permits not needed for hauling of hay

EDMONTON — Alberta Transportation Minister Marvin Moore announced today regulation changes which recognize the specific needs of the agricultural community in the transportation of hay and straw for distances not exceeding 50 kilometres.

Under the amended regulations, permits are no longer required when loads of less than 4.0 metres (or 13 ft.) in width are transported during daylight hours provided that when deck extensions are used, they must be folded or retracted in width to 2.8 metres (9 ft. 2 in.) when the vehicle is empty. Loads in excess of 4 metres (13 ft.) in width as well as loads over 5 metres (16 ft. 5 in.) in height require a special permit from the Motor Transport Branch, which is available at no cost. Loads hauled at nighttime will continue to require lighting and special signing, depending upon the width.

These permits and additional information are available from any of the vehicle inspection stations and district offices of the Motor Transport Branch or from the Motor Transport Branch Office in Red Deer.

Echoes from Em

To the preacher, life's a sermon,
To the joker, life's a jest;
To the miser, life is money,
To the loafer, life is rest.
To the lawyer, life's a trial,
To the poet, life's a song,
To the doctor, life's a patient
That needs treatment right along.
To the soldiers, life's a battle,
To the teachers, life's a school,
Life's a great think to a thinker,
But a failure to a fool.
To the man upon the engine
Life's a long and heavy grade,
It is growing to the farmer,
To the merchant life's a trade.
Life's a long vacation
To the man who loves to work,
But a constant effort
To shun duty, to the shirk.
To the faithful, earnest worker,
Life's a story, ever new;
Life is what we try to make it,
Friends what is this life to you?

James Tamchuk purchased the second edition at the price of $500. Bry an Sherman bought the third edition at the price of $575, dedicating the book to Beth Campbell who "I feel is the most influential to children in the community," said Sherman

Credit should be given to the executive of the historical society, book committee members, and honorary committee co-chairman and [illegible].

Over 1,750 of the 2,000 published historical books were sold, at $42 each

The Holden Community Hall was packed for the dance Friday night as the roar of conversation resounded almost louder than the band

Day two started off with church services and afterwards, a pot-luck dinner

A time for talking over the 'good old days' was evident all weekend, and especially between some 20 former school teachers of Holden and District, at the school display in the afternoon.

At the Sports Ground, friendly rivalries were renewed on the ball diamond and at the horseshoe pits. First place in the A event of the horseshoe tourney went to Olaf Sunflo and Ed Kabush of Bawlf, while Ted Kondrat of Sherwood Park and Tom Shako of Holden topped the B event ledger.

It was almost impossible to cool down on Sunday but many jammed into the Beaver Arts Centre for the variety show at 7:30 p.m.

The first time under lights and first production of time "How Time Flies" went off very well, in fact so many wanted to take in the show that two performances were held

The scene was set in the 1920's at Holden, progressing to the 1960's before scene three which was 48 years later at the Holden Homecoming Reunion

"I'm sure I don't understand the meaning of homecoming like you people do," said Master of Ceremonies Ken Sharpe who introduced the thirteen different acts and performers

Under the direction of Georgina Klammer, students of her dance school performed a jazz and ballet numbers

Maureen Tiedemann played a piano solo, and Edmonton Opera singer Larry Benson, a native of Bruce sang a Scottish folk song.

Horest Wilfred, John and Ronnie Bilyk, Johnny's Serenaders performed the prelude and during the concert

Nick Bilyk played music from the Ukraine on his dulcimer, and Deanna Brown of Tofield performed a ballet number. Elizabeth Harrison of Lavoy did a jazz number choreographed to the title theme of the movie Flashdance

Over 700 people showed up for hotcakes on the last day of the reunning extravaganza, standing in line until 10 30 p.m.

The parade followed beginning shortly after 11 p.m., as over 35 entries went on display downtown, being introduced by auctioneer Michael Zowtak as the exhibits passed by Art Hammer of Vegreville won the antique car category, and that town won again in the clubs' and organizations' class with their Chamber of Commerce float.

Beaver Motors Ltd. of Holden with Johnny's Serenaders on top of the float, took the commercial float. Best theme was won by Lucky Dollar Foods (Ken Sharpe of Holden, owner).

There were six parade marshalls who were 75 years of age and older who lived in Holden.

Eleven bicycles, 13 motorbikes, 20 saddled horses, and five horse teams paraded by Bike category for eight-year-olds and under was taken by Jonathen Carlson of Calgary. Bikes nine and over was won by Cindy Grinde of Bellevi.

A week since Bruce held their stampede, their float received top marks with queen Trudy Erickson and the two princesses aboard.

Jack Lang of Bruce took the saddled horse category. Walter Lutz and Don Allen won in the buggy category

Dowtown after the parade, the Swinging Beavers with a 40-member square danced for the crowd

Before the end came, antiques and 20 pieces of wood from the old town water tower were auctioned.

4-Her's return home

by Teresa Slezak

On July 18, the 4-H members from the County of Beaver and the County of Minburn arrived at Vegreville late that evening.

The place where we stayed was at Rangely. Rangely is about one hour from the Utah border.

When we were down there we saw a dinosaur quarry; toured an oil company; went to Vernal, Utah and saw a museum; viewed a reservoir, and Echo Park.

The people down there were really nice. All the 4-Hers really enjoyed themselves

When we went down, we went through Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and on the way back, Utah, Idaho and Yellowstone National Park.

This exchange trip was a great experience for all 4-Hers and chaperones

Nice entry
Thousands thronged Holden's Main Street on Monday morning to catch a glimpse of the over 35 entrants who passed by on the parade route

Ministik and district news

by Tallentire Buchtel

Joan Ferguson, who spent three months in Tofield Hospital, was able to come home last Saturday, with doctor's orders to cut down on her activities.

Sarah Kleinschroth who had been home from hospital for some time, had to return for more treatment.

Olivine and Verden Sears returned last Saturday from a two-week vacation, which took them to Drumheller, where they explored the Badlands, then on to the Cypress Hills and other spots in that area of Alberta.

The July [illegible] took place at the South Cooking Lake Cemetery last Saturday, with more people coming each time to help. The August clean-up will be on the 20th.

Glenn Ferguson along with Richard Heitzman of Tofield took in the antique car show in Edmonton on Sunday afternoon.

The Nugget Trailer Club were hosted in the yard of Theresa Regier last weekend, camping and enjoying the serenity of the country.

Jens and Russell Rowland and Michael and Violet Nunichuk attended the Bruce Stampede on Sunday

Gladys Roddick, who spent three weeks with Bill and Vi Roddick, has now taken up residence in the Tofield Lodge

Perry and Glenis Duckworth of Sherwood, B.C. spent a week with Pat and Johnny Dythe and boys. Their son, Nick, who had spent two weeks with the Dythes, returned home with them.

Bill and Barb Vandermeer, Glenda and Carrie spent a week's vacation in Southern Alberta and into eastern areas of B C. Cousin Jim Pot, and John and Trina Vandermeer took care of the farm chores.

John and Vera Heitman and girls were recent visitors to Miette Hot Springs for three days.

Kathleen Grummett has been busy this last week enumerating for the Ministik area, for the upcoming campaign and enjoying the serenity of the country

Rate hike bid withdrawn

. . . by TransAlta

At a Public Utilities Board hearing on July 26, TransAlta Utilities Corporation withdrew its application for an interim rate increase. This increase would have added 6.5 percent to customers' bills effective August 1, for consumption from July 1.

Instead, TransAlta has proposed to defer recovering from customers the difference between current rates and the 1984 revenue requirement which the Board may determine that the company needs. The amount deferred would be amortized with carrying costs over a short-term period and included in future rates. The procedure proposed would have no effect on the company's reported earnings for 1984, and would mean no rate increases would be necessary for the year. The company's proposal will be examined at a hearing in mid-August.

The proposal was identified by TransAlta as a short-term measure in order to give the Board an opportunity to consider ways in which rate increases could be made more stable. When the construction of the new Keephills Generating Plant first commenced seven years ago, TransAlta had identified lack of rate stability as a problem associated with bringing new plant costs into rates. The issue was raised again during hearings this week.

The Board is now considering the possibility of a "generic" hearing which will deal with this problem and will include representation from all the electric utilities, intervenors and other interested parties.

Build computer images on Central Alberta rain

When summer cloudbursts unleash torrents of rain within a 150 kilometre radius of Red Deer, the Alberta Research Council's radar records the precipitation rate.

By means of an interface with the Atmospheric Sciences Department (ASD) microcomputers in Red Deer and Edmonton, the radar information is changed into "products". A color display shows the changing storm pattern every 15 minutes and [illegible] accumulated rainfall in various river basins.

ASD scientists expect to produce time lapse images of the last seven rainfall rates, and are working on a state of the art weather radar for application to river and stream flow forecasting.

"We hope to use the radar data to predict runoff in the isolated foothills, which is important to flood forecasting," says Dr Robert Humphries, acting head of ASD.

After two weeks of dry weather a Wednesday storm brought much needed rain to the farming community south of Red Deer. Pea-sized hail also fell in the Linden-Swalwell areas. Final reports have not been received.

Two other storms within the past week also dumped pea-sized hail over areas south of Camrose and in the Lacombe and Rowely districts.

Kingman district notes

A public meeting concerning education will be held in Kingman Hall on Aug. 3 at 7:30 p.m. The purpose of the meeting is to assist Sage Institute personnel, who have been hired by the Board of Education of the County of Camrose, to identify a number of ways in which the County of Camrose School system can provide quality education for all children while keeping [illegible]. All electors and residents are urged to attend as your input is needed.

A donkey ball game is going to be held at the Kingman School grounds on Aug. 11 at 7:30 and is sponsored by the Kingman Recreation Association. A donkey ball game is very entertaining because the skill of the ball player is not important, the co-operation of the donkey is the key factor in how the game progresses. A booth will be open on the grounds to provide refreshments.

Several people gathered at the Dick Soady home last weekend to wish Rick a happy birthday. On Friday, Michael Wenger, Kevin Christianson and Cordell Zilkie were visitors. On July 28, John and Nellie Kozack, Larry and Ann Kozack, Gerry and Colleen Wenger, Joe and Rosie Kozack, Bob Kozack of Millet, Audrey and Roselle Thomas, Scott Johnson, Willie Kozack and Lindy Brown, all of Edmonton, were guests for a wiener roast.

During 1984, the world will spend approximately $700 billion on military budgets, nearly 15 times what the rich nations give to the poor nations in development aid.

Meanwhile, 1.5 billion people have no effective medical services, 500 million are severely undernourished, 2 billion lack access to safe drinking water and 800 million are illiterate

The Thorsson Report contends that real security for nations depends on a more equitable sharing of the world's resources. When you are talking with your candidates prior to September 4, ask them. "If elected, would you support national and international efforts to reduce military budgets and to reallocate the funds to meet human needs?"

Underlying this question is the assumption that as long as conditions in the Third World continue to deteriorate, people such as you and I, living in affluent Canada, will be less and less secure, and the mass of mankind will be excluded from a decent life

If we don't choose to reduce military spending, the economic realities of arms budgets and the growing demand from Third World countries for justice will make the choice for us. Failure to change will result in increased conflict over scarce natural resources, rising international tensions between East and West and between North and South, and a spiralling arms race that will almost certainly lead to nuclear war

The choice is before us. For the long term benefit of every country, whether developed or developing, now is the time to reduce military spending and reallocate the resources to meet human need.

"More Arms Do Not Make Mankind Safer, But Poorer."

Family feted

The many members of the Ralph Cossey family attended Klondike Days where they were named as the Farm Family for the County of Lamont by Edmonton Northlands. Standing left to right, are Curtis, Terry, Caren, a Northlands representative, Dianne, Leslie, Ralph, Ross, Alice, Veronica, Northlands President Glenn Laveld, Gloria, Ray, Dolores, Grant and an RCMP member. In front are Trish, Carmen, Carla, Claire and Wade.

Kingman district notes

On July 15 Martha Kelley and Gertrude Asp returned from a cruise, bus and plane trip to Alaska. They departed from Vancouver on the ship Nieuw Amsterdam for a trip of three nights and two days, stopping at Ketchikan and getting off at Juneau. A bus took them around the capital city of Alaska before leaving to view the amazing Mendenhall Glacier. Later they caught a boat which took them up the scenic Lynn Canal to Skagway. From there they used the Westours bus. The road from Skagway to Whitehorse was interesting with tales told by the driver of the difficulties encountered by the gold seekers and also of the building of the narrow guage railroad which is not in use.

They did not see much of Whitehorse as they arrived in the early evening and left the next morning. The all-day trip to Dawson City held their interest. They stopped by the Yukon River. They felt they could have spent two or three days instead of one in Dawson City because of all the history there. The trip to Tok, Alaska was fun even if they had to climb the mountain in the rain. Fairbanks, Denali National Park and Anchorage. There is so much to tell here so will only mention a few things. They did see a segment of the oil pipe line which runs from Prudhoe Bay to Valdez; the river cruise and city tour in Fairbanks; the rough bus tour 60 miles into Denali Park which is actually a reserve only for wildlife except for the road they were on; it is very rarely that the top of Mt. McKinley can be seen; the dog sled demonstration; tour of Anchorage which is a city of 200,000 people; to Portage Glacier; a ride on one of the longest chairlifts in the world at Alyeska Ski Resort.

Dale Johnson is on a holiday in Vauxhall in southern Alberta where he is visiting with his grandparents. He left on Tuesday of last week.

Gerry and Colleen Wenger and Graham Yourston were to Wabamun on July 21 and 22 where they visited with friends and took in some of the activities which were in connection with the Fiddler's Contest. Graham remained in Wabamun for a few days to visit with the Stafford family.

MEET THE RESIDENTS

One of our residents who has lived her entire life in this area is Vivian Blades.

She was born in Daysland, grew up in the Ohaton district and after marriage, lived on a farm near Kelsey.

She is an avid reader and also does a considerable amount of rug hooking. Vivian also plays the organ. Sometimes she plays for her own enjoyment and also has played for some of our programs.

Quite a few of our people visited the Camrose Fair.

The float came in for a second prize in the non-[illegible] class. Several of our residents received prizes for their entries in the exhibits.

This past week we have had Bethany residents at the senior citizens' week at the Sylvan Lake Bible Camp.

Some of our folks are at this camp for the third time. They were accompanied by staff members.

Manure is valuable

Dairy manure should be considered a valuable resource in light of today's high commercial fertilizer prices.

Brian West, animal waste specialist with Alberta Agriculture, says the manure from a confinement dairy operation can make an important contribution to the nutrient requirements of both forage and grain crops on a dairy farm if it is spread on the land at the right time and at the correct rate.

He also says many farmers do not incorporate manure into the soil soon enough after it has been spread, with the result that much of the valuable nitrogen is lost to the atmosphere or in run-off water. "Immediate incorporation of the manure," explains Mr. West, "is also very important in the control of odors associated with the manure spreading operation. Several devices are now available commercially which inject liquid manure into the soil, but, under Alberta conditions, conventional tillage still seems to be the most practical method of incorporation."

One of the main functions of a well planned manure storage facility is to enable the livestock owner to spread manure on the land at a time when the nutrients will be best used by the crops. Type and design of the storage facility is also critical from the point of view of cost, preventing surface and ground water contamination and the easy removal of the manure.

Information on manure storage facilities and the best methods of managing animal wastes is contained in a number of factsheets put out by Alberta Agriculture "Confinement Livestock Facilities, Waste Management Code of Practice" (Agdex 400/27-1), "Land Application of Animal Manure" (Agdex FS538-1), "Guidelines for the Design of Earthen Manure Storages" (Agdex FS729-2) and "gravity Manure Transfer for Dairy Barns" (Agdex FS729-1) are all available from the Publications Office, Alberta Agriculture, 7000-113 Street, Edmonton, Alberta T6H 5T6. Additional information can be obtained from Alberta Agriculture's regional agricultural engineers, local dairy specialists and district agriculturists.

MOUNT ALLAN SKI AREA
LEASE OPERATOR OPPORTUNITY
PRE-QUALIFICATION CALL

The Province of Alberta is seeking an individual, group or firm to operate and manage the Mount Allan ski facility to be located approximately 90 km southwest of Calgary in Kananaskis Country. The Province has initiated construction of a day use ski area site with a capacity of 4,000 skiers per day. The facility will be available for commercial recreational skiing and pre-Olympic competition in the winter of 1986-87.

Parties interested in undertaking the complete operation and management of the Mount Allan Ski Area are asked to submit their credentials and qualifications to the Government of Alberta. The purpose of the submission is to clearly demonstrate experience in ski area operation including all aspects of mountain operations and base area service functions.

Parties seeking pre-qualification must also submit information indicating their financial capability to operate the facility. Purchase of grooming and miscellaneous equipment and supplies is a requirement of the operator. A list of principals who will be involved in the facility's operation must also be included. Additional information may be requested.

Qualified firms or individuals will be invited to submit a detailed proposal for the management lease. Consideration will be given to proposals advocating a lease to purchase arrangement.

A summary information package outlining the Mount Allan ski facility is available. All submissions and enquiries regarding this opportunity should be addressed to:

Mr. Colin Jeffares
Development Branch
Alberta Tourism and Small Business
12th Floor, 10065 Jasper Avenue
EDMONTON, Alberta T5J 0H4
Telephone (403) 427-2501

Submissions outlining proponents' capabilities and qualifications must be received no later than 2:00 p.m., September 10, 1984. Eight copies of each submission are required. Notification will be given within sixty (60) days of the closure date. All material will be regarded as confidential.

Alberta

Crop field day held

by Michelle Spencer

Approximately 180 agriculturists viewed the various field plots at the annual Crops Field Day at the Alberta Environmental Centre in Vegreville on Thursday.

The tour got underway shortly after 1:30 p.m., as researcher Gil Flores explained the inoculation procedure for Alfalfa sickness caused by three different fungi. Testing for winter hardiness only two or three varieties will probably be acceptable as yield comparisons will be measured.

"It probably attacks most crops we know," said Flores refering to canola stem rot which is "very devastating when there is high humidity." Flores is assessing canola seedling diseases caused by soiled fungi, by testing 11 different chemicals.

Glume blotch is a serious disease for farmers growing barley year after year pointed out Flores. Glume blotch thrives on high humidity and is spread by rain.

Currently the study into barley root rot at the centre is undergoing 24 chemical treatments with some proving effective by using a fungicide.

In the pest management research division, Bob Macdonald is studying root maggots in canola, and the flea beetle. The peak time for attack by the flea beetle is when there is late seeding, usually by the middle of June. Difficult to isolate, "30 per cent of a rapeseed crop would have to be wiped out to warrant control," said Macdonald.

Under the Summer Job Creation Program launched was the study of how herbicides affect different weeds and crops. 25 varieties of herbicides were tested on 11 different crops with results to be clearly spelled out after years of data analysis.

The centre is only allowed to demonstrate test plots, and cannot give any recommendations or results on any unregistered herbicides, as researcher Fayaz Qureshi verified. The findings are submitted to the Expert Committee on Weeds in Ottawa where they screen the chemicals, and either approve the chemical or not.

Also being tested is the effectiveness of testing two herbicides together. Coming on the market is Lontrel, "That is the only compound that works on thistles," said Qureshi.

One of the newest projects launched last year at the centre, is the study of weed crop competition under the direction of John O'Donovan. For example, trying to determine to what extent different weeds affect crop yield, cost benefits of herbicides, and the study of wheat ecology.

Also, there is the study of biological control of weeds, and a separate plot designated as a weed garden.

As the only environmental centre in Canada, only a portion of the expertise of some 400 employees was on display as it was a well illustrated demonstration.

Medically Speaking

by Dr. Bob Young

Senility and aging do not mean the same thing, and recognizing the difference is important. Becoming older may not be a welcome event but, while later years produce changes in the body's capabilities and function, aging is not a disease. The majority of differences between elderly persons and young individuals are due to the inevitable, but nonetheless normal, process of growing old.

Senility, in contrast, implies that a disease is present. It should be mentioned here that the term senility is not very precise and has been replaced by terms such as delirium, dementia, and acute confusional states. The majority of elderly people do not exhibit any of these symptoms. Occasionally a middle-aged person will, but it is not a sign of premature aging, only an indication of a disease process.

Doctors are busy studying the mental illnesses of later life in the hope that treatment can be developed. In order to separate the various behavioural changes, definitions are necessary.

The presence of mental clouding, loss of attention span, agitation and disordered thinking indicates delirium. Loss of memory, judgement, reasoning, and abstract thinking power, and other intellectual abilities are signs of dementia.

The most common mental affliction of the elderly, acute confusional states, exists when coherency of thought, speech, or action is suddenly lost. All three conditions can sometimes be reversed if they are due to treatable illness or drug side-effects.

Two-thirds of "senile" patients will have Alzheimer's disease. Failure to recognize these patients early, usually because the behavior changes are blamed on "just old age", may delay treatment until it is too late.

Even in the best of circumstances treatment is often only marginally effective. Sometimes drug and other therapy does appear to improve the patient's function and behavior and slow the progression of the condition. It is worth discussing with the older person's doctor.

Holden news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

David and Maureen Tiedemann and children of Edmonton are spending several days over the Homecoming weekend with their family, Helen and Jim Zwierschke.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Budd were visitors on Sunday of last week with their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Budd, in Camrose.

Mrs. Clara Armstrong of Penticton, B.C. is spending several days visiting with Mrs. Ethel Brekstad, to attend the Holden Homecoming celebrations.

Clare Andersen was a Wednesday visitor with Mrs. Frances, a patient in Viking Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chapman of Vancouver, B.C. have been visiting with their nephew and family, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Story, while here to attend Homecoming, returning home Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Taylor and family of St. Albert were Sunday afternoon visitors with Brian's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor. Their eldest son, Ernst, home from college for the summer holidays, was leaving August 8th for a holiday in Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chapman were Thursday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor. Harry and the Taylors came from the same city, Leeds, York, England. In the early 1920's, Harry and Mr. Taylor played on the soccer football team which Holden then had.

Alan and Bobbi-Jo Tiedemann with daughter Sherry and son Shane of Edmonton, spent the holiday weekend with their family, Helen and Jim Zwierschke while taking in the Homecoming festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Zwierschke and Mrs. George Hunchuk were to Bruce on Tuesday afternoon attending the funeral of Lawrence Babitz.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chapman of Vancouver visited with their brother-in-law, Harold Story, who is a resident in Camrose and nephew, John Story. They also visited with a niece and family in Edmonton and other relatives and called on Mrs. John (Lorraine) Story, a hospital patient in Edmonton.

Mrs. Norah Thors (nee Kennedy) of Victoria, B.C. and her sister, Mrs. Elsie Martin of Edmonton, were in Holden taking in the Homecoming weekend. The Kennedy girls were residents of the Talbot District, residing where the George Hunchuks now live.

Dmytro Wynnyk of Edmonton, a brother of Mrs. Pearl Hladilo of Holden, passed away on July 29th at the age of 84 years.

He is survived by his wife, Sarafina; six sons, John of Vancouver, B.C., William of Daysland, Nick of Lacombe, Joseph of Edmonton, George of Athabasca and Steve of Regina; one daughter, Ethel Moeller of Athabasca; 21 grandchildren; 25 great-grandchildren; one brother, John of Daysland; three sisters, Sister Marcella SSMI of Winnipeg, Nancy Mykytiuk of Vernon, B.C. and Pearl Hladilo of Holden.

He was predeceased by one son, Paul; two brothers, Peter and Rev. Ambrose Wynnyk OSBM; and one grandson, Brian.

Prayer Service was held on August 1st and Divine Liturgy was held on Thursday in St. Basil's Ukrainian Catholic Church with the Basilian Father officiating and interment was in St. Athony's Cemetery.

Groups help public

by Michelle Spencer

With six million members strong, the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs worldwide serve the public.

This organization literally serves thousands of communities by offering projects of bursaries, financial assistance to non-profit organizations, youth projects, an eye-bank, and the United Nations pilgrimage in particular.

The project is open to high school students that will have at least one semester of school remaining after the pilgrimage is completed.

The students are required to submit an application of intent signed by their parents, and then if they are accepted, are instructed to write a 10-minute speech based on an international or national theme, which is presented in November.

The criteria of choosing the students is based on their character and scholastic achievements.

The speak-offs graduate from the school, group, district and finally the regional level where eight students from Alberta are chosen as representatives at the UN in the third week in July.

The Odd Fellows and Rebekahs are the only organization in Canada authorized by the United States Congress to carry out a UN pilgrimage.

The students have speaking engagements in some of the various states and Canadian provinces.

In all actuality the winners are obligated for a year to speak at any function, and to any organization which requests the services.

Sponsors for the "ideas of peace" the tradition of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs will prevail at the regional speak-off to be held in Clear this year.

Enclosed building sought

. . . for transfer station

The Beaver Regional Waste Management Authority requested detailed plans and cost estimates for a completely enclosed building at their meeting last Tuesday in Ryley.

"We've investigated the possibility of covering the transfer stations," said engineer Dave King.

The dimensions of the transfer stations will be 30 feet wide by 30 feet long and 20 feet high. King said there was actually two possibilities to be investigated: a station with a wire mesh enclosure or a solid enclosure.

The additional cost of a solid enclosure over and above the initial cost of a wire mesh would be approximately $13,000 per transfer station. If a wire mesh was utilized for roofing, the additional cost would be approximately $8,000 per transfer station.

It was agreed that extended provisions for maintenance would be provided to ensure refuse could not possibly be released at the Tofield site.

Passed was the motion for the authority to open bids for tenders of the buildings.

Application for subdivision is being negotiated for the Lindbrook transfer station.

It was reported that the proposed location for the Kinsella site is currently being negotiated.

"Instead of trying to pull clouds out of the air, let's get down to the nitty gritty," said authority member Ed Regehr.

The authority wants detailed plans that will be satisfactory not only to the members but the communities involved.

Submissions of the detailed plans will be made at the next landfill authority meeting Tuesday, August 14 in Ryley.

Crops are burning up

Crops in this part of the province are going to produce lower than expected yields, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Very little rain fell in the area during the past month and with temperatures averaging about twenty-five above, little moisture remains in the ground.

In many areas, crops have started to burn and heads on wheat have been showing white tips.

It is now generally being felt that heads and pods are not filling out as had earlier been expected, some crops are growing quite short and the result will be lower yields.

Light rains will do little to alleviate the situation and it is almost too late for heavy rain because swathing is expected to get underway about the middle of next week.

Only a couple of weeks ago, most regions were reporting that crops were at a normal condition for the time of year.

That situation no longer prevails and the latest reports indicate that the better crops are now about ten percent below a normal state for early August and in some regions, they are down to only sixty-five percent of what is considered to be normal.

Piecing together

Sanford Boettger points to the fertilizer sprayer nozzle which releases 30 pounds per acre of liquid 'Feast' fertilizer at the County of Beaver Agricultural Service Board tour last Friday. This coming Saturday afternoon, Boettger's will be hosting a Conklin field and demonstration day.

Labor appeals under new Act

Bill 24, The Employment Standards Amendment Act, 1984 received Royal Assent and came into force May 31, 1984.

Bill 24 amends the process by which employers may appeal an order of an Employment Standards Officer. Employers who wish to appeal an order issued on or after May 31, 1984 will be requested to post an amount equal to the order or $300, whichever is less, with Alberta Labour's Director of Employment Standards.

If the appeal is successful the money will be returned to the employer. If the appeal is unsuccessful the money will be given to the employee as partial or full payment of money owed to the employee.

Commenting on the provision contained in Bill 24, Labour Minister Lee Young said "The amendments are designed to uphold the original intent of the umpire system, that is to provide a timely, inexpensive and informal hearing process. The high number of frivolous or unwarranted appeals will be reduced. The effectiveness of resolving disputes between employers and employees will be enhanced, to the benefit of both parties."

Other amendments in Bill 24 improve the efficiency of the appeal process and clarify an employee's priority regarding secured creditors.

Annie Aker Marks 53rd Birthday

Annie Aker, a former resident here, observed her 53rd birthday, July 23 at Bethany Home, when her nieces called on her, namely, Edna and Alice Aker, Amy Kvale, Chaton, Bea Aker, Camrose and Adeline James, New Norway.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob McKee of Burnaby, B.C. are visitors with his mother, Lucille McKee and other relatives.

Mrs. Jor~phine Heslenfeld of Terrace, B.C. spent a week with her daughter Theresa, the Brian Paulson's.

Mark Peterson, son of Dennis and Ardis Peterson, is employed at Shaw Pipe Co., Edmonton.

Leslie and Joyce Mendahl of Gladstone, who have sold their farm to the Harvey Pedersons, have moved to Camrose where they purchased a house.

Amy McClure and Ben Aker, Camrose, were Sunday visitors at Alice and Edna Aker's.

Sophia and Norma Tennent went on a bus tour from Camrose and spent a week at Dauphin, Man., to attend a Ukrainian Festival.

Computers for farm need right software

Although a considerable number of Alberta farmers are using microcomputer technology, there are still many who feel bewildered and intimidated by the wide variety of microcomputers and microcomputer programs on the market today.

Microcomputers are particularly well-suited to doing simple repetitive tasks quickly and accurately. And they are especially good at spotting problem situations. However, according to George Maischer of Alberta Agriculture's farm business management branch, a farmer, his staff or his family must be interested in what a microcomputer can do for it to be successfully used on a farm, and they must be prepared to put up with the initial problems and frustrations that will almost inevitably occur while they are setting up the system. He says the difficulties can be minimized by purchasing a microcomputer from a company that provides good instructions, and that will also provide good back-up facilities, and by carefully choosing the program.

Mr Maicher points out that the programs, called software in the computer trade, are, and will continue to be, the key elements in the successful use of a microcomputer. He says the software that is used for accounting and bookkeeping, for example, comes in a variety of programs. There are those that have been specifically developed for agricultural use, those developed for regular business and adapted for agricultural use and those that have a more universal application.

The acquisition of a microcomputer for the exclusive purpose of accounting may be hard to justify on most farms, but, fortunately, most computer software is very versatile and can be used for such additional tasks as keeping records, budgeting, helping to forecast the cash flow, typing (word processing) and even to educate the children and entertain the family.

Mr. Maicher admits that deciding which of the many available programs will be best for a particular farm situation can be a formidable task, and one that is further complicated by the new terminology and new concepts that farmers must learn. But he believes the task can be considerably simplified if a prospective buyer:

- Determines his reasons for changing to a new accounting system.
- Determines what he expects the new system to accomplish.
- Determines the minimum requirements the system must possess for it to be considered.
- Determines how many available programs fit these requirements.
- Selects the best remaining program.

Making an informed choice from among the many different programs available will take a substantial amount of time. However, the time spent in making the correct purchase is negligible compared with the time that would be lost if another program had to be purchased and learned because the first one proved to be inadequate.

"How to Select the Right Farm Accounting Software for Your Microcomputer" (Agdex 816-22) was developed by the farm business management branch to help farmers to choose the most appropriate program for their individual needs. It can be obtained from district agriculturists, by writing to the Publications Office, Alberta Agriculture, 7000-113 Street, Edmonton, Alberta, T6H 5T6 or by writing to the Farm Business Management Branch, Alberta Agriculture, Box 2000, Olds, Alberta T0M 1P0.

Spilstead

On July 20, the friends, neighbours and relatives of Floyd and Kim Erikson gathered in the Spilstead Hall to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

Art Hanson addressed the introduction, then Janet Hanson presented the couple with her design of bankie embroidery. Very colorful floral arrangements and a needlework tablecloth, made by Polly Spilstead, was provided by Lillian Berrecloth. A guitar solo by Gordon Larsen was applauded for more.

The Spilstead Ladies, along with Lorraine Erikson and Marcy Chappoer, served lunch.

Integrated Resource Management.

What does it mean to Albertans like you?
Integrated Resource Management is the way co-operative decisions are made about the future of public lands and resources in our province. It's a way to ensure that development decisions are ones we can all benefit from and live with.

Who is involved?
Alberta Energy and Natural Resources works jointly with other government agencies, private industry, individuals and interest groups in this planning process.

Where are we working?
It's a province-wide program that is vital wherever progress and development affects public lands and resources such as fish, wildlife, forests, minerals and water systems.

Why integrated management?
With more and more demand for public resources, integrated management lets us see the big picture. Tourism Recreation Agriculture Mineral exploration Community development. These and many other interests are represented, with the result that we can safeguard our natural environment while providing options for the future.

How can you get involved?
As a program aimed at getting maximum input from as many possible sources, the Resource Planning Branch invites you to get involved. If there is a public meeting, attend it. If there is a proposed project that affects you, tell us. If you're concerned about the future of your public resources, let us know.

It's hot and dry

It's hot and dry!

With only one break, an extensive [redacted] wave has controlled weather conditions in this part of the province for nearly two months.

On June 19th, the daytime high temperature was only fourteen degrees, but since then, the temperature has dropped below the twenty [redacted] daytime; only once and that was on [redacted] 21st [redacted] was only fifteen degrees [redacted].

Since June 19th, temperatures have ranged from the low 20's to the low 30's and more often than not, have been in the mid and high 20's.

Since the heat wave began on June 20th, the average daytime high for this area has been about twenty-six degrees above and it would appear that little relief is in sight, according to forecasters.

While mid 20's aren't really all that high, it has seemed to be excessively hot because of the dryness in the air as very little moisture has fallen since mid-June.

Rainfall records indicate that approximately three-quarters of an inch of rain has fallen since the middle of June and that is made quite evident in the city by the brown lawns that prevail and in the country where stunted crops are readily visible.

There were scattered showers on the past weekend which saw some regions get as much as one inch of moisture while others got little better than a trace and some areas didn't get a drop.

The hottest day during the current heat wave took place on July 28th when it got to thirty-four above, tying the record for that date which had been set in 1983.

Hay Lakes district news

by Mrs. A. Arntson

Ladies Fastball Tournament

Ten teams were entered in the ladies fastball tournament held at Hay Lakes July 28-29 including Lougheed, Bremner, Fultonvale, Bashaw, Trav's Place of Edmonton, Condors and Phoenix coming from Camrose, the Tomboys and Flyers coming from Wetaskiwin and the Hay Lakes Blues.

Winners were decided on the point system with the final game in the "A" Division being played between Wetaskiwin Flyers and Hay Lakes Blues. Wetaskiwin took the event with Kim Astner on the pitching mound. Debbie Pyle pitched the game for Hay Lakes despite an injured left hand. Trav's Place of Edmonton were first in the "B" Event with Bremner coming second. Following the final game, small trophies were awarded to each team for participating in the tournament.

Phoenix of Camrose received the most sportsman-like trophy, and this was decided by the umpires. The large first place trophy was donated by the Hay Lakes Hotel and will remain on display in the hotel with the first place team receiving a smaller replica to keep.

This will conclude play for this season for the Hay Lakes Blues who were coached this year by Tim Pyle.

The Hay Lakes Blue Knights were entered in the intermediate section of the World Series of Fastball held in Camrose last weekend. They lost their first game to Holden 3-2 on Friday evening. The next morning they rebounded with an easy 9-1 win over Lougheed, with Hay Lakes scoring four home runs. The following game against Camrose Windsor was a tight encounter with Hay Lakes out hitting Camrose 9-4 but still put out with a 3-2 score. Brian Paul and Rory Rost both slugged home runs for Hay Lakes but unfortunately no one was on base at the time. Barry Tober pitched the entire game for Hay Lakes. Seney for Camrose was relieved by Byron Weaver in the seventh inning when a Hay Lakes player made a hit. Weaver then retired the last batter.

In a league game played at Hay Lakes on Wednesday evening the Blue Knights again out hit the Camrose Windsor team and this time won the game 3 to 1. Neil Berkholtz pitched a two-hitter for Hay Lakes. Byron Weaver and Hugh Nestor, pitching for Camrose, allowed five hits.

Activities for the youngsters are being held at the Hay Lakes Youth Center during the week under the direction of Geraldine Young and her assistants. A campout for ages 9-11 years is scheduled for Aug. 21-23.

Please register with Geraldine at the Youth Centre prior to Aug. 17, or phone 878-3883, between 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. the week of Aug. 13-17. A family picnic is also being planned for later in August.

Donald Luger of Gibson, B.C. visited with his parents, John and Elsie Luger last week.

Ken and Linda Demere and three children of Granum were overnight guests at the Magnus Arntson home on Sunday. Linda is an aunt to Viva [redacted].

Our Savior Lutheran Church cemetery service held on the morning of July 29 was well-attended. Visitors attending the service came from as far as Kelowna, B.C. Retired pastor, Rev. Fritz Rehn of Edmonton was in charge of the German service and Rev Pfohl-Roellchen conducted the English service.

Martha Nordin spent the weekend at home following a three-week stay in an Edmonton hospital. She is now a patient at the University Hospital awaiting surgery.

Visitors at the home of Camille and Elsie Moser from Sunday to Tuesday were Shirley Steele of Seattle, Wash., Lydia Moser and her daughters Yvonne Loomis and Eileen Loomis of Caroline.

Chuck and Eleanor Noland and grandson, Joey, of Oregon, spent a few days visiting at the home of Herman and Helen Bieganek. This is the first time Mr and Mrs. Noland have been to Alberta and they spent the past month fishing and relaxing at various lakes. They also attended the Calgary Stampede.

Ken and Gladys Klonteig of Kelowna, B.C. visited with their son, Kevin, and family last weekend. They were here to honor Mrs. Olga Olson of Camrose on the occasion of her 80th birthday. Mrs Olson is Gladys' mother.

Anne Oakley of St. Johns, Newfoundland spent two days at the home of Pat and Josie Vickers. Mrs. Oakley will spend a month in Calgary visiting with her son and daughter. Anne and Josie are [redacted].

Ruth Anderson and sons Thomas and Geoff have returned home after spending the past month in Manitoba visiting with relatives at Winnipeg and MacGregor. John spent the first two weeks with [redacted] to his job.

Field day planned

by Michelle Bjornson

Farmers, to make the worries of harvest literally slip away, lubricants and conditioners will be available through Conklin Company products on Saturday.

Amisk Creek Farms is the site for a field crop and demonstration day starting at 1:30 p.m.

Located two km south of Highway 14 at the Amisk Creek Campsite, test plots can be observed, as the conventional dry fertilizer is compared with the Conklin 'Feast' liquid fertilizer.

The crystal clear liquid fertilizer (feast) has a neutral ph, and is non-corrosive which "I think is a real advantage when working with metal tanks," said Jim Boettger.

Roofing systems and specialty coatings, agricultural chemicals, cleaners and homecare, lubricants and conditioners are the four areas of products by the Conklin Company distributed by Sanford and Gwen Boettger, Jim and Betty Boettger, Reid and Sandra [redacted].

These Conklin products will be available for sale at the demonstration day, and the public can place their orders.

Refreshments will be sold to visitors and time tables will be handed out for the various [redacted].

Blazers are Western champs

The Ryley/Vermilion Blazers representing Alberta in the Western Canadian Ladies Softball Championship came home with the gold. This is the first time that Alberta has won this division of Senior Ladies Softball.

After playing 11 games in four days, there was no doubt that Alberta had the strongest team.

After finishing four and two in the round robin, the Blazers were defeated by NWT 5-0 in the first game of the playoffs. They then rebounded to defeat Regina (Sask. rep) 6-1.

On the final day of the playoffs, Alberta won 2 back-to-back games. They defeated Nanaimo, B.C. 3-0, and proceeded to defeat Yellowknife, NWT, 10-1 and 7-0 in the two final games.

The NWT ended up second, Saskatchewan third and B.C. fourth. The Yukon, Manitoba and Inuvik (host team) did not make it into the final round.

The Blazers were allowed to pick up 3 players from the teams they had defeated in provincials and as it turned out, they made many wise choices. Robin Becker was picked up from Edmonton Canadian representatives.

Deb MacLean was picked up from Calgary. Robin, a pitcher and strong batter, won the MVP award for the tournament. She pitched the final three games and only gave up a total of 4 hits.

Alberta's exceptional pitching, strong defense, solid hitting and alert base running propelled them through to the gold medal round.

The exhausted, but elated group of athletes were greeted at the airport on Tuesday, Aug. 7 by family and friends waving a banner saying "Welcome Home Champions". A great end to a great tournament.

Unfortunately, no picture is available for this week's Mercury.

New hospital

Dramatically portrayed from the air, the photo of the new hospital shown above was taken August 8th by Don Roth while he was aloft in a plane flown by Mayor Charlie Sears. The shape of things to come can clearly be seen in the patterns developing

Tofield Hospital rapidly takes shape

Covering over 75,000 square feet, Phase One of the new $12 million Tofield Health Centre has been completed.

"I can hardly wait to see it," said Tofield General Hospital administrator Don Roth in an interview last Wednesday.

Within a week Roth should receive word from Hospitals Minister Dave Russel that the proposal for Phase Two of construction has been approved.

Many new essential services and improvements will be in evidence in this facility.

To be completed in early 1986, the new hospital will be "less institutionalized and more acceptable to people" said Roth.

Implemented into the new hospital program will be physiotherapy, fluoroscopy, bacteriology, day surgery, a labor delivery recovery room, obstetrical lounge, and fracture room.

More lounge areas will be provided for patients and visitors in the active treatment centre, nursing home and hospital auxiliary.

A new X-ray machine will be able to follow a person's digestive tract and detect if a patient has a stomach [illegible].

In addition a micro-biology lab will be set up to study bacteriology samples instead of shipping the tests to the provincial lab in Edmonton which currently is being done.

Day surgery will be provided to patients requiring minor surgical operations. After resting for a couple of hours, patients will then be released, barring any complications.

Expectant mothers may be relieved to hear about this new labor recovery room. Without hassle the expectant mother won't have to be moved, as a portable wall folds away, and her bed is turned and adjusted with surgery to take place with all the equipment set up. Families can wait in the lounge area of her room. Also, an obstetrical lounge will be available for family members [illegible] general addition.

A dining and activity room will facilitate some of the needs for long-term patients.

Every room in the active treatment centre will have a toilet, sink and shower.

With this special set-up, people now won't have to go through all the wards to reach their destination. There will be two entrances, one into the nursing home and one leading into the active treatment centre.

Approximately 120 staff will be employed in this 90 bed facility. To keep the employees abreast of advanced technological developments, information and presentations will be made available in the [illegible] which will also be used for [illegible].

There is still much planning to be completed, but a commendable job is currently being done.

Tofield council talk duties of fire chief

"I don't see where the town should pay the county one penny," said Tofield town councillor Tom Jacobs Jacobs referring to the proposed county fire chief at the council meeting Monday.

Tofield Fire Chief Wayne Lyrons presented council with a brief overview of events leading up to the present situation.

There were two councillors [illegible] for the proposed duties of a county fire chief

This week the two committee members are to meet with Lyons and his deputy fire chief's to discuss and submit their [illegible].

This position of Duties for the proposed fire chief are to be drafted by Aug. 24, at which time the town councillors and representatives will meet.

The fire district drafted a letter of concern to the County of Beaver over the resignation of the most recent fire chief.

County of Beaver agricultural fieldman Weatherill was devoting too much time to the duties of a fire chief, and thus his reduction of working hours for the county was detrimental

The county seen the need for a replacement, and has asked the town councillors and representatives for input on a proposed plan of the duties of a county fire chief

Even a part-time fire chief requires a salary, and money allotment was a major concern voiced at the meeting.

Seven file nominations in Vegreville

Seven parties will contest the election in the federal riding of Vegreville when the election is held Sept. 4. Tofield, Ryley, Holden and Minburn all lie within Vegreville constituency.

Returning Officer Kay MacKenzie announced last week that seven candidates had filed nomination papers by the 2 p.m. deadline on August 7th.

Represented are candidates for the P.C.'s, Liberal, N.D., Communists, Social Credit, Confederation of Regions West, and Rhinoceros parties.

To Be or Not

Recent days have brought a surprising number of comments on the use and abuse of liquor within our society, the revenues it derives, the costs it incurs, the damage it does to individuals and to families, as well as to society generally. It's not uncommon to hear the odd comment; from week to week we would imagine most of our readers hear the same. But when numbers of people all touch on the same subject within just a few days, it does seem more noteworthy.

Not all of our commentators, mind you, agree. Some people think there should be even greater freedom, some look for controls such as raising the age limit, while some believe every effort should be exerted to move towards the ultimate goal, prohibition. They're maybe not quite so fanciful as to believe prohibition will ensure universal abstinence . . . there is, after all, dandelion wine, and potato gin, and industrial alcohol, to say nothing of Sterno, of hair tonic, kitchen flavorings and many other domestic products, . . . but they feel that overall consumption would drop dramatically.

It was again pointed out the sharp dichotomy between rural and urban opinion, and rural and urban Members of the Legislature, in that many . . . we would feel most . . . rural people firmly believe the legal age for possessio.. should be raised. Some feel one year, some feel three, but nearly all see some increase, at least to make possession illegal for nearly all high school students.

This seems in sharp contrast with the opinions expressed by urban MLA's, who seem to feel their voters favor the present situation, whereby 18-year-olds can legally possess liquor, and illegally pass it on down to the junior high school level.

What we found most surprising of all was a report of a survey being conducted within the provincial government whose results seem to suggest that the abuses of Prohibition, during and shortly after the First World War, were far more to be desired than the evils and abuses of today. So that a return to Prohibition might not seem too far fetched.

We wonder, though, about a number of questions concerned, a number of factors. We wonder, in the first place, if recording was nearly as good then as it is now.

We wonder whether shocking behavior may have been somewhat less shocking in that day than it may be today, so that it caused less report. We wonder if due allowance has been made for the age differentials . . . after all, in those days, 21 was the absolute minimum legally, and laws were more strictly enforced. We wonder if the survey of those days takes into account that from 1916 (when the Prohibition Act was passed) until early in 1919, large numbers of the drinking young men were in the forces, and not part of the survey. We wonder if the survey has paid enough attention to the fact that in those days women rarely drank in public, so that they even more rarely became part of the statistics. We wonder if due attention has been paid to the relative poverty of the late war days, and the depression which followed it, as compared with the relative affluence of recent years when the study has been made.

In other words, we wonder if the study has compared apples with apples, or whether it's studying grapes on the one end, grapefruit on the other.

Church and State

We have been horified recently to hear that officers of the Roman Catholic Church are urging their members to question candidates in the federal election as to their views on abortion, and on birth control. And to imply that views contrary to those of the Church may cost the candidate the vote of the individual supporter.

We are horrified, because, in the first place, and most importantly, this country has been built on the tradition, and has grown strong in the concept, of the separation of church and state. While various churches may wish they had a greater influence in the way things run, we cannot but feel the separation has been good both for the state as well as the church. The Roman Catholic church just as much as other denominations.

We find abhorrent also the choice of this one, or these two, questions, as the basis on which to choose a candidate, or to bestow a vote. Given no consideration whatever is the way the candidate feels about inflation, about interest rates, about unemployment, about equality of women, about waging peace rather than waging war, about international trade, international aid, international banking, inter-provincial trade, trade barriers, native status, Senate reconstruction, patronage, indexed benefits, freedom of speech, Charter of Rights, access to information, Human Rights, and on and on and on.

There is no possible way the voters can elect politicians who always agree with their way of thinking . . . the best they can do is hope to elect people they feel would be most capable in office, most of the time. For instance, Iona Campognola has offended many people with her forthright support for abortion, yet she is one of the most cogent, most articulate, most intelligent candidates we have seen in many elections. We know we wouldn't always agree with her viewpoint, yet we have seen few candidates more deserving of support, of election, of a seat in the House, because of the qualities of independence, of responsibility, of intelligence, of broadmindedness, she shows.

To come back, we are distressed to see the Roman Catholic church meddling so forcefully in affairs of the State. Almost the only scenario which concerns us more would be the State meddling in affairs of the Church.

HAY LISTINGS

Once again this year, we are compiling a list of potential hay buyers and sellers at our office. Anyone wanting to buy hay or sell hay can phone us and have their names put on this list. The names on this list are also being forwarded to the drier areas of Southern Alberta where a feed shortage [illegible].

SWATHING TIMES

As the harvest season approaches, farmers turn their thoughts to swathing and combining, in an attempt to get the grain in the bins before anything else happens to it. Usually, the first question that comes to mind is: How early can I swath? The following article contains some guidelines that may help in deciding when to swath a crop.

[illegible]T can be swathed [illegible] kernel has changed from green to yellow. This is [illegible] medium dough stage, in [illegible] case the kernel can be [illegible] by pressing between [illegible] and finger with no moisture beads being squeezed out. This stage is about 35 percent moisture. However, if there is no hurry and if there are a number of green patches [illegible] will wait until the 35 percent moisture stage, which is roughly 7 days later.

BARLEY: for feed purposes can be swathed in the 35-40 percent moisture range with no yield reduction. However, kernel plumpness is very important in malting barley and consequently, it should not be [illegible] moisture is in the 25-30 percent range or lower. Therefore if you cut malting barley earlier you will be lowering it to a feed classification.

OATS: Research has shown that there is no yield increase in oats by cutting below the 35 percent moisture level.

CANOLA: Seed color and not straw color determines the correct time to swath. At least 25 percent of seeds should have undergone a color change. For the Polish varieties Tobin or Candle the seeds will have reddish brown or light yellow. For Argentine varieties the color change is from green to black.

At 35 percent moisture there is no adverse effect on yield, color, oil, or protein content of the seed. The seeds will be firm enough to roll between your fingers with squashing.

When checking plants and seeds for color changes, be sure to check the top pods as well as bottom pods. Bottom pods will always mature quicker.

These recommendations, however, are not without certain pre-requisites. One has to allow for uneven crops, green patches, weed populations and the lodging or shattering potentials of different varieties. Many times, it is a matter of finding a happy medium between many different conditions. There are advantages to early swathing, such as more time for weeds to dry out, less risk from frost, hail, etc., and less shattering losses. The disadvantages, however, can be real and there is certainly a possibility of more weathering damage to swathed grain than standing grain. [illegible] kernels can cause a drop in grade and/or storage problems.

As with many situations in farming, there are few blanket recommendations. Each individual field is unique and must be assessed on its [illegible].

Kingman district notes

Several relatives and friends attended the wedding, reception and dance for Doug [illegible] and Bonnie Selin on July 28. The marriage took place in Wilhelmina Church and the reception and dance at the Elks Hall in Camrose, with a midnight lunch. Mr. and Mrs. Horte then left for a honeymoon to Vancouver and Victoria, B.C.

Brenda Boaker's parents of Ottawa and her sister and family of Toronto are spending two weeks visiting with the Boaker family. They arrived July 26.

Brenda, Don and Bradley Brooks, Nellie and John Kozack, Sharon Soady and Joe and Rosie Kozack attended funeral services for Louis Anholt on July 31 at the Burgar Memorial Chapel in Camrose. Louis was the victim of a drowning at Miquelon Lake Park on July 27. He was a nephew to Nellie Kozack and an uncle to Brenda Brooks.

Miss Jan Ripping of Perth, Ont. spent a week with the Reg Thompson family as a member of the 4-H student exchange program. She arrived on July 25 and remained for a week. During this time Jan and Connie Thompson took part in 4-H tours which included Fort Edmonton Park and the Space and Science Center in Edmonton, the Lamp Museum in Donalda, Battle River Generating Station, saw "Brutus" at the Paint Earth Mine in Forestburg, attended Bruce Stampede and took in an ethnic supper and dance in Bashaw. Apart from the 4-H tours the Thompsons and Jan also went to visit West Edmonton Mall and Hutterite Colonies.

Graham Yourston and Rick and Sharon Soady spent Aug. 1st at the Waterslide recreation area located in Winter-[illegible].

Many entries in Ryley Fair

by [illegible]

Good representation by residents of Ryley and surrounding area was in evidence at the Ryley Fair held last Thursday at the Curling Rink.

[illegible] the Danish modified system (judging items against a standard), many [illegible] the horticulture, fruit, preserves, vegetable, baking, sewing, handicrafts, hobbies, crops, senior and school activity categories of competition.

Categorically the persons with the most accumulated points and amount of quality products in their respective categories were winners.

In the junior category (18 years of age and under) Lori-Ann Phillips topped the list. Ellen Lauber was handed the individual award, with Marguerite Fish winning the senior citizens class. The Family Award was presented to Peter and Betty Tensen, and their children Paul, Jonathan, and Naomi.

Beaver Heritage and Agricultural Society President Garry Manderson presented the plaques donated by the Treasury Branch in Ryley, as each year the winners' names are engraved on a large plaque and displayed at the bank.

Offering something for everyone, the kids were in a flurry of excitement after being presented ribbons by agricultural society secretary Gail Booth at the pet show. The children proudly showed off their favorite cats, dogs, budgies and even a guinea pig.

A good time, "That's the idea of the whole day" said Booth as the kids had quite a time of it trying to balance hard-boiled eggs on spoons, run the three-legged race, sack and running races.

Dorian Calon and Fred Zeniuk tied as both estimated the same amount in guess the jellybeans contest sponsored by the agricultural society.

Diane Riel of Ryley won a gift certificate for a fresh floral arrangement from Floral and Fancy Gift Shoppe Ltd. in Ryley.

Susan Harris of Viking won a spray bottle of multi-purpose cleaner in the Conklin product draw.

Sponsored by Beach, Alice Albrecht of Ryley won a cookbook.

Five representatives of clubs and products had information booths at the hall for the public to view.

The Ryley Sunshine Club with 80 members, displayed and sold some ceramics, weaving and handicrafts.

Take Off Pounds Sensibly weight reduction club formed just this January in Ryley with 25 members, had an informative display.

Specializing fresh, dried, and silk flowers with tropical plants in stock Divana McKoen owner of the Floral and Fancy Gift Shoppe had a booth.

SMP Distributors of Conklin products and the Beach cooking line also had a demonstration.

Dealer Don Lien of D & D Septic Service and Satellite TV Systems proved to have much valuable information.

North Ryley didn't meet south Ryley in the annual tug-of-war, as all were involved in the play-off baseball game.

The Ryley Rebels went down to defeat to the team from Armena in championship action. After winning the first game in the three game series last week 7-3, the Rebels couldn't fight off a 9th inning surge and lost 9-6.

The deciding game will either be played this Tuesday or Thursday in Armena.

Magic star

Those three delightful performers from Georgina's School of Dancing in Holden brought a little sparkle to the hearts of the audience with their magic wands, at the Homecoming concert.

Well over 20 former Holden and District school teachers assembled at Holden School on Sunday to reminisce and look at the displays. Pictured are 15 of those teachers: Doris Ogrodnick, Eleanor Good, Sylvia Mashyk, Irene Warner, Grace Appleby, Edna Weekes, Mavis Walker, Audre Liden, Stella Hrybiuk, Russel Slywka, Wynne Beveridge, Connie McDougall, Beth Mertz, Muriel Anderson, and Ralph Gorrie.

The bell tolls

Once again the school bell rang in Holden at the school display Sunday, Aug. 5. Albert Jober who has lived in the Holden area all his life decides to relive some of the old memories called days past.

Celebration

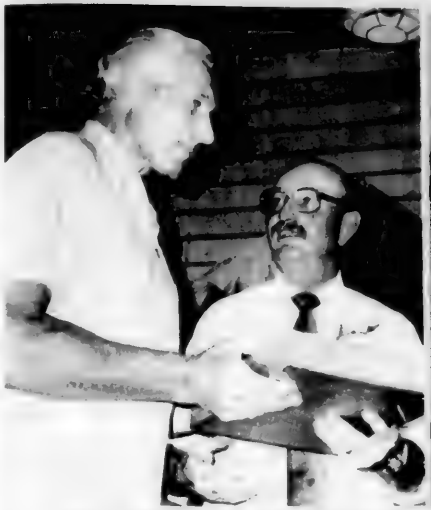
Swingers

Obviously these two members of the Swinging Beavers are having a great time square dancing for the crowd after the homecoming parade on Monday, Aug. 6.



Third edition

Bryan Shiemun (left) graciously accepted the third edition of "Hemstitches and Hackamores" presented by Ben Lutz (right) at the official opening ceremony of the Holden Homecoming Saturday. Shiemun purchased the historical book for $575 and dedicated it in turn to Beth Campbell to be placed in the United Church.

Horseshoe champs

All was in fun, but Olaf Sumlo (left) and Ed Kabush (right) from Bawlf walked away with a little prize money placing first in the A event, at the Holden Homecoming Tournament Sunday, Aug. 5. Winners in the B event were Ted Kondrat of Sherwood Park and Tom Shako of Holden.

Grand Marshal

Six parade marshal's were asked if they would like to participate in the homecoming parade on Monday morning. Don Allen accepted as Walter Lutz drives on down mainstreet. All the parade marshals were 75 years of age and older, and are still Holden area residents.

Bruce Stampede Spirit

The spirit of the Bruce Stampede lives on, as the association entered their float in the homecoming. Just the week before on Saturday, July 28 Trudy Erickson was crowned as the new queen, as here she rides in the front of the float.

A salute to Holden

Walter and Ben Lutz co-master of ceremonies at the official opening of Holden's 75th anniversary serenade the large homecoming crowd, saluting the pioneers and their memories, as friends and relatives were united Aug. 4, 5 and 6. —Photo by Michelle Bjornson

Users seek action on Spilstead road

. . . from County

by [illegible]

"Let's face it, we have a problem," admitted Reeve John Warner referring to the Spilstead road on Thursday, at the County of Beaver Council meeting.

A six-member delegation presented to council a 200 name petition supporting their demand that the Spilstead road be paved.

"As one of the heaviest [illegible] in the County of Beaver" Angus Murray and the delegation want action.

A traffic count on the Spilstead Road was recorded at various time intervals, as the traffic flow was very heavy in the commuter area.

The paving of the road would involve the concerted action of three county councils, as it crosses three [illegible].

In the County of Camrose four miles would have to be paved, with two miles in the County of Strathcona, and five miles in the County of Beaver

In light of the county's road development program letters are going to be forwarded to the other counties and respective MLA's so that discussion on this matter can proceed [illegible].

Council approved a motion to go over the proposed agricultural service board expenditure and purchase $14,000 more of the herbicide Tordon for the weed control [illegible].

"Fall spraying is the most effective," said agricultural fieldman Laurie Weatherill as mayweed is easier to identify. Over 85 percent of the mayweed infestation can be wiped out depending upon the rate of application of Tordon as "The main goal is to get the product in the soil," added Weatherill

The drainage ditch project is awaiting approval from Alberta Environment, before tenders can be decided upon

Spilstead

by Louise Bowie

Several people from the area attended the surprise 35th anniversary celebration held for Moe and Ed Fisher in Edgerton on Aug. 11.

The evening was hosted by the couple's children.

Guests came from Calgary, Sylvan Lake, Wainwright, Tofield, Red Deer, Benalto, Kingman, Vermilion, Edmonton and New Sarepta.

Sandy, Michael and Lyle Gaddie have moved to Edmonton. They will be residing at the Griesbach Base in North Edmonton where Lyle, who is in the Armed Forces, has been stationed.

The Pathfinders travelled to Calgary this past weekend to do some sightseeing and there will be more about their trip in next week's news.

Cindy Fisher Safranski, who was so successful in the provincial gymkhana last year, is continuing her successes this year. She placed second in the free-for-all flat race at the Bruce Stampede. She took third place in the same event at Dewberry.

Cindy is a member of the local Miquelon Lake Saddle Club whose grounds are east of the Provincial Park. Monthly meetings are held in the Spilstead Hall and new members are always welcome. The club is family orientated and accepts beginners, at any age! The club is a member of the Edmonton Gymkhana Association so that members can ride competitively if they so wish.

The club is active all year long with a Christmas party for the children and a family dance in the late fall.

Erin McAllister of McAllister Environmental Services pointed out the comparative results of test plots last Tuesday at the annual Ryley-Camrose open house reclamation demonstration. The plot sites are located approximately five miles south of the village of Ryley, near Shaw Community Hall where approximately 25 people and representatives from TransAlta Utilities and Fording Coal Ltd. attended the tour and meeting that followed. The utility companies are superintending the tests to demonstrate the effectiveness of reclamation if the area were to be mined for power generation

Still seek pre-mine yields on Dodds reclamation plots

. . . 2 years to go

By Michelle Bowman

Representatives of Fording Coal Limited, TransAlta Utilities and McAllister Environmental Services, were on hand to demonstrate the Camrose-Ryley reclamation plots last Tuesday.

Shaw Community Hall was the starting point of the annual tour of the two pits as approximately 25 people came to view the sites.

Each year two crop rotations are implemented on the plots. One rotation is barley, alfalfa, alfalfa, alfalfa, the other summerfallow, canola, wheat, barley which has been decided by the community.

The problem McAllister Environmental Services faces is "fighting nutrition deficiencies" conveyed Erin McAllister as they "have to pay close attention to the weed problem."

"We have to provide enough nutrients and organic matter to support cereal crops," said McAllister so high rates of fertilizer are applied.

Next year the herbicide Lontrel will be used to spot spray thistles and eliminate unwanted alfalfa after the crop rotation because as McAllister hopes "If it kills thistle, it will kill alfalfa."

The most intensively surveyed area, "the 344 meter long and 27 meter wide plots of three depths of local soils are monitored closely, said McAllister.

TransAlta Utilities and Fording Coal Ltd. are committed to the reclamation project until 1986, as agreed upon after the proposed coal fired electric generating plant in the Dodds-Round Hill area was deferred by the provincial [illegible]

With increasing confidence in the yields" the project is still seeking the optimum result that this agricultural land disturbed by surface mining can be returned to the level of production that is equal to or greater than prior to strip mining.

As chairman of the evening Walter McNary of Camrose pointed out, "This has always been a good and interested community.

Observations and changes will be noted as this project continues into the future

Diagnosed Botulism Causing Precautions

Last summer Canada had its first reported case of botulism from home canned food in several years. In the United States, where unsafe canning practices are even more frequent, there are one to two outbreaks of botulism each year from home canned food. Each outbreak may mean several people become seriously, even fatally ill. Are we seeing the beginning of the same pattern in Canada?

Here then, are the dangerous canning practices — exactly what you should not do this canning season.

The unsafe canning practice that was voted most likely to spoil fruit, vegetables, meat or poultry is the open-kettle canning method. Aside from being totally inadequate to destroy spoilage bacteria in these foods, the open-kettle method where foods are cooked — in a large pot, poured into jars then sealed with no further heat processing allows the food to be contaminated by bacteria, molds and yeasts as it is transferred to the jar. The open-kettle method should only be used for jams and jellies. The high sugar content of these products prevent bacterial and yeast growth. Surface spoilage by mold is sometimes seen in jams or jellies processed this way when sealing technique is poor.

The next most common unsafe practice is processing vegetables, meat or poultry in a boiling water bath. In this method the food is placed in the jars which are then heated in boiling water. Certain food poisoning bacteria, including the bacteria that cause botulism are not destroyed by boiling water temperatures and are able to grow in the jars of vegetables, meats or poultry. To destroy these bacteria in vegetables, meat or poultry a pressure canner must be used. The boiling water bath method is safe only for fruit because they are quite acidic even though they taste sweet. The acidity helps destroy food poisoning bacteria at a boiling water temperature.

Oven canning has two dangerous aspects. In oven canning jars of food are heated in the oven. People thought that by setting the oven at high temperatures the food in the jar would reach the same temperature as in the pressure canner. This is not safe; the temperature in the jar will only reach slightly above boiling water temperatures and bacteria will not be destroyed. This method has the added danger of causing burns and cuts when jars explode in the oven or as the door is opened since the high temperature and dry heat in the oven create unequal pressure between the jars and the oven. Oven canning is not safe for any food.

Home canning can be done safely, although food consultants at Agriculture Canada Food Advisory Division and many other home economists recommend freezing as the preferred method.

Before starting to home can food, make sure you are using a reliable reference, not more than five years old. You can get up-to-date instructions from this office.

Boiling Pressure Canners

Pressure canning is the only process that is able to destroy the tough spores of bacteria like Clostridium botulinum which can grow and produce deadly poison in jars or cans of any low acid food. Which are the low acid foods? All vegetables (except tomatoes), all meats and seafood are considered low acid and are highly susceptible to bacterial growth.

Besides ensuring the safety of your home canning, using a pressure canner saves time. For example, processing beans in a hot water bath (unsafe) can take several hours, while in a pressure canner it can take as little as 20 minutes (pints) — (be safe!).

Before buying a pressure canner, here are some things to look for. Canners are usually made of cast aluminum. They come in sizes measured according to loose-contents capacity; their diameters are all roughly the same, it's their height that varies. The most popular sizes are: 15½ quart size which holds 10 pint or 7 quart jars and the 21½ quart size which holds 18 pint jars, 7 quarts or 4 half gallon jars.

Pressure canners are expensive but they do their job for years if you care for them; keeping sealing rims/gaskets, pressure gauges, vents and safety valves clean and in working order. Prices this year run in the $100 plus range depending on size. If you have a large garden, as many rural people do, and you do a lot of canning, the expense is well worth it.

Make sure the canner you purchase comes with an instruction booklet. I receive calls every year from ladies who didn't receive instructions with the canner.

Pressure gauges come in two styles. The first is a numbered gauge which tells you the exact pressure inside the canner. The other style has a series of weighted rings — 5, 10 and 15 pounds, that sit on the vent, controlling pressure. Either method is accurate for home canning.

Borrowing a pressure canner is usually not feasible. But something that does work is to go shares with a compatible friend in buying a large one and pool your resources and energies for canning bees.

District news from Ryley

by Lorna Bell

Wm. and Gladys Lambrecht of Dawson City visited Gladys' mother, Margaret Hedgeland and brother, Edgar last week and also with Sylvia Solberg.

Sigvart Soerbheim and Lawrence Pearce are patients in the Tofield Hospital.

Emma Reil of Wheatcock, B.C., is spending a few days in Tofield with her sister-in-law, Elvera Reil. She also visited a sister-in-law and brother-in-law in Ryley and Dagny Jensen. Emma and Elvera also took in the Ryley Fair.

Speakers urge Tofield to co-operate for development

. . . as sales drop

"We'd better open our eyes and get our act together," said Tofield Town Councillor Ed Regehr Wednesday at an economic development meeting.

About 20 representatives of the Tofield business community attended the information meeting, opened by Mayor Charlie Dunn.

"I feel there is a real strong need for this type of organization to work with town council," said Mel Warren of Holden, representing rural development.

Since 1980 the amount of grossed retail sales for the [illegible] guest speaker [illegible] Hancock of Tourism and Small Business pointed out [illegible].

"You've got to start establishing some goals and objectives," said Hancock, noting "the difference between a growth community and a non-growth community is that one keeps on trying."

Having no chamber of commerce or businessman's association, Tofield's economic development is at a disadvantage, experiencing a downturn which began in 1979.

[illegible] ed between the municipal government and the business' with the role of an economic committee defined. A guideline must be outlined correlating advertising and public relations. A chairman and members of authority have to be selected as well, noted Hancock.

"We've never tried to run the communities . . . but give backing," said Warren.

"If you aren't organized, you won't get people behind you," added Warren.

Hancock gave some direction by speaking and illustrating charts, but assertive action lies on the shoulders of town council and especially the businesses.

All present at the meeting agreed for the need of an economic development committee, and will assemble again Monday, Aug. 20 at the town office at 8 p.m.

RE: 1984 ANNUAL INSPECTION

The Department of Municipal Affairs Act requires that an inspection of each municipality be conducted annually and that a Report be made to the Chief Executive Officer on the results of the inspection. The following comments are submitted as a result of an inspection conducted on the above noted date.

A review of the 1983 financial statement and related records indicates that the Village enjoys a good financial standing with a satisfactory cash flow being maintained provided that the committed reserves are not totally ex[illegible].

The 1984 levy for hospitals was excessive in the amount of $2,167 00 due to an assessment error. Subsequently, in accordance with Section 95 of the Municipal Taxation Act, this excess collection must be used to reduce the 1985 hospital mill rate.

The municipality's administrative records, books, and accounting systems were examined and found to be in good order. The administrative systems and procedures now in use meet both the legislative and executive requirements of the Village at the present time.

Your attention is drawn to a recent amendment to the Municipal Government Act, which requires that if an annual meeting is not held, then this Report must be published in a local paper. Also, written acknowledgement of this Report is requested.

Because of a problem with the chariot teams this month there were no chariot races. However, an event was staged in which the chariot team harnesses were placed at one end of the arena. The drivers stood at the starting line. At the word 'go' they ran to their harness, picked them up; ran to the starting line; put their harness over the fence and buckled it up. The winner was Walter Krystal, followed closely by Kasey Krystal and Jack Gustavson.

It was a pleasure to see Jake Neufeld out watching for a while.

President Blair MacCormac and his wife Sharon are being congratulated on the birth of a tiny daughter on August 6, a sister for Jenny.

The regular monthly meeting is Wednesday, August 15 at 8 p.m. at Beaverhill Family Centre.

There is also a trail ride on Sunday, August 19, starting point to be announced at the meeting.

It was an excellent weekend for outdoor events, including the community picnic at the Hall on Sunday.

A lot of fun things were arranged, such as the races and the pony rides, and indoors there were the flea market and bingo for the not-so energetic.

An innovation was the parade of bikes, attended by eighteen riders, each of whom was a winner. The following prizes were awarded.

For best little bike, Lisa Bala, best big bike, Matthew Gates; superbike, Andrea Whalley; best two-wheeler, Neil Kelineschroth; best three-wheeler, Matthew Chalmers; best decorated boy's bike, Jamie Koss, best decorated girls' bike, Jennie Koss; most comical bike, Scott Chalmers; best baby boy biker, Alex Darroch; best baby girl bike, Lacey Lusk; most far-out bike, Jan Lusk; best green bike, Matthew Schneider; best blue bike, Greg Farmer; best purple bike, Sharon May; most beautiful bike, Alison Gates; best red bike, Robbie May; most colorful bike, Elizabeth Darroch; best stunt bike, Jeff Farmer.

GOOD SPORTS
Compact high-mileage S-15 Trucks by GMC add new vitality to the world of personal and recreational vehicles. They offer outstanding appearance, comfort, convenience and exciting handling characteristics. S-15 Conventional Cab Pickups, Club Coupe (extended cab) Pickups, and Jimmy are available in 2-wheel or 4-wheel drive gasoline models, and both types of 2 WD Pickups also are available as diesel models.
[illegible]
Their growing popularity as sport trucks is only a part of the S-15 story. More and more operators and fleets find these efficient trucks can outperform full size pickups in a large variety of vocational applications. GMC S-15 Pickup and Cab & Chassis models provide a full line of compacts readily adaptable to commercial use. It makes good business sense to buy and operate only as much truck as you need.
GMC HIGH TECHNOLOGY
GMC S-15 trucks are conceived, engineered and assembled by the combined efforts of skilled GM personnel dedicated to the goal of producing trucks that set new standards for quality build, comfort, convenience, aerodynamic efficiency, corrosion protection, paint quality and high mileage. Advanced technology utilized at nearly every stage of design and assembly results in quality vehicles worthy of the proud GMC label. The GMC S-15s invite comparison with any other compact truck ... see them, drive them, and judge for yourself (excludes other GM products).

We have a very good selection to choose from: Just to fit your needs. What ever they may be. We have on the spot financing on all our new and used vehicles. Come in for details.

Hay Lakes

by Mrs. A Arneson

John and Pat Hannon and three children have returned from a two-week vacation spent in B.C. They first attended a wedding of a friend in Salmon Arm, B.C. then on to Quesnel where the children were left to visit with their maternal grandparents, Gordon and Gerry Clarke. John and Pat travelled on to Victoria where they visited Pat's grandmother who was 87 years of age. They also visited Pat's relatives at Nanaimo and John's sister and niece in Vancouver. While in Vancouver they attended the opening performance of Guys and Dolls at the live theatre and also attended the Sea Fest.

They then spent five days at Quesnel before returning home. John's niece, Joey, returned with them to spend a week in Hay Lakes.

Kate Kobst and son, Lorne, visited Birdie Lind at the Stettler Nursing Home last Friday. Birdie was a long-time resident of Hay Lakes and sends greetings to all her friends here.

Attendance drops at Tofield Fair

Approximately 300 people sifted through the gates last Saturday at the Tofield Fair, viewing the horticulture, vegetables, baking, pastors, handicrafts and various other displays.

Compared to last year, the fair's attendance was down and a drop in entries, but still good representation from the community was in evidence.

Winner of the Robin Hood Baking Festival was Corrie-Ann Babby of St. Albert, who nurtured this prize winning birthday cake for 10 days. The recipe specifies that one keep adding ingredients for that duration of time.

Celebrating its 75 anniversary the winner will have a picture taken and sent to the national competition and win a trip to Sherwood Forest in England. Babby won over $25 worth of cooking aids.

Karen Sware got top marks in the 12 and under junior category in the cookingroom contest.

With over 36 different classes in the horticultural competition there was good representation by the plant lovers who catered to the themes selected by the garden club who will be making the presentation to the winners at a later date.

"It's a small world after all" was one of the themes that certainly applied to the youngsters who exhibited their prize pets.

Under the watchful eye of the judges Wayne Lysons and Yvonne McAllister, the competitors paraded around in a circle. The funny thing was at times you couldn't tell who was leading who, at least to one little boy.

Steven Schmidt won the mystery prize. Dana Herrick won in the cats and dogs class with McKenzie taking the unusual pets category. Deanna Brown won with her caged poodle, as Carla Malner won the small animals on a leash category.

At the livestock show only two herd operations were represented. Jack and Barb Hutchinson of J-Bar-H Hereford ranch of Fort Saskatchewan were in a duel with H.B. Polled Herefords, Howard and Doris Brown owners.

J-Bar-H Ranch took top honours in four of the six classes winning the yearling female, cow and calf, champion female, and the best herd group.

Supreme champion and champion bulls was awarded to H.B. Polled Herefords of Tofield, with the prize winner Mr. Tangent.

Next to construct a steel building in your yard? Well Frank and Rose Shopek of Vermilion, dealers of steel building systems could have told you all you needed to know at the fair.

Rosco Pump Services and Holland Drilling from Sherwood Park could best serve the needs of water well and efficient pump system problems.

Also water consultant Lloyd Seath could have told you everything about the alpha water systems and more, from dry pellet chlorinators to hot water energy efficient boilers.

Results of the horse show were not available at that time, all the results and winners will be published in future editions of The Mercury.

Round Hill district notes

by Evelyn Low

The first Derrick reunion was held Aug. 3 to 6 on the Burnstad farm. There were 16 units for camping and 65 people in attendance.

Registration was Friday evening along with a campfire and sing song. Saturday was filled with games for the children and horseshoeing for the adults. In the evening another campfire. On Sunday there were more games, followed by a pot-luck supper.

Ruth Derrick from Ryley was presented with a plaque as head of the family. Prizes were drawn for the different camping units. A children and adult kiethaus eating contest was held. Monday was clean-up day and all ready for home. People came from Ryley, Camrose, Skeltler, Whitecourt and Tofield.

On July 17, 14 W.I. members and their husbands gathered at the home of Gerald and Lacy Owen in Camrose to wish Retta and Lyle Thorson farewell.

Retta and Lyle Thorson have moved to Sundre where they have bought an acreage. Retta has been a W.I. member and as a very active member, she will be greatly missed. The W.I. presented Retta with an earring and stick pin set.

Mrs. Bev Deckert made and decorated a cake for the occasion. Lunch was served. Retta thanked everyone in attendance.

The Round Hill Women's Institute served a hot turkey dinner to the senior citizens from Bethany Home, Rosehaven and senior citizens from Round Hill. A sing-song was enjoyed by all. There were approximately 67 people for dinner. Dinner was served in the Elks Hall in Round Hill.

A winner

Agriculture saluted

by Michelle Spencer

People flocked into the Tofield Community Hall on Friday afternoon as the Farmers Market saluted the agricultural society, with a floral arrangement competition.

Horticulture was displayed as winners were selected in the four categories of basket of flowers, tea cup, flower arrangement of one color, and the junior category of 14 years of age and under with any kind of arrangement.

Doris Brown of Tofield topped the basket of flowers section with her gladiolus. Irma Francis got second, and Joyce Bowerman took third place.

Joyce Bowerman found herself in first place in the tea cup arrangement. Theone Jones was second, with Doris Brown and Lillian Berreciesth tying for third place.

Theone Jones won the flower arrangement of one color, Lillian Berreciesth second, and Joyce Bowerman third.

Lori Brown won first place in the junior category, with Deanna Brown placing second.

Fresh produce was on hand with flowers, handicrafts, and much more.

The next Farmers Market will be held on Aug. 31 with a salute to the teachers and the students who are returning to school.

56,124 eligible to vote

56,124 people in the Vegreville Constituency will be eligible to cast ballots in next month's Federal election.

While most people will be going to the polls on Sept. 4th, many will cast ballots at advance polls.

Two such polls have been established in the Vegreville Constituency, one in the Gold Age Drop In Centre in Tofield with the other being in the Vegreville United Church.

Advance polls will be operated on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday and will open at noon and remain open until eight o'clock on each of the three days.

Persons who are not available to vote on election day or at an advance poll, can still arrange to cast their ballots by contacting the Returning Officer, Kay MacKenzie, at her office in Vegreville.

Seven candidates are in the running for the seat representing the Vegreville Constituency.

Included are Bob Brusco of Lavoy (Rhinoceros); Tim Firth of Edmonton (Communist); Evangeline Forcier of Wainwright (Liberal); Steve Kostiuk of Edmonton (Social Credit); Dan Mazankowski of Vegreville (Progressive Conservative, incumbent); George Olekiuk of Edmonton (NDP); and Lawrence Schlamp of Edmonton (Confederation of Regions Western Party).

Holden rejects cost sharing

... for county fire chief

by Michelle Spencer

Holden Council decided to reject the cost sharing proposal of a county fire chief, and to not enter into agreement as outlined by the County of Beaver.

Council agreed in principle to the duties of a fire chief, and the need for one, but rejected the cost sharing plan based on three reasons. The first reason is that council is already providing money to cover the expenses to house the county fire truck. Also, council analysed the ratio of county fires compared to the village ratio. Lastly, the village already supplies the manpower and training to the County of Beaver for prevention of county fires.

"We have to look ahead not until something drastic happens," said councillor Dorthy Emerson as council agreed that a feasibility study should be done this year on the cost estimates of a new water treatment plant.

Representative Lan Cochrane of Canadian Satellite Communications CANCOM was present to give information about the satellite system, and all the possibilities open to council if they decided to become an affiliate.

Considered number one in the world as far as satellite systems go, providing a multi-channel network of four American channels (family of Vancouver, CITV in Edmonton, CHCH in Hamilton, TCTV in Montreal, as well as eight radio stations.

Under the street assistance program, council will be establishing cost estimates for paving in the town, in order to make application for the government grant.

Town administrator Christine Mackay will be attending a pension information seminar on Sept. 4 in [illegible].

[illegible] of the whole to discuss the sewage lagoon project, and the Alberta Environment re drainage course improvements.

The date for the next regular council meeting has been changed to Monday, Sept. 10.

Should trains have cabooses?

... question needs answer

by Michelle Spencer

Measuring two feet by three feet, a black box is the cause of a nationwide controversy.

The combatants - Canadian National Railways and Canadian Pacific Railways versus the United Transportation Union, who are the railways conductors and brakemen.

Should CN and CP be allowed to test the end of train unit ETU (black box) without a caboose on freight trains?

"There will be no decision until the Canadian Transport Commisson is satisfied that it is safe to run tests without a caboose," said public affairs manager of CN, William Dewan.

In June of 1983, CN and CP received permission from the CTC to test the end of train unit on freight trains with a [illegible].

"Testing was very successful," said William Dewan as "the ETU has proved to be 98 percent successful, as far as [illegible] was concerned" CN stated in a news release by assistant manager of information services Robert Hest, that the ETU was tested over a total of 18,000 kilometres, and over 700 operating hours with that success.

According to the United Transportation Union's secretary Rod Walker, that success percentage is incorrect because the tests the two railways had done were on speed trains, that didn't make any stops until they reached [illegible].

In the written letter Hest stated: "We expect and welcome the participation of the labor unions involved so that all concerned are fully aware of the actual conditions and results of the tests."

Walker said in a telephone interview on Friday that the union has had absolutely no say on the testing of the black box, or that the union was even allowed to have an observer at the testings.

The UTU are one of the members of the technical working com...ittee set up this year by the CTC to determine the terms and conditions of these tests. The committee is chaired by the Railway Transport Committee of the CTC. Also, members of the committee are CN, CP and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

"Do you only mark the success on the tests that work?" questioned Walker as he pointed out one test of a trip from Saskatoon to Edmonton in which the conductor was very dissatisfied with the [illegible].

"Simply put, we are trying to let the people in towns know what would happen if the caboose was taken off," added Walker. The UTU has written letters to all the mayors and reeves in Alberta asking the councils to pass a motion requesting public hearings on the safety of running cabooseless trains, through written letters to the Minister of Transport Lloyd Axworthy and the chairman of the railway transport committee John Magee.

The ETU is placed on the coupler of the last car of a train. The black box can only monitor the amount of air pressure of the train's brakeline on a gauge which [illegible] in the cab. The device is printed out on a machine located in the front engine.

The issue is not a question of job security but safety. The union argues that, "There is such a potential for disaster. How can we do away with all those duties?" posed Walker.

On the other hand, CN has stated that, "Through the years, changes in railway technology and operating procedures have altered the once necessary to train operations."

In April of 1984, both CN and CP Rail applied to the CTC for the authority to test the ETU.

At first the CTC informed the working committee that the ETU would be tested on cabooseless trains, and then in the July 30 letter, the UTU sent to the fire chiefs, reeves, and mayors it stated that they had been denied public hearings on the issue.

"It hasn't crossed anyone's desk yet," said Walker in reference to a letter dated July 30 from the Minister of Transport Lloyd Axworthy stating that there will be public hearings.

"It is my suspicion and our union's fear that having no caboose is a political move," said Walker adding that, "we're terribly afraid that the politicians will try and finagle the people."

Both sides agree on one thing only; that this is not a job security issue it is one of safety. With no problems many other railways in North America and Europe have been running efficiently without cabooses for over 30 years, and that millions of dollars has been flooded into new technology to achieve new levels of safety and efficiency in operations, stated [illegible].

The union doesn't see things in quite the same light, and to them such a vital role and purpose of the conductors and brakemen of the caboose would be lost causing such a threat to the public's safety.

Currently this is what the councils of Tofield, Ryley,

Senate reform

Reform of the Senate is not an issue in this election, although it has been for years, and will probably continue to be for many more years. The way we see it, at least, the pressure will have to grow overwhelming before Central Canada will allow a greater degree of equity to be reflected in the make-up of the Senate. After all, equity might cost [illegible]

Lest we all jump overboard on the need for drastic Senate reform, however, it should be pointed out the Senate even now could perform an outstanding task if only it were freed from some of the Party Ties which now constrain its every action. Well, almost every action.

We hark back a few weeks to the dying days of the Trudeau administration, when all parties in the House of Commons had accepted a Bill extending the rights of Indian women who married off the reservation.

Expecting quick rubber-stamping by the Senate, the entire country was amazed when it was turned down in the Senate . . . not because the Senators as a group disagreed, but because one of them, only one, but himself an Indian, refused to extend the unanimous endorsement which was essential for its immediate passage into law.

There must be very few Senators today who weren't named by a Liberal government. There must be very few who don't automatically look to see which way the Party leans before they vote. But this motion shows just what can be accomplished by only one member, by only one vote.

The legislation is needed. It's overdue. It's just. It's accepted by federal politicians, by provincial politicians. Even by most of the native councils.

And in any vote which wasn't being rushed through for rubber-stamping, it would have passed by a huge majority. But when it required unanimity for speedy passage, and when it offended the principles of just one man . . . spell that MAN . . . it failed.

Perhaps if we had more Indians in the Senate there'd be less demand for reform. Or if we had more MEN . . . whether male or female.

Harsher

It should be interesting to see what reaction the Alberta Cattle Commission gets to a petition circulated recently at all its election meetings, asking the Alberta government for harsher sentences "for crimes committed in rural areas."

"There seems to be a general feeling that penalties for crimes are not acting as a deterrent, and . . . we will bring this feeling . . . to the government" said a spokesman.

Presumably, since it is a cattle commission, the "crimes in rural areas" referred to would deal with cattle, like rustling. Yet the wording of the petition is highly interesting, since it could include also speeding on rural roads, drunkeness, theft, or any other sort of crime.

The question might arise, why should this sort of crime be worse in rural areas, but it's also particularly interesting in that it does tend to reflect, to a substantial degree, what we would take to be a greater level of concern, a higher dismay, more vexation, greater annoyance with the kinds of penalties being handed down than may be found in the built up, urban areas.

We wonder if the cattlemen aren't more in tune with the realities of life, more in touch with the feelings of ordinary people, than many of their "big-city friends", people who tend to gloss over the misdemeanors of friends, neighbors, and other members of their immediate societies, with quick, if shallow, explanations, for their departure from what used to be accepted standards. Rural people, its seems to us, tend to be closer to the "sweat of the brow" philosophy, to react more positively to its rejection, or its acceptance.

It's this sort of clear-cut distinction between what is tolerable and intolerable that is so desperately needed by society today.

I'm sure glad we've got two weeks' vacation this year I'll need every day of it to recuperate from getting ready to go on vacation

Considering what most adults have to go through in order to get out of the house and on the roa', seeing them actually on vacation is a compliment to their physical fitness. Anyone who says they "just throw a few things in a bag, jump in the car and go" is [illegible] ing all the packing

Things never go as planned. There are always those last minute derailments, like an emergency trip to the dentist to recap one of the children's molars or a fight with a dog who doesn't want to get into the truck because he still associates it with last summer's encounter of the skunk kind And, of course, the repairs to the vehicle so we "won't get left out in the middle of nowhere". Funny; I drive that truck every day and he's never said there was any reason to worry

The children, supposedly responsible for packing their own belongings, do so with the enthusiasm of convicted felons headed for a prison [illegible] lakeside campground. Added to the strain is remembering the dogfood, dog dish, leash and chain and, of course, the dog. He won't do his own packing either

Somehow, probably through constant vigilance and 254 lists of things to remember, the trailer is packed, the laundry and shopping done, the children, dog and new shocks installed in the truck and I even remember the traveller's checks The lawn, newspaper, mail and garden will be cut, stopped, held and weeded With any luck and a grim determination to have a wonderful time or die trying, we will return in two weeks with sunburns, insect bites, bushels of photos and an additional five pounds each

Then, after a few minutes in the house, the kids will disappear to visit friends, hubby will wander out to check the vegetable patch and the dog will find a shadey spot to sleep in Guess who will be left to do the unpacking, laundry, grocery shelving and putting a decent meal on the table? Not me. I'll be soaking in a hot tub

Robots for the West

R.R. 4 Calmar, Ab.
August 8, 1984.

Dear Sir:

A few days ago we in Alberta were favoured with a visit from Ontario in the person of Rex Williams, Parts Operations Director for General Motors. Mr. Williams was the bearer of great news for Alberta

Yes indeed, G.M. is going to spend $16,000,000 (sixteen million) on a new parts distribution center in Edmonton. Of course that amount, large as it may seem, is somewhat dwarfed by the one billion plus plant expansion back in Ontario.

However, with a billion dollar plant expansion back east, someone somewhere has to be ready to take care of maintenance. Aren't we lucky that Edmonton was chosen for that honor!

Just think of all the construction of so huge a complex. Who knows, there may even be a few jobs available when the plant is open for business that can't be done more cheaply by robots

Sounds wonderful but as usual there is a catch Mr. Williams insists that even with all these marvellous expansions G.M. still needs import quotas on Japanese cars to survive. Bless me, who would have thought that the great American auto giant would ever need protection from anywhere including Japan. In reality what Mr. Williams was insisting on was of course that Japan is going to have to reduce it's export of cars to this country, in order to assure the survival of G.M. When and if that happens and Japan is forced to respond by reducing imports from Canada who is going to have to pay the price? Not Ontario, you may be sure. The West, that's who will pay the price. We will pay the price in reduced sales of coal, of forest products, and of agricultural products to name a few. We will pay the price in higher unemployment in the forestry industry and in the mining industry and in the general economic slowdown that will follow Who will gain? Ontario naturally. Oh yes, we will pay the price but then why should anyone be surprised, isn't that the way it always has been? Isn't that the way it always will be until we in the West make up our minds to take complete control of our own affairs and cease being an economic colony of the East.

Sincerely yours,
A.C. Coates

Harvesting underway

Harvesting operations are in full swing throughout the area, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

There are varying reports on the quality of crops being harvested

In a number of instances, farmers are reporting excellent canola crops while other crops, especially barley, are coming in with inferior grades

In a few scattered instances, some farmers are reporting that harvesting of some crops has already been completed while others are indicating that hail damage is more extensive than had been anticipated

All of the rye crop planted in this region has been threshed with combining having been completed in the Camrose area and is nearly done around New Norway.

Threshing of canola, barley and oats in the Camrose region is well underway with canola and barley started in the New Norway vicinity and farmers around Hay Lakes have made a start with barley

Swathing is general throughout the entire region and more and faster progress is expected with the arrival of cooler temperatures on the past weekend

Some farmers were reporting that they were being forced to halt swathing in the afternoons because of the unseasonably high temperatures that had been prevailing

Canola is generally expected to produce good crops with most regions expecting to receive high grades, ranging from eighty up to one hundred percent of the top grade

Wheat was hurt severely by a lack of moisture in many areas and as a result grades will vary from a high of seventy-five percent top grade around Camrose to only five percent number one' in the area around Hay Lakes

All barley crops are being rated in the feed category with the top grade in that category being received in the Camrose and New Norway regions and dropping to about seventy percent in the Daysland area with other locales being somewhere [illegible]

All regions expect combining to swing into high gear before the end of this week

Around the town

Lydia Bablitz of Bruce has been selected as a participant in the Caribbean/Canadian Farm Youth Exchange program and will live and work in an agricultural community in Dominica for six weeks

Dubetz on staff

The Freebury Clinic has announced that Dr Dennis Dubetz M.B.B.C will be associated with the clinic, for the months of August and September

Dr Dubetz is taking Dr Price's place for the month of August and Dr Freebury's for the month of September during the holiday period

Dr Dubetz received his medical training at the University of Queensland in Australia, but is a Canadian and is presently a resident of Selo Beach

A "Salute to Holden" celebrating 75 years, Ben and Walter Lutz sang this anniversary song composed by Gertrude Mizera of Ryley (Tune: Farewell Sweetheart Farewell — A Wilf Carter Song)

Salute to Holden

In the heart of Alberta,
Where the golden grains flow
Where there's ranching and dairying
And the wild flowers grow
There's a village called Holden
With memories so dear
It's the place of my childhood
Most memorable years.

Chorus

We salute you Holden on your 75th year,
We salute the brave pioneers
[illegible]
We dedicate to you this History book
And to a bright future we hopefully look
From the wood burning stove
To the old coal-oil lamp
From the horse and buggy
And the one cent stamp
We have made real progress
And advanced in many ways
But we look back, Holden
On your pioneer days
Our churches are symbols
[illegible]
Our service clubs labour
To help one and all
Our veterans have answered
Their country's call.

History is kept alive

by Michelle Spencer

Surrounded by saddles, harnesses, breast collars, bridles, cowboy boots and much more one can take a step back into the past.

Nostalgia comes to greet as in the rustic shop of George Knudsen from Ryley, a shoe and harness repairs

Born at the tail end of the horse era at 10 years of age, George Knudsen is doing business as Knudsen pointed out that, what tends to be the problem is the costs of materials and equipment, and the technique involved with this type of intricate work

Very few specialize in the metallurgy and working with leathers comes easy, but it has taken five years of purchasing equipment from Western Canada and the United Stated,

Stitches

Sewing harness leather can be a very slippery situation, as the texture of the finish seems to want to make it slide away from George Knudsen of Ryley AR, who owns and operates George's Shoe and Harness Repair for his dream to become a reality.

"That is what has to be made known to the public is that hardware is very expensive," said Knudsen. The decoration, studding of gold and silver plating costs about $15 for 12 links, which have to be shipped from Ontario and Stocking three different colors of leathers, dark, medium and light for harnesses there are many other types of leathers used for different projects.

Knudsen started up his business about three years ago after the doctor advised him to quit farming because of deteriorating health. Just this spring the Knudsen's opened a shop in Ryley.

Audrey Knudsen is "sort of my agent in town" as she runs the operation from that end, also selling western wear in the store.

"That's the field I'm working into, that the average saddle harness makers don't do," said Knudsen referring to his ambition of making saddles

Of all the things he makes, best, designing the product on a fine line of equipment, of about 15 machines.

"My endeavor is to build my name around quality," and it appears as orders from all over the province come in, that he has indeed become

"You've got to be able to put out a good quality product," he added, as his works are top of the line in a profession that

Demonstration attended

by Michelle Spencer

Taking advantage of the Conklin product demonstration day at Amiak Creek farms were approximately 125 people on Aug 11

Marketing over 100 Conklin products, distributor Arthur Purdue of Prince George, B.C. ran the test engine he designed last December, 15 minutes

Hard to believe, but Purdue proved that "because of lubrication" that Convoy oil reduces consuption of gas and oil as "in a new motor, protection is there all the time."

About 20 distributors from Western Canada were present at the demonstration of Boetger's field plots, to see disc sharpening, a test engine run without oil, or illustration of various Conklin products, which specialize in lubricants, roof coatings, industrial cleaners and liquid fertilizer.

With 28 new area distributers in Alberta, area manager of Canada, Tom Foster from Penne, Saskatchewan was "happy to see the turnout."

Also, as Sanford Boettger pointed out that "It takes time for people to know about it" (i.e. Conklin products).

Foster met with United States distributors in San Diego last week and will be in Alberta for the month of August before moving on to Manitoba in September

Handicapped are people

by Pat Beare

We often speak of rehabilitating persons with a mental handicap when the term is actually 'habilitating'. To habilitate is to make capable and this is what the work of the Association for the Mentally Handicapped is all about. Habilitation involves many careful steps if it is to be successful.

The first of these steps is usually an assessment of the individuals capabilities. Preparation of functional assessments have been the subject of intensive research, for some time. There is now a choice of such tools that enable a habilitation technician to accurately determine what skills the person needs to learn. The person in question is actively involved in the choice of what should be learned first.

The skill area chosen is then the focus of a learning program that is specially designed to suit the individual and his or her learning method.

This program must then be undertaken by the particular person and its success or failure will be partially dependent on the motivational factors that have been built into the program. Once a skill is learned only intermittent reinforcement is necessary to maintain it.

In the next few weeks some of our habilitation personnel will elaborate on assessments, programs and evaluation techniques. For anyone seriously interested in learning more in depth we are hoping to arrange for individual rehabilitation credit courses to be given in either Camrose or Wetaskiwin this winter. If you are interested in enrolling phone 672-6057 for more information.

Cabooses . . .

Holden and the County of Beaver have done with the written request by the union.

At the Aug 13 Tofield Town Council meeting council marked the letter as received and filed. Ryley council had a presentation by UTU secretary Rod Walker and Rob Wallace on Aug 7 and decided to make further inquiries by writing to CN and CP Rail.

Everything is centered around the caboose," said Holden councillor Dennis Danilak Monday. Council voted in favor to support the UTU in an effort that rail lines maintain the cabooses.

The County of Beaver decided at their last meeting on Aug. 9 not to voice an opinion because of lack of knowledge of the duties and functions of the conductor and brakeman in the caboose.

POLICIES AND REGULATIONS

1. Admission to Kindergarten or Grade One

Regulation - Children may be admitted as beginners in the schools of the County of Beaver according to the following:

KINDERGARTEN CLASSES:

A child who will be FIVE YEARS of age by December 31st, in any year MAY attend a kindergarten class beginning in September of that year.

GRADE ONE:

A. A child who will be six years of age by November 30th, of the year in which the child is presented for enrolment will be admitted at the start of the school year.

B. A child who will be six years of age during the period December 1st, to the last day of December of the school year in which the child is presented for enrolment, may be admitted to school as a beginner. However, if after attending school for a minimum of three weeks the child is judged to possess inadequate ability and/or social maturity to cope successfully with even a modified grade one program, the parents shall be required to withdraw the child from school, and may be requested to enrol or re-enrol him/her in the kindergarten class.

The decision to request withdrawal of the child from grade one is to be made by a committee consisting of the child's teacher, the Principal of the school and either of the Supervisor of Instruction or the Superintendent of Schools. The Principal is responsible for conveying the decision of the committee to the parents.

2. School Bus Pick Up Points

Regulation - Residence approach pick up will be provided wherever feasible. However, in situations where residences are in close proximity or back tracking and turnabouts are required the Board of Education will establish pick up points within 1/3 mile of the Pupil's residence approach. Pupils will be required to load the bus at these pick up points.

When establishing these pick up points factors such as age of the pupils, distance of the residence from the County road, etc. will be taken into consideration.

Any exceptions to the above will be ruled on individually by the School Bus Committee.

If you have any questions please call the County office at 663-3730.

Authority accepts bids

by [illegible]

Tenders for fencing, a Bobcat, and scales at the Ryley landfill site and transfer stations were decided upon last Tuesday at the Beaver Regional Waste Management Authority meeting.

The Authority voted that Seldan Fence and Metals Ltd. of Edmonton [illegible] with part A of fencing the landfill [illegible].

R Angus was awarded the contract as tender for a model 953 Caterpillar. The tender for the scales is Accurate Scale. The scale platform will measure 35 by 10 feet, with a 60 tonne weight capacity.

"[illegible] three bidders," project engineer Rick Prentice extended bids for tenders of the refuse hauling trailor until Aug 22, in time for the scheduled authority meeting on Tuesday, Aug 28.

"I think we're at the point now that we try and cut the extension down by eight feet, and based on that give him (Prentice) the authority to get tenders, spec's, and proposals from tenders," said authority member Joe Fornel of Holden.

It was voted by a narrow margin in favor of this motion by the authority that the end of the transfer stations be reduced by eight feet, have a pitched roof, and have the design and drawings submitted to tenders.

"In this case we firmly believe that the County of Beaver and the authority are better served with one premanufactured building," said engineer Rick Prentice of Reid Crowther and Partners Ltd.

The argument came when the authority wanted to waste no time, feeling that not much was getting accomplished. Authority member Ed Rehehr felt that, "You've come out with two plans now that we are not pleased with, and we won't go to tender with it."

The building design submitted by Armco was seen as unacceptable, as the engineers are going to "revise the plan to incorporate what we think should be done," said Prentice.

The slowpitch games in Ryley on Aug. 17-19 drew a large crowd and lots of traffic.

Karen Heisler of Viking enjoyed her swimming lessons here in Ryley Swimming Pool and her sister, Leanne attended [illegible] canoe safety course at Black Nugget Lake.

Anyone wanting to put in news items, ads, sale ads, subscriptions, etc., phone 663-3773.

Courses are held

by [illegible]

Some of the 10 participants had a harder time of it surviving STEP students David McKoen's and Cheryl Andrukow's cooking than passing the small craft and canoe course at Black Nugget Lake this past week.

Instructor Maureen Bennet of the Red Cross in Edmonton conducted the small craft safety survival and level one canoe course.

Eventhough the Ryley Recreation Board supplied the meals, no one got sick because of food poisoning, and ten healthy participants were awarded badges and personal [illegible].

[illegible] of the two days were: Leanne Heisler of Viking, Corey [illegible] of Sherwood Park, Tammy Wallace and Trixi League of Athabasca, Todd and Troy Fitt, Danette Istace, Sherry Bancroft, Dave [illegible] and Cheryl Andrukow of Ryley.

These participants now have the skill and knowledge to react in a lucid, helpful manner in an emergency situation, to assure personal safety and assistance to others.

Palmer-Earling

Vernon and Bernice Roth have returned after a trip to Sunnyside, Wash.

Mrs. Emily mercer, Calgary, spent the week with [illegible] here.

Emily Kvale and her daughters, Mable Cooper and Annie Willis and Jodi attended the Jevne re-union recently north of Wetaskiwin.

Rev. and Mrs. John [illegible] former Ryleyites who spent the past 10 years residing at Brooks, have moved to Tofield where they purchased a house.

Emily Kvale was a recent visitors at Roy Kellys' and weekended in Edmonton with her daughter Bill and Mable Cooper, and Michael and Annie Willis and family.

Dennis and Ardis Peterson have returned home after holidaying at the lake.

Tom and Nora Chrystian and Ted and Mildred Rakowski were on a motor trip for a few days in Sask returning Sunday.

Linda Forre and friend weekended in Red Deer.

Visitors at the John Bruce home were Vernon and Bernice Roth, Ohaton, Richard Vassberg and Alice and Edna Aker.

Mr and Mrs Elmer Bruce, Dean, Charlene, Elaine and Carolyn, have returned after holidaying at Ferndale, Wash with Agnes Jensen and the Lorne Jensen's. Enroute back they visited the Olaf Bruce's at White Rock, B.C. and also Vancouver.

Mrs Laurie Farness and Christopher were visitors at Toronto, Ont., with her grandmother and flew from there to B.C. to visit her father Lloyd [illegible].

Elaine Bruce spent a few days in Camrose with her grandmother Alberta Bolding.

Ten were present and two visitors Aug. 15 at the Skudesness L.C.W. at the church parlors. Correspondance was read by Valerie Forre; Bethany Children's Home at Gwynne and Mission Prayer League, also a thank you card from Rev. and Mrs. Lee Woolery and girls now at Bonneyville. Edna Aker had mailed out seven cards. The Bible lesson was lead by Helen Vassberg. Next meeting is Sept. 19 at the church.

Horticulture saluted

Lori Brown of Tofield saluted the Agricultural Society with a winning entry in the junior category of the floral arrangement competition at the Farmer's Market last Friday. Brown took home this mini plastic shoe as a momento, or possibly for next years design theme for another winning exhibit.

Library club ends

by [illegible]

Many of them still wanted to play! Play what? A game that had been two months of fun and education for over 60 children.

Monica Taylor had coordinated the Readers of the Lost Ark Club for the kids at the Tofield Library.

On Saturday, a wind-up party was enjoyed by many and especially Jeff Capogreco who won the Indiana Jones look [illegible] award.

The day was filled with the [illegible] games and a treasure hunt.

During the afternoon prizes were awarded to some of the club members.

Dressed up as Mother Giant from one of the books selected for the players, Jennifer [illegible] player award. Jason Ward characterizing Dracula was the most sinister player. The smurfiest player award went to Derek Jordan.

Having to read various books as they played the game this summer; Jason Warner was given honourable mention for reading more than 20 books, and playing the Readers of the Lost Ark game [illegible].

The honorary archeologists were Jason Siverns, Kevin Sommer, and Jeff Capogreco for reading more than 30 books and playing the game more than 30 times.

The Readers of the Lost Ark Club which began on July 1, seems to have ended too quickly for these adventurers.

School plans announced

by [illegible]

The 1984-85 school year is rapidly approaching and I would like to take this opportunity to explain some of the things about which you, as parents, may have questions.

If you find that I have omitted anything or have not properly explained the topics please do not hesitate to call the Superintendent's office.

HOLDEN/RYLEY

Effective September 4, the Ryley School will be a Kindergarten to Grade 6 and Grades 10, 11 and 12 school. Holden, at the same time, will become a Kindergarten to Grade 9 school. That means that the Holden senior high school students will be attending Ryley School while the Ryley junior high school students will be attending Holden School. All junior high school students will continue to take their industrial arts and home economics courses at Ryley.

At the special Board meeting held in June, the advantages to this reorganization were once more pointed out and included the following. At the junior high level we have been able to include home economics and industrial arts for grade 7, drama and music in addition to many of the options which were available last year. Junior high students will therefore be able to select from a greater choice of options this year.

Since teachers can now limit their lessons to three grade levels instead of six, staff can be utilized to much better advantage than in the past. They will have fewer preparations and can [illegible] their efforts towards teaching the junior high students. Students should gain much by this concentration of teacher expertise.

One should also realize that since there are no senior students in Holden the leadership capabilities of the junior high student will be called upon much more. I am confident that they will meet this challenge and become the leaders in school organizations and clubs.

The advantages at the senior high level are also very evident. Double programming has almost been eliminated and so has cycling. Course offerings have been increased and are now provided in two distinct streams – matriculation and diploma. Greater specialization by staff has been achieved.

In my opinion students will benefit greatly from the reorganization of the Ryley [illegible].

Computers

In addition to the computers presently in the schools the Board has been able to purchase an additional 40 computers which will be [illegible] County. This major purchase has been due partly to Government matching grants which [illegible].

[illegible]

Over the past number of years some of our schools have been operating on a 7-period day instead of an 8-period day. It is the Board's goal for all schools to operate on an 8-period day. To this end an extra 20 minutes per week have been added to both Ryley [illegible] next year.

Busing

Bus routes will not change from last year. Holden senior high school students will travel to Holden and from there take an express bus to Ryley. Ryley junior high school students will travel their regular route to Ryley School and there take an express bus to Holden. On those days that Ryley junior high students are scheduled to take Industrial Arts or Home Economics they will proceed to the Ryley School on those mornings and at the end of their morning classes will take a bus to Holden.

[illegible] in Holden and Ryley must ensure that they reach school by 8:35 a.m. in order that they may board their express buses. In the afternoon they should arrive back at Ryley and Holden respectively at approximately 3:30 p.m. All rural students will be picked up at the same times as last year. If, after school has been in operation it is deemed necessary to change the times for any reason and on any route parents will be notified.

It may be necessary at a later date and after school teams have been established to provide a late bus to transport those students who need to remain at school for practices. These will then be considered as they are needed.

TOFIELD SCHOOL

Addition

The architect is presently preparing the working drawings for the industrial arts, home economics addition. Construction should begin during the fall 1984 for building completion sometime in 1985. Certainly for the 1985-86 school year Tofield students will be taking their industrial arts and home economics in their home community.

Items from August Board Meeting

Procedures for dealing with a major bus accident have now been adopted. Anyone interested may receive a copy by contacting the Superintendent's office.

Mr. George Mason is the new school trustee for Holden. He replaced Bobbie Schweitzer.

The Board discussed attendance boundaries. A policy will be drafted during the 1984-85 school year. In the meantime the school bus routes for 1984-85 will remain the same as were for the 1983-84 school year. Any alterations to existing bus routes, including those for out of County, must be approved by the Board on an individual basis.

There will be eight new teachers in County schools this September. These were appointed to fill vacant positions. Overall there will be the same number of teachers in the County as there were during 1983-84.

Milt MacGregor has been appointed as Supervisor of Buses replacing Mike Yaciuk who has resigned. MacGregor is a Holden resident.

News from Ministik

by Catherine Reddick

The August Community League meeting was held on Monday evening with a very small attendance.

No activities were planned but each member is to come to the September 10th meeting with their ideas for the winter months.

Wayne Kleinschroth, Ministik for the west end of Ministik is enjoying a two-week vacation. John Vandermeer assisted by Myles Swann are taking care of the mail route while Wayne is away.

The Nugget Trailer Club enjoyed a weekend of camping in Theresa Regier's yard.

Recent visitors with Barbara Horricks were Bud and Barbara Horricks of Nanton, Laurie and Pete Peeters, Jeremy and Chelsey of Boston, Mass. and Clifford, Shirley, Stephen, Laura and Mark Horricks. Pete Peeters is the Boston goaltender in the National Hockey League and spends his summers along with his family with the Horricks in Nanton.

Edna and Glenn Ferguson were among the guests last Saturday at the wedding of Lori Baker and Barry Raivio, which was held on the lawn of Lori's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Denny Baker of Patricia Drive in Edmonton. The reception followed in the Northwoods Inn.

Verdun Sears did some fishing recently at Rainbow Lake.

Curtis and Trevor Dylke are among the pupils attending Vacation Bible School at South Cooking Lake United Church this week.

The August Crafts Centre meeting will be on Monday evening. The centre recently got a new stucco job and looks much improved.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Mrs Kate Nichols is a patient in Tofield Hospital having treatment for a bad leg. Other Holden residents in Tofield Hospital are Conrad Melby of the Senior Citizens Lodge, Mrs. Sopiwnyk and Mrs. Annie (Stanley).

Mrs Edith Carlson and Mrs Rene Taylor were Thursday afternoon visitors with Mrs Nichols. Also visiting with her was Mrs Irene MacGregor.

Mr and Mrs Sylvester Kasprick, former residents of Holden, are now residing in the Senior Citizens Lodge in Tofield to be near their daughter and family.

Mrs Edith Carlson, son, Eric and granddaughter, Kathryne Andersky of Tofield left for Calgary on Friday morning. Edith taking back their grandson Jonathon, son of Mr and Mrs Bob Carlson of Calgary who had been visiting with his grandparents, Mr and Mrs. Melvin Carlson for the past month during school holidays.

Mrs Frances Hanson returned home Thursday [illegible] for two weeks in Viking Hospital, but became quite ill again on Sunday afternoon and had to be taken back to hospital.

Mr and Mrs. John Semotiuk returned home Wednesday evening after taking a few days' holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Stecyk have been visiting with their families, Mr. and Mrs Bill Hallett and Mrs. Helen Stecyk.

Ralph and Emily Gerrie of Tofield were visiting last Thursday afternoon with Ralph's mother, Mrs. Kate Nichols in Tofield Hospital, before leaving on holidays.

Mrs Helen Zwerschke was a Thursday evening visitor last week at Tofield Hospital, calling on Mrs Kate Nichols and with Mrs. Agnes Phillips.

Mrs Bill Kaufman had an unfortunate accident on Sunday morning while on her way to church, stumbling over the uneven sidewalk falling and hurting a foot quite badly.

Saturday afternoon visitors with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were their son and wife, Biran and Dineke Taylor, grandchildren Barbara, Cathryn and Richard of St Albert. Their granddaughter Barbara will be leaving the middle of next week to attend college in Grand Rapids, Mich., U.S.A.

[illegible] and Mrs. Ethel Brekstad took Conrad Melby to Tofield Hospital on Wednesday. Mrs. Kathleen Harum also went along and Ethel and Kathleen visited with Mrs. Nichols, while [illegible].

Major and Mrs. Leslie Brekstad and two daughters who were visiting with his mother, Mrs. Ethel Brekstad for over a week and to attend the Holden Homecoming, left early last week on their trip home to Inuvik.

Business gets okay

by Michele Spencer

The Development Appeal Board voted in favor last Wednesday to allow Idex Developments Ltd. to begin plans for construction of a convenience store and gas bar in Tofield.

"If all goes well we could begin by next week," said President of Idex Developments Ltd. of Edmonton Jack Snary shortly after the Appeal Board had made [illegible].

"We have a new product, we have enthusiasm and we have the ability to generate revenue" said an optimistic [illegible].

Opposition was forthcoming from businessmen who argued that the timing wasn't right for this particular type of business, that the community couldn't support the proposal, and that the venture wouldn't be economically feasible.

Six businessmen had signed a petition dated Aug. 3, and submitted it to appeal board secretary and town administrator Lori Pilon against the proposed development.

"By asking us not to bring in another business, you're closing the door," said town councilor Ed Regehr.

"The more business you have in a town the better things are," said Appeal Board Chairman Charlie [illegible].

Also, town councillor Jack Lampitt pointed out that, "If we get more opposition, this might make things more competitive."

Initially about $130,000 will be generated as revenue into the town of Tofield. Within approximately three months the project could possibly be completed.

"It's our job to improve the town," said Mayor Charlie Sears as "we've got to supply these services."

Speaking on behalf of the businessmen Cliff Sommer said that, "It doesn't make sense or is economically feasible. I would suggest we have an improper balance and mixture if we have another grocery store," added Sommer.

"You've got your foot in the door, and you won't fold unless you allow it to happen," said councillor Regehr.

The businessmen questioned that the market would become flooded, as there are already three full line grocery stores in Tofield and that there are also an adequate amount of service stations.

But the question is: Are they providing adequate services? Some other factors were: hours of operation, are they open on holidays and Sundays, and customer services.

Independently owned and operated "tag" convenience stores provide services unlike any other.

With other tag stores located in nine different communities in Alberta, retailers Alberta Growers Wholesale Ltd. of Edmonton will be supplying the goods.

After two years of study this unique store in concept and design will be located across from the IGA, and on the south end of main street.

Unlike other regular convenience stores, the tag store will have a bakery and [illegible].

As well as all the products and services other convenience stores provide, the interior is constructed in natural pine wood and old historical pictures of the town are [illegible].

Generally most Tag Stores are open from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. Also, Husky will provide gas and oil with a self serve gas station at the site.

Snary of Idex Developments assures many the sub-trades from Tofield and area for construction of the building, i.e. lumber, concrete, [illegible], electricity, etc.

Trail ride is held

Katchemat Creek Family Horse Club held its regular monthly meeting on Aug. 13.

It was decided to hold the trail ride in the reserve. The Chipman Horse Club has been invited to join us.

Once again the Legion has asked us to hold pony rides in conjunction with their "Kiddies Day" on Aug. 25. Anyone with ponies is asked to contact the club executive and let them know.

The next regular ghymkhana is on Sept. 2, hopefully this time there will be chariot races again. Thoughts are going ahead to the club's trophy night in November. Once again trophy donors are being sought, so anyone interested in donating a trophy can contact treasurer Ruth Hardy or president Blair [illegible].

On Sunday, Katchemat Creek Family Horse Club held a trail ride in Blackfoot Grazing Reserve. There were several riders from the Chipman Horse Club as well as other guests. The ride started and finished at the east gate.

After following various trails and roads for several hours we arrived back to find that Anne Neufeld had cut her ride short to go back and help Jake Neufeld and Cathy Forwester prepare hot food and "Cowboy Coffee" for the rest of the riders.

Zucchini, Zucchini, Zucchini

By now you are probably wondering what to do with all that zucchini. Zucchini is a very versatile vegetable. It can be baked, boiled, steamed, stuffed, scalloped, used in salads, main dishes, vegetables, quick breads, cakes, etc.

When choosing zucchini, try to pick small, young specimens that are firm. Stored in the refrigerator, zucchini will keep up to a week to be used in various ways. It can also be frozen very successful for later use.

Zucchini-Beef Bake
3 medium zucchini
2 c. ground beef
½ c. chopped onion
1½ c. soft bread crumbs (about 3 slices)
1½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. dried thyme leaves
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ c. butter or margarine
¼ c. flour
½ tsp. salt
2 c. milk
1 c. shredded sharp cheddar cheese
1 tbsp. butter, melted.

Wash and remove ends from zucchini, cut in ¼ inch slices. Cook in boiling salted water for 5 min. or until tender; drain. In skillet, cook meat with onion until meat is brown; drain off excess fat. Stir in ½ c. bread crumbs, ½ tsp. salt, thyme and pepper. Remove from heat.

In saucepan melt ¼ c. butter; blend in flour and ½ tsp. salt. Add milk all at once. Cook and stir until mixture thickens and bubbles. Add cheese; stir until melted. Stir in meat mixture. Put half of zucchini in a 3 qt. dish. Pour half of the cheese mixture on top. Repeat layers. Combine bread crumbs with melted butter. Sprinkle on top of casserole. Bake at 350°F for 30 to 35 min. Makes 6 servings.

For something different, try [illegible].

Zucchini in Sour Cream

Not only is this delicious, tricky and just a bit unusual in its flavour, but it's also good for you.

4 tsp butter
2 unpeeled zucchini, sliced in half and ¼" thicknesses
½ tsp dill weed
4 tbsp sour cream
1 tsp lemon juice
½ tsp sugar
paprika, for colour

Melt butter over low heat and saute zucchini just until tender. Sprinkle with dill.

Combine next three ingredients and stir into zucchini. Stirring constantly, heat for 1 minute. Serve at once, sprinkled with paprika.

Drop into the office or give us a call for the free publication, "Zucchini, Zucchini, Zucchini".

Marketplace

Comparison shopping takes time but there's an obvious payoff - you save money and get a better deal! No matter what you're shopping for, there are five steps to the "right" choice. Ask yourself:

— "Why" am I buying? If the item is something you actually "need", you can justify the purchase. But, if you merely "want" the item, think carefully before proceeding. It's all too easy to become a chronic impulse spender, buying the things you want as you see them, then not having enough money left for the things you need and want more.

— "What" should I buy? Almost anything you decide to buy is available in a wide range of models, brands, sizes, prices. To make the best choice: learn how to interpret advertising claims and label information; check your local library for product test reports and relevant books; collect informative pamphlets from retailers, manufacturers, and consumer help agencies.

Don't overlook your friends and neighbours. Sometimes the best information comes from people who have had first-hand experience with the product.

Finally, don't rely on price alone to tell you which is the best buy. The most expensive item is not necessarily the right choice for you — nor is the cheapest item.

— "When" should I buy? Prices on almost everything vary throughout the year. Plan your purchases in advance and take advantage of the seasonal and other sales. Be sure an advertised sale is a genuine sale.

— "Where" should I buy? Find out where you can get the best servicing, the best warranty and the lowest price for the specific brand and model you've chosen.

If you have not previously dealt with the companies selling the item you plan to buy, ask your friends and neighbors for referrals.

The Better Business Bureau can tell you whether they have received a significant number of unresolved complaints against a specific retailer. Save footwork: phone around.

— "How" should I pay? If you plan far enough in advance you'll likely be able to pay cash for your purchase, or at least make a substantial down payment. If you decide to use credit, realize that it is just as important to comparison shop for credit as for the item itself.

Interest rates and other conditions vary, so shop around to get the best deal.

"Be Safe, Not Sorry"

This time of year always brings with it the "harvest hurry." Long hours are spent in the field to beat the weather and fill the bins. Mental and physical fatigue usually accompany these long hours — many times at the expense of farm safety. Short cuts may save time but may often lead to serious accidents causing personal injury and/or heavy financial losses.

When servicing and maintaining machinery, make sure the machinery is shut off. After repairing, replace all guards and shields. They are there for your safety not for decoration.

Night-time operation is especially dangerous. Moving belts are difficult to see at night, and, if you've only had 3 or 4 hours of sleep the night before, your hand may reach for a moving belt before your brain realizes what you're doing. Today's grain bins are getting higher and likewise, a long way down to the ground if you should fall. Be careful with these.

For those that may be drying grain, try not to leave your dryers unattended especially if something has not been functioning properly. A grain fire is extremely hard to put out before extensive damage occurs.

And, last but not least — be patient with the helpers. One too many sharp words to a lady who cooks meals between truck loads, may be detrimental to the completion of harvest!

Handicapped are people

An Israeli psychologist, Dr. Reuven Feuerstein, has developed an effective way to help slow learners to learn. He calls his method 'Instrumental Enrichment'; it is a method that emphasizes problem solving. To solve problems it is necessary to know how to reason and the program exercises are structured to develop this skill. The theory reinforces the old proverb, "Give a man a fish, he has food for tonight. Teach him to fish, he has food for a lifetime."

Most educators have been addressing this need from some perspective but perhaps it is time to take a more scientific approach to teaching reasoning itself. Parents of young people with either a learning disability or a mental handicap would be interested to read about Dr. Feuerstein's method in his book 'Instrumental Enrichment'. This can be obtained on loan from Edmonton through your local Public Library.

Hail storms lighter north of Red Deer

RED DEER (August 2) — Heavy crop damage occurred in the Sundre, Bowden and Cremona areas when an early evening storm July 28 began west of Sundre.

Hail larger than golf ball size was observed, and there were 18 reports of walnut size hail and numerous reports of pea-size hail. The storm was seeded with cloud top and cloud base flares until cloud top seeding operations were called off due to blow-off from other storms moving northward from the Calgary area.

These storms and the Sundre storm eventually merged to form a large storm complex, stretching from Red Deer to Calgary.

Another line of storms on July 26 formed west of Calgary, and tracked toward Red Deer resulting in spotty hail in the Rocky Mountain House, Sundre, Cromfield and Cochrane areas. The largest hail was pea-sized and no significant crop damage was reported.

A few small storms in the Wetaskiwin to Ponoka areas moved slowly southwest on July 30. A few reports of grape and pea-size hail were received. No crop damage was reported.

Change law on taking beaver

An amendment to the Game Hunting Regulations permits landholders to control wolves and beavers on private land.

The new regulation allows landowners to hunt or trap beaver and destroy any beaver house or dam on private land between April 1 and November 1.

The fish and wildlife division of Alberta Energy and Natural Resources in co-operation with Alberta Agriculture and municipalities handles approximately 3300 beaver complaints per year. It is anticipated that with the new regulation landowners will take action as problems arise and significantly reduce the public cost with beaver control.

The new regulation regarding wolf control is expected to decrease livestock depredation and claims for compensation. The regulation allows landowners to hunt wolves, during all seasons and without a licence, on their land and on any land within five miles as long as permission is obtained. This provision also applies to anyone who is authorized to maintain livestock on public land. The use of traps is not permitted.

The regulation will allow livestock producers to take immediate action against wolves in close proximity to cattle.

The skin or pelt of any wolf or beaver taken under the authority of this new regulation may be sold to a purchaser who is authorized by The Wildlife Act to purchase that pelt or skin.

NOTICE OF SUBDIVISION APPROVAL
AS PER SECTION 93 AND 106 OF THE PLANNING ACT

File: 84-D-185/B
Municipality: County of Beaver
Legal Description: N W 11 48-16-4
Proposal: 1 Farmstead Separation
Applicant: Nick Laskosku
R.R. No 2
Holden, Alberta
T0B 2C0

If you are an owner of land adjacent to the above, you may appeal the decision of approval or any condition of approval for this property. The appeal cannot deal with the proposed use of land as legally adopted by the municipality in its land use by-law

For this purpose, adjacent land means land which touches the parcel being subdivided, or which would be in contact with this parcel if it were not separated from it by a public road way, river or stream

A proper notice of appeal must be filed with both the Alberta Planning Board and the applicant within fourteen (14) days of the date of this publication. Such notice shall contain

1 the legal description and municipal location of lands being subdivided
2 the name and address of the applicant
3 the name and address of the appellant
4 the reasons for appeal, and
5 the name and date of this publication

Beaver misses grants

. . . says councillor

by Michelle Spooner

"I feel we're getting short changed in our county," said Councillor Victor Romaniuk at the County of Beaver meeting last Thursday.

Romaniuk was drawing a comparison between the County of Beaver and other counties who are receiving provincial grants for gravelling and paving programs, in the top priority bracket.

The issue is a matter of priorities of which roads need to be paved immediately and what can be held off at least temporarily. It was evidenced by letters of denial by Provincial Transport Minister Marvin Moore, in reference specifically to Secondary Roads 824 and 855.

"The confusion is right here, if we can't make up our minds if this is a division or a county" said Councillor George Knudsen.

Assistant Secretary-Treasurer Ron Pepper handed out charts of how much money each manager was used by each division in the gravelling program which will be completed in five weeks.

Each division is allocated a specific amount of dollars and tonnage of gravel which is available to the councillors, for gravelling projects which need to be done in their respective divisions.

Russel Hanson Contracting Ltd. of Viking was awarded a tender for Secondary Road 615, placing the lowest bid of $60,532.

"I feel the county should look into the possibility of getting that study done," said Development Officer Vic Istace.

Mel Warren of Rural Development is testing the waters of an idea to market large scale greenhousing in areas of the county with large bodies of water. Council voted in favour of participating in the proposed feasibility study supporting economic growth and development in this project which is agricultural in nature.

Water Resources will be conducting a feasibility study of the Blackfoot Irrigation Project for construction of a backflood irrigation ditch because of the consensus of the people directly affected by the drainage ditch. At a meeting, people felt that upgrading was needed and the...the drainage ditch wasn't capable of handling any more water.

Councillor Gerden Maxwell made the motion that a sewage pipeline be re-buried at a proper depth on Secondary Road 870, with the costs of repairing the original damage to be forwarded to the original contractor.

Also, a dust control program will be initiated on Secondary Road 870.

Council met the firemen's request to allow reservations to the existing Viking Fire Hall with construction of a lean-to addition for storage of equipment.

The unfinished business of deciding upon electoral boundaries was tabled to a special meeting, because of the amount of time required to discuss the issue.

Government approves hospital development

Tofield Hospital Administrator Don Reth has received written approval from Alberta Hospitals and Medical Care Minister Dave Russel that Phase Two of the health centre had been approved with a grant of $18,690,179.

Phase Two is the construction aspect of the plan.

On Tuesday, Roth travelled to Edmonton to sign a letter of intent to the lowest tender, bidder Kaplen Holdings Ltd. of Edmonton, who will get the go ahead to construct the hospital, which they estimate could be completed within 14 months, barring any complications or delays.

The total grant approved by the Provincial Government comes in at the figure of $14,703,477, which includes the costs for Phase One, commissioning, consulting fees, construction and the purchasing of all the furniture and equipment for the new facility.

Voting goes Tuesday

Tuesday is election day in Canada.

Voters all across the country will be going to the polls to elect their Members of Parliament.

A total of seven candidates are in the running for the seat in the Vegreville Constituency.

Incumbent Don Mazankowski of Vegreville, representing the Progressive Conservative Party will be attempting to retain the seat he has held for the past sixteen years.

His opponents will have a difficult row to hoe if they are to overtake the incumbent MP as Mazankowski garnered three-quarters of all the votes that were cast in the 1980 election.

Mazankowski's opposition in Tuesday's election are all newcomers to the Federal political scene as each one is making his/her debut as a candidate.

The six other candidates include Lawrence Schlamp of Edmonton (Confederation of Regions Western Party); George Oleksiuk of Edmonton (New Democratic Party); Steve Kostiuk of Edmonton (Social Credit); Evangeline Forcier of Wainwright (Liberal); Tim Firth of Edmonton (Communist Party of Canada); and Bob Brusco of Lavoy (Rhinoceros Party).

Polls will open at nine o'clock on Tuesday morning and will remain open until eight o'clock in the evening.

The first returns should be in by 8:30 p.m. and complete (unofficial) results should be received about three hours after the polls close.

Advance polls were held on Saturday, Monday and yesterday (Tuesday).

Kids Day a hit

by Michelle Spooner

The fourth annual 'Kids Day' was another success last Saturday afternoon at the Fairgrounds in Tofield, as many families took advantage of the free entertainment.

The Royal Canadian Legion of Tofield offered something that was "kind of different, to have a kids' day where we don't charge anything," said Georgia Dunham, wife of Legion President Ralph Dunham who added that, "It's a break for the youngsters before they get back to school."

The Katchemut Creek Family Horse Club, with approximately 40 members, supplied the horses for the pony rides.

"It's been a lot of fun, and we've really enjoyed it," said Georgia Dunham.

Once the kids needed a break from riding, hot dogs, ice cream, and pop were readily made available from the Legionaires to keep the little ones satisfied.

Class of '74

On Saturday, over 19 former classmates made it out to Hastings Lake Hall for the reunion of the class of 1974, from Tofield School. Pictured are 16 of the former classmates, including Rick Carlisle, Allan Dickson, Mel Thiessen, Dave Francis, Jon Warlenton, Don Neufeld, Arnold Poettcker, Doug Dykesman, Willie Schmidt, Dave Schultz, Robert Appleby, Glenda Daoust (Carlisle), Heather Boettger (Francis), Lael Adair (Astley), Kelley Hardy (Blacklock) and Dixie Martens (Gray).

No caboose

Technology keeps moving, and railways in Canada, as well as in many other centres, are claiming that technology now makes the caboose no longer needed on trains. The End of Train Unit can do the job perfectly, declare the railways, monitoring safety over the entire stretch from locomotive to caboose, er, last car.

Unions are concerned over job security, or rather the number of jobs, since no-one presently on staff will lose a job if the ETU's are accepted by the Transport Commission. On the other hand, they're smart enough to know that there will be fewer people appointed if the new units work, so they're pressing the problem of safety. Not only that, they're recruiting towns and villages along their rights-of-way to protest over the safety factor.

There's no question whatever that things must change with changing technology. There's no question but that cabooses will probably go the way of the steam engine. Eventually.

But it took years before the diesel was capable of displacing the steamer. And we don't think technology has yet been developed to the level of replacing the caboose.

Railways in both North America and Europe have run efficiently without cabooses for over 30 years, the companies maintain, arguing the same should be possible for CN and CP. We don't know where they've operated in North America, but we do know the European situation is entirely different, in that trains run only short distances before having to stop at the next community, compared to runs here of thousands of miles. Moreover, we don't think the technology they discuss was available thirty years ago, so they must have relied on some other factor. Or ignored safety.

More, the railways brag that in tests run under the Canadian Transport Commission, the ETU's were 98 percent successful, as far as accurate transmission of information was concerned.

They seemed to be thrilled at 98 percent effectiveness.

But 98 percent scares the heck out of us.

Does that mean that 2 percent of the runs monitored by the little black box were not safe? That one out of fifty trains presented a higher level of danger than now exists? With catastrophes such as Edmonton saw only last Sunday in Calder yards, where thirteen cars loaded with sulphur left the tracks? Like Mississauga, for instance? Like Medicine Hat? Like Kamloops? Like . . . Like so many others?

It can be argued, of course, that in almost none of these cases could the caboose prevent the upset. In none of these cases would the caboose or lack of caboose make any difference.

But we're still not happy with a 2 percent margin of error. It seems it should be chopped down to the one in a million level before it's accepted as 'safe'.

More for less

Canada's Labor Department recently appointed Rolland Doucet, a senior federal conciliator, to try to get faltering negotiations between inside postal workers and the post office back on track.

Imagine how charming, how persuasive, Mr. Doucet will have to be when you look at the objectives of the two sides. The Post Office, naturally wants to balance its budget. It seeks to reduce the use of overtime, match staffing to work load, to reduce absenteeism, and to lower operating costs.

The union, for its part, is seeking a 32 hour work week, with higher wages. It also wants better working conditions, and it wants protection from technological change.

We can comprehend the suggestion of shorter hours, on the basis of work sharing in a time of recession, of restraint, of regression.

But higher pay for shorter hours? Surely they're smoking grass. Better working conditions? Maybe they should come out into the world the rest of us live in and compare. Protection from layoffs due to technological change? In other words, protection from progress? This might be acceptable, if they were willing to accept the corollary . . . they should go back to learning the (Postal) case, the way their forebears did a few decades back. We doubt if one in four could pass it today. Egad, they might even have to get the mail through with the same efficiency, the same despatch, the same lack of error as these same forebears, who didn't face the threat of technological improvement, but would have welcomed something to make the job a little easier.

World Vision offers new child program

World Vision has developed a new program to try and counter difficulties being experienced in Third World countries, according to Ron [illegible]

A major project of World Vision, in the past, has been to get people to sponsor (financially) the needs of a specific child in the poorer [illegible] of the world.

While this program has insured the needs (food, clothing, shelter, medical) of an individual child to a major degree, it has not provided any assistance in improving the situation in the region in which the child is growing up.

Improvement in this regard is hoped for with the development of a new program called "childcare partnership"

What has happened in the past will continue to take place with contributions received but, in the future, part of the money received will be used to improve overall conditions in the area in which the child lives, such as assisting in farm programs, improvement in sanitary conditions and development of clean water systems.

Canadians wanting to assist in the program are asked to contribute the sum of eighteen dollars per month and complete information about the total project may be obtained by calling Ron Hansen at 672-5721.

Process cheese spread recalled

Health and Welfare Canada issued an alert on August 21 advising against the consumption of process cheese spread packed in screw-top glass jars and manufactured by Canada Packers Inc., Toronto. This product is marketed across Canada as the company's own Maple Leaf Ched'r Spread, and the following private label brands: Red Leaf, Ritz, Sweet Clover, IGA, and Dominion [illegible]

A national recall of all lots of this cheese spread was announced by Canada Packers on August 17, 1984 because bacterial contamination had been found in some jars. At that time the type of bacterial contamination was not known. The Health Protection Branch (HPB) of Health and Welfare Canada has now found Clostridum bacteria in samples of the product. This raises the possibility that some jars could cause serious food poisoning, including botulism. Consumers are therefore strongly urged not to eat the product but to return opened or unopened jars of these brands in their possession to the place of purchase.

No cases of illness have been reported to date. The HPB, in co-operation with Canada Packers, is monitoring the recall.

Test weight confusion hits farmers

Palliser Wheat Growers Association says that Canadian Grain Commission changes to test weights for grain grades at local elevators are confusing and could mean lost revenue for farmers if clarification is not made quickly. Executive Director Barb Isman says that if farmers have any doubt about a grade they receive at the elevator they should send a sample to the Commission for testing. She explains, "We've contacted the Commission and they say that weight changes should not affect the grade farmers receive for their grain. If there is a difference farmers should send a sample to the Canadian Grain Commission for an official test."

The Association is upset that the Commission does not appear to have clarified the meaning of the changes with farmers or with the local elevator agents Isman says.

Apparently the new weights do not represent any change to statutory grades but because of confusion over the new weights and weighing techniques, grades are being dropped in some areas. Any loss in grade is unacceptable to us and we've told the Commission to clear the matter up immediately.

In the meantime, we would suggest that farmers who are experiencing difficulties contact the Commission for details on forwarding a sample to them for testing. Do not accept a lower grade from the elevator based upon the weights."

Echoes from Em

Twelve Days of Harvest

On the first day of harvest my true love said to me,
With our kids to help he wouldn't need me

On the second day of harvest the kids all laughed with glee,
'Cause the chicken chores and milking chores would now be up to me

On the third day of harvest my husband said to me,
Help tie the tarp down, run this half load into town, pick up some salt blocks and then check the cattle, 'Cause we're too bu-sy."

On the fourth day of harvest they gave a broken part to me,
Said, "Try the Co-op at Beeler, every implement dealer, just keep driving till you find the right pul-ley."

On the fifth day of harvest my husband said to me,
We're moving to the other field, you bring the pick-up, fill up: the gas tanks and water jugs, put in the tool box, a can of bolts with nuts and locks better bring our dinner and this time don't forget the iced tea

On the sixth day of harvest my daughter called to me,
The elevator's tied up and I can't get unloaded. Take the old Chevy Truck, make sure it's gassed up, check the oil and the battery and get over to the west field in a hur-ry."

On the seventh day of harvest my husband said to me,
"We're going to bring some wheat in, will you clean out the north bin?" Then they set up the auger and left me scooping breathless-ly

On the eighth day of harvest my husband gave a list to me,
"Don't know if this belt will last, better get to town fast, I need another reel slat filter and bearing. Bring it by the field, throw in an extra scoop and don't forget the goop that makes the chains run free."

On the ninth day of harvest at eleven-thirty, the clutch went out of the combine and he called on the C.B.
Said: "Find the heavy log chain, get the Ford tractor and come pull me."

On the tenth day of harvest my true love snapped at me,
As I handed tools up to him — very nervously

On the eleventh day of harvest the whole crew said to me,
"Want to fill the gas tanks while we eat, take home this load of wheat and bring back: One wrench, lug, another water jug, and spray bomb for the sweet bees."

On the last day of harvest my husband grinned at me,
"If everything goes right, we should be done by midnight," and "Aren't you glad you didn't have to help, Hon-nee?"

[illegible]

A week from now we will have the man of our choice sitting in the office marked "Prime Minister of Canada". I don't pretend to know a lot about politics so you will be happy to hear that I'm not going to offer an opinion on it or the candidates, except to say that I haven't heard such a kafluffle about bum-patting since they told the football players it was a no-no. (Where Mr. Turner puts his hands isn't nearly as important as where he puts the country's [illegible].)

What has caught my attention in all the pre-election speeches and debates is the possibility of a homemaker's [illegible].

The Vatican thinks that a wife should be paid a wage for caring for her home. A government investigation showed that, based on a family with two children, a housewife's time is worth about $7.00 per hour. Obviously these investigators were men who have never seen a bathroom after a dog has decided that he really doesn't like baths or a kitchen after two boys have invented a new way to make pizza.

Other people think that a woman shouldn't expect any compensation for doing that which is her 'duty'. Doesn't a man get a pension after doing his 'duty', that of being a bread winner? Why shouldn't his back-up system, the homemaker, receive similar recognition for her contribution?

Looking after a home is a very important job because this is where the men (and women) return after working all day and where children come for physical and emotional nourishment (as any teenager knows). It is the center or base of most families. Homemaking takes patience, intelligence and a sense of humor. (Ask any mother.) These days, when all around her are other women taking on second careers or furthering their edcuation, as well as caring for home and family, it also takes a great deal of courage.

A pension for homemakers? We can only hope that this doesn't fade off into Never-neverland like so many other campaign promises.

Hay Lakes district news

Mrs. A. Arnston

Victor and Bessie Galenza and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sych were among the guests attending the wedding of Sidney Demaynck and Diane Lavoie held in Edmonton on Aug. 18. Sidney is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Sych.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sych and three children of Langley, B.C. are presently visiting with relatives and friends in the area. They have come for the celebration of Harry Sych's 90th birthday. He is Paul's father.

Lloyd and Lil Grams accompanied Les and Bertha Boehler and Mrs. Minnie Boehler of High Prairie on a three-day visit to Saskatchewan. They toured mainly in the Battleford area where Mrs. Boehler and Lil and Les had resided many years ago.

Aaron and Dallas Petersen of Calgary are spending summer holidays with their grandparents, Julius and Evelyn Sware.

Ola and Amalie Sandbu have returned home after spending several days in the Blueberry Mountain District, near Spirit River, where they visited with Clarence and Yvonne Nelson. They report grain crops in the area being fairly good with wheat in particular [illegible] very well.

Bride-Elect Honored

Carol Hein, eldest daughter of Allan and Hertha Hein, was honored at two recent bridal showers. On Aug. 12 Melody Berry and Michelle Hein hosted a shower at the Allan Hein home. The following Sunday Edie Metzker and Joan Bauman were hostesses at a surprise shower held in the basement of Our Savior Lutheran Church.

Carol will become the bride of Darrel Maier on Sept. 1.

Melody Berry and her husband Allan of Calgary were weekend guests at the Allan Hein home.

Rev. Paul Roelichen-Pfohl, his wife Joan and son Noah, have returned from a three-week vacation spent visiting at their respective homes in Buffalo, N.Y. and St. Louis, Missouri. On Aug. 11 they were honored at a barbecue for 80 guests held at the home of Joan's father, Robert Roelichen. Honored at the same time was Joan's grandmother who was observing her 80th birthday. It was also a celebration of Robert's retirement.

While visiting with Paul's family in Buffalo they were honored at a reception held in a [illegible]. Many friends and relatives came to congratulate Paul on his recent ordination which had been held at Our Savior Lutheran Church in Hay Lakes.

Nick and Anne Williako, accompanied by Emil and Mary Peteryshen of Valleyview, spent a one-week camping holiday along the Alaska Highway. They travelled as far as Whitehorse, Y.T. and enjoyed trout fishing at various points along the way. The weather was good throughout their trip and they found the countryside nice and green.

Mrs. Mary Weeks is presently a guest at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Elsie and John Luger. Mrs. Weeks was honored by family and friends on July 28 on the occasion of her 94th birthday.

Edna Radtke accompanied Joan Russell and two children of Brule on a trip to Portland, Oregon. While there they attended the wedding of Joan's niece, Jacinda Emmert of Gresham, Oregon.

Magnus Arntson, Alf and Marg Arnston, Donald, Viva, Glen and Joyce attended a family gathering held at the home of Edwin Arntsen in Derwent on Aug. 19. They celebrated Magnus' birthday and the birthday of Edwin's mother-in-law, Laura Shopper of Dawson Creek, B.C. Mrs. Shopper, who is 88 years of age, still enjoys travelling and recently took a 40-day bus tour of Canada, USA and Mexico.

The Camrose and Area Further Education Council are again offering a wide variety of adult education programs for City and County residents. The local hosting authorities can apply for grant support for the courses they offer. These programs are expected to be advertised by Sept. 18 and residents of the Hay Lakes area should phone co-ordinators Deanna Wilson, 672-7110 or Eugene Kaser 672-6532 if they are interested in taking any of the courses.

eia Cashley of Inuvik, NWT, was honored at a coffee party and miscellaneous shower held at the home of Karen Johnson on Aug. 23. Twenty-two ladies attended the event. Lois has [illegible] spending the summer visiting with her parents, Leslie and Christine Webster. She was joined by her husband, Steven, a few weeks ago and they travelled to Ontario to visit Steven's parents and other relatives. They returned to Inuvik on Aug. 24.

The Hay Lakes School Project will be holding their first term on Sept. 4 at 7:30 p.m. in the Hay Lakes School. Registrations will be taken at this time for children who are five or will be five years of age by the end of February 1985. For further information contact Pat Hansen at 878-3370

Registration for the Girl Guides and Brownies in the Hay Lakes area will be taken on September 10th at 7:30 p.m. in the Youth Hall. Parents only, as the regular business meeting will be held, then registration and ordering of uniforms will follow. Leaders are, Anna Peters and Bea Jacobsen for the Girl Guides and Carol Hoehmer for the Brownies.

Teachers attend meet

This part of the province was well represented when the Alberta Teachers Association held its annual summer conference.

Ten teachers from this reunion attended the conference which was held at Olds College.

[illegible] the Camrose Local were Lionel Hinch, Marie Knudsen, Kay Langdahl, JoAnne Stang and Edward Wigglerworth.

Delegates attending from the County of Beaver included Cheryl Brown, Victor Petruk, Patricia Sinclair and David Smith.

Attending the sessions on behalf of teachers in the County of Flagstaff was Janice Staal.

Three hundred and twenty-five teachers attended the conference and nearly one hundred attended a special workshop conducted by Steve Barkley on performance learning systems.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

Summer programming has now come to an end at the Tofield Library. Carol, Betty, Monica and I have enjoyed having all the children in for the reading club, crafts, and films each week. Major cataloguing projects are close to completion, and many re-organizing tasks have been finished.

The wind-up party for all the Adventurers who played Readers of the Lost Ark was well-attended. Games, a film, a treasure hunt, refreshments, and prizes presented by mystery guests were appreciated by all. Our thanks to the parents and other volunteers who helped to make the program a success.

Those Readers who have not yet picked up their certificates may do so any day during library hours. Those achieving Honorary Archeologist Status were: Jeff Capogreco, Kirsten Neilson, Patti Macdonald, Shawn Norman, Keith Reichenbach, Jason Sivers, Kevin Summer and Robert Taylor.

Receiving certificates of Honorable Mention are: Matthew Gates, Danny McMillan, Kyle Morris, Melody Summer, Prateng Seevaratnath, and Jason Warner.

Pre-school Story Hour is [illegible] again the week of September 11, but one or two more volunteers are required to run this popular program. It is open to children who have had their third birthday, but are not yet registered in kindergarten. The program runs eight weeks at a time, comprising stories, action songs, puppets, etc., at a cost of $2.00 per child. Please call 662-3838 for more information.

Regular hours come into effect again next week (Sept. 4) with the expiry of the government grant used to hire student summer help. Until next summer, the library hours are: Tues. 1-5, Thurs. 3-5 and 6-9, and Fri. and Sat. 10-12 and 1-5.

Jacobsen heads BRTA

Rolf Jacobsen of Sedgewick will be the new president of the Battle River Tourist Association.

The Sedgewick resident was elected to the post by acclamation, when his nomination was unopposed earlier this month and results of the nomination calls were announced at a BRTA meeting held in Coronation.

Jacobsen will be formally inducted to his new position when the BRTA holds its annual meeting in Camrose later in the fall.

Also elected to the BRTA executive by acclamation were two vice-presidents, Blaine Alexander of Camrose and Gerald Beach of Devon.

The annual BRTA meeting is to be held in the Norsemen Motor Inn in Camrose on Oct. 13th with Jack Chesney, general manager of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce as the guest speaker.

During the meeting in Coronation, BRTA members were advised that tickets for the annual session are now available from the BRTA office, or from local BRTA representatives.

Arlen Adams of Bashaw reported that, the Highway 21 now by-passing the Town of Bashaw, a dramatic drop in visitors to the tourist information booth was being experienced.

Members agreed to forward a formal request to Bashaw Town Council that the booth be relocated along the new portion of the highway in time for the 1985 tourist season.

Manager Sylvia Clemens advised members that planning for the 1985 BRTA area tours is already underway

Harvesting in high gear

One-fifth of the current harvest season has been completed, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Up until this week, good weather has generally prevailed throughout the area, allowing farmers to spend long hours in the fields, either swathing or combining.

Harvesting of this year's crop is slightly ahead of last year at this time when many farmers were just getting underway.

All of the rye crop has been threshed. Rye was grown in the Round Hill, Camrose and New Norway areas.

Thirty percent of all canola crops have been harvested to date. Nearly twenty percent of barley has been combined along with ten percent of oats and slightly more than a start has been made with wheat.

Swathing is general throughout the region with over eighty percent of canola having been cut along with sixty percent of barley, forty-five percent of oats and about one-third of the wheat crop.

Most areas are getting good grades with canola, ranging from ninety to one hundred percent in the number one range.

Barley grades have a wide range (all in the feed category) with the Camrose, Round Hill and Bawlf areas getting the top grade and then it ranges down to about forty percent of that rating in Holden.

Wheat is generally turning out to be better than expected with about three-quarters of the crop getting the top grade although this does drop down, in a few instances, to only about ten percent.

Yields per hectare are considered to be good and much better than had been expected about a month ago.

With excellent harvesting conditions prevailing, farmers around Round Hill have made the best progress to date with over forty percent of all crops having been threshed to date.

All of the rye has been threshed with canola at just about the mid-way mark. Forty percent of barley has been combined and oats is about twenty percent done although a start has yet to be made with wheat.

Nearly forty percent of the crop around Camrose has now been combined and that includes all of the rye with canola about one-half done, oats is at twenty percent and barley is ten percent threshed and a start has yet to be made with wheat.

Holden farmers have passed the one-quarter mark with canola forty percent completed. Oats and barley are at the one-quarter mark and five percent of the wheat crop has been threshed.

In the New Norway, Bawlf, Ryley and Daysland regions, harvesting has passed the twenty [illegible].

All rye has been threshed around New Norway with canola at the ten percent mark while barley is at seven percent, a start has been made with wheat and oats has yet to be touched.

One-half of the canola has been harvested around Bawlf along with twenty percent of barley and oats and wheat hasn't been started.

Ryley-area farmers have threshed forty percent of the canola crop along with thirty percent of barley, ten percent of oats and they've made a start with wheat.

Daysland farmers have threshed one-quarter of the canola crop, ten percent of barley and five percent of wheat and haven't made a beginning with oats.

Threshing is just getting started around Hay Lakes and Tofield with the former having threshed only five percent of all crops while the Tofield region reports that only three percent of all crops have been removed from the fields.

RE-ELECT
DON MAZANKOWSKI
. . . For The Future

A Progressive Conservative Government will commit itself to revitalizing the economy and creating meaningful, long-term employment. A healthy economy, greater employment opportunities, and sound financial management are key factors in economic growth and in reduction of the Federal Deficit.

We believe that economic renewal can best be achieved by concentrating on our natural strengths, namely AGRICULTURE, FORESTRY, ENERGY, FISHERIES, MINING, and TOURISM. We must become more competitive, and more world market oriented in order to improve our world trade position.

Small business as it relates to our major industries is a vital part of our economy, because it creates over 50% of all new jobs in the private sector. We MUST take positive steps to encourage the growth and development of small business. Enhanced training and re-training programs will provide new opportunities for the many Canadians who are desperately seeking employment.

WE CAN DO BETTER TOGETHER!

AGRICULTURE
A Progressive Conservative Government will revitalize Agriculture by • Abolishing capital gains on the sale of farm property for continued agricultural purposes
• Removing the 9% Sales Tax on Farm Fuel and discontinuing the collection of the current excise [illegible]
• Lowering interest rates by establishing an Agribond Program and extending the FCC special interest rate subsidy
• Allowing dual labelling (Metric and Imperial) on all farm pro[illegible]
• Amending the Agriculture Stabilization Act

TRANSPORTATION
A Progressive Conservative Government will
• Freeze existing freight rates paid by producers pending the legislative review of producers [illegible]
• Remove the 31.5 million tonne volume cap
• Encourage value added by removing the distortion in freight rates applying to grain and oilseeds and their processed [illegible]
• Impose a moratorium on further branch line abandonment
• Make the railways more accountable to the public
• Improve access to producer [illegible]

ENERGY
A Progressive Conservative Government will use energy as an engine for economic growth of the entire Canadian economy by
• Revamping the National Energy Program
• Implementing a taxation system which recognizes bottom line profits as the basis for assessing taxes
• Removing refinery taxes on feedstock used to produce finished or semi-finished products
• Accelerating the design and construction of heavy oil sands projects
• Protecting consumers from [illegible]

SOCIAL EQUALITY & FAIRNESS
A Progressive Conservative Government will
• Strengthen Medicare through full consultation and co-operation with all participating groups
• Ensure pension security for all [illegible]
• Expand Spouses Allowance to widows and widowers aged 60-65
• Index Old Age Pension to the actual cost of living
• Ensure economic equality for men and women

DRYING HERBS

Home dried herbs have it all over the store bought packaged types in color, flavor and especially aroma. You can preserve your own herbs, like parsley and dill using one of the following drying methods.

Quick-dry — Wash the fresh herbs quickly in cool water to rinse away insects or dust. Shake off any water and drain well. Spread the leaves on a rack in the oven at a low temperature. Leave the door open and keep a constant watch, for they'll only take a few minutes. A layer of cheesecloth can be placed over racks in an electric oven if desired.

Hang to Dry — Wash the leaves, but only if necessary, as it slows down drying. Bunch together mature herbs and tie with string. Hang [illegible] herbs in a well ventila[illegible] room until dry. If the room tends to be dusty, or near the entranceway, place a brown paper bag, with holes punched in it, over the bundle. Use the bags when working with herbs that have full seed heads which may drop off, like dill. Bunches will take 1-2 weeks to dry.

Microwave Drying — Microwave ovens are not intended as dehydrators, but for limited quantities they substitute fairly well. For parsley, wash and pat dry. Remove leaves from stems and measure leaves. Place parsley on two layers of paper towelling or a paper plate. Microwave on high until parsley is dried and brittle:

2 cups — 5½-6 minutes
3 cups — 7½-8 minutes
5 cups — 10-11 minutes

Store in an airtight container.

FALL FASHION SHOW

The MacPhee workshop will be holding their second annual fall fashion show on Sept. 11 [illegible] p.m. each day. Tickets are $5.00 each and are available from the MacPhee Workshop, R.R.4, Edmonton, T5L 4H5 or phone 973-3838.

The show will include variations of the classic Eskimo Parka — as well as a new designer series. Snow and rainwear, anoraks and all year round coats and jackets will also be modelled. Fur, leather and yarn have been added for that extra touch of class.

CANOLA STORAGE

At the time of writing this article, hot, sunny days are quite common, and as canola fields are being combined, there are millions of dollars of canola going into farm storage bins. Short and long term storage of canola requires much more attention than [illegible] rapeseed is going into the bin at over 30°C and the potential for spoilage is extremely high.

Mature dry rapeseed, in storage for many months can spoil as a result of moisture migration. When a large volume of high temperature rapeseed goes into storage, where no air can get at it, these high temperatures can exist for many days and even weeks. Rapeseed has a high resistance to air flow through it and therefore retains its heat for a considerable time. This leads to moisture migration. As the outside air temperature drops, it cools the rapeseed near the outer edges of the bin. This creates an air movement in the grain down through the outer layer across the bottom and up the center of the bin. Moisture tends to move with the air from the outer layer to the center of the bin. The moisture in the center of the bin condenses when it hits the cool grain near the top. This high moisture could lead to possible spoilage in the upper [illegible] of the bin.

The safe moisture content for long term storage is 8 to 8.5 percent. Even at this moisture content, problems can occur. Accumulations of green weed seeds in the center of the bin can start the heating process. Stick long steel rods into the center of your bin and check the rods often for signs of hot spots. Remember that small wooden bins are better for canola storage than large [illegible] bins are equipped with aeration fan systems.

Look at it this way. If you [illegible] bills piled in your bin, you would check it at least 1 or 2 times a day — wouldn't you?

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.E. Taylor

Mrs. Helen Zwiersehke and Mrs. Nellie Kalamy were Friday evening visitors with Mrs. Kate Nichols who is still a patient in Tofield Hospital. Helen also called in to see Mrs. Agnes Phillips who is also a patient.

Mrs. Frances Hanson, who has been a patient in Viking Hospital most of the last three weeks, was transferred over to the Nursing Home in Viking last Thursday morning.

Robert Tiedemann spent the past weekend with friends on a camping trip at Yoho National Park.

In the short thunder storm in Holden on Thursday evening of last week, lightning hit at the home of Nick and Clara Bilyk, damaging their television set. A power breaker in another house close by was knocked out.

On Thursday evening, the Holden Homecoming Committee held a meeting of members and representatives of various committees in charge of the different activities held during the Holden 75th celebrations. Reports were given by the various project convenors. The event raised enough funds for the final payment of the Holden and District history book. There are still some books on hand and they can be obtained from Mrs. Helen Zwiersehke at the Wendy Ann Dress Shoppe.

Mrs. Sopwinyk and Mrs. Annie Mielimaka, who had been patients in Tofield Hospital, have returned home.

Mrs. Edith Carlson and son Eric returned home over the weekend after spending the past week with their son and family, Bob and Carol Carlson and children at Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were Sunday visitors with their son and wife, Robert and Merle Taylor, in Viking. Also visiting was Merle's sister and family, Linda and Willie Chrystian, Tabitha and Joey of Camrose.

Signs pose problems

by Michelle Hanson

Tofield Town Council is taking no chances on the issue of industrial signs, as Councillor Ed Regehr made the motion requesting that council's legal position be made perfectly clear concerning that particular bylaw.

A lengthy discussion period was spent debating the issue at the council meeting on Monday.

Town Administrator Lori Pilon had received an application for the erection of a sign by the Tofield Alliance Church located on 50th Street, requesting a sign to be put up just off Highway 14.

The point in question was, if council allows approval then that would be setting a precedent for all the other business', associations, church affiliations, etc. to ask for the same thing.

Council first would have to approve the issuing of a development permit and then the applicant would have to ask for authority to erect a sign through the Department of Highways.

Council established a fixed price for the four vacant lots for sale on Beaverhill Drive. The town-owned land will be selling for $15,000 per lot.

Requesting more information, council tabled the [illegible] ing to the lots on Beaverhill Drive.

Council approved the motion to have the Parks and Recreation Department seed Belvedere Park this fall, as set out in the budget.

Council has agreed in principle to purchase a street sander, but is requesting a demonstration by the company before making any decision.

The Town of Tofield Municipal Plan (subdivision) was approved in principle, and Mayor Charlie Sears and Town Administrator Lori Pilon will first be meeting with the developer before a public meeting is called.

Grues celebrate anniversary

. . . 90 years in Armena

The 90th anniversary of the family of Thor and Beret Grue, who came to the Armena area May 17, 1894 was held Aug 19 and 19

Relatives came from Edmonton, Sherwood, Bethel, Clarmoka and various points in Alberta to the Garden Hall, Sherwood Park

Saturday began with a potluck dinner while volleyball, horseshoes, ball, races and lots of visiting kept everyone busy in the afternoon Children and adults also enjoyed the horse and buggy rides given by Edwin Grue

After a huge supper, everyone enjoyed a special program of fun, with one skit showing how family life was in 1894 and then the contrast of life today The evening was ended with a huge anniversary cake with 90 candles.

Three descendants of Thor and Beret Grue number about 221

Sunday began with a pancake breakfast, followed by worship service with musical numbers and the sermon was given by Tom Grue, grandson of Theodore and Nora Grue An offering was received and given to Canadian Lutheran Bible Institute in Camrose

The Grue family history can date back 270 years ago to Osterdalen, Norway

Thore Grue was born at Kornsjoen, near Roros, Norway, July 27, 1853. At the age of 16 he emigrated to America, being joined by his parents and family

A year later at Decora Iowa, his father homesteaded near the present city of Fergus Falls Minnesota There set up his own farmstead near the present town of Wendell, Minn., of which five acres were planted to trees and shrubs

In 1881 he married Beret Mikkelson of Lake Park, Minn Their family were Simon, Lars, Oscar, Theodore, Nels, Bella (Mrs. Oscar Lindgren), who died in 1939, and Josephine, who died at the age of 6

In 1893, Thore Grue sold his farm and a year later came to Alberta

Leaving the family in a large immigration tent at Strathcona, Thore struck out to seek land Thinking Bardo was too far from the nearest town, they finally located one-half mile north of the present hamlet of Armena

A log shack with a sod roof became a home where many a weary traveller from Bardo to Wetaskiwin exercised food and lodging

A new house was built in 1898 and the latter became the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lyseng This house was moved in Nov 1978 to the Camrose Museum and has since been restored

The Thore Grue family lived on the homestead until 1918 when they moved to the Nels Grue farm, nine miles northeast of Tofield

The first Lutheran service in the district was held at the Grue's home March 3, 1895, with Rev Bernreed Anderson of Bardo officiating Sunday School was conducted regularly with Thore Grue and Mrs. Andrew Boe as its first teacher

Busy week lies ahead

Monday is Labour Day and as a result, is a holiday observed all across the country.

The next two days will be busy.

Voters will be going to the polls on Tuesday to elect representatives to sit in the House of Parliament and the day will be extended by the fact that most Canadians will likely be glued to their television sets to watch the outcome.

For youngsters, Wednesday of next week will be an important day as schools in the County of Beaver will open for a new term.

Because of the Monday holiday, deadlines for the next edition of The Mercury have had to be changed.

The Mercury's advertising representative, Leah Casacu, will be making her rounds on Friday instead of Monday with advertisers and correspondents asked to take note of this change and their cooperation would be appreciated.

This will be the second last long-weekend of the season with the next one slated for October when Thanksgiving will be observed.

The Mercury's regular reporter-photographer, Joan Murray, returned to work this week and her summer replacement, Michelle Bjornson, will be taking a few days off before returning to her studies in Calgary.

Christian rock band works hard

by Michelle Sparrow

With a resounding wave of vibrance the powerful youth orientated Christian rock band Isaiah takes to the stage rehearsing their melodious sounds.

Literally the word Isaiah means salvation, which is the story that envelops and portrays the lives of each of its band members Glen Martin, Darwin Lauber, Dave Hanson, Arman Burkholder and Elwin Love.

"The struggle here is spiritual, what Jesus said is right. Shed all that will hold you down, we must prepare to fight," are some of the lyrics from the song Real World, which they faithfully abide by, giving up their lives to the Lord in dedicated service.

The power of prayer proved to be the answer, as Isaiah was formed in December of 1981, with molding complete in January 1982 when the group started performing.

As instruments of God's love, the Tofield band has performed in churches, coffeehouses, auditoriums, at open air concerts and more. They recently played in Wetaskiwin and at Hastings Lake Bible Camp. The band has travelled from Canmore, Sedgewick, Duchess, Olds, Swift Current, Winnipeg, Kitchener, Indiana, to Bethlehem, Pennsylvania.

On Friday, soundman Elwin Love will be travelling to Vancouver to take a demo tape to WORD Records in the hopes that the company who specializes in Christian music will produce an album.

Isaiah plans to perform at a youth rally in Canmore this October, and to possibly play at Sports World in Edmonton, during Christian roller-skating. The doors are wide open to the band, and the destiny of the future will eventually unfold to the group.

"I just really feel the Lord has collectively given the band Isaiah a mission in life," said Arman Burkholder, just as all the band members feel about why they were brought together.

"I'm convinced the Lord wanted me to preach the gospel through music," said lead base guitar player Dave Hanson as "In just about the three years I've known these guys, the Lord has put a real love in my heart."

Each band member has their own unique story of salvation, but yet they were not alone on the journey back into the arms of Jesus. Thus it is appropriate to [illegible] individuals who [illegible] brought [illegible] through the work of the Lord for a purpose.

Soon to be 20 years old David Allen Hanson is the oldest child of Ron and Hazel Hanson from Tofield.

Born again at the age of seven, Dave fell away from the Lord at the age of 16, and "decided not to run that race." With the support of his family and friends he came back to know the Lord and began to play with Isaiah in 1982.

Hanson decided to make his move after he had met the group and "seeing Jesus in these guys like I used to be."

With five years of drumming and a full year's experience of playing the base guitar, Dave's mission is "To get other people born again" reaching out to the youth of today through the music ministry of Isaiah.

Born on June 14, 1963, 23-year-old Arman Lamar Burkholder is the only son of Harvey and Darlene Burkholder, with one sister Shyla.

Hailing from Calling Lake, the Burkholder's lived there for eight years before moving to Slave Lake.

The keyboard-vocalist said, "The biggest thing I want to do is tell people about the salvation of Jesus Christ, through music which has always come naturally."

"I played what came to me, I've been writing songs since I was 10," added Burkholder who has had voice training playing the piano for eight years.

Raised in the traditional Mennonite Church, Arman "rebelled against the religion" experiencing many problems that had been "a burden on my soul" and has "been able to share that victory in the Lord."

"The Lord has been with me through the tough times," and this gifted musician hasn't looked back since receiving the invitation to play for Isaiah.

Now, 24-year-old Glen Allen Martin is "Filled with a deep sense of peace," after he was saved on the night of April 22, 1980 at a church gathering.

Glenn was working in the field that night when the Lord told him to go to Amiak Creek Church. Thinking that he hadn't the strength "I said I wanted the devil out of me. I knew I was forgiven and that God had accepted me," said Martin.

"It was definitely something that had to be done," Martin said referring to the day after when he burned all his secular records, and turned over a new leaf in his life.

Glenn comes from a large family of six other brothers and three sisters born to Sanford and Hazel Martin who live about 10 miles from Ryley.

This talented drummer attended Ryley School, and upon graduation moved on to Edmonton to take a two-year welding course, receiving his diploma, and is now employed in that field.

Dec. 7, 1981 marked the turning point as Darwin Dale Lauber "decided to give my life to the Lord."

"I just had enough" admitted Lauber of falling victim to the ills of society, drugs and alcohol before being persuaded that night by Glen Martin to give his life to the Lord.

From a Christian home and musical family Darwin is the eldest of Leo and Ellen Lauber's four children.

Born on April 21, 1960 this 24-year-old is a naturally gifted musician with five years of piano experience behind him, he is self-taught and plays the electric guitar by ear.

Darwin married Rosanne Neufeld from Edmonton on March 18, 1978 and they have one son Lindsey. Currently the Lauber's reside near Ryley.

Timid is the only word to describe soundman Elwin Lawrence Love, the 25-year-old native Calgerian, who has spent the better part of his life moving a total of 38 times.

Only son to Ed and Ethel Love, Elwin has three sisters. As a former pastor the family grew up in the Christian home [illegible].

Although a musician in his own right, Love's specialty lies in the controls of an equalizer board. Master of the public address system, the newest addition to the band has found "a way that God sees what you want to do."

Since joining the band in April of this year, and by his contribution Love wants "to reach out to the youth everywhere." Love feels that churches aren't providing the outreach needed for the teenagers.

Only a small glimpse of Isaiah's personality, has been reflected through its members who compose only a part of the atom, whose nucleus is Jesus Christ.

Wins first ribbon

Alberta Clydesdale breeders staged the strongest Show of their great feathered breed in living memory at the 1984 Calgary Exhibition & Stampede. An overwhelming entry, brought forth in beautiful form, joined an overwhelming entry of 350 Percherons, Belgians and Shires. Exhibitors from California, Idaho, Montana, Quebec, British Columbia offered the Albertans rough competition. District breeder, Allen Gordeyko, whose Willoway Farms is located at Obsion, emerged a strong winner.

Croydon Aristocrat, the massive, bay horse, foaled in 1979, was grand champion Clydesdale stallion. Purchased by Allen Gordeyko as a yearling, he has offered fast competition since. However, this was his first purple ribbon won at a leading breed show.

Willoway Clydesdales were in the fore of the Calgary Show in each class entered. Both their team of purebred mares, plus their heavy draught team of geldings captured a coveted red ribbon.

Dennis Gordeyko, also of Obsion, numbered among the Clydesdale breeders that offered competition of the highest class. Owner of the grand champion Clydesdale gelding, he also scored a first on his brood mare, Willow Way Fancy, and a first on the yearling stallion, Willow Way Pete.

Champion

Leanne Oliver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Oliver and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lee, was a member of the Colchester Capriols who won the provincial pee wee girls tastball crown during a playoff in Lethbridge which saw them go undefeated in four games. During one game, Leanne (plays third base) pulled off an unassisted triple play and was selected to an all star team which took top honours during a tournament in Edmonton.

Round Hill district notes

The Round Hill and District Agricultural Society received a $10,000 grant to aid in the costs of kitchen equipment in the newly planned community centre.

On Aug. 15 the presentation of the cheque was made by Ernest Lindholm, Foundation member of Recreation, Parks and Wildlife Foundation. On hand to receive the cheque were the major grants committee, Bernie Van Tilborn, Laurie Lindstrand and Wilson [illegible]. It seemed he noted that Western Canada Lottery Foundation dollars are distributed by Recreation Park and Wildlife Foundation and that a greater portion of this money is from this source.

The money is greatly appreciated in our small community and will certainly help in equipping and furnishing our community centre kitchen. The new addition will seat 240 for banquet purposes. It will also have a walk-in cooler, bathrooms and cloakrooms. It is hoped that construction on the new addition will be started in the very near future and completion date is scheduled for July 31, 1985.

The Alberta East Central Health Unit child health immunization clinic will be held the third Thursday of every month from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. at the Round Hill School.

Starting in September time change is from the afternoons to the mornings.

Harvesting of the crops is well underway in the Round Hill and Camrose District and combining is also in full swing.

News from Ministik

by Catherine Reddick

Many relatives and friends gathered at the service on August 19th in the United Church, during which Leanne Candice, infant daughter of Cheryl and Rod Johnston of Airdrie was baptized.

Rev. Donald Wall supervising minister from Ardrossan, performed the sacrament.

Relatives came from Camrose, Hay Lakes, Edmonton and Calgary. Cheryl's parents, Ron and Laurie Swabey and aunt Gladys Swabey were among those attending.

Next service at the United Church will be on Sept. 2nd at 10 a.m. with Lorraine Flewelling in charge of the service.

Betty Williams, Barbara Horricks, Clare MacLean, Margaret Paterson and Dolly Reddick helped with the entries and tags of articles that came in to the Strathcona County Fair on August 16th at the Fultonvale Complex.

Many attended the Fair on Saturday from the area and viewed the entries of the prize winners.

Hector Hamilton of Fort Macleod and daughter Marjorie Moore of Edmonton were visitors with Jean and Russell Rowland last Thursday afternoon.

Wetaskiwin Court House designated as historic

Described as a gem of prairie architecture, the 75-year old red-bricked [illegible] receive special recognition with a federal government commemorative historic plaque on Sept. 15.

The bronze plaque, to be set in a permanent monument on the old court house lawns, will be unveiled in a public ceremony starting at 2 p.m. [illegible] Petryshyn, the Alberta representative on the Historic [illegible] Canada.

The board, appointed by the Minister responsible for Parks Canada — host for the ceremony — has decided that the old Wetaskiwin Court House has a special national architectural value. Changed [illegible], the building typifies court house design during this formative period of western Canada. Mrs. Ethel Switzer of Wetaskiwin will speak about this special national site at the [illegible].

At Fort Macleod last year, the Historic Sites and Monuments [illegible] a similar plaque on the court house site, a building also judged to possess national historic qualities worth commemorating.

After 1900 the rapid settlement of Western Canada created an urgent need for new judicial facilities. The Wetaskiwin Court House was one of the first group of public buildings constructed in [illegible] territorial to provincial [illegible].

The building's imposing classical appearance served as a visible symbol of justice to the large numbers of new settlers arriving in the Wetaskiwin area in the early years of this century.

Located at 4705 - 50 Avenue, the building was designed under the direction of A. J. Jeffers, the provincial architect between 1907 and 1912.

The court house follows the classical architectural revival style and was constructed of [illegible] ed with Calgary sandstone. A special feature of the site is the entrance which incorporates a pair of carved Ionic [illegible].

The Wetaskiwin Court House is considered to be among the best preserved and least altered examples dating from the province's early phase of court house construction. The board also regards it as a representative example of the rather austere, scaled-down classical court house designs which found favour throughout the prairie provinces during the 1906 - 1920 period.

TOPS THIRD ANNIVERSARY

Skudesness Church was the site of the third anniversary supper of the Bawlf TOPS 3316 on Aug. 21. Marjorie MacGregor, leader, chaired the celebration as TOPS and KOPS received their awards.

Past Queen Frances Neil, acknowledged Queen Marjorie MacGregor while Louise Carlson congratulated Colleen Stenerud, runner-up.

Agnes Brady made presentations to the following regular attenders: Jean Peter, Esther Forre, Marjorie MacGregor, Alice Hoveland, Ruby Fitzgerald, Agnes Brady, Louise Carlson, Connie Kvale and Frances Neil.

For the second year Connie Kvale was voted TOPS of the year and was duly honored by Frances Neil who read a poem of her accomplishments and inspiration and presented her with her awards. In the KOPS department, Barbara Starcheski made presentions to Jean Peter and Marjorie MacGregor who shared this honor.

Last year's best loser, Colleen Stenerud, presented Alice Hoveland with a trophy. Connie Kvale acknowledged runner-up Agnes Brady for her successful loss.

Connie Kvale presented the charms earned by the members of the past six months.

Judy Lindstrand of Camrose presided over the ceremony at which Alice Hoveland and Anna Reinhart became graduate KOPS. This was followed by the 'Circle of Light' in which the KOPS all participated.

Jean Peter presented Nadine Monchak, KIW, a yellow rose for having reached her goal. Then Connie gave roses to the KOPS of Longstanding to represent the years of their status.

For entertainment the chapter was led in singing by Liz Peterson. Bernice Bolding won a memory contest and Frances Beattie who was the best scent detective.

The meeting was closed with the pledges after the distribution of mail from a [illegible].

The Chapter meets at Skudesness every Tuesday at 7 p.m. and welcomes anyone who wants to help 'take off pounds sensibly'.

Alice and Edna Aker and Carl Dalen enjoyed the Lamberg family reunion and friends at Winfield on Sunday.

Velda Thorne, Ernest, Claire and Cindy Forre and Chester and Valerie Forre and Bev and Glenn were fishing at Fish Lake.

The Elmer Olsen's were at Saskatoon Aug. 18 to attend the wedding of their niece Janice Olsen.

Bruce Harper of Sackville, New Brunswick, stayed with Brian Olsen for eight days on a Return Open House Canada program. The Olsen's took him to [illegible], Banff and Lake Louise and he was very impressed with the Rockies.

The Elmer Olsen's also had two lads at their home — Royce and Jeremy Wheaton.

Sunday visitors at Gerry Stenerud's were Reuben and Alice Hoveland, Holden S., and Casper and Donna Rudniski and Leann and Jay, Edmonton.

Walter Stenerud, a patient at University hospital since June 2 following a car accident, has spent past two [illegible].

THE THIRD [illegible]

The third [illegible] was held at [illegible] Lake Aug. 10, 11 & 12 when [illegible] attended. Saturday evening there was a program [illegible] each family contributed a selection. Rev. Leverne Hoveland, Valhalla Centre, conducted morning services Sunday. Folks were present from Mont. Calif., North Dak., Ont., B.C., Edmonton, Jasper, Peace River, Coronation, Burdette, Three Hills, Calgary, Camrose, Killam, Strome and Bittern Lake.

REUM—KANTEN

The Nazarene Church at Caroline Aug. 17 was the scene of a wedding when Larry Reum, son of Orville and Anne Reum and Tager Kanten were united in marriage. Reception for 150 guests followed at the Legion Hall. Relatives attending from here were Ruth Bratrud, Mrs. Marilyn Bratrud and Randy, Rene and Ryan, Anna Kongsrud, Ryley, and Bert and Lillie Hoveland, Camrose.

Mrs. Elaine Lien and J.D. and Samantha were Sunday visitors at Duhamel with her folks Warren and Millie Lloyd.

Oscar and Doris Pehrson of Gladstone and Vern and Mary Charpentier, Camrose, were recent visitors at the Kaisley home.

Sorry I overlooked Alice and Glenn Larson in the birthday party for Mrs. Selma Bratrud at Adrian Bergquist's. Alice and Glenn Larson and Ken and Hilder Sorgen also attended Holden's 75th do.

Richard and Elda Olafson, Camrose, were recent visitors at Palma Paulsen's.

Mrs. Harold Johansen, David and Larry accompanied her cousin from Edmonton on a motor trip to Calgary, Sylvan Lake and Milk River.

Mrs. Ella Livingstone of Elk Point, was a visitor in Camrose, Ryley and Round Hill with relatives and friends and also called on the Tom, Don and George Campbell's.

Clara Forre and Mabel Moedahl, Camrose, were Wednesday callers at Joe Knudson's.

The Lloyd Olsen's have returned from a holiday to Rocky Mountain House and points.

Gerald Bergman of Breden, Sask. was a brief visitor at Ed Knudson's enroute to Vancouver where he flew to attend the wedding of his daughter Julie Bergman on Aug. 25. on Monday noon Theal and Enid [illegible] were also visitors at Ed Knudson's.

On Tuesday, partners Ora Barker and Carol Kairns will be opening their doors to the public at their store, 'Sunshine and Showers'.

"We wanted something different and reasonably priced," said Barker. The idea for the store was conceived from an ad that she had read in a newspaper.

Barker and Kairns felt that there was a need for a store offering shower gifts, baby clothing, handicrafts, kitchen aids and art work.

The two sisters were born in Wetaskiwin, raised in Edmonton and live on an acreage near Lindbrook. Kairns formerly was a teacher in Tofield.

The items are [redacted] consignment. All [redacted] public is to bring their [redacted] to them, and all are encouraged to make submissions by phoning either 662-3627 or 663-3616.

Spilstead news

by M. Fisher

This past week has seen a lot of activity going on at Spilstead Hall. Birdie and Arnold Brunner, Chuck and Denise McBurney, Dave and Shannon Cunningham, Dot and Terry Ziegler, along with Morris Helmig and Ed Fisher have [redacted] working very [redacted] at building the deck on the [redacted] and [redacted] the [redacted] all spruced up for the second annual Spilstead 2-day slowpitch and [redacted] tour[redacted].

There were 10 teams registered for the slowpitch tournament, with teams coming from Edmonton, Hay Lakes, Tofield, Camrose and Spilstead. The final standings were as follows.

First – Hay Lakes; 2nd – Buns and Rolls, Edmonton; 3rd – Tofield Rose; 4th – Dennis Valliere team of Tofield; 5th Spilstead.

On Saturday evening a successful dance was held in the Hall.

The horseshoe tournament was organized and run by Vern Bergland and Chuck McBurney. The winners were:

Rose Simpson, Tofield, Ladies A Event.

Barb WcWhirter, Camrose, Ladies B Event.

Norm Smith, Camrose, Mens A Event.

Ed Bernhart, formerly of Spilstead, Mens B Event.

Some of the Spilstead Pathfinders, Cubs and Scouts helped out in the concession throughout the two days to get their good deeds underway for the year that is about to start.

The Spilstead Community League will be having its first monthly meeting on Wednesday (Sept. 5) at 8 p.m. This meeting will be to plan the coming season's activities. New members are welcome. Phone 663-2273 or 663-2732 for more information.

Ryley district news

by Lena Reil

Dick Blakely is a patient in Tofield Hospital and Martha McClellan is a patient in an Edmonton hospital

Albert and Gladys Lysle of Kelowna, B.C. and their son Greg who is with the RCMP and wife of Whitehorse just returned from a holiday in Norway, visiting with many relatives.

Mr and Mrs. Henry Niezen have company visiting them from Holland. They are Mrs. Niezen's sister and husband and some of their family. The sisters have not seen one another since the Niezen's came to Alberta

Harvey and Annette Short and children visited Annette's uncle and aunt in Ryley on Sunday afternoon

Elston and Maureen Solberg [redacted] in Ryley over the weekend.

Callers with the Elmer Andersons were Ellie Pattison and Kay [redacted]

Elvera Reil enjoyed seeing Lena Sandstrom of Camrose on Saturday

Subscriptions, Ads, Future Dates, News, Phone 663-3773.

While Kathleen Anderson was in Edmonton to see the eye specialist, her sister stayed with Elmer. The Ed Albrechts were kind enough to take her up.

Emma Reil left for Edmonton on the middle of last week to spend some time with her daughter, Maxine and Bud and family and other relatives before returning back home to Whonnock, B.C., in September.

Agnes Haukedal passed away on August 23 at the age of 86 years. She has made her home in the Tofield Lodge the last few years. Funeral service was on Saturday in the Bardo Lutheran Church in Tofield with Rev. Longauger officiating

Interment was in Bardo Cemetery, south of Tofield. Tofield Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements

Garbage disposal is concern

... at transfer sites

by Joan Murray

The type of garbage acceptable for disposal at transfer sites was discussed at length during a meeting of the Beaver Regional Waste Management Authority last Tuesday evening.

Concern was expressed by Larry Andrukow of Ryley, that commercial and industrial companies would not have their needs catered to. Andrukow expressed a feeling that these firms would be penalized with the extra cost of having to haul their waste materials directly to the Regional Landfill site at Ryley.

Secretary-treasurer, Victor Leisco, pointed out that the initial intent of the Authority was to provide facilities at the transfer sites mainly for the handling of household garbage. However, he did assure Andrukow that the normal weekly cycle of industrial and commercial wastes, with the exception of hazardous waste or petroleum based materials, would be acceptable.

Car bodies, engine blocks, large truckloads of tires or any other overheavy or over large items would be prohibited at the transfer sites. These items will have to be transported directly to the Regional Landfill site at Ryley, by the person or company that wants to dispose of them. Provision will be made at the landfill site for either storage or disposal.

Regulations regarding restrictions of types of garbage acceptable for disposal at the transfer sites have yet to be formally determined by the Authority.

Maran Equipment was awarded the Skid Steer Loader contract. For the amount of $14,833, they will provide an 800 pound capacity 543 Bobcat for use in removing refuse from transfer sites on to a hauling trailer.

It was agreed that claims would be purchased for use on this vehicle during the winter months. The project engineering firm of Reid Crowther and Partners Ltd. will be getting a quote from Maran Equipment for an additional warranty

RCMP seek help

Alberta Police Forces are seeking the assistance of the public in curtailing the activities of a group of roving criminals who have been victimizing elderly persons.

This group was very active in 1983 and have again surfaced in Central Alberta.

As a rule, two female members of the group approach the residence of an elderly person and gain entry on the pretext of needing to call a doctor, wanting a drink of water, or the like.

Once inside, one culprit distracts the victim while the other proceeds to ransack the home for cash, jewellery or other valuables. Large sums have been stolen in several cases.

The women, who are generally dark-complexioned and brightly dressed, then flee to a waiting vehicle operated by a male accomplice.

Anyone noting suspicious activity of this type should make a note of the vehicle descriptions and licence numbers and contact their nearest RCMP Detachment or Police Force immediately.

C.B. Patrol planned

... by Crime Watch

by Joan Murray

When the Rural Crime Watch meeting was held in the Senior Citizen Drop-In Centre in Tofield on August 23rd, it was hoped that the results of a mail survey regarding a C.B. Patrol Program could be discussed, but the recent fine weather conditions had many members so busy with harvesting that the results were sketchy.

Len Kolawchuk who, along with Sanford Boettger, is responsible for setting up this system, was on hand to report on this project.

He said that although all the cards were not yet returned, he felt there was much interest expressed in this project. Members then discussed the type of radio that could be placed in an RCMP car to enable citizens to call into a main base or the patrol car in case of any criminal or suspicious acts being observed while they were out working in the fields.

Since the survey has been completed, it will be possible to determine how many base stations and C.B.'s there are available for use in the program as well as where they are located. Rural Crime Watch security, Peter Brown, said that the type of radio and antenna they would be choosing for the patrol car would be determined after the final results of the survey came in.

Farm Safety Expert, Ken Andriashek, from the Alberta Agriculture Safety Branch was a guest speaker this evening. He presented a film on farm accidents before dividing the group into four separate areas for a one and a half hour workshop to discuss and recognize various types of farm safety measures that could be taken in given situations. This was followed up by a film on stress in the farm family along with a question period on the subject.

There is a distinct possibility that a farm family life saver course will be offered at a special meeting in the winter months. It would include instruction on basic first aid and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation as well as emergency first aid. This course would then be followed up with a Cardio Pulmonary Resuscitation course at a later date.

A Farm Safety Expert would conduct this two and a half hour participation course, with all those present taking an active part.

At the next meeting which will be held in Shaw Hall on November 22nd, someone from the Farmers Advocate's Office will be on hand to give advice to the group about actions that can be taken in case of disputes or situations involving legal actions.

Brown said that although there had been a small turnout at the August meeting, the results were fruitful.

Advance voter

Last Tuesday was the last day of advance poll voting at the Senior Centre in Tofield. This lady was one of a few who came in to cast her ballot that day. Returning officer, Ella Allan, seen here receiving the ballot, said turnout was heavy on the first two days but sketchy on Tuesday. She was assisted by Shari Allan seated to her left.

National election held

Voters all across the country went to the polls yesterday (Tuesday) to elect members to sit in the House of Parliament.

Polls closed at eight o'clock in the evening with results likely to have been nearly finalized about three hours later.

The Mercury went to press before the polls closed and as a result, returns were not available in time to be included in this edition.

A complete report will be carried in next week's publication issue of The Mercury.

There were seven candidates in the running for the seat in the Vegreville Constituency.

Six of them were trying to unseat the incumbent, Dan Mazankowski of Vegreville, who has been the sitting member for the past sixteen years, on behalf of the Progressive Conservative Party.

Mazankowski was expected to be returned to office with little difficulty and there were considerable speculation within the constituency that, if the Progressive Conservatives were to form the next government, Mazankowski could get a cabinet post.

Opposing Mazankowski in yesterday's (Tuesday) election were Bob Bruseo of Lavoy (Rhinoceros Party); Tim Firth of Edmonton (Communist Party of Canada); Evangeline Forcier of Wainwright (Liberal Party); Steve Kostiuk of Edmonton (Social Credit Party); George Oleksiuk of Edmonton (New Democratic Party); and Lawrence Schlamp of Edmonton (Confederation of Regions Western Party).

To the south, five candidates were seeking the seat in the seat in the Vegreville Constituency.

In the running were Arthur Robinson of Elnora (Social Credit); Arnold Malone of Camrose RR (Progressive Conservative) who is the incumbent; Vange MacNaughton of Stettler (Liberal); Joe Domenski of Alliance (Confederation of Regions Western Party); and Gladys Cressey of Consumidon (New Democratic Party).

Neighbors

You have to admire a group of farmers in the Riverton, Manitoba area north of Winnipeg.

After three years of complete crop failures, many of the farmers in the region are on the verge of bankruptcy. So bad is the situation [illegible] churches in the province joined forces to raise funds to help a group of their brethren, Mennonite farmers in the area.

They launched an appeal both for funds and for seed to help "at least the Mennonite farmers". But the sorely pressed Mennonite farmers in the Riverton area, nineteen of them, pleaded that the aid should be distributed equally among their Icelandic and Ukrainian neighbors, making 35 benefactors in all.

"Need", they said "should be the first criterion for aid, as it is with other projects of the Mennonite Central Committee."

When you're right on your uppers, when you can't even buy seed for another year, or borrow the money for it, and when you vote to split almost in half a number of gifts collected to help you, that's being REAL neighbors.

The West used to know that spirit everywhere. We're glad to know it still exists

Travesty

From the point of view of the responsible voter, this has been a travesty of an election campaign.

The parties have paraded their leaders, not their candidates, as though nothing else mattered. The foot soldiers don't count, was the message, it's all in the generals.

They've offered practically nothing of any substance for the voters to chew on, having learned the lesson, probably, many times. Most recently, Trudeau showed just how easy it was to defeat a candidate who offered an idea, such as Stanfield's proposal for Wage and Price Controls, such as Clark's proposal to tax gasoline eighteen cents a gallon, then not only introduced their ideas after beating them, but made them look like pikers. Imagine, 18 cents a gallon! Four cents a litre! It was only about a decade ago that gas could be bought for seven cents a litre including ethe entire tax.

Stanfield presented a target. Clark presented a target. Trudeau presented a shadow, the same as Bill Davis of Ontario. And Davis taught Mulroney.

And too many voters, lulled by television into not having to think anything out for themselves, bought it. They shot down the men who offered something to think about, the men who urged them to assist in the democratic process, and instead they surged behind the men who offered them pap, nothing of substance, but just comedy.

This time the policitians really didn't offer much. But the media haven't been much help either.

They didn't get much from the parties, it's true, but they didn't even press the chances they got. Instead, they spent far too much time concentrating on the polls, on stupid gestures like bum patting, on the relative efficiency of either team's campaign organization, on off the record comments, on opinions of wives, on slip-ups. But nothing of [illegible]

What earthly difference should a voter read into an efficiently run campaign? Does this augur good government? Is it the leader's fault, or his credit, whether the airline manages to get his baggage there or not. (Was it your fault when the airline lost yours? Did it mean you were less competent?) When a mike didn't work, when signals got crossed with busy volunteer workers, does this signify that a party, with all the other M.P.s it was going to bring out, would make a better or poorer government&?

The greatest tragedy is that so many people don't seem to care, to think that it matters, to feel their personal interest or intervention could make any difference.

In this case, the clamor for change was so great that nothing else probably mattered very much. But of one thing we're fairly sure . . . the next time around there will be a massive swing back for many currently disillusioned voters.

And substance, position, platform, intelligently presented, will make far more difference to that election. Just as will the lack of it.

[illegible] feminists

24 Thornhill Ave.,
Thornhill, Ont.
August 16, 1984.

Dear Sir:

The so-called "women's debate" sponsored by the feminist organization, National Action Committee (NAC) served mainly as a platform for the New Democratic Party.

The bias of the audience and the panelists was obvious, the questions clearly indicating the lack of vision and commitment to Canada by NAC, since all they wanted was their demands to be met immediately by the leaders – regardless of the consequences to society and the enormous expense to the taxpayer, already reeling from [illegible].

With the one exception of the question dealing with homemakers' pensions, the whole debate was geared to women in the workplace – but no mention was raised about the concerns of the other half of Canadian women who choose to raise their children, often under greater financial difficulties Don't they count?

The whole debate was geared to the narrow-based views of the feminist whose approach is not representative of that which most women take in these issues

The three party leaders represent all Canadians: men, women and children. They were the real audience and any future debate should be [illegible] the handful of political activists who run the NAC.

Electronic Funds Transfer Systems

[illegible] (EFT) systems have made computerized banking a reality. In Alberta, EFT systems are currently available to the public in the form of direct payroll deposits, preauthorized payments, automatic teller machines, [illegible].

[illegible]

With this form of EFT your pay cheque, annuity, or pension cheque is deposited directly into your bank account. For example, prior to payday your employer sends a computer tape to your financial institution, your account number, and the amount to be credited. The money is credited to your account and withdrawn from your employer's account electronically A record of the deposit appears on your monthly statement

A direct payroll deposit saves paperwork for your employer and reduces administration costs. It is more efficient It also reduces the possibility of cheque theft, forgery or loss

A direct payroll deposit plan also eliminates cheque cashing problems for you and saves you from having to stand in bank line-ups on paydays!

Pre-Authorized Payments

With this type of plan you give your financial institution written permission to pay your bills directly from your account Mortgage payments, insurance premiums, equalized utility payments or other bills that are of a regular amount can be handled this way

Pre-authorized payments provide advantages to your creditors and you. Your creditors receive their paym[illegible] filing, and save on postage For you, this often eliminates penalty costs due to late payments Pre-authorized payments also save you time and postage e[illegible]

However, pre-authorized payment[illegible] keep careful records Make sure the money is in your account when payment is due. Check your monthly statement carefully. If you find any errors, contact your financial institution and creditor immediately

[illegible]

[illegible] (ATMs) are available throughout Alberta. They are easy to use. First you insert a plastic access card which has been magnetically encoded with your account number(s). Next, you punch in your [illegible] (PIN) This lets the computer know who you are, and that you have a right to access that particular account. Then you continue with your banking. That is all there is to it!

There are three things to keep in mind when using ATMs First, do not write your PIN on your access card. The [illegible]ed will let anyone into your account. If you cannot remember your PIN, write it down, but keep it separate from your access card If your card is lost or stolen, your financial institution accepts no responsibility

Second, do not throw away or lose your ATM receipts. They are the official records of your transactions. If you do not get a receipt or the printing on a receipt is faded, contact your financial institution and get proof your transaction was properly recorded. Back-up printouts of all ATM transactions exist. Every day employees from the place where you bank verify all deposits and withdrawals. Records are kept, but it is your responsibility to report errors. In any event, check your monthly statement to make sure all your ATM transactions are listed. Third, keep your account pass books up to date by recording all withdrawals and deposits as soon as possible

Next week we will look at the most recent form of EFT systems – the debit card. In the meantime, if you would [illegible] systems, call into our office and ask for the Electronic Funds Transfer Systems Tip [illegible]

[illegible]

For a large part of the population, summer is over. Students must spend the better part of their day in a classroom so once that bell rings, it might as well be winter outside. (Night school does have its advantages.)

This is adjustment time for families. Not only do the students have to get used to being bright-eyed and bushy-tailed in class (that means alert, kids) but parents must renew everyones knowledge of alarm clock fundamentals, such as "those not set will not ring". The difficulties in getting kids [illegible] five mornings a week are equalled only by those in re-establishing bedtimes. Settling children down at a decent hour should take until Christmas but a heavy rubber mallet might help to speed up the process.

Also, it's time to learn to wear real clothes again. Some will undoubtedly feel that they are being smothered and it will be a shame to cover up all those glorious tans (sigh: the envious tone here is real – I'm the original Pink Lady.), but proper apparel is necessary if minds are to remain on the subjects being taught.

I have a child who says that [illegible] are one good thing about school opening. When pressed for another he was silent.

School clothes brings us too quickly to the empty wallets (emptier, in my case) of the parents responsible for paying for them and for the school supplies. I wonder what happened to those wonderfully functional – and cheap – [illegible] on "Little House"?

This is a great time for some moms and a sad one for others, depending on whether she likes having the house to herself or coming down around her ears. I always look forward to returning to regular mealtimes – no more small bodies rolling out of bed at 11 a.m. and looking for lunch at 4.30 or a 7-course snack at midnight And I won't [illegible] something cold to drink (We hit a Kool-aid consumption record here this summer)

But with the sighs of exhaustion and relief there is a slight twinge of sadness because once school starts the days begin to shorten. Soon the leaves will turn orange and [illegible]

Every silver lining has its [illegible].

Day care has birthday

by Joan Murray

The Rainbow Day Care Centre in Tofield is one year old this month and to help commemorate the event, the children had a Cabbage Patch Doll birthday party on Friday morning.

Owner/director, Carol Lyle said that the idea came from one of the mom's and was received with enthusiasm by all the children.

There were nine real little people with seven Cabbage Patch kids to help make this event a big success. One of the little "Momsmoss" said that all Cabbage Patch babies celebrate their birthdays on Sept. 1st.

Helping out for the day was Liana Nahirniak, an 18-year-old graduate from Tofield School. Last year, she participated in the work experience program by working at the centre.

The director expressed her appreciation of the super support all the mothers had given her and her staff over the past year and made special mention of Brenda Latace who baked cupcakes for the party and to Bessie Wells who provided goodie bags and party favors.

Karen Warner, a young mother from Tofield had also been helping out over the summer months, but was not on hand for the celebration.

Carol Lyle has adequate E.C.E. training for her position at the centre but will be upgrading her qualifications regularly starting with a course that begins at the middle of this month.

She started this operation last year partly to eliminate the long drive to a day care centre in Sherwood Park where she had worked for some time and partly to create an atmosphere in which she could work with children in a less restrictive more homelike setting.

The playground in the backyard at the centre allows the youngsters to enjoy many hours of creative and energetic play time with the large sand box, tire swing and other equipment that Tom Lyle has created for their enjoyment and safety.

The centre is open from 7:30 a.m. until 6:15 p.m. and is fully booked for the fall season with an average attendance of 30.

School buses get speed limit hike

The maximum speed limit for school buses will be increased effective September 1, Transportation Minister [illegible] announced.

As of Sept. 1, the speed limit for school buses in Alberta will become 90 km/h or the posted limit depending on which is the lower.

This is an increase from the current school bus speed limit of 80 km/h on rural primary highways and 70 km/h on other rural roads.

The speed limit increase was requested by the Alberta School Bus Contractors' Association and the Student Transportation Supervisors' Association.

After considering the school bus safety record in the province, the Minister agreed to the increase, also taking into account the significant improvements made in buses since the current speed limit was established.

In announcing this change, Mr. Moore remarked: "Modern buses have been designed to operate safely at higher speeds. If you combine that with the fact that the safest traffic conditions occur when all vehicles are traveling at approximately the same speed, then this increase makes good sense."

"It's when there are large differences in vehicle speeds that the potential for danger increases, leading to excessive overtaking and increasing the potential for rear-end collisions. The increase in bus speeds will help reduce the potential for these types of collisions," added Mr. Moore.

Garbage disposal . .

plan which will be discussed at the next meeting of the Authority.

Tenders for the Regional Landfill site building closed on August 22nd. Watson Tofield Ltd. was awarded the contract. Their bid of $61,300 for a Better brand building came in about $8000 under budget and was equivalent in description and warranty time to the two other two higher bidders which were not accepted.

Kedon Equipment Ltd., a Calgary based firm, was chosen to supply a live bottom refuse hauling trailer for the amount of $61,750. Two other companies from B.C. submitted bids that were technically equivalent, but were considerably higher in price.

Contracts for the construction of transfer station buildings have gone out for tender. The concrete foundation and necessary site preparations of the Regional Landfill site will be tendered today (Wednesday). Applications for development permits for transfer sites have now been submitted to the proper authorities for approval.

A committee made up of Chairman Bob Cross and Vice-Chairman Rueben Hoveland, will be meeting with the County of Strathcona to discuss appropriate monitoring of the Lindbrook transfer station. The Authority has entertained the idea of joint use of this facility with the County of Strathcona who, in turn, has agreed to do a study on the extent that members of that County would be using this facility. It is hoped that they will enter into an agreement for the 1985 budget.

Tenders for the Regional Landfill site fencing closed on August 22nd. Watson Tofield Ltd. was awarded the contract. Their bid of $41,300 for a Better brand building came in about $8000 under budget and was equivalent in description and warranty time to the two other two higher bidders which were not accepted.

Kedon Equipment Ltd., a Calgary based firm, was chosen to supply a live bottom refuse hauling trailer for the amount of $61,750. Two other companies from B.C. submitted bids that were technically equivalent, but were considerably higher in price.

Contracts for the construction of transfer station buildings have gone out for tender. The concrete foundation and necessary site preparations of the Regional Landfill site will be tendered today (Wednesday). Applications for development permits for transfer sites have now been submitted to the proper authorities for approval.

When it comes to money and consumer behaviour, the Family is where we learn most of our basic attitudes and habits. Because our ideals and habits are learned at a very early age, the Family is the best place to learn money management skills.

And it's never too soon to learn! Remember that young children today are continually bombarded with "Buy! Buy!" messages. So its important that we teach them about making decisions, planning and management of money at an early age.

But sometimes its hard for parents to know how to teach their children to manage money. That's why Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs developed the book entitled "Cosmic Coinship." Its an activity book, full of stories, games and activities that will help you teach your children about money.

"Cosmic Coinship" contains activities for children ages 8-12. It's intended that the book will take you several years to work through with your children. As parents, you alone can judge when your children are ready for each of the proposed activities. A copy of the book is available to you, free of charge. Just call our office or drop into The Camrose Canadian Office.

Here's a sample of some of the activities in the book — activities which you can do with your young children!

(For the Very Young) — pick out four coins from your pocket (be sure there's some variety). Have your child identify each coin (eg. penny, nickel) and its value (1c, 5c). Then, have the child give you the total value of your "handful."

— Empty our your spare change jar on the table and have your child sort the coins. Or, encourage them to pick out coin "groupings" on the table (coins that are lying close together). Have them tell you what coins make up the "grouping." What is their total value? Use the coins to show your child how a nickel equals 5 pennies.

(For the Slightly Older Child) — take a food item, such as a tin of soup, out of your kitchen cupboard. Be sure its a food that your child likes, and that it has a price tag on it. Take your spare change jar and ask your child to pick out the coins it would take to pay for the item. (You can also do this when you're emptying your grocery bag and come across a favorite food item).

— If you're out for a meal, especially at a favorite fast food outlet, give your child the money to buy their own meal. Make sure its enough to buy them adequate food, but point out to them the options, or the various combinations they could buy.

— When you're out around town with your child, have them point out to you all of the various ways that people earn money. Have them draw pictures of how you earn money.

(For All Ages) — as your child begins to demonstrate a readiness to take on more responsibility, consider trying out a regular allowance. "Cosmic Coinship" has some useful activities and guidelines for parents who are considering allowances for their children.

Remember, "Cosmic Coinship" is available, free of charge, to you. You may want one copy for each child as some activities require the child to mark, write or colour in the book. You can get your copies by calling our office at 340-5241 (use your RITE operator) or drop in to The Camrose Canadian Office.

Terry Fox Run is set

September 23rd is a day to remember.

A day when thousands of Canadians will honour Canadian hero, Terry Fox, by participating in the fourth annual Terry Fox Run.

Last year, 135 Alberta communities raised funds in excess of $650,000. To date, over 135 communities have committed themselves to partake in this event.

Last year Albertans of all ages walked, jogged, cycled or rollerskated their way around a 10 km course. Others chose to organize events such as bake sales, horseback riding, car washes and dance-a-thons.

Money raised through the Terry Fox Run is used to support cancer research programs across the country.

The National Cancer Institute has committed $28.35 million from the funds for studies on the genetics of cancer, palliative care, breast screening and additional programs.

SKARET—RIX WEDDING

The wedding service for Merlyn Skaret of Armena and Dean Rix of Wetaskiwin took place at Scandia Lutheran Church, Armena on July 28 at 7 p.m. with Rev. Reuben Guyton officiating.

Matron of honor was Mardell Olson of Camrose, sister of the bride, and best man was Doug Rix of Calgary, cousin of the groom. Nieces of the bride and groom Laura Olson and Naomi Dyck were flowergirls.

Candles were lit by Karl Skaret and ushers were Daryl Skaret and Mark Olafson. Guest book attendant was Gladys Grue of Camrose.

Organist for the wedding was Anne Lyseng, with Kirsti and Susan Skaret reading scriptures. Sisters of the groom, Cheryl Dyck, Cindy MacLarg and Kathy Rix sang in a trio and the parents, Marville and Delores Skaret, and Harry and Esther Rix sang a parental blessing.

Reception followed downstairs at the church with a buffet supper served later in the evening. A very enjoyable program, with many taking part, was ably emceed by Evelyn Olson. Toast to the bride was given by Uncle Dan Skaret and toast to the groom by Aunt Irene Ferguson, to which the bride and groom responded.

The couple has just returned from a trip to the Yukon and travelling down the west coast, and have taken up residence in rural Wetaskiwin.

A little input on one of life's great values.

Everyone benefits from that reliable source, the electrical outlet.
It's there when you need it in so many helpful ways. And at surprisingly low cost when you consider all that electricity does for you.
But some people use electricity as if there were no tomorrow. And then they're surprised when the bill arrives.
You can avoid unnecessary costs on your electric bill through wise management of your electrical use.
It all starts with the little things. Like turning off the lights when you leave a room, or deciding what snack you want before you open the fridge door.
Like doing a few large loads of laundry rather than several small ones. Or using low-watt bulbs in hallways and stairwells.
A little common sense is all it takes to maintain a balance of power. And the balance of your bank account.
Electricity. One of life's great values.

The first step in the process of habilitation is an assessment of an individuals needs. Assessments are taken every six months to determine the clients progress in skills and skills needed to be learned.

One assessment the Camrose Association for the Mentally Handicapped uses for handicapped adults is the Adaptive Functioning Index (AFI), developed by Nancy Marlett from the Vocational Rehabilitation and Research Institute in Calgary.

The other assessment used is the Independent Living Skills Checklist, originally developed by Sam Lamedol Program Director of Hillside Apartment Program in Edmonton. It has been revised twice. The last edition was a long standardization project sponsored by the Vocational and Rehabilitation Research Institute in Calgary.

The AFI contains three separate assessments, Residential, Social Education and Vocational. The Residential Assessment includes the following areas: personal hygiene, manners while eating, room management, time management, health, transportation, shopping, leisure, budgeting, home management, communication, consideration, getting friends, keeping friends, handling problems. The scoring format in the [illegible] is: no credit — client does not show or have the chance to show the behavior or task; one credit — client requires prompting or [illegible] to carry out the behaviour or task; two credits — client does the behavior or task independently in an acceptable manner.

The Social Education Assessment includes the following areas: reading, writing, communication, concept attainment, number concepts, time, money handling, community awareness, and motor movements. This assessment is scored by one point for each question or test the client is asked.

After each of the above assessments are completed they are scored and the number of skills the client has is then determined. It also shows the areas the client needs to develop or further develop to a stage of independence.

The Independent Living Skills Checklist is an observable assessment which determines the clients level of independence. It is used to indicate [illegible] an apartment in the community, as well as follow up after the move. It determines if the client is independent in an area, semi independent or dependent. A client needs to be functioning in the high semi independent area or the independent area before they are felt ready to move out into independent living. The areas this assessment cover are self help skills, academic skills, community awareness, employment, home living skills, and social maturity.

The above are assessments used in a residential setting. However, there are other assessments used for determining clients needs through employment vocational [illegible] and children's assessments.

Assessments are an important first step so a clients skills may be accurately determined before preceeding with programs. If you wish to see an assessment or would like further information please contact me at 672-4857.

Round Hill district notes

Religious instructions at the Round Hill Ukrainian Catholic Parish were given by two Sister Servants of Mary Immaculate, Sr. Alexis and Sr. Rose from July 23 to 27 inclusive.

Twenty children from Round Hill, Ohaton, Hay Lakes and Tofield attended the instructions. The week's instructions culminated with celebrations of the Divine Liturgy by Rev. M. Martynkiw at which five children received their First Holy Communion. After the church services a gathering was held at the Parish Hall where dinner was served. After the dinner a short program of songs and Ukrainian dancing was given.

In conclusion of the program, appreciation was expressed to the Sisters, parents and all those who contributed to the successful event, by Mr. M. Kushnerick, president of the church committee and Rev. M. Martynkiw, parish pastor, on behalf of the Parish. Mrs. Theresa Zeniuk, on behalf of the UCWL and Mrs. Marge Kozack, on behalf of the parents, presented gifts of appreciation to the Sisters and also to Mrs. Josephine Ilnicki who provided accommodation for the Sisters.

Homecoming souvenirs available in Holden

21 people attended the August 23rd meeting of the Holden Homecoming '84 Committee.

Co-chairman Christine Mackay, thanked all committee members for the excellent co-operation and all the hard work that went into planning and hosting the Homecoming to celebrate Holden's 75th anniversary.

Members were asked to convey thanks to their clubs and organizations.

Several letters had been received from people who attended the Homecoming on August 4, 5 and 6 and wished to express their appreciation for a job well done.

Committee reports were given on all events that took place.

There will be a surplus of funds and a decision as to a community project using these funds will be made at a later date.

It was reported that souvenir items — pins, caps, mugs, key chains and T-shirts are still available at the Village Office and Holden Variety.

Elk Island tour set

by Ean Weiner

The passing of Labour Day and the return of children to school mark the end of summer that, as usual, has passed all too quickly.

The change in weather points towards fall, but for keen-eyed observers in Elk Island National Park, the signs of the changing seasons have been evident for weeks.

Berries, rose hips and mushrooms now line the park trails, along with late-season flowers, such as asters and goldenrod. Hikers will be greeted by the sweet smell of decaying vegetation — a sure sign that fall has arrived.

They may also be greeted by another sign of autumn — a bull bison reluctant to move off the trail. At this time of the year, bison are in the midst of the rut, or mating season, when the bulls become stubborn and, occasionally aggressive. Hikers are advised to give them a wide berth.

The first flock of geese turned the heads of park staff as they passed over the Administration Building on August 16th on their way south. They will soon be joined by the thousands of other ducks and geese that have used the park's lakes to raise their young over the summer.

After the hectic pace of the last few months, the fall is a special time to visit Elk Island National Park to enjoy the moods of the changing seasons.

One way to do so is to joint the Friends of Elk Island for their "Great Grebe Tour" on September 9th, at 11 a.m.

The Friends will be touring Astotin Lake by canoe and then gathering afterwards for a pot-luck supper in the Recreation Area.

Everyone is welcome to attend and enjoy an afternoon of autumn explorations. For more information, call the park at 998-3781.

Holden gets new priest

Rev. Patrick O'Neill arrived in Holden recently from Sylvan Lake to replace Rev. Jan Sienko at St. Gregory's Roman Catholic Church.

Father O'Neill began his duties on August 1[illegible] and will be serving the four missions of Holden, Ryley, Polska and Tofield.

He and Rev. Sienko just exchanged places with Rev. Sienko taking over his parish at Sylvan Lake and Red Deer. This move was made to fill the need for a Polish Speaking priest in the growing population of Polish parishioners in the Red Deer/Sylvan Lake area.

Rev. O'Neill is originally from Edmonton where his parents still reside. He was educated first at the University of Alberta and graduated from Newman Theological School in St. Albert. His post-graduate work was done at the University of San Francisco and the University of Toronto.

He said that is will be quite an adjustment going from an area with over 50,000 population to a rural setting, but he plans to sit back and observe for a while to allow for such an adjustment.

Services will be conducted as usual and if there is a need to contact him for any reason he can be reached at [illegible].

Good produce

Harvesting didn't deter many from attending the Farmer's Market in Tofield on Friday. There was a good turnout this day as many community members purchased fresh vegetables and fruit for canning and freezing, this fall —Photo by Joan Murray

Harvesting is half done

Harvesting of the 1984 crop is nearing the mid-way mark, according to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Farmers report that crop yields and grades are better than had been anticipated and one report indicates that some barley will likely go for malt production because of a shortage of that crop in the southern part of the province.

All of the rye crop had been removed from the fields around New Norway, Ryley, Round Hill and Camrose, earlier in the summer.

Sixty percent of canola has been processed along with one-half of th barley crop. Oats is about forty percent combined and wheat combining is about one-quarter done.

Rosalind farmers are leading the way with about three-quarters of all crops removed from the field with canola at ninety percent, oats and barley are three-quarters done and wheat has reached the mid-way mark.

In the Camrose and Round Hill areas, about sixty percent of all crops have been combined. Canola is at the three-quarter mark with barley and oats about one-half done and wheat stands at about twenty percent harvested.

Farmers around Ryley, New Norway, Holden and Bawlf are approaching being one-half done with canola over sixty percent completed, oats and barley are about one-half done and wheat has about fifteen percent of the crop removed from the fields.

About one-third of the crop has been combined in the Hay Lakes and Daysland regions while Tofield farmers, hampered by poor weather, have taken only about fifteen percent of the crops from the field.

As of Friday, about ninety percent of all crops had been swathed.

Hail activity is down

Hail activity during July and August was in reverse of normal patterns according to a season-end assessment by the Alberta Research Counil's field operations team.

The summer cloud seeding operations ended August 31.

"The number of hail reports in July were down by 50 to 70 percent while major storms in August raised the month's total to twice normal," said Jim Renick, Manager of the Atmospheric Sciences Department hail project. "Total hail activity was slightly below the long-term average in the project area."

Cloud seeding operations by four aircraft using some 7,000 silver iodide flares were conducted on 29 days, but widespread drought conditions limited these operations and weather modification experiments in the weather research program.

Of 64 clouds investigated for rain-producing experiments, research scientists found 33 suitable. Initial results have confirmed earlier indications that some non-precipitating cumulus clouds can be encouraged to produce rain by seeding.

"How much precipitation can be generated at the ground and whether such procedures are economical are still questions to be answered," says Mr. Renick.

Hail storm seeding experiments, testing and development of a hail suppression hypothesis were carried out on 17 storms. Data analysis will continue through the winter.

"The Research Council field program staff are grateful for the assistance from the farming community," said Mr. Renick. "The information provided is invaluable to use as we continue to assess the effectiveness of cloud seeding."

[illegible] Sophia Grue of Camrose (formerly of [illegible]) wedding anniversary recently.

The happy couple were guests of honour at a dessert reception which was held in Messiah Lutheran Church on Aug 21st.

The church was decorated for the occasion by family members and an added attraction was a three-tiered wedding cake which was decorated by their daughter, Grace [illegible].

Sonja Kallevig and Robyn [illegible], were in charge of the guest book.

Following fellowship and refreshment, family members entertained with a musical program.

Greetings and congratulations were received from Premiere Peter Lougheed, MP Arnold Malone, MLA Gordon Stromberg, Lieutenant-Governor Frank Lynch-Staunton, and Leader of the Opposition Brian Mulroney.

Nels Grue and Sophia Rasmussen were married on Nov. 27, 1919 with Rev Olaf Ellingson officiating.

The ceremony and reception took place in a large tent which had been erected on the Rasmussen farm, about one-half mile north of [illegible].

Ragnild Skaret (now [illegible]) was the bridesmaid and Theodore Grue was the best man.

[illegible] Thore Grue farm in the Armena District for fifty-four years before they moved to [illegible].

HARRY SYCH CELEBRATES 90TH BIRTHDAY

Members of the Harry and Mary Sych family gathered in Camrose on Aug. 24 to honor Harry on the occasion of his 90th birthday. The evening commenced with a banquet held at a local restaurant. Present were Paul and Bari Sych and their three children Grant, Wayne and Shauna of Langley, B.C., Mike and Margaret Sych and sons Clinton and Terry of Hay Lakes, Henry and Sophie Sych and Jerry of Bittern Lake, Marcel Demaynck and daughter [illegible] of Calmar, Marvin and Millie Podgruny of Calmar, Victor and Bessie Galenza and Michelle, Veronica Galenza and Angela of Hay Lakes, Ray and Beverly Hamula, Richard and Shannon of Edmonton, Dave and Valerie Henah, Colin and Alyson of Calmar, Larry and Marlene Sych, Danny and Julie of Leduc. During the evening Beverly Hamula, the eldest grandchild, gave a speech of tribute to her grandparents. Mike Sych, the eldest son, spoke on behalf of the family and thanked everyone for attending.

The remainder of the evening was then spent at the home of Harry and Mary Sych where they were joined by John and Mary Sych, Mrs. Amalie Metzker, Ben and Frieda Kabush and Andy and Ruby Keen. A birthday cake was baked and specially decorated for the occasion by Margaret Naslund of Hay Lakes.

Harry is an old timer of the Hay Lakes District having farmed here for 46 years before retiring to Camrose.

Heather Yoner of Lethbridge spent a few days at the home of her parents, Bill and Ruby Yoner.

The Hay Lakes and District Fish and Game Association will hold a trapshoot on Sept. 2. The raffle draw scheduled for that day has now been extended until early in [illegible].

HOW SAFE ARE WALKERS?

In a nine month period of four Canadian hospitals, 152 children were treated in emergency or admitted to hospital due to walker related accidents. Of these, 81• involved falls down stairs. At the Toronto Sick Children's Emergency Department, in a three year period, 286 children were admitted for injuries caused by falling down stairs while in their walkers, two of [illegible].

Children's walkers may provide toddlers with the joy of mobility, but they can lead to serious accidents. Until safety standards are in place, parents should be vigilant and very cautious when placing their children in walkers. Extra caution is needed because walkers give children access to cords, sources of heat and other seemingly innocent household items that were inaccessible when the child was crawling.

The walker should never be considered completely safe nor a substitute babysitter.

A number from Zion and Skudesness Churches attended the installation service on Aug. 26th in Bawlf Lutheran Church when Rev. Daniel Berg, Central Alberta Conference Chairman and C.L.B.I. teacher, installed Rev. Clifford Knudtson, a spring graduate from Lutheran Theological Seminary of Saskatoon, in his first parish.

Scripture readings were by Ed Knudson, Dianne Olson and Lyle Erga and the sermon was delivered by Rev. Daniel Berg of Camrose.

After the closing hymn there were remarks and welcome by the chairmen of the Parish congregations by Harvey Pederson, Ed Knudson, Elmer Bruce and Lyle Erga.

Rev D Berg remarked he had also confirmed Rev. Clifford Knutson who was raised on a farm at Spalding, Saskatchewan.

The Bawlf choir sang under the direction of Mrs. Fadum. A pot-luck dinner was enjoyed and fellowship followed.

One week after Rev. Lee Woolery and family left Bawlf, the parsonage was again occupied. Harvey and Terry Pederson of Zion provided the trucking from Saskatoon to Bawlf for the new pastor, Rev Cliff Knutson, wife Nancy and two small sons, Mark and Adam.

Nancy comes from Midale, Sask. She attended C.L.B.I. for two years, attended business college and is employed as a secretary at the University of Saskatoon in Saskatoon. They were married in July, 1978.

90TH BIRTHDAY

On Aug. 26, Hans Aker observed his 90th birthday in Camrose when his nieces and nephews called to help him mark the occasion, namely Alice and Edna Aker, Ben Aker, Adeline James, Pearl Lambert, Amy McClure and Richard and Herdis Lommen.

Hans Aker was born in Minnesota in a family of nine children. At the age of 18 years, he came with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Aker and family to homestead north of Bawlf in the Likeness area.

A former resident had many visitors on her birthday at her home in Beaverlodge when the following came to help her celebrate, her sister Selma Bratrud and Peter and Shirley Remple from this area, Rev. and Mrs. Leverne Hoveland of Valhalla Centre and her cousins, Emily and Roy Peterson, Abbotsford, B.C., Olga Johnson and Geneva Sandness of Dawson Creek, B.C.

Gail Forre accompanied by her grandmother, Alma Olson of Camrose, motored to Grande Prairie to spend the week with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Budd [illegible] Linda and [illegible] of St. Albert visiting with them after spending the past several weeks holidaying in Ontario.

Mrs. Helen Zwierschke and Mrs. Grace Appleby were visiting on Sunday afternoon of the past week, with Mrs. Beth Campbell at Extendicare Nursing Home in Leduc.

Mrs. Doris Hunchak is home after spending a few days in Tofield Hospital.

While at Tofield Hospital last week, Mrs. Ethel Fleming called on Mrs. Kate Nichols and Mrs Doris Hunchak.

Mrs Elsie Martin (nee Kennedy) of Edmonton was a surprise visitor on Tuesday afternoon with Mr and Mrs. George Taylor.

Mrs. Ethel Brekstad was a visitor the past week at [illegible] Extendicare Nursing [illegible] calling on friends.

Mrs. Frances Hansen, who was a patient in Viking Hospital for three weeks, then spent several days in the nursing home, returned home on Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Mike Chomic has been a patient in Viking Hospital for the past couple of weeks.

Save corn husks

Whether you grow your own corn or get it from the local market you will be delighted with what you can make from cornhusk and cornsilk.

Cornhusk dolls, nativity scenes, slippers, placemats, baskets, flowers, etc.

Interested? If you are — your Further Education Representatives are going to tell you how to dry your own cornhusks so the crafts can be made at a minimal price to you.

Remove the husks by cutting through the bottom of the cob about a half inch above the stem. Carefully unfold each husk gently away from the cob. Remove the silk by pulling it gently back down the cob easing the strands away from the corn. Lay them out to dry, turning them regularly. When dry, store them in a dry place. Dry and store the silks in the same way.

Watch for the Further Education booklet coming out in early fall. If you have any questions, contact Anne Ulrich at 662-3730.

Skill Courses For You

Alberta Agriculture has access to a number of courses which I, as your D.A., can bring into the county if there is enough interest. The following courses are the ones we plan to offer in the County of Beaver this winter. The following dates and places are tentative and still must be confirmed. If you are interested, please let us know immediately as these courses will not be offered if there are not enough registrants.

Powder Puff Mechanics — Ryley

This three-day course will cover all practical, basic tips on how to keep your car running. It covers topics from selecting a mechanic to tune-ups to driving economy. We have scheduled the course at Ryley from Nov. 13-15. A registration fee of $15 is required. A minimum of 8-12 people is required for the course to be offered.

Home Maintenance — Holden

This one day course will cover basic knowledge and safety in home repairs. It will tentatively be held on Nov. 22 at Holden. A registration fee of $10 will be charged. A minimum of 8-12 people is required.

Refresher Welding Course — Viking

This five-day course is designed to accommodate only those people who have had some previous welding experience. It is not for beginners. The registration fee is $30 and a minimum of 8-12 people is required. It will tentatively be held at Viking from Jan. 14-18.

Mechanics I — Tofield

This two-week intensive course will go into detail on motor tune-up and maintenance. Tractor and/or truck motors will be worked on. A registration fee of $60 is required. Eight to twelve people are required for the course to be run. A tentative date is Feb. 18 to March 1

In Conclusion...

In order to be held, all of the above courses need to have a minimum registration. Please let us know immediately, by phoning 663-3666, if you want to enroll, so we can try to put the course on. We also need people who will let us use their shops for these courses to be held in. We have a great number of skill courses which we can get in, but need your support and cooperation for them to be held in our county. Bye for now

Lakeshore-McKenzie news items

by Ellen Eaton

Recent visitors at the home of Ethel and Verlyn Moss of Tofield were Mrs. Dode Haeberle and Mrs. Mary Johnson of Halkirk and Mrs. Stella Haeberle of Kelowna (who was visiting relatives at Halkirk, former friends of Ethel when she lived in Halkirk). Ethel and Verlyn were former residents of the Lakeshore-McKenzie Districts.

Ethel and Verlyn Moss motored to Gadsby on Aug. 26th to attend the Decoration Day Service at the Cenotaph in the Gadsby Cemetery. On the way home, they stopped at the home of Mrs. Martin (Mary) Johnson where they were guests; later on they stopped at the home of Mrs. Walt Henderson of Forestburg for a couple of hours' visit before returning to Tofield.

Rod and Isabel Rudacki of the McKenzie District and Isabel's mother, Mrs. M. Kyle of Tofield, returned home recently from Toronto where they visited Mrs. Kyle's son and Isabel's brother, Robert Kyle and family and attended the wedding of Robert's daughter, Bonnie. Isabel and Rod's daughter, Heather Rudacki of Edmonton also attended the wedding of her cousin before returning home.

Recently a bus load of senior citizens took a cross-country trip from Tofield to Highway 13 then on to Daysland, Heisler, Forestburg and from the east to the Big Knife Provincial Park where we had lunch at one of the campsites. After seeing the sights in the park, we left for home stopping at Donalda where we visited the Museum of Lamps and other old-time relics. There were lamps of all sizes and shapes dating back many years as well as some of the later years.

After leaving Donalda we travelled on SR 856 passing Edberg enroute to Camrose where we had supper, then left for home via the Kingman Road.

On Aug. 25, some 13 senior citizens and bus driver went to Edmonton for the opening of the Provincial Agriculture flower and vegetable show at Stoney Plain.

Leroy and Shirley Eaton went to Seba Beach on Thursday. They visited Walter and Evelyn Eaton while there, returning home Friday evening.

Recent visitors at the home of Ellen Eaton during August were her son, Walter and Evelyn Eaton (formerly of Fort McMurray, now living in their home at Seba Beach where they intend to make their permanent home.

Walter has retired from work at Fort McMurray where he was employed by G.C.O.S. for several years. While here, they spent most of the time on the Eaton farm with Walter's brother, Leroy and Shirley Eaton.

Also visiting Ellen recently was Leroy and Shirley's daughter, Marg Eaton and a friend from Edmonton, and Ellen's cousin, Clarence Phillips of Edmonton and a few friends from Tofield and district were afternoon callers.

The Lakeshore U.C.W. met at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Clarke on Aug. 22nd with six members present. After the business part of the meeting was completed, a luncheon was served by the hostess. The next meeting is to be held at Mae Ferguson's in Dec., date to be announced later.

Vi and Elmer Googiein returned recently from Oregon where they attended a 60th wedding anniversary of Sarah and Don Aitkens of Albany and from there, they visited B.C. on the return home. They visited Harold and Irlene Sieb at Ladner, former Tofield district residents.

Elsie Wolfbourne and her daughter, Irlene visited relatives in Tofield and district last week. Elsie visited with her brothers, Charlie and George Niemetz and their families.

Visiting at the home of George and Ida Niemetz at the present time is Ida's sister, Elsie Currie of Toronto.

District news from Ryley

by Lena Ball

Albert and Gladys Lysio of Kelowna, B.C. returned to Tofield after a holiday in Norway, Holland, etc. Their RCMP son, Greg, wife and family, were along with them. While in Tofield, they stayed with Ruby and Pete Hunka. They visited with Fannie Lysio and drove down to Ryley to visit Albert's only sister, Julia and Art Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Niesen have company visiting with them from Holland. Mrs. Niezen's sister, whom she has not seen since 1968, her husband, their son and wife and their 10-year-old son. They are enjoying themselves by driving around Alberta.

MP Don Mazankowski was a speaker at the Ryley Senior Citizens Centre on August 27.

Hilda Pfeifer and daughters of Viking visited Brenda Helgeland and Andy of Ryley. Leanne and Karen enjoy their swimming at Ryley Pool.

John Kosack passed away last week. He had been ill for a number of months.

Edith Solberg, Kaye Rud and Edna Gjerde motored to Irma to visit with Ella Skiles and her sister, Elma Tosilis-son, recently.

Edna Gjerde is happy to announce the birth of a granddaughter, born to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Orr of Edmonton, and named Lindsey Marie.

Earl Hjelter of Calgary visited with his mother and Stanley of Ryley before returning to Calgary to begin another term of teaching. He had been up to the Yukon.

Palmer-Earling news

Valerie Ferre and her mother Velda Thorne left Sunday to spend a few days with relatives at Marwayne.

Carl Staal and Gerry Stenerud were recent business callers at Hanna.

On August 25 and 26, the Logan-Hay family reunion was held in the Bittern Lake area when about 200 attended. The Ron Bratrud's, Earl Hellekson's and Hilda Logan were present from this area and others came from Edmonton, Bittern Lake, Camrose and Wetaskiwin.

Mrs. Ruth Campbell spent the week at Sherwood Park with her son, George and Donna Chappell.

Green Tomato Harvest

Tomato crops are beautiful this year, but Jack Frost is not likely to hold off until your tomatoes ripen.

Pick green tomatoes that are full size, leaving the stems attached. Sort tomatoes that are beginning to ripen from those that are still green. The first sign of ripening is that the bottom of the tomato has turned white. Wrap individually in newspaper and place in a box, with newspaper between layers. Store in a dark, cool place. Tomatoes that had begun ripening will be ready to use in 3-4 weeks. Those that were completely green when picked will take up to two months to ripen. Because stored tomatoes do not have the same flavor as field ripened, you may want to use your tomatoes green.

Below is one idea:

Green Tomato Stir-Fry

15 mL. butter
2 cloves garlic, crushed
1 small onion, sliced
2 sliced green tomatoes
1 tomato, cut in wedges
5 mL. basil
1 mL. salt
.5 mL. pepper

Saute garlic in butter 1 minute. Add onion and green tomatoes and stir-fry until vegetables are tender (about 5 min.). Add tomato wedges and seasonings; heat through (about 2 min.). Makes 4 servings.

I have other recipes using green tomatoes in pie and mincemeat. They are available upon request.

Ever Wonder...

Did you ever wonder how to freeze garlic, beet greens or celery? If so, read on. Garlic can be frozen by peeling the outer skin off the cloves and placing cloves in freezer wrapping or a closed container. Freezing enables the garlic to retain its distinctive flavor and aroma for two months.

To freeze beet greens, choose the youngest and most tender leaves possible. Remove tough stems and imperfect leaves. Wash, then blanch for two minutes in vigorously boiling water. Chill, then drain and pack into freezer containers.

Beet greens must be thawed before reheating. Heat in a small amount of water for about 4 minutes.

Why buy expensive imported celery during the winter when Canadian celery can be stored in the freezer for a year. Add frozen celery directly to soups, stews and sauces. To freeze: wash, trim and cut into small slices. Blanch for 3½ minutes. Chill quickly, drain and pack into freezer containers.

It's getting late

Everything is farther away now than it used to be. It is twice as far to the corner . . . and they added a hill, too, I've noticed.

I have given up running for the bus . . . it leaves faster than it used to. It seems to me they are making steps steeper than in the good old days, and have you noticed the smaller print they use in the newspaper?

There is no sense in asking anyone to read out loud . . . everyone speaks in such low voices that I can hardly hear them.

Also, the material in dresses is so skimpy, especially around the waist and hips. It is all but impossible to reach my shoe laces.

Even people are changing . . . they are so much younger than they used to be when I was their ages. On the other hand, people my age are so much older than I am. I ran into an old classmate the other day and she had aged so much that she didn't even recognize me! I got to thinking about the poor old thing while I was combing my hair this morning . . . and in doing so I glanced at my reflection.

Confound it . . . they don't make mirrors like they used to either!

Warm days may continue

The possibility does exist that unseasonably high temperatures could exist for the next two months.

Unusually high temperatures have prevailed since the middle of June and show little sign of abating.

Temperature records were first started in Camrose in the early '30's and a peek through the book indicates that it is possible (although not too likely) to go through the entire year without a temperature that drops below the zero mark.

The warmest-ever day in the month of September took place just three years ago, on Sept. 17th, when the mercury soared to thirty-three above.

Using record temperatures for each day of the month, the record high for the coming month averages out to be twenty-nine degrees above.

The oldest high mark for the month dates back to 1931 when on Sept 5 and 6, it was thirty-one above.

Nights could be cool but, even if it hit record levels, it still wouldn't be too bad.

Using records, it could average five degrees below zero and the coldest night on record was on Sept. 27, 1961 when it dropped down to sixteen below zero.

Taking an overall look at the rest of the year's potential results in the information that record highs for October average out at twenty-six above while November's average is fifteen and December can be a balmy ten degrees above zero.

The record highs for those three months took place on Oct. 7, 1944 when it got to thirty above, Nov. 1, 1931 at twenty-two above; and on Dec. 2, 1941 and Dec. 5, 1939 when it was fourteen above.

On the other side of the coin, October's average low could drop to a minus sixteen while November's dip is down to a minus twenty-seven and December's average is thirty-four degrees below zero.

The coldest days on record for those three months took place on Oct. 28, 1925 when it was twenty-four below; Nov. 11 and 12, 1936 at thirty-five below, and on Dec. 17, 1924 when it plummeted down to forty-nine degrees below zero.

Temperatures were moderate and about where they should have been during the spring.

The first warm day of the season which started off the hot spell was on June 20th and since, right up until the end of last week, the average daily high temperature was twenty-five degrees above.

And while it does tend to get a bit cooler at night, the days are still better than the average daily high and the question remains as to whether or not this trend is going to continue on into the fall.

Mazankowski wins big

Don Mazankowski easily retained his seat in the Vegreville Constituency when a Federal election was held last week.

The Progressive Conservative incumbent (sixteen years) actually increased his share of the vote in last week's election in which he handily defeated six opponents.

When final returns had been tabulated, Mazankowski had polled a total of 32,500 votes which worked out to be 80.2% of the total number of ballots that had been cast.

In the 1980 election, Mazankowski had collected seventy-five percent of the vote total.

Although they only showed a gain of .1% in the polls, the NDP with George Olesiuk moved into second place in the overall standings when they picked up 3,794 votes.

Although they managed to drop no lower than third, the Liberal percentage of the vote was nearly cut by one-half when Evangeline Forcier got only 2,768 votes which worked out to 6.8% after having collected 12.5 percent of the vote in 1980.

Of the remaining four candidates, only Lawrence Schlamp managed to collect more than one percent of the total vote when he got 547 ballots cast in his favour and that worked out to be 1.3%.

Schlamp was representing the Confederation of Regions Western Party which was fielding candidates for the first time.

Balloting for the other three candidates was as follows. Steve Kostiuk, Social Credit, 376; Bob Brusco, Rhinoceros, 348; and Tim Firth, Communist, 194.

In claiming his victory, Mazankowski topped every poll in the Vegreville Constituency.

There is considerable speculation that Mazankowski could be named to a cabinet position in the new Progressive Conservative Government which is to take control last week.

Mazankowski's domination of the ballot box was evident in the County of Beaver where he handily trounced his opposition in twenty polls.

County (including towns and villages) voters gave Mazankowski a total of 3,427 votes, leaving only 746 for his combined opposition.

Mazankowski had 126 votes in Kinsella with Schlamp coming in second with 11 ballots.

Other poll totals for Mazankowski were: Viking 986, Holden 501, Ryley/Bruce 283, Kingman 138, Bardo 140, Tofield 683, North Cooking Lake 346, Ross Creek 221 and Beaver Lake 85.

First day

This young fellow was all smiles once he got through the doors at C.W. Sears School and joined his classmates in the hub-bub of finding out which room he was in and who his teacher was going to be. It was the first day of school for all students in Tofield last Wednesday. photo by Joan Murray

Outdoor rink sought

by Joan Murray

A proposal for an outdoor ice surface to be located on the old gymkhana grounds at the Tofield Fairgrounds was presented by Ken Pullen and Bob Young from Tofield Lions Club, at a meeting of the Tofield Parks and Recreation Board last Tuesday evening.

The Lions Club have purchased an ATCO trailer that could be used as a skate shack in winter and as a playground shack in summer.

They discussed initial flooding and ice making as well as regular maintenance and supervision of this outdoor ice area.

The recreation bus is no longer available for rental to local community groups as it has proven to be unsafe to drive. It will either be offered for sale by tender or used as a trade-in for a more reliable vehicle sometime in the future.

The county recreation bus will be used for any recreation programs until a replacement can be purchased.

Belvedere Park has been rotovated and dragged and is ready to be seeded and fertilized. If the area is not dry enough before the middle of this month, then the seeding and fertilizing will have to wait until spring.

The Recreation Board has received information regarding the possibility of a town campsite being established on the old dumpsite, once it has been reclaimed.

This project would be carried out by the Provincial Government when the time comes.

Firemen get foam

The Ryley Fire Department has recently been equipped with fire-fighting foam.

Residents of the west half of the County of Beaver, until recently were not protected in the event of a major gas or chemical spill.

Ken Reid, Chief of the Ryley Fire Department, feels that this added protection is a positive step.

Numerous recent incidents in rural communities have illustrated how serious an overturned gasoline truck can be. Reid points out that Tofield, Ryley and Holden all have bulk fuel plants. A bulk plant fire in any of these communities would be impossible to extinguish or contain with water.

Another application of fire fighting foam is in motor vehicle accidents.

By applying foam at the scene of an accident, the danger of spilled gasoline igniting is greatly reduced. This provides emergency personnel and accident victims with a greater degree of protection.

All members of the Ryley Fire Department will recieve training in the use of foam and the Ryley Fire Department will respond to incidents in the west half of the County of Beaver when required.

The Viking Fire Department had been equipped with foam previously because of the airport.

Tofield seeks development

by Joan Murray

Tofield has taken action to improve economic development within the town and surrounding district.

The first step has been to form a steering committee and on Aug. 20th, the following people were appointed: Judy Murray (chairman), Ed Regehr, Hans Christensen, John McShane, Jim Kalial, Walter Neufeld, Cliff Sommer and Lori Pilon (secretary).

This committee will initiate the formation of an Economic Development Committee (EDC) which will endeavor to promote the expansion of industry, business, services, community facilities and increase population.

According to the EDC handbook laid out by Ron Hancock of Alberta Tourism and Small Business, "The primary function of the EDC is to act as a forum for the exchange of ideas, joint planning, and advise municipal leaders on courses of action they could take to foster economic development."

This committee will be guided by Tofield Town Council which will be providing a small operational budget.

On Aug. 29th, the EDC by-laws were drafted by the steering committee. Ron Hancock had provided basic guidelines which the committee then adapted to meet the needs of Tofield and District. The final draft will be completed on Oct. 9th.

Invitations to a public meeting regarding the function of EDC will be sent out to community members by direct mail.

It is hoped that some input from the public will be generated at this meeting as well as inform them of all the aspects of the EDC.

The steering committee will be submitting names of persons recommended to sit on the EDC to the Tofield Town Council for approval and nominations are scheduled to take place on Oct. 22nd.

Meet deferred

by Joan Murray

The Beaver Regional Waste Management Authority was unable to hold their scheduled meeting last Wednesday because harvesting obligations kept some members from attending.

Although they did not have a quorum (five members including a chairman) which would have allowed the making of official decisions, there was some discussion about bids received for a recently tendered contract for work to be done on the regional landfill site.

Rick Prentice, project engineer, gave a brief progress report regarding the [illegible] and will continue to gather more information that will be made public to members of the Authority attending the next meeting.

It has been tentatively set for Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Council Chambers in the County Office.

Never the same

It's only one week since the federal election, and Canada will never be the same again. At least, about seventy percent seem to hope it won't be, many of them being Grits of long standing.

We thought by this time nearly everything that could be said had already been said, but still the pundits, the opinion writers, the opinion formers are casting new angles on the election results daily.

The one that seems most to escape the former authorities in the Liberal Party is the most realistic one . . . they finally got their comeuppance. For too many years they couldn't hear the electorate. They couldn't even seem to smell the coffee was burning. And the more they tried to help out by throwing in the Old Guard, the more the voters reacted. They seemed not to realise there was never any request they be involved.

People were looking for a credible alternative, any alternative. And they swung in massive numbers behind the Tories.

It's the sort of thing that could happen anywhere. It's the sort of thing that Nick Taylor and Grant Notley feel just might happen in Alberta. And why not? After all, it isn't as though we hadn't done the same sort of thing before.

When it comes to that, these newswriters and broadcasters who paint Alberta solid blue, solid Conservative, make us sick. They serve only to point out how little perspective they have. Why, Alberta was born Liberal. For year after year the only Conservatives elected in Alberta were R.B. Bennett, Dr. Stanley and Art Smith . . . all three from Calgary. Edmonton was Grit country . . . why else did it get the Legislature, the University? Lethbridge was Grit country. The North was Grit. Alberta stayed Liberal for years till Ontario-and Quebec-leaning Liberals persuaded western voters their only hope lay with a Farmer party, the Progressives. Only the Socred sweep of the mid-Depression took over, and they won seats for more than two decades until the magic of John Diefenbaker, and the assurance of a New Deal.

We're still looking for that New Deal. And there are enough optimists left to think it just might, just possibly, be down the road a short distance. Around the corner?

Plateful

There are many Canadians who don't expect much from the Mulroney government, when it takes over in a few days. Most things, they feel, are already out of government control.

Others expect the government can do everything. Even the impossible.

Mulroney all through the campaign was careful to hedge himself with protections "until we've seen the figures", the amount Canadians owe. We tend to feel he senses, (or he knew,) that the economic conditions were worse than most of us even dream of. Probably worse than even the Liberals recognized. Could that be why Lalonde quit?

It could be that Mulroney'll be hamstrung by budget difficulties. It's certain he will be tested by the unions, foremost of which is the Postal Union, already giving hints of the trouble to come. It could be that he'll give serious thought to the opinions expressed by many, many thousands, of the need for some sort of reform of the Senate. It could be that he'll also listen to the outrage of many more who object to pensions indexed to inflation for government members and for civil servants, for pensions insulated, that is, from the very inflation forced on the rest of us by the policies they have introduced "on our behalf". If we remember rightly, that's one of the things Mr. Mulroney said about a year ago he would do "if elected".

Well, he's elected now. It's one of the things he, and all other Members, should do with the utmost despatch. But can he? Will the Civil Service break right down over a point like that? Would he, like Reagan did with the Air Traffic Controllers, issue an ultimatum?

It won't all happen in a week. Things will take time to unfold. We're sure there will be some changes, some different directions. But we're just about equally sure there won't be massive change . . . we don't believe there is any major "hit" list, although some workers in sensitive positions may be moved sideways to other areas. After all, it's only natural to want to feel that those you have to work with are at least sympathetic to your aims and objectives.

"Thanks deserved"

August 29, 1984
Box 3[illegible]
Holden, Ab., T0B 2C0

Dear Editor:

I would appreciate it if you would print the following "Thank-you" letter in your paper for the residents of Holden to read. Thank you.

Dear "Residents of Holden",

Our family would like to extend a very special "thank you" to the management and staff of the Holden Lodge.

They are all very hard worker's, pleasant people and treat their residents with a friendly and loving attitude as if they were their own family.

They not only put in a full day, but many staff members go back to the Lodge on their own time and do special things for their residents such as, playing cards with them, taking them for walks or driving them somewhere, visiting them, making them birthday cakes, etc.

They also work very hard on their own time to put on a "bake sale" to buy extra things for the residents.

Anyone who visits the Lodge as often as I do, can see the friendly and co-operative care and dedication our residents receive. We feel these people should be congratulated on a job well done and not "put down" because there were some difficulties when the Lodge was first opened. Very few things operate 100% smoothly when first opened and everything is a new adventure.

I'm sure all the people who visit friends and relatives at the Lodge, appreciate what the staff is doing and has always done, instead of listening to "stories" they hear but don't and haven't seen.

Our family would like to take this opportunity and hope the residents of Holden also, will extend a most grateful thank you and congratulations to the management and staff of the Holden Lodge for a job well done.

Yours truly,
The Lusk Family and Relatives

Papal coverage on CBC Radio

At 6 p.m. this Sunday evening, Phil Henry will provide up-to-date information on the Pope's arrival. And, with Doug Roche, will set the stage for this historic visit.

Ruth Anderson will be at Namao when Pope John Paul is flown in at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 16. From there, Graham Thompson will take to the streets for the duration of the Pope's motorcade.

Later Sunday evening, at approximately 7:45 p.m., 740 Radio will broadcast the Pope's interfaith service from St. Joseph's Basilica as it happens.

On Sept. 17, the much anticipated Papal Mass will take place at Namao. (The mass in its entirety will be broadcast on CBC 90.9 FM). Cheryl Croucher will be at Papal headquarters in the Convention Centre with information pertaining to the transit/traffic/crowd situation along the pilgrimage route.

And, during the mass at Namao, CBC's Dennis Trudeau, together with Steve Finkelman and Ruth Anderson, will be on hand with color commentary and information updates.

CLC starts 74th year

Last week, Camrose Lutheran College began its 74th academic year.

Students began arriving on campus on Sept. 2nd; they and their families attended a worship service and a complimentary buffet on Sunday afternoon, and many students spent their first night in residence on Sunday before registering for classes on Monday and Tuesday.

College officials have not completed compilation of statistics yet (largely due to late and incomplete registrations), but all indications are that CLC will again have a record number of students this year, up from last year's enrolment of [illegible].

Well over [illegible] students will be living in CLC's residences, with the remainder living in the community of Camrose, principally with close relatives.

Some significant trends are already evident, though. For instance, CLC's population of older students is increasing rapidly, while the number of first year students attending College seems to be remaining constant.

This year, it appears likely that roughly one-third of CLC's population will be returning students.

Nutrition programs do not mean handouts. Take, for example, the USC-sponsored program in [illegible] where 26 women in Tiokwong have registered their children in the nutrition program. The children receive three meals a day, while the mothers attend compulsory nutrition classes. The women also take advantage of knitting and sewing classes which will help them earn an income. During 1984, the USC will provide $3,780 to the centre to pay for sewing and knitting machines, and the nutrition program. USC Canada, 56 Sparks Street, Ottawa, K1P 5B1.

Echoes from Em

Betty's Best

[illegible] to be the rule. Bill never has the proper tools, or the knack to fix things. The stunt that stumps Betty though, she had to hunt. The castor on the table fell out.

Bill said a wooden peg would fix it up. But Betty fixed it with a wad of gum. They could scarcely open their front door it stuck so tight — and Bill said he'd buy a plane as big as life — but Betty fixed it with a carving knife.

The dresser drawer got stuck one day, and push or pull it was there to stay. Says Bill "Some day it will shrink — I hope" — but Betty fixed it with a bar of soap.

The bathtub got all clog'd up — Bill baled the tub out with a cup. He had a dreadful — helpless look, but Betty cleaned it with a crochet hook!

Does Betty ask Bill to mend them? Nix! But Betty grabs what is near at hand, and mends things up to beat the band!

PET PEEVES

Sometimes the simplest jobs turn into absolute trials. One example is persuading your children that it is time to clean their stalls . . . I mean rooms . . . and another is persuading our dog it's OK to go to the vet.

There are probably many dogs who don't mind keeping their veterinary appointments; many may look on it as a nice outing. Our dog does neither. Granted, he has had more than his share of problems in his short lifetime (he's almost 14 in human years). He was hit by a truck [illegible] with his humans, resulting in a broken pelvis. This was followed by the amputation of his tail. Then there was that run-in with a skunk which, although it didn't include a trip to the vet, left an indelible mark on his memory (as it has mine). Now he may have epilepsy.

Our problems begin with trying to put a leash on our pet. He doesn't like the leash and will run around the yard with us in hot pursuit as we try to cajole, threaten and curse him into submission. Once the leash is in place, we are faced with getting the animal into a vehicle. For some reason he doesn't like being inside cars any better than being under them. And inside the car, we have trouble again trying to keep him in one place. Sam doesn't know that he's too young to drive and is always trying to get into the driver's seat — even though it is occupied.

At the end of the drive it is necessary to have a very firm hold on Sam's leash or he will bound out before the engine is shut off, not caring who he goes through or where he lands. This could work to our advantage except that once all four feet are on terra firma, Sam squats down on his hind legs, digs his claws into the concrete and we have to cajole, bully, curse and carry him into the vet's office.

All this would be OK if Sam were a miniature poodle. But he is a Collie-mutt who eats [illegible].

I know what you're thinking. Sam needs obedience lessons. I've often thought the same thing. But an obedient, well-trained dog who always behaved himself just wouldn't fit in with the rest of this family. Now if you know of a school that takes both dogs and children, I'm more than willing to listen.

Tofield collects taxes

by Jean Murray

"Tax collection is excellent compared to last year," Lori Pilon, Town Administrator said at the Tofield Town Council meeting on Monday night.

At the present time, there is a total of $90,000 outstanding as compared to the 1983 figure of $126,000. The arrears total as of January this year was $80,000 and has now been reduced to $39,000, which means that currently there is only $51,000 left to collect from this years tax notices.

Plans were discussed to further investigate the possibility of cleaning out the water mains in the near future. The mains have not been done for quite a few years and councillors were in agreement that it should be rectified.

A public meeting is scheduled for Sept. 24th for landowners whose property is adjacent to the area in the northwest section of town that is west of the Gospel Church. An outline for future development here has been drawn up by the Municipal Planning Branch and will be available for comments and/or objections at this time.

A fire by-law was given first reading this night that will include an enforcable "no burning" restriction within the town limits. Approved incinerators will still be allowed to operate.

Council approved funds for invitations to be mailed out notifying the public about a public meeting that is going to be held next Wednesday evening regarding the formation of an Economic Development Committee for the Town of Tofield and District.

The next regular council meeting will be held on Sept. 24th.

Spilstead news

by M. Fisher

The Spilstead Community League held its first meeting for the new season on Wednesday evening with a number of interested members of the community in attendance.

A number of future events were discussed.

It was decided to refinish the main floor of the Hall, before any activities got started this fall, so Birdie and Arnold Bramner and Doreen and Ken Ladouceur spent a busy Sunday and Monday completing this much needed project.

On Thursday from 8-9 p.m. registration will be held at Spilstead Hall for Beavers, Cubs, Scouts and Pathfinders. All residents with children for these groups and/or parents wishing to help, in whatever way they can, are asked to remember that Cubs are held on Mondays, Scouts on Tuesdays, Pathfinders on Wednesday and Beavers on Thursdays.

There will be an open house held at Spilstead Hall on Sunday, Sept. 23 from 1-4 p.m. Ladies are please asked to bring something for the lunch. Come out and meet your neighbours and find out what your community has to offer you or what you have to offer your community.

Also discussed was the feasibility of having monthly bingo again this year and it was decided that we would give it another try. Watch for the announcement as to when they will be commencing.

A [illegible] tournament is in the planning for later on this fall. Watch for dates and times.

A harvest dance will be held on October 13. More information later.

Anyone wishing to book the Hall may do so by contacting Denise McBurney at 662-3373.

The clothing style along with the type of picture makes it look like a historical picture. Actually, the picture was just taken recently in Barkerville, B.C., which was a gold mining area nearly 100 years ago. In the picture are Stella and Lyle Moore of Gull Lake, Sask., along with John and Ev Moore and Joyce and Shorty Mackie.

Dancers raise funds

by Jean Murray

Tofield Dance School started the year off right with a fund-raising concession at the auction held in the Arena on Saturday.

Business was booming and all profits went to the school to be put towards expenses and costume materials.

Classes in jazz, ballet and tap started on Monday and will continue running until the last Monday in May.

Only about two thirds of the usual number of dancers were registered last Wednesday night.

Elaine Perisky, club president, said that although registrations are accepted at the first class as well as on registration night, it is best to register early to get dancers into the class which best suits them for time and also to help the club co-ordinate classes most efficiently.

The executive for 1984-85 will be elected at the general meeting which is scheduled to take place on Sept. 18th at 7:30 p.m. in the C.W. Sears School Library.

Beaver and Coyote Control

Today I'd like to touch on several brief topics, the first being that of Beaver and Coyote control. An amendment to the Game Hunting Regulations relaxes the restrictions on the hunting and trapping of beaver on privately owned land, and the hunting of wolves, which for our area includes coyotes, on and around privately owned land and grazing leases.

Weed Listings

Another very important item is the matter of hay and straw listings. All D.A. offices are maintaining a list of hay and/or straw which is for sale in their area. This list is continually updated and is sent to the dry southern areas of the province, where farmers there can use the list to contact farmers with hay or straw for sale. If you have feed for sale, be sure and given us a call and have it put on the list. Also, if you are a trucker who is interested in hauling hay, phone your D.A. and tell her or him, as southern areas need many trucks to haul feed into their areas.

Fall Control of Canada Thistle

The final item which I'll mention briefly today concerns fall control of Canada Thistle. After swathing, leave the stubble unworked and allow the Canada Thistle to regrow some. Once there is some growth, spray the thistle with high rates of Banvel or 2,4-D. Then wait two weeks after spraying and work the thistle up. Between the spraying, cultivating and reseeding, you should obtain good control of your Canada Thistle.

Rain halts harvesting

Harvesting of the 1984 crop has been brought to a complete standstill by poor weather.

Rain began falling towards the end of last week, bringing all harvesting operations to a half. Rain fell again today (Tuesday) and weather forecasts over the next week or so don't indicate much improvement.

According to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool, at least one week of warm, sunny weather will be necessary to dry the fields enough to allow harvesting to resume.

In addition to wet weather, farmers also have to be concerned about frost which could strike at any time. High winds can also be a problem at this time of year and this weather factor has already caused some canola and oats loss in the Tofield area.

Despite the fact that farmers must face a period of frustration for at least another week, the situation is better than was the case at this time last year.

About sixty percent of all crops have been threshed with better yields and grades than had been expected. At this time last year, only about one-third of all crops had been taken from the fields and while yields were reasonably good, grades were not as good as this year.

Eighty percent of the rye crop has been threshed in the Hay Lakes area and in other regions, harvesting of the rye crop has been completed.

Threshing of barley and canola is about sixty-three percent done along with fifty-two percent of oats and forty-three percent of wheat with just over ninety-five percent of all crops now having been cut.

The most progress has been made in the Round Hill area where nearly three-quarters of all crops have been removed from the fields with oats at eighty percent, canola and barley at seventy percent, rye has been completed and forty percent of the wheat crop has been threshed.

Nearly seventy percent of all crops around Camrose have been threshed with all rye harvested and about sixty percent of all other crops having been threshed.

In the New Norway, Holden and Bawlf regions, the percentage threshed stands at sixty-five with that figure applying across the board in the latter two regions.

Around New Norway, all rye has been threshed along with eighty-five percent of oats, eighty percent of canola, seventy-five percent of barley, one-half of the wheat crop and a start has still to be made with flax.

Farmers around Ryley are just a step behind at sixty-four percent with all rye threshed along with eighty percent of canola, seventy percent of barley, forty-five percent of wheat and one-quarter of the oats crop.

In the Hay Lakes region, fifty-five percent is done. Rye is eighty percent threshed while oats is at fifty-five percent, canola and barley are one-half done and forty percent of wheat has been harvested.

The Tofield region reports having reached the forty-five percent mark with barley at eighty-five percent, canola stands at sixty percent, oats is thirty percent done and only five percent of the wheat crop has been threshed.

Round Hill

by Mrs. Evelyn Law

The Round Hill Women's Institute met at the home of Gail Law on Sept. 6th with 16 members present and one visitor, Mrs. Ethel Rude from Camrose. Roll call was answered by bringing a new or used book for Kindergarten. The women's Institute received a $15 reward from a store in Camrose for first prize on their hooked rug.

They also got first prize at the Camrose fair for the rug.

Jean Campbell brought the blueprint of the new kitchen that will be built in the hall. The raffle was won by Laura Tomaszewski. Next meeting will be at Bev Decker's on Oct. 2nd.

The Round Hill fire truck was called out on Wednesday morning at 5:30 a.m. to the Leslie Christianson farm at Kingman where a barn and cattle shed were destroyed by fire. The Tofield and Ryley trucks were also there to help fight fire from spreading to other buildings.

A group of ladies met at the home of Gail Law on Sept. 2nd for a shower for Lynnora Petryshen and Paul Holm. A few games were played and then Lynnora opened her gifts with the help of Wanda Petryshen. Lynn and Paul received many lovely and useful gifts. Lynn and Paul will be married on Sept. 15 in Camrose. A shower was also held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Holm's at Holden, near the end of August.

Food Dryer Demonstration

Ever wondered how a food dryer works and what kind of results you can expect? Come to the Farmers' Market in Viking September 13 and in Tofield September 14 to see a food dryer in operation. We'll make some tangy fruit leather, as well as dry some vegetables and in-season fruits. Markets open at 3:00 p.m.

See you there!

[illegible] — Fall/Winter 1984

This fall there is a move toward refinement and quality, reflecting an attitude of optimism. The silhouette is cleaner and closer to the body. The overall mood is one of sophistication.

[illegible] tions is the combination of big, bold shapes and soft, sensuous fabrics. The look is long, lean and supple. Clothes have a liquid, flowing feeling.

Silhouette

The silhouette is stripped of [illegible] rigid — interfacing is [illegible]. Clothes are simple and comfortable. Shoulders are pronounced but not exaggerated. From there the line is narrow, body conscious and pared down.

Everything is elongated. The long look is achieved quite often by wearing pants with an elongated top. Jackets and cardigans are definitely longer. The season's key effects also include draping or shirring.

Color

Color moves away from the grey/black family toward warmer natural colors. Brown is prevalent in shades of taupe, camel, rust, chestnut and chocolate. There is a strong surge of ivory and white. Winter pastels are part of the softening influence for fall: soft ivory, peach, yellow and pink toned taupes and camels make up this group. The heathery palette is also important: rosewood, willow, apricot, amethyst and soft teal.

A dramatic splash of color is added with bright accents of deep bottle green, cranberry red, wine and electric blue.

Fabric

With few styling gimmicks to distract the eye, fabric is in the spotlight. For day, menswear fabrics are often mixed in interesting, unmatched combinations: tweed, plaid, twill, gabardine. Fabrics are soft in cashmere, angora, lambswool and camel-hair. Soft jerseys in luxurious fibres convey the supple look.

At night, fabrics are soft and delicate. "Liquid" fabrics that move with the body are most appealing for evening.

Patterns in fabrics range from brush stroke abstracts to plaids, checks and paisleys.

Coats

Coats play an important role for fall. The coat, often a "duster" style, plus what is worn underneath may be the season's suit equivalent. Coats are oversized and dramatic with rounded shoulders. The trench coat is the most prevalent new shape.

Dresses

The dress provides an instant put-together ensemble. The coatdress continues in importance with new trench coat details. The chemise, the dress that hides all sins, continues to be popular — double or single breasted. Dolman sleeve interest and belting at the hip shows up in some dresses.

The biggest news is the draped dress giving a soft silhouette. Draping is found at the shoulder for day. For evening, the back of the dress is often draped.

Skirts

The hemline controversy is generally over: any length is acceptable. However, the longer length (mid-calf or below) looks newest. Skirts are slim fitting or full.

Pants

Pants are the outstanding theme for day dressing. Trousers are most fashionable, pleated and rounder at the top with the softness tapering in from there. Narrow pant legs are also important. Jumpsuits are popular.

Updating Last Year's Wardrobe

Perhaps the purchase of a longer, softer looking jacket will give your wardrobe an up-to-date look. Combine it with last year's trouser pants or a flowing skirt, a beautiful [illegible].

Belts always add pizzaz. If you would rather not emphasize your waist, try wearing the belt under a jacket exposing only its front.

Fall/Winter '84 will be a season of new excitement dictated by individual style.

BETWEEN THE COVERS

On the new book table this week, look for the novel First Among Equals by Jeffrey Archer, author of Kane and Abel. This author has been very successful, and in this story of four members of Parliament, their careers, and their competition for the top job, he has found a very current topic.

Fans of the prolific adventure writer, Wilbur Smith, will be pleased to know that the latest in his series is now available, The Leopard Hunts in Darkness. Set in Zimbabwe, this novel attacks the problem of power and poachers in developing nations.

For those enjoying lighter fare, Phyllis Whitney's newest may be a good choice, Emerald, a suspense romance set in California.

There are many new children's books on the display table and shelves, including picture books, and books for readers in Grades 1-10 or so. Please ask for suggestions or assistance if required.

The popular Preschool Story Hour program will begin on Tuesday, September 11 and a second group on Friday, Sept. 14. The program focusses on introducing 3 and 4 year-olds to good books, and includes stories, puppets, action songs, etc. The fee for an eight-week session is $2.00 per child, requiring pre-registration (662-[illegible]). There is a limite of 15 children per group. Volunteer help is still required to run this program, and any offers will be welcome.

Regular Library Hours return this week, with the expiry of the government grant for hiring summer student help. The library will be open Tuesday 1-5, Thursday 3-5 and 6-9 and Friday and Saturday 10-12 and 1-5.

Court report

Robin Hickling and Terry Lehman pleaded guilty and were fined $75 each for hunting at an unauthorized time.

James Rabby pleaded guilty and was fined $400 for operating an uninsured motor vehicle on a highway.

Keith Yoder pleaded guilty and was fined $175 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident and for driving without due care and attention.

Lyle Albrecht pleaded guilty and was fined $500 for refusing to take a breathalyser test.

Ronald Winkelman was found guilty and fined $[illegible] for driving with a blood alcohol content of over .08 percent.

Truck is sold

by Jane Harvey

Whatever happened to that great big truck the pre-vocational class in Ryley School built last year?

On Saturday it was auctioned off to the highest bidder.

David Mandrusiak of Hastings Lake was the highest bidder at $1,300.

Randy Ness, pre-vocational class teacher, said that Mandrusiak has tested the power of the vehicle by driving it through four feet of watery mud.

The monster truck passed the test just fine.

This year, Ness will be teaching classes in the Holden School, but large projects such as this one will be undertaken only if the customer provides the materials up front.

They are interested in getting together a "kit car" and if anyone would like to have one assembled, call Randy Ness at the Holden School.

New school year gets underway

by Al Pollock

With Al Pollock beginning his tenth year as principal of the Tofield School, and Dave Smith beginning his fourth year as principal of C.W. Sears Elementary School, 790 students began the 1984-85 school year in Tofield on Sept. 5.

The teachers in both schools spent Tuesday in pre-session planning.

C.W Sears registered [illegible] in kindergarten through grade three, Tofield School 512 students in grades four through twelve. This year's combined registration represents a slight decrease from last year's enrolment.

As each school operates independently with its own staff, support staff and custodians, and deals only with its own concerns, the public is requested to contact the appropriate school when information is required.

The Tofield School may be reached at 662-3133, C.W. Sears at 662-3010.

The two schools in Tofield share in several services provided by the County: Margaret Hallet spends part of her time as Special Services and Kindergarten Coordinator for the County; she also assists teachers in the skills centres in the County schools and works with Early Childhood Services. Industrial Arts and Home Economics classes are provided by the County in Ryley. These classes, taught by Victor Petruk and Sharon Kropielnicki respectively, are attended by all Tofield students in grades eight and nine. Special education classes are provided in schools throughout the County.

Tofield students are bused to an opportunity room taught by Charlie Mathews, a pre-vocational class in Holden taught by Randy Ness, and vocational classes at the Composite High School in Vegreville.

The first report cards will be issued at the end of September (for elementary students) and in mid-November (for secondary students), followed by parent-teacher interviews.

The 12 bus drivers and their routes are: Gary Oslund, Hastings Lake, Lindbrook; Randy Benson, Lindbrook; Frank Langkaas, Islet Lake and bus students in Industrial Arts, Home Economics and Special Education; Collette Carlisle, Lakeshore; Wes Berg, Kingman-Tofield (SW); Rick Beresan, Kingman-Tofield; Jim Siler, Lindbrook and Highway 14; Victor Wiens, Kingman; Ben Thiessen, Grand Forks and Ketchemoot; Henry Thiessen, McKenzie-Lakeshore; John Thiessen, Tofield (SE)-Anderson, Kevin Lehman, a new route in the Lindbrook area.

Spare bus drivers are Robert Kalp, Brian Aubrey, Glen Burkholder, Elaine Porisky, Randy Benson, Margaret [illegible], Eric [illegible], Dane Rude, Bruce Nichol, Charlie McLeod, Graham Allan, Abe Poetticker, Marilyn Moss. Bus Supervisor is Milt MacGregor.

Al Pollock, B.A., B.Ed., M.Ed., begins his tenth year as principal of Tofield School with a professional staff of 27 teachers and an expected 512 students. Mr. Pollock, his wife Joyce, who is teaching at Bev Facey Composite High School, and children Jackie (a third-year student at the University of Alberta), Melanie in Grade eleven, and Trevor in Grade eight, live in Tofield. In addition to his administrative duties, Mr. Pollock teaches classes in Business Foundations and Perspectives for Living.

Brian Aubrey, B.Sc., B.Ed., is continuing as secondary vice-principal. His teaching assignments include science and guidance in junior high. He, his wife Josie, going to university, and their children Donovan and Kathy, live in Lindbrook. Mr. Aubrey is one of four teachers who is working part-time this year.

Hans Sparreboom, B.Ed., is again the elementary vice-principal as well as a grade five classroom teacher. He, his wife Alice, and their children Trevor, Ryan and Renee, live in Tofield.

The 78 students in Grade four will be taught by two new teachers, Susan Lemmer, B.Ed., B.P.E., Russ Foster, B.Ed., M.A., and Cheryl Brown, B.Ed., who taught the general integration class for the past two years. Mrs. Lemmer has taught previously in Edmonton. She and her husband Heinz presently reside in Edmonton; they are planning, however to move into the area in the near future. Mr. Foster, his wife Kathy and children Erin and Jordan reside in Edmonton. Miss Brown is beginning her third year in Tofield School and lives in Tofield.

Grade five classes are taught by Hans Sparreboom and Leon Grahn, B.Ed. Mr. Grahn, who comes from Hay Lakes, has ten years' experience. He has taught at Tofield School for three years.

The three grade six classes, with a total enrollment of 67 students, are taught by Curtis Hastings, B.A., B.Ed., Brian Boles, B.A., B.Ed., and Graham Foster, B.A., B.Ed. Mr. Hastings has taught in his present position for many years. He and his wife Judy, who teaches in C.W. Sears Elementary School, and their children Ranni and Erroll, live in Tofield. Mr. Foster has taught in Manitoba and in Peace River. He and his wife Debra, and their daughters Serena, Sharlene and Tamara, live in Tofield. Mr. Boles, who is from Villeneuve and his wife [illegible], have moved to Tofield from Edmonton. Mr. Boles has previously taught in both [illegible] and Edmonton.

Elaine Macdonald, B.A., B.Ed., will be the part-time teacher responsible for the Skill Centre, where elementary students with reading difficulties receive help. Mrs. Macdonald, her husband John, and children Candy, Patti and Jodan, have lived in Tofield for the past seven years.

Judy Fairweather, B.Ed., will be the part-time teacher responsible for the Resource Room, in which elementary students who require more concentrated help in reading and/or mathematics can be assisted. She and her husband Roy, and their children Bonnie and Travis, live on an acreage near Tofield, and have just moved into their new house.

Hilda Dueck, B.Ed., is teaching the elementary music program and one junior high music class. Mrs. Dueck, her husband Ernie, and children Karla and [illegible] have resided in Tofield for several years.

The two Grade seven classes are taught by James Allan, B.Ed., and John Emerson, B.Ed., G.Dip. Mr. Allan is beginning his eighth year on the Tofield staff. In addition to his homeroom class, he teaches high school French. He and his wife Yvonne and children Bonnie, Darryl and new son Craig, live in Tofield. Mr. Emerson comes from Wolsingham, England with 21 years of teaching experience, 18 of which have been in Canada. He teaches grade seven science, language arts and social studies. He and his wife Dorothy, who is Commissioner for Guides, Beaver District, and their children Diane, attending Vegreville Composite High School, and Ashley, attending Holden School, live in Holden.

Erwin Eisenbraun, B.Ed., and Barry Martini, B.P.E., B.Ed., in their present positions for several years, are in charge of the Grade eight classes. In addition to Erwin Eisenbraun's grade eight homeroom, he teaches high school English classes. He and his wife Marilyn, a kindergarten teacher at C.W. Sears School, and their son Richard, live in Tofield.

Mr. Martini and his wife Barbara and their daughters Rebecca and Sarah, live in Tofield.

Willard Bandola, B.Ed., Marvin Wahlstrom, B.Ed., and Mrs. Gayle Worden, B.Ed., are the Grade nine homeroom teachers. Mr. Wahlstrom lives in Tofield. Mr. Bandola has taught in Tofield for six years. He has teaching assignments in grades eight, nine and ten. He and his wife Debra live in Sherwood Park. Mrs. Worden is responsible for teaching language arts to Grade nine students. She and her husband Gordon and their daughter Darlie live in the Lindbrook area.

The Social Studies courses in high school are taught by Barry [illegible], B.Ed., M.Ed. Mr. Shandro, his wife Joanne and children Spencer and Megan live at South Cooking Lake.

This year Mrs. Ann Taylor, B.Ed., M.Ed., is returning to the classroom for one period per day to teach English 20 as well as continuing the counselling program. She, her husband Floyd, a Ryley teacher, and their daughter Janene, live in Ryley.

Marjorie Cars, B.Ed., originally comes from [illegible] Lake. She is [illegible] to Edmonton with her husband Gregory. For the past four years Mrs. Cars taught Business Education courses at Viking School.

Miss Elaine Zimmerman, B.Ed., is continuing as biology teacher, a position she has held for 12 years in Tofield. During the second semester, Miss Zimmerman will be working half days, in the mornings.

Andre Nimchuk, B.Ed., who came originally from Edmonton, lives in Tofield. In his third year in Tofield, he has the responsibility for the physical education program in grades six, eight, nine, ten, eleven and twelve.

Ron Taylor, B.Sc., B.Ed., has taught Physics and Chemistry courses in Tofield for a number of years. Mr. Taylor will not be teaching during the first semester due to a leave of absence. He, his wife Mary, and their children Monica, Grant and Robbie, make their home in Tofield.

Ted Whyte, B.Ed., M.Ed., is teaching mathematics in the high school as he has done for 14 years. He is also responsible for the Work Experience program. He, his wife Gladys and their daughters Carmen, Jennifer and Holly, live in Tofield.

Mrs. Linda Watson, B.Ed., will be teaching Drama and English. She and her husband Jim live in Edmonton.

Mr. Lysio, B.Ed., has taught in Ryley, Holden and Tofield for 14 years. This year's assignments include grade 5 Social Studies, Spelling and Physical Education, plus some options in Junior High. He is also teaching part-time, in the first semester, with Mondays off.

Paraprofessional Staff

Mrs. Stephanie [illegible] is the library clerk — a position she has held for five years. She and her husband John, who teaches at Ryley, and daughters Kristin and Michel, live in Tofield.

Mrs. Janet Hume is the newly-appointed teacher assistant. She will be assisting a student who has a hearing impairment. Mrs. Hume, her husband Ken and their children [illegible] and Becky reside on an acreage west of Tofield.

Mrs. Fay Dodds is continuing as school secretary, a position she has held for many years. She and her husband [illegible] reside on their son Ken's farm north of Tofield. Mrs. Faith Brace, B.A., is Mrs. Dodd's assistant. Kingman is home to Mrs. Brace, her husband Lorne and their children David, Martin, John and Janet.

School custodians are Mrs. Mabel Hopf, Mrs. Margaret Klane, Mrs. Norma Sears and Daniel Gomez.

Holden School

The enrolment for grades 1 to 9, pre-vocational, G.I.R. and A.I.R. is 274. This includes 23 new students to Holden area plus approximately 60 new students resulting from the reorganization of schools.

This year, kindergarten classes started on Tuesday when approximately 30 students were expected.

Teaching assignments this year are as follows: Mrs. Evanne Poetticker — Kindergarten; Mrs. Lynne Hannah — Grade 1; Mrs. Margie Tomashavsky — Grade 2 (Sept.-Dec.), Miss Carol Klentz — Grade 2 (Jan.-June); Miss Cheryl Mosser — Grade 3; Mrs. Joyce Kallal — Grade 4; Mervin Tomashavsky — Grade 5; William Glover - Grade 6; Miss Catherine Stevenson — General Integration Room and Mrs. Dorothea Mathews — Skill Center.

Joe Fornal — Grade 7A; Mrs. Divana McKeen — Grade 7B; Lyle Andrusky — Grade 8A; Fred Y[illegible] — Grade 8B; Mrs. Darlene Gallinger — Grade 9A, Arthur Micklich — Grade 9B; Randy Ness — Pre-vocational; Charles Mathews — Advanced Integration Room and Everette Norris — Music. Victor Petruk — Industrial Arts and Mrs. Sharon Kropielnicki — Home Economics (Ryley School).

Support Staff include Mrs. Audrey Pratt — Library Clerk; Mrs. Inez Rell and Mrs. Brenda McCloy — Teacher Aides.

Head custodian is John Ogonoski, with regulars Mildred Josey and Olga Mielimaka.

Betty Nelson and Oleh Shykora round out the full complement as secretary and principal, respectively.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Visitors for a couple of days at the end of August with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Carlson were Edith's sister, Kathleen and husband, Mr and Mrs. Palmer of Fredrickton, N.B.

Mrs. Kate Nichols is still a patient in Tofield Hospital having treatment for phlebitis in one of her legs. She has been there for over three weeks.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor during the recent holiday weekend was their son, Brian of St. Albert.

Mrs. Mike Chomic who was a patient for several days in Viking Hospital, is back home again.

A member of one of Holden's pioneer families, the Andrew Olson's, Mrs. Agnes Phillips, passed away in an Edmonton hospital on Sept. 4th at the age of 81 years. Before becoming ill, she had resided for some time in Northview Manor. She is survived by two brothers, Francis Olson and his wife Violet of Stoney Plain and Russell and his wife, Marie of Holden; and many other relatives and friends. The funeral service was held on Saturday in Holden Lutheran Church with Sid Haugen officiating and interment was in the Holden Cemetery. The Olson family settled in the Holden District in the early 1900's.

Conrad Melby, who had been a patient in Tofield Hospital for a couple of weeks, returned back to the Senior Citizen Lodge on Friday afternoon.

Friday afternoon visitors with Mrs. Kate Nichols in Tofield Hospital were Mrs. Ethel Brekstad, Melvin Fjellstrom and Mrs. Kathleen Harum.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Olson of Stony Plain were here Saturday to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Agnes Phillips.

Mazankowski posted

MP Don Mazankowski of Vegreville has been named to a top post in the new cabinet of the Progressive Conservative Government

Mazankowski was named to the important portfolio of Minister of Transportation in the new government which assumes the reins of power in Canada this week.

The post is the same one Mazankowski had occupied during the short-lived government under Joe Clark which had been in office five years ago.

During the short term of the Clark Government, Mazankowski had earned considerable respect for his efforts in Transportation and it had generally been assumed that he would be offered the same post by Prime Minister Brian Mulroney

In the Federal election held earlier this month (September) Mazankowski romped to an easy victory when he won in every poll and garnered over eighty percent of all ballots that had been cast in the Vegreville Constituency.

Mazankowski has been representing the constituency for the past sixteen years.

Bursaries presented

The Mercury has received word that six former grade 12 students from Tofield School have been granted a total of $6,500 in scholarship awards.

The Alberta Heritage Scholarship Fund provides up to $1,500 in scholarship money to high school students who are able to maintain an average of at least 80 percent to one or all of their high school years.

Based on this criteria, Howard Koop and Cheryl Wittenberg were awarded $1,500 scholarships. Grant Taylor, Tim Reinholt, Sandra Nichol and Debra Kallal received $500 each.

Sandra Nichol and Cheryl Wittenberg are graduates of 1983 who are receiving the award in 1984 because they have just begun their post-secondary studies.

County ups sport funds

by Joan Murray

Last Tuesday, John Elsdon, representing the County of Beaver Sports Committee, advised the Board of Education that the name for the provincial sports competitive leagues had been re-aligned and would increase the number of teams in the league.

Bladen explained that the expanded zone would require more out-of-county trips which would result in additional costs for busing.

In the past, travel expenses were derived from students unions, the school budget or, from charging the students fees. Bladen requested that the Board of Education approve the expanded provincial sports competition league and the additional funding for travel costs.

The Board did approve the expanded league, but insisted the schools continue to pay the cost of trips up to $150 and the Board would pay for the additional costs, if required.

The construction of storage sheds at schools within the county was approved and will be constructed as needed. The pre-vocational class at Holden will be involved with this project under the guidance of their teacher, Randy Ness.

The sheds will be used to house large sports equipment, track and field apparatus and pre-vocational class items.

The Board does not wish to increase bus routes into other counties and have proposed that a study be made to investigate whether this practice is a good or bad thing.

A request from a parent in Sherwood Park to have a child transported by a County of Beaver bus to C.W. Sears School in Tofield was denied pending the completion of the aforementioned study.

The following emergency vehicles have been approved for '84-85 subject to them having liability insurance of at least one million dollars: Oleh Shykora and Betty Nelson in Holden; Ray Stolaluk, Pam Tower, Evarti Norris, Neil Nordquist and Ping Pon in Viking; Al Pollack, Brian Aubrey and Susan Lemmer in Tofield.

There was some discussion about the bus and express routes for the Ryley and Holden Schools and it was noted that some difficulties were experienced, but Superintendent, Bill Schoeman said that with time and effort, these would be resolved as administration is working on rectifying these difficulties.

Some concern was expressed about students not using the crosswalk near C.W. Sears School.

Action will be taken to make sure parents are informed of the dangers their children face by not crossing Secondary Road 834 at the designated crosswalk and will request that they urge their children to cross at the correct area.

County plans divisional change

by Joan Murray

At the County of Beaver Council meeting on Thursday, a motion was passed to forward a map to the Department of Municipal Affairs for their approval.

This map indicates changes in the electoral boundaries within the county.

On Sept. 7th, Council held a special meeting to discuss these changes and had agreed in principal at that time to establish an eighth division. This would leave divisions 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 essentially unchanged, with divisions 6 and 7 becoming divisions 6, 7 and 8.

The decision to make these changes resulted from the Department of Municipal Affairs bringing to council's attention the importance of having representation by population within each division.

The present divisional boundaries which were established some years ago no longer allow for equal population distribution.

Charles Ray, a resident from Division 7 was on hand to represent the populace in the west side of that area who felt they had been short-changed, mainly with respect to road improvements.

He was made aware of Council's intention to add another division which would then allow for more representation from this area at future council meetings.

Mel Warren from the Rural Development Project put forth a proposal for council's consideration regarding the information of a Regional Economic Development Committee (REDC).

He said that the government has dollars available for certain development projects and that there is potential in the County for such development.

He also pointed out that viable ideas which might come up are of no value unless acted upon. The government has funds available up to $25,000 to finance feasibility and market studies An REDC led by the County to encourage development would be able to take advantage of government grants and programs.

Warren assured council that Tofield, Viking, Holden and Ryley have all shown extreme interest in being allied with the County in any development that may be considered.

Chairman John Warner said "the county is in the doldrums as far as industrial development is concerned." He indicated that he was in favor of a committee of this sort.

A motion was passed to contact towns and villages in the County of Beaver asking them to forward a letter to council which would document their interest in being involved in a Regional Economic Development Committee. After receipt of such documentation, council would then take action.

It was agreed that two councillors would attend the EDC public meeting being held in Tofield.

Rob Badmington of CN Rail presented a proposal to council regarding a CN project which raises the rail line elevations in the area from Jarrow, east of Kinsella, to hall way between Bruce and Holden.

This will result in the level of the top rail being increased by nine inches.

Badmington said that road crossings would be left in acceptable conditions equivalent to or better than they were originally, but asked for County assistance with detour arrangements and warning signs.

County agreed to give this assistance and expressed their appreciation for CN coming to them before the project has started.

Agricultural Fieldman Laurie Weatherill reported that the weather has shut down seeding and spraying activities, but that Canada Thistle can be sprayed quite late in the season, so some action will likely be taken when the weather improves.

The next council meeting will be held on Sept. 27th.

Shortchanged

Really, we hadn't expected Alberta to be short-changed in the naming of ministers in Prime Minister Mulroney's New Cabinet.

But three mid-senior cabinet posts is something less than we think Albertans could have looked for.

In the first place, Alberta elected ten percent of all the Tory members, and it would hardly seem unreasonable to look for at least ten percent of the portfolios, as a minimum. On top of that, it was Alberta . . . solid and dependable Tory . . . virtually guaranteeing every seat . . . almost all of them experienced in Parliament . . . which helped to build the conviction across the country that this was going to be a Tory sweep. All of this taken into account, we could even have looked for five of the cabinet posts to come to Alberta. After all, that would only be twelve percent, and not unreasonable when so many of those elected in Ontario and Quebec have no experience whatever in the House.

Joe Clark hadto be given a seat in the Cabinet. Don Mazankowski was obviously a winner already, both by highly successful operations in Transport during the Clark government, and by his co-operation and building efforts within the party before and after the election. And finishing off the appointments to Alberta with high-profile Harvie Andre doesn't seem to indicate a great deal of imagination in our view. From where we sit, the creativity, the imagination, the flair seems to have been reserved for appointments in Ontario and Quebec.

Maybe we're crying sour grapes unreasonably. After all, the West, including the Northwest Territories, has thirteen members, almost a third of the entire cabinet. Whereas in the past several years, you could count on the fingers of one hand nearly all the Western appointments.

Things aren't quite so bleak as they used to be. But it's something of a shock to find the election was still decided before the votes west of Ontario ever were counted, or that the cabinet will continue to completely reflect that fact.

Birth parents

We were born into a family home. Like most people. We never had the experience of adoption.

And for this reason, possibly, we find it hard to identify with a number of people who have grown up in adoptive homes.

We find it hard to imagine why they would want to go beyond the scope of the home that sought them as children, that nurtured them, cared for them, loved them, educated them, gave them a name, a home, and would willingly give them roots.

Yet many adoptees want more. They want to know their origin, their birth parents, their reason for being adoptees.

Like most newspapers, this one has been approached more than once by people and organizations anxious to help people find their roots . . . their birth parents.

And we confess to uncertainty and confusion. We know from experience the interest that regaining a large family can produce, especially where a child grows up in a very small family. Yet we find it hard to imagine an adoptive home where the love and security would not be sufficient, where the desire to go back beyond would be so important. We consider many of the "reasons" or arguments used by adoptees as spurious. "You are living in an unreal world because you never know who you are." What's so different? "Adoptees have a right to the other part of their lives." So they're willing to dismiss as unimportant the part they do know. If it were important, it would be enough.

After all, without the adoptive home, they'd be little better off than the stray cats and dogs which clutter the back alleys . . . and they wouldn't have survived to adulthood without a caring society.

It's not their fault they don't know who their birth parents were. Of course not. But who wants to find his or her father was a travelling man? Or a neighbour? Or a relative?

How does this knowledge become a "basic human right?"

Each of these arguments sounds opposed, but we wonder, too, whether the real birth parents have any rights. Do they have the right to remain obscure? Are they obliged to explain why the child was available for adoption? Does this revelation stand the chance of breaking up an otherwise stable home? Is it worth pursuing "roots" which are denied to children being placed for adoption?

Is the answer different in every case?

Open for business? It is to laugh

[illegible]
Saskatoon, Sask.
[illegible]

Dear Sir:

So! According to Premier Grant Devine, the Province of Saskatchewan is open for business. What a joke! The absurd incident at Yorkton, Sask., where two men applied and were turned down for the jobs the employer thought would be better done by women, is obviously justification for business people not to locate here or to expand their business in Saskatchewan. The two men had to be compensated for being turned down.

On one hand, Mr. Devine would like to have business entrepreneurs in this province to create jobs and pay taxes. On the other, he gives the civil servant entrepreneurs the greater power to exploit the taxpayers and the business community. Mr. Devine should consider the following: it is the responsible business people who make their own living, the living of their employees, the living of the civil servants and Sir, your living too, with the taxes they pay. Obviously, you and your civil servants consider these people too stupid to know whether or not they want to hire males or females for certain jobs. Why would Mr. Devine and his PC government continually condemn the left-wing NDP when in fact they still practice and maintain NDP election promises; including Human Rights exploiting the business people with the taxpayer's money and with Premier Devine's consent and blessing. Perhaps one of these days Mr Devine will insist that Human Rights people prosecute a male for not having a baby and a female for having an outstanding breast!

It is not likely that businesses will want to locate or expand in Saskatchewan as long as civil servant entrepreneurs such as Human Rights can continue to violate the rights of business people and prevent them from making their own decisions.

Saskatchewan is open for business, alright, but civil servant entrepreneurs are such a tremendous burden to the taxpayers.

Government policy has not changed that much since the NDP were defeated. We were deceived!

CLC plans 75th

Camrose Lutheran College is planning to celebrate 75 years of history during 1985 and 1986.

Founded in 1910 by Norwegian settlers who desired a school for their youth, the College began to offer classes in October of 1911 and has continued to serve the church and community in Western Canada to the present day.

First and second year university programs and a Grade 12 matriculation program attract the current 700 students to the campus, most of whom live in residence and who come from many different places throughout Canada and from several foreign countries.

A 75th Anniversary Planning Committee is hard at work in setting out preliminary plans for what promises to be a "year of jubilee", beginning in August of 1985 and concluding in October of 1986.

The Camrose community will figure strongly in many of the commemorative events that will be held, and full details of the anniversary will be announced in mid-November.

Threshing resumes

Harvesting operations could be fully resumed throughout the area by the end of this week.

With excellent drying conditions prevailing late last week, farmers in some areas were able to get back into the fields over the past weekend.

Some regions received considerably more rain than others during the ten-day wet spell in the areas where rainfall was very heavy, it is expected that the fields won't be dry enough to resume harvesting operations until the end of this week.

According to reports received from the Alberta Wheat Pool, little damage was suffered by the crops during the rainy period as little or no frost was experienced during nighttime hours.

However, with the skies clearing, frost has become a factor which could result in damage to any crops still in the fields.

For the most part, with good weather, the great majority of crops could be harvested in a two-week period.

Despite the delay, farmers are ahead of last year with sixty percent of all crops having been threshed while only one-third had been done at this time last year when rain was the cause for a hold-up in harvesting operations.

Pass On the Praise
(Old, but Sweet)

"You are a great little wife, and I don't know what I would do without you." As he spoke, he put his arms about her and kissed her, and she forgot all the care in that moment. Forgetting it all, she sang as she washed the dishes and made the beds, and the song was heard next door. A woman there caught the refrain and sang also, and two homes were happier because he had told her that sweet old story — the story of the love of a husband for a wife.

As she sang, the butcher boy who called for the order heard it and went out whistling on his journey. The world heard the whistle, and one man hearing it thought, "Here is a lad who loves his work, a lad happy and contented."

Because she sang her heart was mellowed. As she swept about the back door the cool air kissed her on each cheek. She thought of a poor old woman she knew, a little basket went over to that home with a quarter for a crate or two of wood.

So, because a husband kissed his wife and praised her, the song came and the influence went out and out.

Pass on the praise.

Football Glossary

It's football season again. Like most sports, this one has a language all its own. Here's just a bit of what I must relearn every fall if I'm to make any sense at all out of the game.

"Heads up play" is not star gazing, a "down" isn't the same as a tackle and "getting a hit on" has nothing to do with drugs. A "sack" is not a bag and "leading in sacks" has nothing to do with playing in an orchestra. The "head coach" is not a psychiatrist. "Off side" doesn't mean out of the stadium, the "receivers" aren't found on telephones and "deep threat" shouldn't be confused with deep throat. "Face masking" is not something women do with mud packs. "Offensive line" is not a nasty way of talking to someone of the opposite sex, nor is "huddle" something done with a warm friend on a cold night. "Long bombs" [illegible] "... hits" can't be heard on the radio and "sizeable gains" aren't noted on a bathroom scale. "Tight ends" don't usually (but not always) have much to do with watching a player's rear view. And the "final score" is very seldom 10.

Of course, the most frequently used word in any football vocabulary is "back". The majority of the players are called backs of one kind or another — quarter, half, full, slot, running, defensive, just to name a few. It is also what they land on when tackled and where the quarterback can't throw the ball from.

When the ball is kicked or thrown deep, the receivers or ball returners "go back". When the opposition has possession, the object of the game is to "get the ball back". The team that is behind (usually mine) wants to "come back", a penalty on the play means the ball is "brought back" and the quarterback "drops back" to throw the pass.

Do you have all that? These are just some of the terms used regularly in the course of a game. Of course, if you ever have to listen to Howard Cosell announce a game, well, you're on your own. That man speaks a language all his own.

Gardeners earn awards

by Jean Murray

The Tofield Garden Club has been in operation for about 15 years and every year, awards are given to members on behalf of the club in addition to those given at the annual Fair.

Thursday was Awards Night for Club members.

The total points winner was Theone Jones who received a rose bowl trophy from Alberta Nurseries and a black china vase from the Garden Club. Second total point winner was Marie Worton and she received a floral dish from Town and Country Drug Mart.

Doris Brown achieved the most aggregate points in the vegetable category and was presented with a silver and crystal salt and pepper set donated by Lillian Barrecloth.

Theone Jones was also awarded an engraved tray for most total points in the cut flower division which was donated by Yvonne Brown and Theone Jones.

There was a tie for aggregate points for potted plants. Yvonne Brown and Doris Brown each received a silver serviette holder. One was donated by The Mercury and one by the Garden Club.

A silver plated lantern donated by Danny's Livestock, was given to Theone Jones for aggregate points in the arrangement category.

The Treasury Branch plaque for aggregate points for juniors was awarded to Deanna Brown for first place and to Marie Peterson in second place.

The Garden Club averages about twenty members every year and manages to be very active in the community in a number of ways.

They organize tours of commercial green houses every spring and also at Christmas time for open house specials. Slides are borrowed from the Alberta Horticulture Association Slide Library and the club sets up presentations which are open to the public. The club is also responsible for the horticulture section of the Tofield Fair.

Most of their members come from the Tofield/Kingman area, but anyone is welcome to join. Members benefit from the club's ability to buy fertilizers and other supplies in bulk, as well as from the horticultural booklets and magazines that the club subscribes to and gives to each member.

The club has contributed much to the beautification of the community by putting flowers and plants in Centennial Park adjacent to the Senior Citizen Drop-In Centre and at the Tofield Lodge. They have applied for grants to put trees in Belvedere Park and at the request of hospital administrator, Don Roth, have agreed to supply some plants for the new Tofield Health Centre, when it opens.

They meet every two months, usually in one of the member's homes. The next meeting is scheduled for the first week in December. Persons interested in joining can contact the club president, Yvonne Brown.

Ryley district news

by Lena Reil

Rhonda Campbell enjoyed her 16th birthday last Wednesday when her grandparents, George and Irene Campbell, Ida Hanka and Stan, Vernon and Diane Campbell and children, Bob and Marion Law of B.C., Ken Bruhs of Shonts, Trent Jackson, Melvin Campbell and Bert attended. A lunch was served.

Kathy Penner of Edmonton, Sylvia Solberg, Maureen Solberg and children of Edmonton, Kevin Podrusny and friends of Camrose, Bud Johnson of Ryley South, Freddie and Edna Johnson of Tofield were weekend visitors with Elmer and Kathleen Anderson of the Liens Golden Manor.

Walter Stenerude has been visiting friends in Ryley after spending weeks in an Edmonton hospital.

Lloyd Redd passed away last week.

Mike Pawelko is a patient in the Tofield Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Niesen's sons, Gary, wife and family and Jack, his wife and family, were guests on Sunday from Sherwood Park.

Elvera Reil had her brother's-in-law, Ezra and Dave Reil, sisters-in-law, Fannie Lyalo and Clara Vergette, Lena Reil and Ella Weigum for a dinner on Thursday.

Scouting needs help

If you are an adult, enjoy young people, live in the Tofield area, and have some spare time that you could share with local youth, the Tofield Scouting Association needs your help.

Each fall, boys five years old and over have the opportunity to join the largest youth organization in the world.

Scouting is designed for all ages of boys, starting with Beavers at ages 5-7 years, Cub Scouts are from 8-10 years, Boy Scouts from 11-13 years, Venturers from 14 to 17 years and Rovers from 18-26 years.

The Tofield Scouting Group follows the nationally approved program that provides boys the opportunity of developing themselves into manhood, with the type of guidance required in todays society.

Through Scouting, boys are encouraged to develop themselves by becoming more appreciative of nature and the environment, acquiring self-learned skills, sharing in the fellowship of the Brotherhood of Scouting, and learning how to fulfill their spiritual needs.

If you would like to be a part of Scouting in Tofield, please contact Dick Thomas — 662-2616 or Don Kondrat 662-3126.

4-H seeks members

Registration time for 4-H clubs is drawing near and the Tofield Crafts and Laughs is seeking anyone between the ages of 10 and 21 years as members and any adults that would like to be project leaders.

This year, they will be offering such projects as crafts, pheasants, light horse and winter horticulture.

There are leaders for these projects which need a minimum of four members. Last year, members did macrame, crocheting, origami, ceramics and pine cone art while four people raised and released one hundred pheasants.

Project leaders were Cathy Eleniak, Carol Rurka and Peter Brown. Yvonne Brown was in charge of 4-H business. Other benefits of belonging to a 4-H Club include public speaking training, exchange trips, camps (both summer and winter), family fun activities and rallies.

Last year, members took part in public speaking, attended the Provincial Rally at Battle Lake for the official dedication of the 4-H Centre, went to the summer camp, travelled to Colorado on an exchange trip and enjoyed an Edmonton Trappers game.

The 4-H Club has so much to offer. Anyone interested in joining as members or leaders can call Yvonne Brown at [illegible].

Alberta Certified Preconditioned Feeder Program

In the past, we have had many articles on this program and the County Agricultural Service Board has sponsored a demonstration project using this technique. The results of this demonstration are on paper and are available from us for anyone interested in knowing how this program works on a local basis.

The Alberta Certified Preconditioned Feeder Program is being continued this year and there are a number of points, relative to this program, that I feel are worthy of mention.

Preconditioning (or at least early weaning) is one positive alternative to dwindling fall pastures. Over the past few years data has been collected and indicates that if calves on the cows are likely to gain less than 1.5 lbs. per day, then they most certainly would benefit from early weaning (or preconditioning). If more than the 1.5 lbs. per day gain can be obtained by calves on cows, then there would probably be little economic benefit from early weaning. Therefore, the gain performance of the calves is the critical factor in determining an economic benefit from preconditioning and fall pastures should be evaluated in an attempt to predict calf performance.

This year a few changes have befallen this program. These include: 1) Removal of the preimmunized option. Therefore, there will not be any white-tagged preimmunized calves this year.

2) Decrease in length of ownership from 60 days to 45 days.

3) Re-instatement of the paid veterinary visits for certification of calves. This existed at one time and was dropped. It has now been reinstated meaning that the Department of Agriculture will once again cover the cost of one vet visit for any producer co-operating in the program.

If you are interested in the Certified Preconditioned Feeder Program, please call us or your local veterinarian.

Fox Run goes Sunday

. . . in Tofield, Holden

by Jean Murray

John Blades, organizer for the Terry Fox Run in Tofield, said entrants can walk, jog or crawl to complete the course on Sunday.

The Run will take place between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Pledge forms for runners to amass the donation guarantees of money per kilometers run can be picked up at Tofield School, Ryley School or from Blades at 662-4045.

The event will take place no matter what the weather conditions are because that's the way that Terry Fox ran his distance to raise funds for cancer research.

The 10-kilometer course this year, said Blades, will be two trips around a five-kilometer course. He mentioned that although most runners will be doing the course at their own pace there will be a small group racing for time early Sunday morning.

Anyone not having pledge sheets can come to the run site, make a donation, then do the run. The donation will be put on a pledge sheet. All donations from the run will go to cancer research.

The Terry Fox Run course in Holden will start at the Holden School, extend out to Secondary Road 886 and go for about five kilometers into the country.

Run co-ordinator Charles Matthews, invites all interested parties to come out and run, cycle, walk or jog for the memory of Terry Fox. The proceeds gathered from pledges made for runners to complete the course will go towards cancer research.

Pledge sheets can be obtained from either the Lucky Dollar Store in Holden or from Matthews himself at the Holden School. He mentioned that runners need not have pledge sheets to run. It is open to anyone who feels like participating and those who do not, are welcome to donate at the run site if they so wish.

There will be a juice stand located about halfway through the run and someone will be monitoring the course for stranded runners or possible problem situations.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.H. Taylor

Holden LCW held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday, with Mrs. Kathleen Harum leading the Bible study and president Mrs. Ethel Brekstad was in charge of the business meeting. Regular business was attended to with correspondence dealt with and reports given. A discussion was held regarding the annual fall bazaar and tea with a tentative date set for Nov. 24th. The ladies also discussed the coming church congregation's 80th celebration which will be Nov. 4th. Meditation worship was read by Mrs. Annie Laube. The meeting closed and lunch was served with the hostess being Mrs. Ethel Brekstad.

Mrs. Edith Carlson was a visitor last Wednesday afternoon with her daughter, Mrs. Lyle Andrusky and children in Tofield.

Mrs. Edith Carlson and Mrs. George Taylor were visiting with Mrs. Kate Nichols last Thursday afternoon in Tofield Hospital.

Recent visitors with Mrs. Nichols were her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gerrie of Osoyoos, B.C. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gerrie also stopped in to see her on returning from their holiday.

Robert and Merle Taylor of Viking were visitors with Robert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor.

On Sept. 11th, Holden Lodge Order of the Royal Purple reconvened after a two-month recess, with HRL Mary Semotiuk in the chair. Lady Brekstad reported on the Lodge Decoration Day and Lady Stecyk gave the Sunshine report. HRL Semotiuk gave a report of the joint Elk and Royal Purple barbecue supper held at the recent Holden Homecoming with a profit being made and this was given to the Homecoming Committee towards their expenses. A committee was appointed to convene the October Chamber of Commerce supper. It was also discussed by the ladies to hold a bingo to close up the 83/84 Elks Purple Cross Fund and make their quota. The tentative date set was for Oct. 19th. At the close of the meeting, lunch was served with hostesses being Ladies Scherger and Brekstad.

Mrs. Bertha Chetney has her daughter, Helen and her friend of Vancouver visiting with her.

Saturday afternoon visitors with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were their son and wife, Brian and Dineke Taylor and granddaughter Cathryn, of St. Albert.

A number of residents of Holden and District were to Namao on Monday to see Pope John Paul.

The Friendship Group met today (Wednesday) at the home of Mrs. Edith Carlson.

Mrs. Annie Laube is home after recently spending a week in Calgary, visiting with relatives.

If you should have any news items, ads or classified ads for The Mercury, please phone 688-3838 before 9 a.m. on Monday.

FINANCING ALBERTA BUSINESS

The Alberta Opportunity Company provides financial and counselling assistance to small business enterprises.

Garment Business a 'Winner'

Embroidery has always been a part of Ben Wong's business. Ten years ago, he and his wife Yin Mi started producing embroidered crests for Edmonton garment manufacturers.

In 1978, the company began manufacturing club jackets and gradually added new products. Today, Winner Garment Industries Ltd. employs 25 Albertans and produces team and company jackets, coveralls, sport uniforms, track and sweat suits.

Since these garments carry crests, Ben had to upgrade his crest-making facilities to meet demand. Conventional lenders were unwilling to finance the purchase of a computerized, multi-head embroidery machine so Ben turned to AOC.

AOC provided the financing because they saw how the loan could make a good business better. This year, Winner Garment sales are up 15 percent over last year.

If you have a sound business idea but you cannot obtain financing through regular sources, call or visit your nearest AOC office and ask for our brochure "Financing Alberta Business".

Successful gymkhana held by Mina E. Krystal

Katchemut Creek Family Horse Club held its regular monthly gymkhana on Sunday.

There was a good turnout and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. Ted Holden journeyed down from Bruce to join in the fun, riding his mule, Marmaduke.

News from Ministik

by Catherine Redlich

The September meeting of the Ladies Club was held at the home of Laurie Swaby on Wednesday afternoon and nine members were present.

The annual bazaar was one of the main items of business. Barbara Horricks will be convener and Jean Ferguson, who has convened for 35 previous bazaars, will be honorary convener.

Joyce Bowerman is in charge of entertainment for the annual Christmas tree held at the hall.

Jean Ferguson had a September birthday and received a card.

Lunch hostesses were Margaret Paterson and Betty Williams.

There was a small turnout to the September Community League meeting on Monday evening, so not much business was done. Each member is to bring someone to the next meeting which will be on Oct. 15th.

Ron and Clare MacLean are the proud grandparents of a new grandson. He answers to Joel David and is the son of Glenda and Heinz Langkopf of Ryley. Glenda, Joel and Ryan have been spending a few days at the MacLean home.

Eva and Doris Devenport and Angeline Blackburn of Edmonton spent three days at Niton last week visiting relatives and friends.

Betty and Keith Williams enjoyed a recent vacation in Creston, Kamloops and area.

The September Crafts Centre meeting is on Monday.

Missed for Last Week

Jim Pot, cousin of Bill Vandermeer, who has given Bill a hand with his farming operations the last three months, returned to his home near the Niagara Peninsula in Ontario, on Saturday, where he plans to attend university.

Melvin and Rita Loch and daughters Avery, Amanda and Allison, returned home last Thursday from a seven-week vacation in Eastern Canada, where they went as far as Newfoundland and the Maritimes. Eva Loch of Edmonton looked after their chores while they were away.

Michael and Violet Nasichuk returned home on Saturday from a two-week vacation, going to Prince Rupert, Prince George, Barkerville and all spots along the way.

Johnny and Pat Dyke, Trevor and Curtis, enjoyed a day at Calaway Park, west of Calgary, then continued on their holiday to Creston, where they visited Johnny's parents, the Bob Dykes. On their return, they visited Pat's brother, Perry Duckworth in Sparwood, B.C.

Jean and George Kleinschroth enjoyed a day picking blueberries recently, in the Caslan area.

Clare MacLean was a lucky door prize winner at the Strathcona Country Fair recently.

Rock Duckworth and son Ken of Caslan, visited with the John Dykes the last two days. Rock is Pat Dyke's father.

Jean and George Kleinschroth attended the old time fiddlers contest in the Red Barn, near [illegible], on Friday evening.

Evangeline Blackburn of Edmonton is spending a few days with her daughter, Eva Devenport, Joe and Doris.

The first whist drive of the fall season will be in the Crafts Centre on September 28th.

Mercury wins award

The Mercury has received a major journalism award in a provincial competition.

The Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association held its annual convention in Calgary on the past weekend.

During the course of the convention, an awards presentation ceremony was held.

It was announced that The Mercury had earned the prestigious Unifarm Award.

This award is presented annually to the weekly newspaper, who in the opinion of Unifarm officials, has done the best job of reporting news from the agricultural community.

This award was established only five years ago and the victory this year marked the second occasion in which it was presented to The Mercury who had the honour of winning in 1979 when the award was presented for the first time.

In past years, newspapers had been invited to submit editions (two) for the competition.

The format was changed this year in that newspapers were nominated for the award by Unifarm Locals.

C.A. 'Chuck' MacLean, publisher of The Mercury, was in attendance at the convention and accepted the award on behalf of the staff of The Mercury and the paper's news contributors.

Lakeshore-McKenzie

by Ellen Eaton

On Sept. 9th, Ethel and Verlyn Moos had their friend Alison Gee and her friend Sue from Saskatchewan drop in before going on to Polar Park. Alison and Sue are exchange agriculture studnets from Australia or New Zealand.

They wished to see the animals at the Park as they are much different from those in their homeland. Ethel and Verlyn had been guests of Alison's aunt while on a farm tour to New Zealand a few years ago. Alison and Sue and another exchange student had stopped here in July before going on to Alaska.

They were returning to Saskatchewan after going to Polar Park to finish their stay, before returning home in October.

Ethel Moos was an afternoon visitor at the home of Ellen Eaton, on Sept. 10.

Ellen Eaton was a guest at the home of Mary and Bill Tiedemann last Wednesday, before going to the Golden Club meeting.

The Lakeshore UCW will have their September meeting at the home of Mrs. Mae Ferguson on Wednesday afternoon. She will also host the Tofield Farm Women on Thursday afternoon. All interested please attend either meetings. Visitors are welcome.

"I Know I Can"

Why do some children go off to school with all the confidence in the world while the others are afraid they won't be able to board the school bus on their own? How can you help to build your child's self confidence?

Parents who give their children credit and encouragement for their good behaviour are helping the children develop a good self-image. Appropriate credit and encouragement will make it necessary for your children to misbehave to gain recognition and attention. If they learn to respect themselves because they are given credit and recognition for their positive behaviour, they will grow into emotionally mature, confident and secure individuals.

A father, in a training course for parents, found this to be the case with their son. He tells his story: Our oldest boy was a delightful little tyke. We loved him and felt that he was something special and that our responsibility was to develop his potential. We pointed out to him his mistakes and blunders urging him to do things well. "Go back and wash your hands clean." "Make your bed over to get the wrinkles out of the sheet and put the spread on straight this time." "Get the garbage pails you forgot, and don't take as long as you usually do." "Don't drag your feet like that."

At a parent-teacher gathering, our boy's school teacher told us that he was falling down in his schoolwork and he was becoming unpopular with his friends and his schoolmates. He criticized and tore down everything they did and bragged about himself incessantly. She felt that he was trying in wrong ways to build self-esteem, to be somebody of worth.

We were shocked! Why our boy had a lot of ability; he had no reason to feel inferior.

When I asked her what, if anything, we could do about it she replied, "I don't know. I'm sure he has a good home, but do you ever praise your boy for his commendable efforts and traits?"

His mother and I searched ourselves inwardly and we made a startling discovery. Unknowingly, we had fallen into a pit. In our anxiety to help our boy develop his potential and become a reliable person, we had focused our attention on his doing everything by our adult standards. We know that we approved of our boy and assumed that he knew it too; however, our attitude had told him, "You do not measure up, you cannot please us."

We reversed our practice. We began watching for acceptable behavior instead of unacceptable behavior. We were surprised at how many things he had been doing well that we had not even noticed, while criticizing everything that he had not done right. Now when our boy did anything that merited commendation, we told him in a pleasant way how well he had done and, where possible, how it had helped the family: "You did a good job raking the lawn, it makes me proud of the way our place looks!"

The change in our boy was like magic and almost immediate. We have a son to be proud of and we shudder to think how near we came to destroying him without realizing what we were doing.

Children need and want their parents approval to achieve and to become well adjusted. Children must believe in themselves, respect themselves and have self esteem. Judgement of themselves is largely determined by the way their parents react to them. Consequently, wise parents give praise when a child's actions merit praise; but it must be honest, sincere and deserved.

Storing Pumpkins

Harvest pumpkins before frost, leaving on a few inches of stem. Condition at 80°F for about two weeks to harden the rind and heal surface injuries. Store them in fairly dry air at about 55°F. Watch the temperature carefully — they suffer chill damage in storage below 50°F. Handle pumpkins carefully, place them in rows on shelves, not dumped in a pile in a corner.

Public meet planned

... on college future

The Minister's Advisory Committee on College Affairs will conduct a public meeting in Camrose on Sept 27.

The meeting will commence at 4 p.m. in the Convocation Centre of Camrose Lutheran College.

Submissions, proposals, suggestions and opinions on college issues from interested individuals and groups will be received by the committee at this public meeting. The Advisory Committee of College Affairs will directly advise the Minister on policy changes as a result of the presentations made.

Individuals or groups wishing to meet with or to sub- Advisory Committee on College Affairs at this meeting should phone Maria Li at 422-4845 (collect).

At past meetings, the College Affairs advisory committee received submissions and proposals from college presidents, student and faculty associations, boards of governors, graduates and prospective employers of college graduates.

The Minister's Advisory Committee on College Affairs is one of six educational committees reporting directly to the Minister of Alberta Advanced Education.

Other committees advising the Minister are Further Education, Student Affairs, University Affairs, Technical/Vocational Education and Native People's Education.

The Committee on Technical/Vocational Education and Native People's Education also report to the ministers of Alberta Manpower and Alberta Education, respectively.

IN MEMORIAM

EATON— In loving memory of a beloved husband, father and grandfather Owen Richard Eaton, who passed away Sept 24th, 1958

Twenty six years have passed and gone
Since Owen left us here alone
The years may wipe out many things
But this they wipe our never
The memory Owen of those days
When we were all together
Life goes on, we know that's true,
But it's not the same Owen without you
Your memory is our keepsake
From which we'll never part,
God has you in his keeping,
We have you Owen in our heart
Though absent you are always near,
Still missed, loved and very dear

Ever remembered and sadly missed by his wife Ellen his two sons and their families Walter & Evelyn Eaton and family Leroy & Shirley Eaton & family and his daughter Rita (Niemetz) Powell and her two daughters Linda & Sherry Niemetz 3nc

Program is delayed

by Joan Murray

The future of Rural Development Project No. 4 was to have been decided upon at a meeting in the Ryley Legion Hall on Thursday night, but because the attendance was small a quorum could not be formed for decision making.

This topic was tabled to the next meeting which is to be held in Irma on October 25th.

At this time all the municipalities involved in the project will be asked to express their feeling on whether it should be continued when it comes up for renewal in March of 1985 or perhaps be split into two separate projects, one dealing with the Aurora Way along Highway 45 and one with the Battle Trail along Highway 14 or if it should be disbanded altogether.

Project Co-ordinator, Mel Warren, spoke on the possibility of introducing the idea of having market gardens and greenhouses on a large scale along the Highway 14 area, making use of the natural gas resources and the abundance of water.

Feasibility and market studies would have to be done to see if this concept would be economically viable.

The Federal Government has a program in effect called LEAD (Local Employment Assistance and Development) from which funds can be acquired to carry out these studies.

Randy Adcock, project officer of this program, was present to explain LEAD to the members and encourage Rural Development to put forth their proposal for consideration outlined as required for the LEAD Program.

Warren felt that economic development groups could be utilized in trying to get industry going. He recently went before the County of Beaver council to inquire about the creation of a Regional Economic Development Committee which could work with the local EDC's in getting an industry such as market gardens and greenhouses off the ground.

This type of operation would be year-round and could possibly produce fresh vegetables on a scale comparable to the US market that is presently supplying large grocery outlets.

He said that the county had been receptive to the idea of a Regional Economic Development Committee.

Library raises fees

... for rural users

There is both good and bad news for users of the Tofield Municipal Library.

Effective November 1, the new fee schedule will be: town membership $5 and non-resident membership, $20, payable annually. These rates are the same for individuals or families.

Library Board Members advise that the membership fees have been reassessed to make them more equitable in terms of operating grants from the Town of Tofield and the total absence of participation by the County of Beaver

Board members have expressed regret that the County, in its continual refusal to share operational expenses, have left the Library Board with no alternative but to increase fees for rural users.

The Town of Tofield grant for 1984 operations is $12.01 per capita and, on a grant matching basis, the Provincial Government will be providing $6,000 in 1984, a further $3.85 per capita.

Should the County of Beaver provide Libraries with a grant, the Province would make available a further grant of $3 for each $2 supplied by the County.

As 46 percent of the users of the Tofield Municipal Library are not town taxpayers, restructuring of the membership fees has been considered as a last resort in view of exhaustive attempts by the Library Board to encourage the County to participate in this town and county service.

Development plan changes

by Joan Murray

The multi-dwelling apartment structure that was proposed for the northwest corner of Tofield near the Gospel Church earlier this year is no longer a concern for residents in this area.

At the Town of Tofield Council meeting on Monday night, Municipal Planner, Mark Lawrence, told a delegation of ten concerned citizens that the developer has changed his plans and will be pursuing the idea of single family housing in the future

Lawrence explained further a map of this area that had been drawn up for consideration if the town were faced with development in the future The delegation expressed satisfaction with the proposed amended map as outlined by the planner

Council assured them that if anything happens regarding development in this area, it would be advertised, which in turn assures anyone living in the area of a chance to object to any action if they so desire.

Some objection to the Regional Landfill Transfer site being located NE 2-51-19-W4, was raised by two residents living in the vicinity. They were concerned that the road leading to the site would look as bad as the present dumpsite road with regards to garbage and papers lying about. They were also concerned about the appearance of the site itself.

Council explained that there would be a six-foot high fence around the site, the building would be a metal one with a roof and would not be unsightly, maintenance on the road leading into the site would have a higher degree of maintenance, and garbage will be removed regularly, at least twice a week.

This site was chosen over another one located near the sewage lagoon because the Town has employees who pass by this location on a regular basis and would be able to keep a close watch on conditions arising plus the fact that the existing road is in better condition for steady traffic flow than the one at the sewage lagoon area location.

The fence at the public works yard will be extended by fifty feet as was budgeted for earlier this year.

The Town will be applying for a grant to be used for fencing, road upgrading and leveling of grave sites and headstones where necessary The cemetery committee will examine the situation and decide what improvements are necessary

In response to a letter from County Administrator, Garth Bancroft, regarding the formation of a Regional Economic Development Committee, Council has given its approval in principle and will forward a letter to this effect.

Council set prices for town-owned land on 50th Street next to the Hotel at $750 a front foot Their lots located on 51st Street next to Tofield Building Supply behind Casa D'Oro were set at $500 per front foot.

A resolution was passed to change the date of the regular council meeting to Tuesday, October 9th because Thanksgiving falls on the Monday.

White paper

Premier Lougheed has been talking recently about the possibility of establishing an Alberta Income Tax at the provincial level, rather than simply continuing to add on almost forty percent of the federal tax, whatever that might work out [illegible]

And we're surprised how many people raise their hands in horror at the idea, as though it were un[illegible]

Far from being unthinkable, it's simply a throwback to the "good ol' days" before World War II.

Half a century ago, the province had its own Income Tax, it's own Income Tax returns, and its own collection offices.

There's no question that many people who find it difficult enough to fill out one income tax form will rebel at the idea of having to fill in two, especially when at least some of the answers are different. And when regulations, such as for depreciation, and taxation on machinery, differ between the two.

But the whole idea behind the proposal is not simply to establish a much larger bureaucracy. Not in this day of computers, when the Province can employ far more computers than the taxpayer can afford.

The basic concept is to employ tax policies designed to promote the best interests of Alberta as a unit, rather than of Canada as a whole. The best interests of the two may not always be the same, and Alberta, (Lougheed) wants a chance to exercise what provincial influence is available. To encourage Alberta development, Alberta resources, Alberta employment.

Not only was a separate provincial tax return established practice in Alberta until the Province 'rented' the right to Ottawa during the war, it has been in active practice in Quebec for decade upon decade. There, for political reasons only, nothing comes from Ottawa . . . even Family Allowance comes from the Province. And of course smart Quebeckers remember this when it comes to election time.

Maybe that's what Lougheed is thinking about.

Loose Ends

A Junky Collection

I started out a collection recently, just to see what developed. Mostly, it was a headache.

It's a junky collection – junk mail, that is, unsolicited mailbox stuffers offering special deals (no lower prices until after my account is paid), fliers, sweepstakes coupons, book sales, magazine subscriptions. One out of every five is something worthwhile, but what is really frustrating is that most of the stuff isn't addressed to "Occupant" or "Householder", but to me personally.

I thought that I would share with you some of the fantastic offers that have been piling up on the corner of my desk. The first is a course which will teach me "How to be a better boss". This should prove extremely useful in my office, where I am my own boss, as well as in my other duties as wife and mother – I need to be firmer when dealing with a mop – but some people say I'm too bossy already. Another offers to teach me all about organic gardening so that I can grow four times more broccoli. What I want to know is "Who wants it?"

The bargains offered me in farm machinery are impressive. A combine, although somewhat large for mowing the lawn, certainly would be an attention getter as a lawn ornament, don't you think? Or I could get a self-catching head gate to use on the children when they misbehave. Next is the only truly useful item – a lifesaver picture of a TV furniture salesman, one of the screamers. It adds some zing to my sons' dart game.

The best offers have to be those enclosed in the mail order catalogues, like the one selling intimate items of clothing with names like "Frou-frou" and "Bit of Bewitchery". What would my children say if I wore a genuine mink toe tickler with a satin rosebud in its center while yelling at them to hurry up in the morning? Another catalogue offers such prizes as an irredescent wall tapestry showing dogs playing pool, a Yukon Mountie Trooper hat with turndown ear flaps, "proven through cold Canadian winters" and toothbrushes with handles shaped like "beauty queens".

And for my children, something every mother needs – an electronic [illegible] horn alarm for a bicycle with a public address microphone that shatters the quiet and tells everyone where they are!

And to think that I've only been collecting for a month! I can't wait to see what the next eleven months have to offer!

Progressive concept

Years of experience with the County system seem to have brought new levels of insight to members of the Camrose County, and to members of their Board of Education, both of whom have recommended change to the present system.

Both have discussed the situation at a number of meetings, and have felt the present system could be improved, so that they have forwarded recommendations for change both to the Minister of Municipal Affairs and the Minister of Education.

Their proposal suggests almost a complete divorce, (not quite) from the present system, such that members of the Board of Education be elected separately from members of the County Council.

It might be called a "throwback" to the days of a quarter of a century ago, but it also recognizes there can be major differences in the interests, the background objectives, the end goals, of members of the Board of Education, and of the County Council.

Observation, and experience, supports the belief there are some differences in the underlying approaches of voters interested in the field of education, or the more mechanical, municipal, broad-ranging side of the county's needs. These can range from hospitalization to fire-fighting, weed control, culverts, dollars and assessments, and many other factors intermingled.

There's no way we would suggest one is superior to the other, or inferior. We're reminded of the question over which leg of the three-legged stool is most important.

What we find most interesting in the County's presentation to the ministers is their recognition of the problems faced by residents of towns and villages, and the suggestion they be given equal voting rights in the field of education. This, surely, must have loomed over the years as one of the major sticking points, and we think County Councillors have found an ideal compromise.

Experience suggests this is an idea well worth the Ministers' study, and we hope the answer will be favorable. It would seem that county ratepayers, as well as the residents of the smaller communities, would have the best of all worlds, in that they would have access to local representation, without forcing the board to unwieldy numbers.

If the experiment in the county system was preferable to the old municipal and school division situation, then members of council and of school committee are to be complimented on working out such a reasonable adaptation of the County system, one which holds so much promise for improvement over the present cumbersome and unreasonably demanding system.

Those of us who hope for the continuing triumph of democracy will wait and watch for the Ministers' answers with interest and anticipa[illegible]

Freedom of Speech

[illegible]:

Enclosed for your information and action, is the current issue of our weekly newsletter, On Target.

The report we wish to draw to your attention, Censorship Curtain Descends, is to be found on pages 1 and 4.

All party leaders, during the [illegible] paign, put great stress upon "equal rights" for women, "equal rights" for minorities, "equal rights" for native peoples, etc. And most Canadians support the concept of equal treatment of all people and groups. But what use is "equal treatment" if that equal treatment involves the loss of such fundamental freedom as freedom of speech and research? What Canadians insist upon is equal treatment in the enjoyment of all our fundamental freedoms. Anything less is a hoax and a [illegible]

Because you are a custodian of genuine human rights and the heritage of freedom we enjoy, you have a very great personal responsibility to defend this priceless heritage. That is why I am drawing this vital matter to your attention ad asking for some serious thought and constructive action on your part.

Sincerely yours,

EDC gets small crowd

by [illegible]

At a public meeting held in the Tofield Town Office last Wednesday evening, Ron Hancock, director for Tourism and Small Business, addressed a small crowd on the function of an Economic Development Committee (EDC) in the small town sense.

Hancock said that smaller municipalities have to fight big labour, big government and big business as well as the development of big highways that by-pass small communities. He felt that these areas should not try to defeat big government, but strive to be treated as equals. They should develop their own way of succeeding and their own programs since most programs are geared for cities and don't fit small towns.

"Financial institutions are structured for big business," he said "we must get them to think in terms of small business."

He also said that they must use their resources to the best advantage. They have a way of life that is very precious which includes volunteerism, knowing one's neighbours and having more concern for one another.

The key to economic growth in small areas is co-operation. Urban and rural areas must work together as the economy of the two is intertwined to a degree that cannot be separated from one another.

The prime factor of the EDC is to bring different views together and to discuss them in open form and get everyone working to a common goal, not running off on a tangent for dream developments.

Diane Scott then updated her progress with the proposed development at Beaverhill Lake.

She and her husband, Bill, have put forth a proposal to the Federal Government with help from both the Tofield Rural Development representative, Ed Regehr and Ron Hancock. It is hoped that a unique restaurant and campground facility can be constructed through financial assistance from the LEAD (Local Employment Assistance and Development) program. This move would attract tourists, bird watchers and hunters.

Their proposal has passed the pre-review board stage with flying colors and she said that good support was received from the Provincial Government and Battle River Tourist Association.

An active question and answer period followed the two guest speakers.

The Committee would act as an arm of council, much the same as the recreation department now does and according to Hancock, would take economic development out of politics and allow it to be looked at objectively.

The EDC meetings would be held on a regular basis every three months with seven members obliged to attend. These meetings would be open to the public.

The EDC would not take the place of a Chamber of Commerce, but would represent the community as a whole to bring the businessmen and other community members together on ideas for bringing more people, jobs and tax dollars into Tofield.

The Committee will help to get viable ideas going and get others to get behind them. It will provide information as to where to go for funding, who to talk to and what is available.

Steering Committee member, Ed Regehr, stated that the character of Tofield in his lifetime has changed dramatically. It used to be geared towards the agricultural community, but now it has built up into a commuter population that live here and travels to Edmonton.

County Council Chairman, John Warner spoke on behalf of County saying that it was very supportive of economic development within the County.

The steering committee chairman Judy Murray invited those in attendance to volunteer their name or someone whom they felt would best represent them, on EDC.

As yet not a lot of names have gone on this list but recommendations will be received up until October 3rd. At this time the steering committee will meet to decide on two names to submit to council for their approval.

One person will represent the public at large and the other will represent the agricultural community.

Tofield Town Council will be considering all seven recommended names to sit on the Economic Development Committee at their regular meeting on October 9th.

Lakeshore-McKenzie

by [illegible]

The Lakeshore UCW meeting that was to be held at the home of Mrs. Mae Ferguson last Wednesday was called off due to Mae's not feeling well. She had to have treatments at the hospital each morning for a short time.

Marg Eaton and her aunt, Edie Roper both of Edmonton, were visitors with Marg's parents, Leroy and Shirley Eaton on the Eaton farm and also called on Marg's grandmother and Edies aunt, Ellen Eaton in Tofield on their way back to Edmonton. Edie is Shirley's sister, formerly of Lavoy. Marg left on Thursday of last week for a holiday in Ontario where she will visit a friend in Toronto and her aunt, Rita Powell in Ancaster as well as other relatives in Ontario before returning to work at the University Hospital where she is a security guard.

Although a very rainy day several senior citizens went to Edmonton in the recreation bus.

Some snow flurries have been occuring during the past few days with below zero temperatures at night. Some places in the town and district are reporting ice on outdoor water.

Report from AADAC

[illegible]: Part of a Positive [illegible]

Some social issues are coming out of the closet, to the discomfort of some but to the very great benefit of many. In recent years some very prominent people have talked openly and honestly about their drug and alcohol problems. The destruction of this "wall of taboo" gives those experiencing problems the courage to put the guilt and shame behind them and take steps toward their recovery.

Furthermore, others are more willing to talk about alcohol and drug problems and to do something to help. The "black sheep of the family" attitude is becoming a thing of the past. Families, friends, supervisors at work, teachers, law enforcement officers, pastors, doctors and social agency workers are much more aware of their role in helping the person to recognize the problem early and to encourage him or her to seek help before long-term, irreversible disabilities set in. Workers in the addictions field are seeing an increase in the number of clients who come for treatment in the earlier stages of alcoholism.

There is still more to be done. There are still some whose image of the alcoholic is a skid row bum. They don't think that a fellow member of the bridge club or a colleague at work could be an alcoholic. Our attitudes to alcohol and excessive drinking are confused. Alcohol has an image of sophistication and glamour on one hand, but we know that alcohol is connected with violence, murder, abuse, and crime. Alcohol use is acceptable for adults but not for children and teens. We think of very serious withdrawal symptoms as "pink elephants". We have to make our thinking about alcohol a lot more rational if we are to help ourselves, our friends, and our children make responsible decisions about alcohol.

Some believe that before alcoholics will do anything about their drinking they have to "hit bottom". The past decade's experience with Employee Assistance Programs and Family Intervention Techniques suggests that those around the problem drinker have a great stake in the problem and can influence the drinking behaviour well before the long-term alcohol abuse has largely ruined the drinker's mind and life.

If you want to air out the closet further, break down the walls, find out more about alcohol, drugs and early interventions, contact the AADAC office in your area.

FINANCING ALBERTA BUSINESS

The Alberta Opportunity Company provides financial and counselling assistance to small business enterprises.

Garment Business a 'Winner'

Embroidery has always been a part of Ben Wong's business. Ten years ago he and his wife, Yin Mi, started producing embroidered crests for Edmonton garment manufacturers.

In 1978, the company began manufacturing club jackets and gradually added new products. Today, Winner Garment Industries Ltd. employs 25 Albertans and produces team and company jackets, coveralls, sport uniforms, track and sweat suits.

Since these garments carry crests, Ben had to upgrade his cresting facilities to meet demand. Conventional lenders were unwilling to finance the purchase of a computerized, multi-head embroidery machine, so Ben talked to AOC.

AOC provided the financing because they saw how the loan could make a good business better. This year, Winner Garment sales are up 15 percent over last year.

If you have a sound business idea, but you cannot obtain financing through regular sources, call or visit your nearest AOC office and ask for our brochure, "Financing Alberta Business".

Fund aids Third World

by [illegible]

Proceeds of the Mennonite Central Committee (MCC) Relief Sale held in Tofield in July go directly for relief and development work in the Third World countries where the need for food and food production is most urgent.

The shortage of food in African countries is particularly acute. MCC gives particular attention to the poorest of the poor, places where outside aid and local support for development is not readily available from government or other sources.

This group gives paramount attention to development, self-sufficiency and independence in these countries as well as their utmost attention to the effective delivery of the food and responsible use of funds received.

The Government has honoured the proceeds from the Tofield Sale with grants. For some projects overseas, they may even match or exceed this contribution.

Bill Thiessen, MCC executive director, said "The Tofield Relief Sale was a unique and respectable fund-raising event where celebration of our good life is accented."

All the work related to the sale was carried out by volunteers who received no [illegible]. All the articles sold at this sale were [illegible].

Winter Wheat — County of Beaver

Lately there has been a lot of interest in growing winter wheat in the County of Beaver. Some have successfully grown this crop in our area with reported yields of 60 plus bushels per acre. Some advantages of winter wheat as compared to spring wheat are:

1. It often yields more.
2. Earlier maturity.
3. Better competition with [illegible]
4. [illegible]

The major disadvantages is that it can winter kill. In this situation one still has time in the spring to work it down and plant a spring crop. Winter kill is most severe when temperatures drop below -10°C with no snow cover. Winter wheat survives the best with a mild winter (with snow cover) and a rainy spr[illegible].

If you are planning on planting winter wheat, here is some important points I feel you should follow for this area.

1. Use the variety called Nor[illegible].
2. If possible, seed direct into standing stubble. The stubble will help to trap snow and thus ensure better survival.
3. Seeding should be done, if possible, by late August or early September. This will vary depending on the year. In 1983, late seeding (late Sept.) still provided good results. The reason for seeding earlier is to ensure that the winter wheat plants are well established (approximately 3 leaves) before freeze-up.
4. Plant seeds no deeper than 2 inches; $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches is optimum. Shallow seeding will help to get the plants up and growing.
5. Seeding rates should be approximately the same as spring wheat.
6. Phosphorus (P) should be applied when seeding, but wait till spring to apply your nitrogen (N).
7. Control annual weeds in late fall or early spring with a chemical like 2,4-D
8. Don't be too quick to work down a poor looking stand in the spring. A uniform 50-60 percent stand will generally tiller and produce a near normal yield. Let the stand be exposed to warm soil temperatures for a week and then check for the appearance of green leaves.

If you follow these points, you will ensure a better chance of winter wheat survival. For more information give us a call at 663-3555. Bye for now.

Annual rodeo nears

It's rodeo time!

"Showdown '84" is scheduled to take place in Camrose during the latter part of next month (October).

Showdown '84, in effect, the finals for the rodeo circuit which is put on by the Lakeland Rodeo Association and in recent years, has become an annual event in Camrose.

Again this year, the three-day event is being held under the sponsorship of the Camrose Agricultural Society and has been scheduled for Oct. 26, 27 and 28 and will be staged on the society's new site on the eastern outskirts of the city.

This rodeo pits the top ten cowboys in each event against each other in the major categories of competition and they will be using top stock animals from six different suppliers.

In addition to the major rodeo events, there will be junior and senior girls' barrel racing and boys' steer riding.

A feature event during the three-day rodeo will be the annual Lakeland Rodeo Queen competition.

Ron Poole is chairman of this year's rodeo committee and he and his group are busy finalizing all plans for the holding of a successful three-day competition.

With the addition of new bleachers, some reserved seating will be available.

As well, lighting in the arena has been improved to make this a more enjoyable spectator event.

More details are expected to be announced shortly.

Tofield Lodge

Mrs. Statesman left last week to live in a nursing home in Edmonton.

Mrs. Mary Stinson accompanied Shirley Stinson and Mitzi Montgomery to Jasper Park last week, where they spent four days.

Lodge residents in the Tofield Hospital are Dick Blakely, Jack Cotton and Mike Kusnick.

Mrs. Hazel Hanson and son Sanford, from Viking, visited with Agnes Anderson on Monday. On Sunday, Don and Sophie Anderson visited Don's mother, Agnes Anderson.

On Friday, five ladies from the Lodge went on the Senior Citizen's bus to Edmonton. They were Edith Bailey, Maggie Pederson, Margaret McCleymont, Agnes Anderson and Vernie Bretzski.

Fox Run is held

by Joan Murray

Inclement weather conditions tested the stamina of 50 runners in the Terry Fox Run held in Tofield, on Sunday.

Run co-ordinator, John Bladon said he was pleased with the results and pledges indicated that everyone had gone out and worked hard at getting commitments for this event.

The total amount of pledges received so far is $2,100, but more are expected to come in.

The fastest runner of the racers who started at 9 a.m. on Sunday was Graham Foster with a time of 41 minutes and 50 seconds. Preston Cunningham, a Tofield High School student, had the next fastest time when he came in about 30 seconds behind Foster.

The oldest runner was Harry Dale of Lindbrook. He is over 70 years old and this was his fourth time in the Terry Fox Run.

Bejan Kashani was the top pledge earner with a total of $601.

Holden and district news

by Mrs. G.G. Taylor

Mrs. Annie Stanley [illegible] has been a patient for several days in Tofield Hospital.

William and Mary Ogrodnick, also Nancy Semotiuk, were among the many to attend the Holy Papal Mass at Namao on Sept. 17th.

Mrs. Ethel Brekstad and Mrs. Kathleen Hurum visited on Wednesday of last week, with Mrs. Kate Nichols in Tofield Hospital.

John and Mary Semotiuk were in Claresholm during the weekend attending the wedding of their daughter, Debbie's husband's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Logan and sons, David and Robert of Edmonton, visited with his grandmother, Mrs. O. Chetney and his aunt Helen from Vancouver, who is staying with her mother. Bruce is the eldest son of the late Elmer Logan.

Kevin Andrusky, son of Lyle and Vivian Andrusky of Tofield, was visiting with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Carlson on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Edith Carlson and Mrs. Irene Taylor visited in Tofield Hospital on Friday with Mrs. Kate Nichols.

Hilmer Olsen who has owned and operated the Olsen and Armstrong Service Station for the past number of years, has sold his business.

Sunday afternoon visitors with Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor were their son and wife, Robert and Merle Taylor of Viking with grandson Aaron and friend stopping in on their way to Edmonton.

Otto Hurum who has been in poor health for the past year and a resident of the Viking Nursing Home the past few months, passed away on Sunday morning. He is survived by his wife, Kathleen; one son; and three daughters; and grandchildren. Otto was a long-time resident of Holden and district, the Hurums' being one of the pioneer families of the area.

The Friendship Group met for a regular meeting on Wednesday afternoon after a two-month recess at the home of Mrs. Edith Carlson. Mrs. George Taylor was in charge of devotions. Mrs. Carlson reported she had sent a get-well card to Mrs. Kate Nichols in hospital and several members had visited her.

The ladies were advised that the package of used postage stamps had been sent to the Bible Society. The meeting closed and lunch was served by the hostess and a social hour was enjoyed. The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ethel Brekstad.

The Earlier You Start, The More You Save

Why Wait' til the Weather's at it's worst —

Spread TREFLAN* QR5 early this fall while the weather's still on your side.

You don't have to wait until after harvest to apply TREFLAN QR5. There are real advantages to starting as early as possible. There's no need to wait and worry about having the right weather conditions to apply and incorporate after harvesting this fall or before seeding next spring. Start early this fall with TREFLAN QR5 and you easily get both incorporations done before freeze-up. That gives you a head start on spring, no matter if it's wet or dry, because all you have to do is a normal spring cultivation and seedbed preparation.

Only TREFLAN QR5 gives you the flexibility to apply in September or October. Take advantage of the ideal application conditions in the early fall.

Funeral Practices — Part I

When someone close dies, you may find yourself having to make the arrangements. This and the next two columns will consider decisions that must be made, alternatives available and questions to ask when planning a funeral.

The deceased may have made many decisions already. Is there a letter of instruction, a statement in the will or a contract for a funeral or cemetery plot? Did the deceased give any verbal instructions regarding the type of arrangements he or she wished? If not, you will be making the decisions.

Planning a service at the time of death is often difficult. The emotional termoil combined with little or no past experience can result in decisions based on incomplete information. There is a difference between common practice and what is required by law. Comparison shopping is difficult because decisions have to be made quickly.

Many people don't consider cost important at a time like this. If so, they may end up with a more elaborate funeral than they or the deceased may have wanted and with a bill that could cause financial problems for the survivors or the estate. There can be strong pressure (real and/or imagined from a number of sources) to do the "right thing" for the deceased. It boils down to knowing some basic information about funerals and funeral practices.

Does the cemetery or crematorium require a coffin? Coffins can vary from under $100 to several thousand dollars. Styles range from heavy corrugated cardboard structures to elaborate hardwood or metal caskets. Some funeral homes will rent a decorative casket shell for use over a plywood liner. Because the coffin is a major factor in the cost of the funeral, choose carefully. It might be wise for a friend to accompany you to provide objective thoughts on [illegible].

Embalming is a common cosmetic and temporary preservation practice but not required by law if the body is to be buried or cremated within seventy-two (72) hours after death. It's also not done when someone dies of specified communicable diseases. In this case the body is put into a sealed metal-lined container. Funeral homes generally proceed with embalming unless told not to. Consider the costs and benefits, then decide.

What method will be used for disposition? Burial is the most common with cremation increasing in popularity. Next week's column will look at disposition in more detail.

And finally, did the deceased leave any instructions regarding anatomical gifts? Medical science can use donated tissues and organs for research, teaching and transplants. A body can be donated in its entirety or only certain parts. Under The Human Tissue Gift Act, a person may leave directions for the donation of an anatomical gift simply by writing the instructions on a piece of paper and signing it. The donor's wishes are paramount and cannot be changed by the next-of-kin after death. Since April 1978, Alberta drivers' licenses have been printed with the universal donor card on the back. This allows the bearer to make an anatomical gift wherever and whenever death occurs.

The Department of Anatomy at the University of Alberta will send information and forms regarding a donation of the entire body for medical research and education. The HOPE (Human Organ Procurement and Exchange) Program Co-ordinators at the University Hospital will send information concerning the donation of organs and tissues for transplant, therapy, medical research or education.

Hay Lakes district news

by Mrs. A. Arneson

Twenty children were registered for the Read 'em Cowboy summer reading program at Hay Lakes Municipal Library. The program concluded with a wind-up party held in the library on Sept. 8.

Ann Marie Fuernkranz received the top prize having read 38 books during the summer. Certificates and various prizes were awarded to all children participating in the program. The program was sponsored by the Parkland Regional Library who provided the materials used.

Approximately 30 people boarded a bus in Hay Lakes at midnight Sunday on their way to see Pope John Paul II and to take part in the mass held at Namao on Monday evening. They were part of a cavalcade of 10 buses from Camrose and area. Some families from Hay Lakes had taken their tents and set up camp at the site on Saturday evening. The group brought blankets, chairs and lunch and passed the time visiting with others at the site.

Entertainment of singing, music and films on the large screen were provided for the huge crowd.

The group from Hay Lakes report being able to get a fairly good view of Pope John Paul II in his Popemobile.

George Sware of New Westminster, B.C spent a few days here visiting with his sister Agda Miller and other relatives and friends in the area.

John and Margaret Rose Hughes from Thatcham, England are presently spending three weeks vacation in Alberta and are guests at the home of Gary and Maureen Yakimchuk. Margaret Rose and Maureen are sisters. John is a policeman in England and was very pleased when John Hanson of Hay Lakes took them on a tour of the Edmonton City Police Station. This is the couple's first visit to Canada and they are enjoying touring Jasper, the Icefields, Banff, Calgary and the Drumheller Badlands as well as attractions in Edmonton.

The Hay Lakes Playschool commenced at the Youth Center on Sept. 5 with 11 children registered. Classes are held each Wednesday morning from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Carol Skaret is the teacher with one parent acting [illegible].

The Youth of St. Peter and Paul Roman Catholic Church held a car wash in Hay Lakes on Sept. 15 and report a most successful day.

Presently patients in St. Mary's Hospital in Camrose are Martha Nordin, Mrs Agda Miller, Mrs. Roy MacAhonic and Margaret Naslund. John Bakken has been transferred to an Edmonton hospital.

Train—Truck Accident

Margaret Naslund and her daughter June were injured when their vehicle was struck by a train at a crossing two miles south of Hay Lakes on Sept 17.

June was released after being detained in Camrose Hospital overnight. Margaret is showing improvement but will have to remain in hospital for some weeks.

Henry and Essie Zucht have become great-grandparents for the first time. Their granddaughter, Lori Bartley of Airdrie gave birth to an 8½ lb son on Sept 16 in a Calgary hospital.

Dancers meet

by Joan Murray

The decision to have no Krazy Kwarter Karnival this year was made at the general meeting of the Tofield Dance Club last Tuesday night.

However, they will be serving refreshments at the fashion show and tea in November, put on by the Hearthstone and Especially For You.

The dance concert is scheduled for April 21st and 22nd, if the teachers are agreeable to these dates.

The new executive for 84-85 will be: president — Elaine Porisky; vice-president — Anna Connolly; secretary — Marian Regehr; and treasurer — Yvonne Brown.

Eradicating fairy rings is difficult

Fairy rings in lawns are difficult to control. Perforating [illegible] turf and [illegible] ample water and adequate nitrogen, or applying a fungicide to the turf are common methods used to control the problem.

These methods, however, only suppress ring symptoms sayd Belinda Choban, sod specialist with Alberta Agriculture. The methods will not eradicate the fungus.

Ms. Choban says that if only a few rings are present, it might be practical to achieve complete eradication through soil fumigation. For domestic use, a fungicide solution sufficient for four square metres of soil consists of 1.7 litres of 40-per cent formaldehyde solution (formalin), 250 mL of wetting agent (turf wetting agent or dishwashing detergent) and 25 litres of water.

First, strip the turf at least 45 cm from the outer and inner edges of the ring. Remove the sod and discard it, taking care not to spill any on the uninfected lawn. Next, cultivate the soil of the ring to a depth of at least 18 cm. Water in the solution with a watering can, making certain that none gets on the remaining turf or damage will occur. Then cover the treated soil with a plastic sheet to seal in the vapor for seven to 10 days. After that time, remove plastic and cultivate the soil. Let the soil air for 10 to 14 days to ventilate the formaldehyde gas. Finally, add more soil if needed, pack and re-seed or sod. Ms. Choban cautions that all tools used in the operation should be cleaned and soaked in the solution for at least two hours.

Fumigants like methylbromide, metham or chloropicrin should be used only by trained applicators. No fumigation should be done within one metre of the drip line of trees and shrubs.

In areas where many rings are present, a more practical prcedure may be biological control method.

Kill and remove the turf, then rototill the soil several times to mix the fungi and destroy the rings. This biological control method is based on the fact that fairy ring fungi are antagonistic to each other.

Farm credit booklet

The 1984 edition of the Alberta Agriculture publication entitled "Sources of Farm Business Credit in Alberta", contains an update of the private and government long-term lending programs available to Alberta farmers.

The information contained in this application was compiled on or before June of this year.

Most of the changes in this revision are within the terms and conditions sections of the 15 different programs included in the publication.

Alan Shideler of Alberta Agriculture's farm business management branch says the publication now includes a new section entitled Agriculture Credit Management Services.

This section contains a list of government agencies and private firms that can provide assistance to farmers by helping them analyze financial alternatives for their farms. For example, it lists the location of the regional farm economists, bank agrologists and private agricultural [illegible].

Credit needs are constantly changing; this is evident by some of the changes in farm business credit even since this publication went to print.

Some recent changes have been made to the Agricultural Development Corporation loan programs. For example, loans in arrears up to $50,000 can now be re-amortized over the remaining length of the loan at an interest rate of 12 per cent. As well, consolidation of trade debts is now available under the Alberta Farm Development Loan (AFDL) Program.

A copy of the publication "Sources of Farm Business Credit in Alberta" (Agdex 832) can be obtained from your district agriculturist, from the Farm Business Management Branch, Box 2000, Olds, Alberta, T0M 1P0 or by writing to the Publications Office, Alberta Agriculture, J.G. O'Donoghue Building, 7000 - 113 Street, Edmonton, Alberta T6H 5T6.

Women in Non-traditional Roles

Skinning animals and tanning hides may not be considered traditional trades for women in urban environments. For the seven women attending a course in Mabutasane, Botswana — traditional, or not — the tannery where they learn the trade and will work after graduation is a cure for poverty. The USC recognises the need and this year will send $6,000 to run the tannery for one year to get the ladies into the leather business. USC Canada, 56 Sparks Street, Ottawa, K1P 5B1.

Spilstead news

by M. Fisher

On Saturday evening, a number of residents attended a shower for Diane Henderson which was put on by the Spilstead Ladies Society. Diane received a number of gifts and a lunch was enjoyed by all.

On Tuesday the Spilstead Community League will be holding its monthly meeting at 8 p.m. If you have any interest in what your community league does, please attend this meeting.

The final plans for the harvest dance will be on the agenda as well as the feasibility of flooding the skating rink again this winter. The dance will be held on Oct. 13 with advance tickets available through Denise McBurney at 662-2752.

On Oct. 1 at 8 p.m. the Miquelon Lake Saddle Club will be holding its monthly meeting at Spilstead Hall.

Water your trees

Proper fall watering of woody plants in Alberta is necessary.

George Grainger, superintendent of [illegible] Tree Nursery and Horticultural Centre, has some suggestions to ensure trees and shrubs survive the coming winter.

Begin preparation for winter in August and September by withholding water and fertilizers. This allows the plant to shut down its processes in time to mature the new growth.

Watering should be done, however, says Mr. Grainger, from October 15 to freeze up to provide moisture for the following spring. He explains that with evergreens especially, drying generally occurs in very early spring [illegible] ground is still frozen. When the above-ground tissue heats up in late winter and early spring and the plant does not have sufficient water reserve in the stems and branches, the tissue will dry out.

"The water the plant needs is taken up the previous year, so what you do from June through August has more effect on the plant than what happens in the winter," he [illegible].

Fertilizers may also be applied in the October 15 to freeze-up period. Mr. Grainger explains that fertilizers applied one year show the best results the following year.

Farmers' assistance booklet is available

The 1984 edition of the Alberta Agriculture publication entitled "Assistance Available to Alberta Farmers" is now available.

It contains an update of assistance programs available from the provincial and federal governments and features nine programs that have been added since the last edition.

Alan Shideler, of Alberta Agriculture's farm services management branch, says the publication outlines the terms for 49 assistance programs and states who qualifies for each. "In today's current economic climate, this publication should be of great interest to Alberta farmers."

For example, he says, a program of particular interest is the Fruit and Vegetable Cold Storage Program where the federal government will pay up to one-third of construction costs to a maximum of $500,000. Another program is the Mobile Home Loan Insurance Program. This program is underwitten by Alberta Home Mortgage Corporation and allows borrowers to obtain up to 95 per cent financing and longer amortization periods from their lender when purchasing a new or used mobile home.

To find out more about these and other programs, you can obtain a copy of the publication "Assistance Available to Alberta Farmers" (Agdex 871) from the Farm Business Management Branch, Box 2000, Olds, Alberta, T0M 1P0 or by writing to the Publications Office, Alberta Agriculture, J. G. O'Donoghue Building, 7000 - 113 Street, Edmonton, Alberta, T6H 5T6.

Between The Covers

On the new book table this week, you will find a novel by Susan Isaacs, "Almost Paradise", the story of two people, their lives, their marriage, and all those whose lives they touch. An historical novel of a different sort is "The Ballad of Typhoid Mary" by J.F. Federspiel, detailing the life of this most tragic figure.

"Broken Promises" by Bill Tetterington, is part biography, part western adventure, being the story of the author's life-long quest for the truth behind cowboys, gunfighters and Indians of the American west.

Two new books on improving personal communications are "One to One: Understanding Personal Relationships" by Theodore Rubin M.D. This book looks into the whys and hows of individual relationships, romantic, business or any other type.

The other is "Talking With Your Teenager: a Book for Parents" by Ruth Bell and Leni Wildflower. Published in 1983, this book touches on many topics of current concern in parent/youth relationships.

And for the curious, or maybe the true believer, there is a new book on reading palms, "The Book Of The Hand" by Fred Gettings, complete with photographic examples of types.

The Tofield Library will shortly have three vacancies to be filled; persons with an interest in libraries, with ideas on what Tofield Library's policies should be, and a free Wednesday evening the third week of the month are welcome to apply for these volunteer positions.

The present Library Board has an important announcement to make to non-resident users of the library, concerning membership fees. Effective November 1, 1984, the new rates will be: Town, $5.00; Non-resident, $20.00. These new rates apply to single or family memberships alike. (See story this issue). The reason behind the different rates is one of tax dollars: Tofield taxes support library service, and County of Beaver taxes do not. A hand-out is available from the library with further information on this matter, or feel free to call any Library Board member, or your County Councillor.

Kingman district notes

by Sharon Sandy

On their return home from holidays last month, Sharon, Steve and Cory Krezanoski stopped at Didsbury to visit with Cheryl and James Brady and family. They then went on to Rocky Mountain House to see Peter Kerik. They also spent one day at West Edmonton Mall, then Steve, Dale and Cory were to Moose Lake for a weekend of fishing.

Colleen and Gerryt Wenger and Graham Yourston were to Wabamun on Sept. 8 where they attended the wedding of Beverly Stafford.

On Aug. 25 Madelon Brennum, Shirley Wilson and Sharon Krezanoski were to Rosehaven to help Yngvar Brennum celebrate his 82nd birthday. They also took along coffee and cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Schmidt and family have recently moved into the Ross Flemming home on the farm northeast of town.

Allen Adams' mother passed away on Sept. 13. She was a resident of Lloydminster.

Sept. 10 visitors at the Gerry Wenger home for Graham Yourston's birthday were Rick and Sharon Sandy, Joe and Rosie Kozack, Roselle Thomas, Nellie Kozack and Stanley, Josephine and Michael Wenger.

On Sept. 9 Sharon, Steve and Cory Krezanoski went to Cory's wind-up swimming banquet held in Camrose. The families then spent an hour swimming, followed by refreshments.

Brian Johnson and his father, Neil Johnson of Hay Lakes drove to Kamloops, B.C. for a few days last week to attend a funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Pattison and family were to Lac La Biche on Sept. 16 where they visited with Arne and Gloria Skoglund and family.

Mr. Grant Bowick was to Namao on Monday during the Pope's visit where he served as a volunteer worker.

Clifford and Vivian Simonson attended a PSAC convention in Ottawa and also did some visiting with friends. They were in Ontario from Aug. 13 to the 29th.

Mike Cossack of Tofield visited with Joe and Rosie Kozack and John and Nellie Kozack for a few days last week.

Herman and Delia Swanson visited with Mr. and Mrs. Myron Falk of Camrose on Sept. 16.

Clifford and Vivian Simonson went to Winnipeg to attend an air crew reunion from Sept. 6th to 9th. A luncheon was held for the ladies while the men attended an air show at Portage La Prairie.

A banquet was held with over 4,000 people attending. The reunion ended with a church parade on the 9th.

Harvesting again halted

The weather man isn't being too co-operative with members of the farming community.

A lengthy period of rain was followed by a short period of sun and wind which allowed farmers to resume harvesting, but once again, field work has been halted, this time by a combination of rain and snow.

It is expected that about a week of drying conditions will be needed to allow farmers to return to the fields and remove the rest of the '84 crop, according to the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Farmers made good use of the good weather that prevailed for that short period, with some managing to get finished and overall, three-quarters of all crops have now been combined.

Some cutting still remains to be done as only farmers around Daysland, Rosalind and Holden have completed this phase of harvesting.

Most of the other regions are in the final stages.

Farmers around Hay Lakes are the only ones still with rye to combine with eighty percent of that crop removed from the fields. All of the flax crop in the Daysland area has been harvested, but farmers around New Norway are still waiting to get started.

In the vicinity of eighty percent of barley, oats and canola has been combined with almost about sixty percent combined.

Although the finish of the '84 harvest season will be delayed, farmers are ahead of last year as, with three-quarters of all crops combined, they are nearly double last year when only forty percent of all crops had been removed from the fields at this time.

Farmers around Rosalind are better off than anyone as only six percent of their crops are still to be threshed, with canola completed, oats and barley have five percent to go and eighty-five percent of wheat has been combined.

Daysland farmers are about ninety percent completed, with flax and rye done, canola is ninety percent threshed, wheat is at eighty-five percent while oats and barley have twenty percent to go.

In the Bawlf, Camrose and New Norway areas, farmers have threshed about eight-five percent of all crops.

While all rye has been removed from the fields around Camrose and most other crops are nearly done, only one-half of the wheat crop has been combined.

In the Bawlf area, ten percent of canola is still to be threshed while oats and barley are eight-five percent completed and wheat has reached the three-quarter mark.

Rye has been totally combined in the New Norway region with oats at ninety-five percent, barley and canola are at eighty-five percent and just over one-half of the wheat has been combined.

Eighty percent of all threshing has been completed in the Holden region with oats and barley at ninety percent, canola is eight-five percent and wheat has sixty percent of the crop removed from the fields.

Round Hill area farmers have reached the three-quarter mark with oats and canola at nearly ninety-percent while barley is seventy percent and wheat has sixty percent combined.

In the Ryley area, farmers have passed the seventy percent mark with all rye combined, canola and barley are three-quarters done, wheat is at sixty-five percent and one-half of the oats has been threshed.

Hardest hit by the poor weather has been the Tofield-Hay Lakes regions where farmers still have more than forty percent of their crops still to be combined.

Eighty percent of rye has been threshed at Hay Lakes with other crops at the mid-way mark while in the Tofield area, less than ten percent of wheat has been combined, oats is one-half done while an end is in sight for barley and canola.

Rebsomen welcomed

Rev. Daniel Rebsomen was welcomed as the new minister to the Ryley Seventh-day Adventist Church.

After giving his first sermon to the congregation on Saturday, Rev. Rebsomen, and his wife Sandy, were guests at a fellowship dinner.

He replaces Rev. Werner Seidel who is now minister to churches in Bassano and Bonnyville. Rev. Rebsomen will be pastor of the Ryley and Sherwood Park Adventist Churches and will have services in Ryley on the second and fourth Saturdays of each month.

The Rebsomens have three adult children, Jean, Marc, Janine and Gigi. They share an interest in raising American standard-breds, and Rev. Rebsomen is quite fluent in a number of languages, including Arabic and French.

Previous to arriving in the district, the Rebsomens served churches in Montreal, Quebec City, the eastern townships and churches in northern Alberta.

Around the town

Mr and Mrs. Garth Fleming and girls, along with Mrs Pat Fleming spent the weekend in Pershold and Red Deer, visiting with Phil Connolly who is recovering from a recent heart attack. Mary Fleming of Seattle returned with them to spend a few days visiting with relatives and friends in Holden.

Debbie Litwin and Connie Thiessen won the junior high Bible Trails' challenge on Friday night.

On Sunday, Mr and Mrs Stan Taylor of Edmonton, Elsie McRoberts of Irma, Mrs Ella McRoberts of Tofield Lodge, Shorty and Joyce Mackie of Tofield and Vic and Bernice Schneider of Bruderheim visited with John and Ella Moore.

Auxiliary meets

by Joan Harvey

Donations of crocheted or knitted slippers of all sizes are needed to roll on the tuck cart in Tofield Hospital.

At the regular meeting of the Tofield Hospital Auxiliary last Monday, it was noted that they are in need of empty spools of thread, toothpaste caps and used ladies' magazines.

Any of the above items can be dropped off at the drop box located in the Owl Drug Mart.

More information regarding this matter can be had by phoning Delores Roth.

Volunteers of the Month during the summer holidays were Muriel Shaw and Dorothy Shevchuk.

During July and August the tray favors were composed of fresh flowers, donated by Yvonne Brown, Muriel Shaw and Tannis Shaw-Sadry.

The annual tea and bazaar has been scheduled for November 3rd, in the Tofield Drop-In Centre.

The executive for the new term will be elected at the annual meeting on October 18th, at 7:30 p.m. in Tofield Hospital.

TEST YOUR SOIL
PUT MOR PROFIT IN YOUR HANDS
SOIL TESTING is an important tool in high yield farming. When used along with other information, tests are useful guides in arriving at recommendations for fertilizer.
The soil test is a helpful diagnostic tool just like the thermometer. But all such tools require skill plus common sense in their use and interpretation - plus a realistic approach to the needs and goals of each farmer.
Thats where we can help, our expertise and equipment meet that goal. We don't stop there, we blend the correct analysis for each crop with the latest technology in blending equipment.

Birthday visitors at Tom Chrystian's for Tom's birthday Saturday were Mr and Mrs. Rick Dek and girls, Edmonton, Leroy and Esther Forre, Mr and Mrs. Jim Chrystian, Cory, Dana and Sheila of St Albert, Mrs Judy Gunderson and children, Camrose, and Mr and Mrs. Ron Chrystian, Rod, Michelle and Nicole.

Vernon Campbell also had a birthday party Saturday at his home, when his wife Diana entertained about 42 relatives and friends for it was also their daughter Pam's birthday.

Education poll results released by Minister

Results from a recent Gallup Poll taken in Alberta indicate that 76 percent of Albertans, who have children in the education system, are satisfied with the job being done by public schools in their neighbourhood.

This information is part of the results of the Gallup Poll summary report, released by Education Minister David King.

The poll, taken in May, asked 1,064 Albertans in all areas of the province to state their views on the four areas of education: Secondary School Program, Integration of Handicapped Students into Regular Classrooms, Private Schools; and General issues in Education — Compulsory Diploma Examinations, User Fees.

When asked about core subject material for junior and senior high school programs, reading, spelling, writing-composition, grammar, computational skills, problem solving skills and Canadian history were identified by over 80 percent of respondents as being important core subjects for junior high. Over 70 percent included these same subjects as core subjects for senior high school.

While over two-thirds of those questioned believe that physically handicapped children should be integrated into elementary schools, only about one-third felt this was the best approach for the mentally handicapped.

On the issue of the funding, approval and licensing of private schools, 66 percent felt all private schools should operate under government license. A large majority of those questioned believe all private schools should be required to meet prescribed government standards as far as school buildings and facilities (85 percent), subject matter taught (84 percent) and teachers' qualifications (90 percent) are concerned.

Almost all respondents (93 percent) felt that parents should have the right to choose the type of school their children attend.

In the area of compulsory diploma examinations for Grade 12 students, 73 percent felt they would result in a better assessment of student achievement, and 74 percent thought examinations might cause students to make greater efforts to succeed.

In a ratio of over two-to-one, more Albertans approve than disapprove of user fees for textbook rentals and laboratory fees (65 percent), extra-curricular activities (67 percent), and vocational training materials (66 percent).

In releasing the poll results, Mr King said, "I am most interested in these representative opinions of Albertans. These results will have direct and particular implications for the current initiatives of Alberta Education — the School Act and the Secondary Program Review, and the Private School Study."

League organizes

Planning for a new season in the County Senior Hockey League is well underway.

All five teams from last winter's operation have returned to the fold and that includes Rosalind, Kingman, Tofield and two entries from Camrose, Blackhawks and Norsemen.

Overtures have been received from Holden and New Sarepta, but nothing is concrete in regards to either application.

League officials were not aware, at this time, of any other possible entries.

A general organizational meeting has been called for Oct 9th at which time, any new entries must be submitted.

Entries will be accepted or rejected at that meeting and a new executive will be elected.

That meeting is to be held in the Aquatics Centre and will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

League officials plan to approach recreational officials to see if they can obtain some [illegible] as most games played in the Rose City last winter started at 10 p.m.

Holden plans new plant . . . for water treatment

by Joan Murray

Holden Council is proceeding with plans for a new water treatment plant for the village, sometime in the future.

At a meeting held in mid-September, council reviewed and accepted a cost estimate of $233,800 prepared by Pedmore Engineering Ltd. for construction of this project and authorized them to proceed with the preparation of plans.

An application for a grant from Alberta Utilities and Telecommunications for funding under Municipal Water and Sanpity and Sewage Treatment grant program will be submitted for approval.

A request from Marvin Tomashavaty for the village to consider purchasing a dog trap to lend to residents having problems with dogs coming on to their property was discussed and it was agreed that the cost of such a trap be obtained from the Alberta SPCA before a decision is made.

Although taxes on one questionable property has been paid, the collection of property taxes on certain other properties is still a problem. The administrator advised that action on these outstanding accounts will not be taken if the tax arrears are paid in full.

This information was taken from the unapproved minutes of the Village of Holden Council meeting held on September 10.

Schools sports area grows

by Joan Murray

Schools in the County of Beaver are members of a larger zone area this year.

The Alberta Schools Athletic Association has re-organized East and West Central zones making them into one called the Central Alberta Schools Athletic Association.

There are now 13-14 schools for Viking, Ryley and Tofield schools to compete with as opposed to 6-8 last year.

Tournament competition will operate basically the same way as it always has in the past. Central zone will stretch from south of the Yellowhead Highway to south of Highway 14 as far as Red Deer and from border to border within the Province of Alberta.

Volleyball season has started with a three-team league in Beaver County. Viking, Ryley and Tofield schools will be playing home games and weekend tournaments until the season ends in November with a provincial tournament.

Basketball action begins in December. This league will consist of Viking, Ryley, Tofield, New Sarepta, Daysland, Sedgewick and possibly Wainwright.

John Blades, chairman of the County of Beaver Sports Committee said that the larger league will result in travelling greater distances to games and competition will be busier with twice as many schools involved.

The Junior High Sports League will be playing within the County and only have county tournaments.

County of Beaver senior high athletics will be competing in other areas of sports such as badminton, curling, sad track and field throughout the '84-85 school term.

County seeks an all-purpose man

by Joan Murray

For the past four months, municipal fire departments in the County of Beaver have been operating without benefit of a County Fire Chief.

At their regular meeting on Thursday, Councillors agreed that it was due time to rectify this matter.

They propose to hire an individual on a full-time basis who will be involved with three areas of county business including the duties f county fire chief, as well as assistant to both the agricultural fieldsman and the development officer.

This person will have the title of Assistant Agricultural Fieldsman and his salary will be partially funded by a government grant.

It was felt that having a trained person employed full-time to take care of such things as weed inspection, pest control, dog catching and other areas that now require the hiring of several different part-time persons, would be more effective

It was also thought that programs such as the retailing of grass seed could be implemented to help make up for the additional cost County would have to incur to pay full-time wages.

Another benefit to hiring this individual would be to shift some of the workload from the present development officer and agricultural fieldsman.

County administrator will prepare a job description for this position and bring it to the next meeting for council's approval before it is advertised.

At the request of the county reeve, the proposed map of electoral boundary changes was held back from being submitted to Municipal Affairs for approval. It was thought that they should take a second look at this map because the change from seven divisions to eight could result in tied votes on motions made at subsequent council meetings.

After a lengthy discussion, minor changes were made to the map, but the decision to go with eight divisions stood fast and the revised map will be sent in for approval.

County received three appeal letters regarding the location of the regional landfill transfer site in Tofield. The hearing date for these appeals has been set for October 11th at 9 a.m.

Council received a letter bearing the signatures of 57 Bruce residents protesting the condition of streets and sidewalks during wet weather when every surface gets covered with "sticky muck". They asked that council consider paving.

A motion was passed to send a letter to the Vegreville MLA with regards to a grant for oiling the roads in Bruce.

The rebuilding of the bridge on Secondary Road 616 south between Highway 14 to Highway 26 has been given top priority status in view of the fact that the south wing abutment has deteriorated causing some anchor wires to let go. As a safety precaution, it was agreed to have Bridge Branch inspect this situation immediately.

The recent decision made by the Tofield Library Board to raise fees for rural users was discussed.

A regional library system had been considered in the past, but grant monies can only be available if all the libraries in the county take part.

Neither Ryley nor Viking were receptive to a regional board when approached by the council in past years. Council will consider approaching those two boards a second time.

An organizational meeting will be held on October 22nd at 10 a.m. for the purpose of electing the reeve, deputy reeve and committee members for the '84-85 term.

Holden Fox Run

by Joan Murray

At the Terry Fox Run in Holden last Sunday, 46 runners braved the elements to raise money for Cancer Research.

On Thursday afternoon, an additional 13 runners completed the 10-kilometer course.

The total number of pledge dollars for these two days came to about $1,600.

Run co-ordinator, Charles Mathews, said that last year, 66 runners raised about $3,600 but he felt that despite the bad weather conditions, this year's event was every bit as successful.

He expressed appreciation for the volunteer help received from Divana McKeon, Susan Tymchuk, Dorothea Mathews and Ken Sharpe, who helped take pledges and did the necessary bookwork on Sunday.

The oldest runner was 68-year-old Jack McKeon and on the other end of the age scale, was one-year old Mathew Haugen who made the trip in a back pack.

Chairman Mathews with a total of $326, was the highest pledge [illegible]

Royal appointment

Histories have long recognized that it's impossible to judge the lasting merits or benefits of anything when you're involved right in the center of operations, but only if you're able to stand back at some distance and view things dispassionately.

So it was highly interesting this week to learn that Queen Elizabeth, has seen fit to bestow a particular new honor on former Prime Minister Trudeau, one of the highest orders in her command. Presumably the Queen is able to stand back and observe developments in Canada somewhat more objectively than can the average Canadian. So her assessment of the contribution made by Mr. Trudeau is probably a good deal more incisive than that of the average voter in Canada these days. So many of us are still hung up over the day to day shortcomings, the regional injustices, the apparent contempt for valued traditions and traditional values, that we are unable to see the view apparently held by the Queen. And her advisors.

In time, history may give Trudeau more than we're presently prepared to allow. Or, on the other hand, it may be more critical.

Still speaking of the Queen, it was fascinating to learn that even she holds with an ancient superstition, that it is not desirable to give or to receive a sharp instrument, such as a knife, scissors, or a sword. Rather, it should be sold, or purchased, though the payment be a mere token. Thus, since the object is "sold", it may not have the effect of "cutting" the friendship.

Just so, when the Queen was presented with the scissors, in a handsome leather case, which she had just used in a ribbon cutting, she insisted on "buying" them with a brand new sixpense . . . "so that this friendship may never be cut."

We're aware of this superstition . . . though it seems not well known . . . going back at least 75 years. So at long last it seems delicious to have it given Royal Assent.

Superstition. By appointment to Her Majesty the Queen.

Scuttled

Several of the group, it will be remembered, staged a sit-in in the offices of the Agricultural Development Corporation office in Camrose, and even canvassed local merchants and local shoppers on the streets for support. They were led by Jim Friesen, of Caroline, who was demanding a two-year moratorium on farm debt, in addition to several other factors.

It may also be remembered that Ray Reid, well known in this district, joined the sit-in, then advanced it by going on a diet over a number of days.

Well, members of Alberta Farm Survival must feel sick these days. Their credibility is shattered. Their cause is undermined. Their believability has been destroyed . . . all by Jim Friesen.

A couple of weeks ago he left Alberta. Disappeared. Probably somewhere in Saskatchewan, suggests a neighbor, Stan Nelson, who has unofficially become leader of the group.

But he didn't simply walk away from his debt with the ADC. His two-storey log cabin home at Caroline has been torn apart. Holes were punched in the walls, and hardly a sheet of drywall plasterboard was left . . . on either side of the studs in the interior. "He was feeling bitter and pretty disgusted with the human race" the day he left, reports Mr. Nelson, but that hardly explains wanton destruction on such a scale. It might be understood that a broken man in desperation might hammer his fist through a wall, but only a man gone berserk, surely, would tear off sheet after sheet of drywall from the studs, and leave a shocking testimony of destruction.

Agricultural Minister Fjordbotten told the public that he utterly rejected the demands of the Survivalists, but on the other hand it was noteworthy that only a few days later some policies at least were amende ..

Now, Friesen has destroyed whatever credibility the group had. How can anyone give serious attention to people who wantonly destroy thousands of dollars worth of good, useable, and costly, property? Even if the cards may be stacked against them, an argument vigorously opposed by many other farmers.

Understanding is necessary

Tofield, Alberta
Sept. 28, 1984

Dear Sir,

It is difficult for this reader to understand why, coming from a family of natural parents, you would presume to editoralize on such a delicate subject as criticism of people who, adopted, wish to find their natural parents. You simply do not understand the situation.

We do not stop loving our first child simply because a second or third is born. We do not stop loving adoptive parents because we've found our natural parents.

It is instinct to want to know where we came from. Why we have blue eyes or are tall or short. Is there ignorance or intelligence in our background? Why we were given up. Types of hereditary disease.

Are you suggesting that we protect the natural parents by not ever showing our presence — their mistake? Every person has the right to know his heritage.

A well balanced, loving, adoptive parent who has done the job of raising the child properly, should feel no jealousy or fear.

Phyllis Fols

PARKS CELEBRATE

Sept. 14, 1984
Jasper, Alta.

Dear Sir:

In 1985 Canadians will be celebrating the centennial of their National Parks System. Therefore, Parks Canada, with the support and cooperation of the Jasper community, is planning special projects and events for the entire year. The purposes of these projects are to celebrate 100 years of heritage conservation in Canada, increase public awareness of National and Historic Parks, encourage people to participate in special events, and simply visit and get to know their parks.

Many individuals, businesses and community groups have expressed interest in a homecoming as a Centennial project in Jasper.

I support this proposal and on behalf of Parks Canada, I would like to invite all former employees and residents of Jasper to a Homecoming Weekend on September 13, 14, 15, 1985.

After considering other dates, it was decided that the September weekend would be the best for Homecoming because September 14 is the "birthday" of Jasper National Park, and by mid-September accommodations should not be as scarce as during the summer months, yet the weather is usually quite agreeable for outdoor pursuits.

Plans are already being made for entertainment and activities during next year's Homecoming, as we realize that advanced preparation is necessary to make this event successful and to allow former residents to schedule their holidays if they plan to attend. If you know anyone who might be interested in this event, I would appreciate it if you would pass this memo to them. Questions about this weekend Homecoming or other Centennial projects in Jasper can be directed to Gloria Keyes, Centennial Co-ordinator for Jasper National Park. (852-6133).

Next year is an important year for all Canadians — let's celebrate and enjoy it together in Jasper!

G. A. Balding
Superintendent
Jasper National Park

August 30, 1984.

Dear Sir:

The action taken by the United States government to withhold highway funds from any state which does not raise the drinking age to 21 is highly significant. To pass such legislation, even though some people believed it was an infringement on the rights of the states and of individuals, means there is a serious problem. The problem is that too many young people are getting killed or injured in alcohol-related accidents.

According to a report published by the Addiction Research Foundation in Toronto people 18-20 in the U.S. are more than twice as likely to be in a drinking and driving accident than any other age group of drivers.

What about the situation in Canada and in Alberta? Much of the research that has been done here points in the same direction as that done in the United States.

What about the question of human rights? Why should the right to drink be taken away from the 18-20 year olds when they have all the other rights of adulthood? The answer is that rights are conditional ad we may lose any of them at any age if the way we use them becomes dangerous to the public. In the United States they have decided that it is more important to protect the right of other people to live than it is to protect the right of this age group to drink.

If we are going to see any change in the drinking age in Alberta it will have to be a people's movement. The government is not going to take any action on such a touchy subject as liquor unless they are assured of widespread public support.

If you are interested in seeing the drinking age raised to 21 in Alberta, we suggest you get all the information you can on teenage drinking and driving. Identify yourself with one of the several groups who are organized to do something about the drinking and driving problem, and let your concerns be known to your MLA.

Yours truly,
Douglas H. Russell, President
Alcohol-Drug Education Association of Alberta

"The Faithful Few"

Wherever you go and whatever you do,
Always finding them, "the faithful few".
Who stick when the others are tired and gone,
The little handful who carry on.
Drab and weary, but grit to the core
Carrying the banner forever [illegible]
Keeping the Sunday School from despair,
Playing the piano and leading in prayer,
Finding the money for books and cards
Planting trees in the personage yards,
Helping the preacher through thick and thin
Doing their bit with a cheerful grin.
Always you'll find them at Church affairs,
Bringing in water and extra [illegible]
Giving a hand at the carrying, too,
Just anything — they are glad to do.
Washing the dishes with tucked up sleeves,
The first to come and the last to leave.
Only a precious few at the [illegible]
But over the world from East to West
They've carried His kingdom with faithful hands,
Setting it up in a hundred lands.
Teaching His word to the uppermost part,
Holding the glory, safe in their heart.
For as long as we've churches and pews to fill
God will find servants to do His will.
Plain little common-place working folk,
Eager and ready to bear His yoke
Ever His kingdom with work to do,
Safe in the hands — of the faithful few.

Giving Thanks

Thanksgiving is just around the corner. Let me tell you a few of the things for which I am thankful.

I'm thankful for the sun, wind and rain, not necessarily in that order and not all the time, but thankful just the same. Without them our planet would be a bald rock. (Sorry, try as I might I can't work up any good feelings about snow.)

I'm thankful that we have enough food to eat, clothes to wear and a roof over our heads that doesn't leak (so far).

I'm thankful that we are given choices.

I'm thankful for my friends because we care about each other and for my enemies, whoever they may be, because they keep my feet on the ground.

I'm thankful for music and laughter because they make me glad to be alive.

I'm thankful for modern technology which has given us television so that we may see worlds beyond our own (or Another World if we prefer) and computers that speak a language I don't understand but play games I do.

I'm thankful for love. It has given me my husband and children and taught me the worth of three sisters.

I'm thankful for peace because I'm a lover, not a fighter and I value the lives of others.

I'm thankful for wheels. They allow us to travel greater distances and provide me with an alternative even when I should be walking.

I'm thankful for legs that allow me to walk freely and to chase my kids when they need it.

I'm thankful for children. They are our future.

I'm thankful for dreams. They give us hope.

I'm thankful for health, good and bad, that reminds me not to take my life for granted.

I'm thankful for trees. They set an example by growing tall and straight, bending but seldom breaking.

I'm thankful for families.

I'm thankful for courage. It gets me through the tight [illegible]

I'm thankful I'm a Canadian because next to other countries, our problems don't seem too bad.

I'm thankful for books. They teach, entertain, allow me to escape and make me think.

I'm thankful that I have more to be thankful for than I can list here. Please borrow any of my blessings and take them as your own. I'll say thanks for that, too.

Taking Stock '84

The fourth annual Taking Stock conference will be held at the Convention Inn South, Edmonton on November 6 and 7, 1984.

This year's conference is one and a half days long commencing at 1:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 6. For Tuesday afternoon only, there are seminars scheduled to cover topics of charting, futures markets, livestock profitability and livestock options markets. There is no charge for these seminars, however, seating availability is on a first come basis.

During the evening of Nov. 6 there will be a Bearpit Session where seminar and conference speakers will be available for discussions with producers on livestock and marketing concerns.

On Wednesday, Nov. 7, well known and knowledgable speakers will provide their outlook for the cattle and hog industries, with emphasis on the Alberta situation. There will also be opportunities for those attending to discuss their market concerns. To attend the speakers' presentations on Wednesday there is a charge of $40 per person. This [illegible] sessions, copies of the speeches [illegible] do not wish to attend the Wednesday program may purchase copies of all speeches for $15 which will be mailed immediately after the conference.

During this period of volatile prices and rapidly changing supplies of meat, marketing strategies for cattle and hogs are of great importance to producers. This conference has been designed to help this need

Both the seminars on Tuesday afternoon and the conference speeches on Wednesday are limited to the first 300 people.

Further details of Taking Stock '84 can be obtained from Market Analysis Branch, 3rd Floor, 7000-113 St., Edmonton, Alberta, T6H 5T6; phone 427-5387 or your District Agriculturist Office.

Winter Courses

Rudy and I are presently working on our winter courses. All elevator managers in the County of Beaver have an outline of what we intend to put on this winter. The details are tentative and we will verify the details as the dates to the courses get closer. Stop by at your elevator, read the course list over, and if interested sign your name on the blank page beside the list or tell your manager which ones you are interested in. Or phone us directly so we can put your name on a course list. Bye for [illegible]

Deadline nears to enter 'Royal'

[illegible] entries in the field crops section of this year's Toronto Royal Agricultural Winter Fair, to be held November 8-17.

Alberta Agriculture will again pay for transporting exhibits in the cereals, oilseeds and forage seed categories to Toronto. The department also offers an honorarium of $150 for any reserve champion prize and $200 for any grand championship.

"Alberta entries have been extremely successful in the past," says Bill Witbeck of Alberta Agriculture's field crops branch. "The winners receive prize money and perhaps more important, recognition that is valuable to Alberta's entire agricultural community."

Exhibits may be selected from either the 1983 or 1984 crop year, and the entry fee is $2 per sample except for 4-H or pedigreed seed classes, which have no fee.

Entries in the commercial cereal seed classes must be 10 pounds each, while commercial forage, mustard and rapeseed samples must weigh [illegible]. Pedigreed cereal entries must be three pounds, taken from a lot of least 100 bushels. Pedigreed forage samples must weigh two pounds and be taken from a lot of least 500 pounds.

Hay samples must contain not less than a 12-inch section of a bale, and sheaves must be between five and seven inches in diameter in the centre.

Seed potato samples must contain 20 tubers that weigh 6 to 7 ounces each, and the variety must be noted. The deadline for entries of potatoes is Oct. 13, 1984.

Exhibits must be shipped in containers that are strong enough to ensure that the exhibit will reach its destination in good condition. Light cotton sacks are not strong enough, and should be shipped in a cardboard box with the entry tag.

All exhibits that are sent directly to the Royal must arrive in Toronto before October 31, 1984. Samples to be shipped by Alberta Agriculture need to be in Lacombe by October 26, [illegible] Fields Crops Branch, Alberta Agriculture, Bag Service No. 47, Lacombe, Alberta, T0C 1S0.

Prize lists, entry forms and further information are available from district agriculturists' offices.

Planning on showing your horse. The Hastings Lake Pleasure Horse Association invites you to join them on Oct. 13 and 14 with instructor Aileen McConnell on western pleasure and trail.

For more information, contact Sharon Tedford at 662-[illegible] or Muriel Rabby at [illegible].

Due to the [illegible] weather the trophy Fun Show was cancelled until next spring. Another equestrian outing to look forward to is a driving clinic to be held in November for folks who prefer to drive rather than ride.

There is a trail ride planned for this weekend, at Donalds.

Muriel Rabby is looking for a new bug zapper. Her horse, Billy knocked their's out of a tree with the zapper landing right on top of her head, bringing her to her knees. The head and knees are fine, but the zapper is a mess.

Faye and Lawrence Leicht have returned from a two week vacation spent at the West Coast. They were accompanied by Faye's cousins, [illegible] of Kent, England. Travelling by automobile they toured Vancouver and Vancouver Island where they spent some time visiting with friends. A special attraction was visiting the Butchart Gardens and spending a day fishing for salmon in the Pacific Ocean. On the return trip they stopped in the Okanagan Valley and called at the Otto Frank orchard. The Frank family send greetings to their friends here. Mr and Mrs. Cobbin departed at Calgary taking the Via Rail to Toronto and then leaving for England by air.

The new executive consists of Connie Henderson as secretary; Susan Perkin as treasurer; Anna Peters as badge secretary and Maryann Wetach as president.

Leaders for Brownies are Brown Owl, Carol Huebner and Tawny Owl, Gayle Werkmen. Guides are led by Bea Jacobson and rumor has it that Tillie Sych will lead a newly-formed group of Pathfinders.

CLC sets record

This week, Camrose Lutheran College completed compiling its 1984 enrolment statistics and a record number of students are attending CLC.

As of September 14, 712 students had registered in about 200 different courses (some with multiple sections) in first and second year university transfer programs and CLC's 8-month Grade XII program.

[illegible] will be staying in one of CLC's 10 residences.

This year's enrolment is up from last year's total of [illegible] students, which was also a record.

When asked if this trend will continue in the future, CLC President K. Glen Johnson replied that the College hopes to increase its enrolment by as many as 40 students annually until the College has its projected optimum enrolment of 1,000 to 1,100 students.

Presently, the College admits over 400 first-year (or freshmen) university students annually, from among these students will come enough students returning to three and four year programs to boost enrolment to over 1,000.

President Johnson emphasized that this increase in numbers will come principally from greater numbers of senior students as CLC comes closer to granting baccalaureate degrees.

Interest develops in palliative care

Considerable interest is being shown in the development of "palliative care" in [illegible].

A one-day workshop was held in Camrose in the Norsemen Motor Inn last week (Tuesday) and organizers described the turnout as excellent.

One hundred and forty-eight people attended the seminar, coming from Camrose, numerous nearby communities as well as from as far away as Rocky Mountain [illegible]

Palliative care is designed to assist terminally ill patients (physically, emotionally and spiritually) as well as providing assistance and guidance for immediate family members.

[illegible] by Dr. Helen Hayes of Edmonton who was assisted by a nurse, pastoral counsellor and an occupational therapist.

It is expected that, if a program can be developed in Camrose, it would be staffed by volunteers which would include not only medical personel, but as well, interested persons from the community.

The province doesn't allot any funding for such a program and as a result, a fundraising project is likely to be undertaken if palliative care is intitiated in Camrose.

It is expected that an announcement of the information of such a program in Camrose could be made in the [illegible]

CYS workers arrive

by Joan Murray

[illegible] arrived in Tofield last month from Guernsey, Saskatchewan to assume Jim and Vicky Siler's duties as youth workers for Tofield and area.

Bill Bast was pastor of the Mennonite Church in Guernsey for the past seven years. Over the last 25 years he has worked with youth as a director at summer camps, taught Sunday school class and organized [illegible] camping and canoeing trips for youth of all ages, on an interdenominational basis.

He was also youth secretary for Mennonite churches in Saskatchewan, Alberta and Montana for four years.

[illegible] official involvement with a youth group. Together, they will be organizing youth festivals, drama presentations, wilderness camps, canoe trips, skiing excursions and craft workshops in order to encourage the spiritual, social and physical growth of youth in this area.

Young people interested in these programs are not required to belong to any religious faith, the Bast's expressed strongly their desire to encourage those outside of an organized church to participate in this program. They felt that youth who already belong to a church have quite a lot of programs available already and wish to reach out especially to those who do not and would like to have access to such activities.

The Community Youth Services (CYS) in Tofield and area is supported by the Lutheran, General Conference Mennonite, Salem Mennonite and Ryley Good News Community Churches. If any other churches wish to be associated with CYS, they are welcome to call Diane Rell at "That Place" restaurant for more information.

Funds for CYS activities are derived from donations from interested individuals, involved churches and CYS fundraising events such as the Slave Auction that was held in Tofield this spring.

The CYS organization has been in service in Tofield for four years.

The Basts will be available in their office at the back of "That Place" every Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., but are on call to anyone, parent or youth, who wish to have more information regarding their work or anyone who might want to just talk.

They can be reached anytime, day or night, at the United Church parsonage where they now live, by phoning 662-3987. The office number is 662-3492.

Youth exchange project has Bruce participants

by [illegible]

Elias Goolaman and Angelica Gasper are presently concluding a month's visit with the Bablitz families in Bruce, as part of a Caribbean and National Farmers' Union youth exchange program.

Both Goolaman, a native of St. Lucia who raises bananas and vegetables and Gasper who works on her family's mixed farm in Dominique, are impressed with the size of Canadian farms and machinery. An average farm in the Caribbean is approximately five acres of hilly land, worked completely by hand.

When questioned about her first impression of Canada, Gasper replied, "I feel it is a very beautiful country and well developed compared to Dominique. The climate is very cold but the people are warm and friendly." Gasper, who regularly carries 30 pounds of bananas on her head, thinks that the work on a Canadian farm is quite easy.

Goolaman stated that he would like to see this type of exchange continue over a longer period of time whereby Caribbean people could work on Canadian farms during the summer and Canadians could return the labor in the winter months.

One of the highlights of the visit was a trip to the mountains where they found enough snow to build a snowman.

On the weekend, Lydia Bablitz and Grant Bablitz will leave for the Caribbean to spend a month with Gasper and Goolaman.

On Friday, at 7:30 p.m., the Cribbean visitors will show a film "Tough Bananas" in the Bruce Recreation Centre.

District news from Ryley

by [illegible]

Recent visitors with the Elmer Anderson's at the Lions Golden Manor were Alec and Gladys Tough of Edmonton, Henry and Irene Hafso of Viking, Lorne and Lucy Anderson and boys of Tofield, Elston and Maureen Solberg of Edmonton, Edna Gjerde of Camrose and Kay Coombes.

Emma Nordstrom had her daughter visiting her on Sunday and Edna Gjerde also dropped in to visit.

Visitors with Ida and Stanley Hunka last week were Brenda Helgeland, Mary Kosoway, the E. Reil's, Steve Beanowski, Lodimer Anhill of Ryley, Pete and Ruby Hunka of Tofield and Mike Hunka of Edmonton dropped in on Sunday afternoon.

Visitors with the Earl Hardys lately was Mary's sister, Margaret Gares and husband of B.C. and Inez Reil of Ryley.

Elvera Reil visited with Mrs. Milo Stutzman in the Millwood Nursing Home last week and she also got to see Doris Gardeski, formerly of Ryley.

Visitors with Clara Bodnar of Shoots on Sept. 26 to help her celebrate her birthday were Margaret and Rolf Klouse of Tofield, Nancy James, Marilyn Pooke, Ruth Yoder, Emma Komar, Sarah Desorlais, Kay Lund, Ellie Pattison and Ezra and Lena Reil. Nancy James made and decorated a cake.

We got to see all the trophies Tommy Bodnar has won. The National Black Powder Trophy that was won at Coquitlam, B.C was a beautiful one. He won the Mens and Sylvia Perry won the Ladies shoot. Tommy has a total of 14 certificates and Sylvia five certificates in the Canadian Black Powder Federation.

Mrs. Theresa Switzer passed away on Sept. 25th.

She is survived by her husband, Mervin, two sons; two daughters; grandchildren; two brothers, and three sisters.

Funeral services were held Sept. 28 in the Foster and McGarvey Funeral Chapel and burial took place in Ryley Cemetery.

Mike Pawelko, Rose Knudslien and Dick Blakely are patients in the Tofield Hospital.

Residents of Ryley who remember the Teare family when they ran the bakery and restaurant in Ryley got a thrill out of reading the poem composed by Mrs Ida Teare in 1930 in the Sept. 25th issue of The Camrose Canadian. Mrs. Teare makes her home in Seattle, Washington, with her daughter Hilda and husband. They celebrated her 100th birthday with about 150 family and friends wishing her well.

BRTA meet set

Plans have been finalized for the holding of the annual meeting of the Battle River Tourist Association.

This meeting has been scheduled for the Norsemen Motor Inn in Camrose on the evening of Oct 13th.

Jack Chesney, general manager of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce will be the guest speaker.

Rolf Jacobsen of Sedgewick will be inducted as the new BRTA president while Blaine Alexander of Camrose and Gerald Beach of Deven will be installed as vice-presidents.

A number of awards will be presented.

Annual reports from the president, general manager and committee chairmen will be presented in written form.

A number of tickets for this function are still available and may be obtained at the BRTA Office.

USC Helps Unemployed Women

As part of an income-generating program for 22 unemployed women, USC Canada is providing $5,000 to cover runnings costs for a co-operative ceramic production unit in Mgababa, Swaziland. The USC is located at 56 Sparks, Ottawa, K1P 5B1.

Between the Covers

The new book table this week contains a number of donations as well as purchases For parents, How To Raise Your Child To Be A Winner by Bene Hawes joins Growing Up Thin by Alvin Eden, M.D. These two books augment a growing collection of books on various aspects of parenting.

Much in demand during summer and early fall are recipes to make use of wild foods. A Taste Of The Wild by Blanche Garrett features tasty items such as Shaggy Mane Bisque, or Cranberry Catsup, and even includes directions for candied Violets.

Two western biographies are offered this week, Father Lacombe by James G. MacGregor, and Wilderness Men by Howard O'Hagan. The latter is a collection of ten short biographies of such men who took part in forming the Canadian and American West.

An error in last week's column should be noted here: three vacancies exist on the Tofield Library Board; volunteers in the library itself are always welcome, for a variety of positions, but at the moment, Board members are sought in particular.

Do you know of anyone with a reading handicap, who might benefit from the use of talking books? These are books read aloud and recorded on cassettes for the use of the print-handicapped person, whether that handicap be perceptual or physical. There is a very large variety of books available for eligible readers, and the service is free. Contact the librarian for further information.

The Preschool Story Hour is full for the present session, but another is planned to begin November 20 and 23; pre-registrations will be accepted now.

The regular winter hours are now in effect: Tuesday 1-5, Thursday 3-5 and 6-9; Friday and Saturday 10-12 and 1-5.

Leaders earn crests

by [illegible]

During the summer months, Laurie Weatherill, Cub leader in Tofield and Ben Pelster, Scout leader in Spilstead area, attended a course in leadership in the Scouting program at Camp Woods near Sylvan Lake.

At this time, both received the Gillwell Crest, which is the highest honour a leader can achieve The crest is received only after leaders have completed all the courses available that the original Scouting movement founder, Lord Baden Powell, considered appropriate There are further courses to complement a leaders training, but there are no more awards given beyond this point.

The crest itself is a special neckerchief made out of the Gillwell Tartan. The Tartan is the crest. During the 1920's an English landowner named Gillwell donated 125 acres to the City of London which was turned into a park and used for Scout leader training.

Weatherill and Pelster also received their woodbadge beads, another honor bestowed upon accomplished leaders.

These beads symbolize the original ones which were sent to each Scout leader around the world after Baden Powell had acquired them during a military victory in Africa many years ago.

The course the two local leaders took was based on phsychology and will enable them to handle problem situations and recognize the needs of the boys they take care of and how to deal with these needs in a constructive manner.

So far, the Tofield Cub Pack has eight members but they are capable of handling twice that number. All interested boys are encouraged to join the group, which meets on Tuesday nights

The first month's activities are centered around getting new Cubs ready for investment into the pack which takes place near the end of October

The Scout Troop at Spilstead has six regular members. They plan to go to a pool in Edmonton soon and are now in the process of making rope and learning knots

This group is in need of donated camping equipment, uniforms or parts of uniforms as well as craft items Anyone having such items can call Bernice McBurney for further information

Visitors

Two Bruce area grain farmers, Lydia and Grant Bablitz, are participating in the national Caribbean/Canadian Farm Youth Exchange this fall. Visiting the Bablitzes on the exchange program are Angelica Gasper of the Dominican Republic and Elias Goolaman of St. Lucia. The couple from the Caribbean has been in Canada since Aug. 31 working on and visiting farms around Bruce, Holden and Vegreville. On Oct. 11 the Bablitzes will leave for their exchange visit. Lydia will be travelling to Dominica and Grant will be travelling to St. Lucia, where they will work on banana and vegetable farms. While participating in the program the farmers will exchange ideas concerning production and marketing of their crops and the common problems faced by farmers today.

MRS. ISABELLE MAINLAND MARKS 87TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Isabelle Mainland of Vilaita Lodge, Viking, former resident of Dodds, spent five days at the home of Kim and Kay Nordby. On Sept. 12, Kay Nordby entertained the following in honor of Isabelle's 87th birthday, Julia Anderson, Carrie Fischer, Audrey Rodgerson and Leona Stumbo. Mrs. Mainland was born at Orkney Islands (Scotland).

Bob and Jane Kushnerick have had as their guest during the past weeks, her uncle Klaas Lemmeran of Amsterdam, Holland.

The L.C.W. met on Sept. 19 at Skudesness Church parlors when 10 members were present (due to harvesting). The Bible lesson was lead by Valerie Forre and Helen [illegible] in the absence of Diane Bruce. Letters were read in from World Mission Prayer League, Lamp in the North — and from the C. Melleen family at Pakistan and from Towler Forre who gave a donation. Janitors for October are the Marvin Vassberg's. Visiting committee are Joe and Emma Knudson. It was decided to serve at the reception following the wedding of Lana Olson and Kevin Knopp on Nov. 17. Taking confirmation instruction from Skudesness at Bawlf are Louise Gibson, Denise from Seney, Elaine Bruce and Darrel Olson. Next meeting is Oct. 17 at the church. The Hallowe'en party is Oct. 27 at 7:30 at church basement.

The Zion Lutheran Church planned a pot luck dinner Sunday after the service, to welcome their new Rev. Clifford Knutson and wife Nancy and Mark and Adam. Guests over the weekend at the Parsonage were her parents who flew up from Sask.

On Sunday, Mrs. Carl Staal (Arlene) and her son Wayne observed their birthday, when visitors were, her folks Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jornlin, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Weiss, Tofield.

Mrs. Mabel Maedahl also marked her birthday Sunday when her five children and their families were home for the occasion.

Brian Helliekson and Martin Bergquist attending Olds School of Agriculture and Larry Knudson, employed at Carstairs, weekended here with home folks.

Lawrence Pearse of Ryley (former Earlingite) has returned home after being in the University and Tofield Hospitals for four months.

Month declared

Postmaster M. Semotiuk said today that Holden Post Office joins post offices across the country and around the world in celebrating October as Stamp Collecting Month.

As the world's most popular hobby, stamp collecting appeals to a wide variety of people around the world because of its interesting and educational nature. Kings, prime ministers and presidents have been stamp collectors, as have carpenters, printers and painters.

Stamp Collecting Month is sponsored by Canada Post Corporation and is endorsed by philatelic societies and stamp clubs.

Semotiuk says there are about 750,000 stamp collectors across Canada including 10 in Holden.

Report from AADAC

Leisure

Take two minutes and think of as many leisure activities as possible. List everything from collecting junk to learning the violin to building a log cabin. From this exercise you will probably notice that anything people enjoy doing can become a leisure activity. However, leisure is not just a matter of what one does with one's free time. Leisure offers a chance to practice new skills, to increase knowledge and capability, to deepen relationships with family and friends, or simply to relax. Leisure also has therapeutic value.

By carefully selecting a pastime, a person can build up self-esteem, increase self-confidence, reduce frustration, or ease stress. For example, a person under stress might decide to fish, ski, hike or meditate in order to cool off so that later he or she can face problems with a refreshed mind.

Similarly, someone who is frustrated might find that an enjoyable activity in a relaxed atmosphere, together with an amiable group of people, reduces frustration. Likewise, self-esteem will be increased when a person does something during leisure time that provides a sense of accomplishment — anything from successfully jogging a mile, to redecorating the kitchen, to obtaining a radio ham operator's licence. Self-confidence also will grow when a person finds a leisure activity which involves conversation and interaction with others, such as joining an exercise club, hockey team or taking dance lessons or art classes. Most importantly, leisure can stimulate enjoyment of life.

Conversely, one can run into trouble because of free time. To paraphrase the old saying: all work and no play makes Jack dull and depressed. When one does not take control of one's free time and use it constructively, leisure may become a burden. You might find yourself unconsciously falling into unfulfilling activities and wondering how you got there. If free time deteriorates into routine or habitual activities such as watching TV, doing household chores, or drinking beer and wasting time, stresses and negative inner feelings will continue to grow and eventually take control.
